In many lands motorists insist on TEXACO

Almost everywhere you'll find a familiar sign on the highways — the TEXACO Red Star with the green T.

By motorists all over the world this sign has come to be regarded as a warranty of a quality in gasoline and motor oil that keeps running costs to low levels.

You'll find the reason for that confidence in TEXACO quality the day you first stop and fill up at a TEXACO sign. Make this today.

Calgary Girl Weds

Miss Peter Dea of Calgary was married to Mr. Ernest Hall of Stettler on Wednesday, January 29th, at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. Mr. Gordon officiating. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Dea, and Mr. Hall was supported by Mr. Ernest Dea, brother of the bride. The bride was given away by her father. The bride was dressed in a navy blue travelling suit with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Hall left on the evening train for Stettler, where they will reside.

Boths News

The past week has been very mild and the roads in many places are almost or completely bare of snow. It is pleasant for man and beast, but it is not the kind of weather desired by our local curlers who will take part in the Bonspiel this week.

Miss George Ball is home for the present, nursing a floorishing crop of boils. Miss Laura Reed has taken her place at W. F. Townsend's for a few days.

Mr. McChesney was obliged to go to the hospital last Saturday after having another set-back.

The Institute ladies are holding card parties regularly in both the town and country. Those ears have come into such general use it is no extremely hard to get people to drive any distance with a team when the roads are impassable for cars. Big prizes parties this way many more attend than would otherwise. Mr. Bell did his friend Mr. Blake Mr. Clift and Ernest Pagnel recently joined their lasses at Whitecourt, where he had secured work for them in the lumber camps.

The Big Valley and Wolfwood hockey teams came up on Saturday and two games were played. Big Valley and Boths faced first and Boths declared Big Valley, the score being 1 to 1. Then Wolfwood played Boths, and our players went down to defeat, the score being 4 to 2 in favor of Wolfwood.

Mr. Roy Hughes motored to Stettler on Saturday and returned with his brother Ernest.

The Institute ladies held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Hall President last Thursday afternoon.

The meeting was a large one and a good deal of business was transacted.

Mrs. Hobbs was elected to delegate to the district convention which will be held in Strathmore in March.

At the close of the Institute meeting Mrs. Underwood called a meeting of those interested in the formation of Game Protective in the district. The meeting was for the purpose of discussing the organization of a Game Protective Association. The meeting was postponed, as the People Who Are Really Pursued

An article published with a pseudonym is held by the letter until what is due to him is paid. For obvious reasons he is limited to certain kinds of subscription paper in pawn. But in spores of hotels, rents are often held in pawn for paying patrons.

I have two at present and am expecting others to arrive. The peculiar meaning of the word—persecuting them with fond and the one who is pursued. I still chase him that is—but also in the sense of holding on to the person of title Dumbrevist out of pawn by paying what I owe him. says an American hotel proprietor.

I almost explain that no restaurant is pursued. They are out of they W.A. But out of fifty or so only one broke his word and I got it. I go and he requested it. We smoke a cigarette and he promises that was a severe penalty.

You want to know how it is that people get to pawn. There are many logical ones.

A woman separated from her husband and in receipt of a handsome allowance is clad in rags as they hated. She paid regularly for some weeks and then her husband cut off all support. She could not get into arrears. I set her on until she started. I loaned nearly $1,000 She wanted to leave but—and a departed guest often remains—mention that what is a never-paid bill, so I suggested she couldn't pledge herself as credit until her husband was better. She agreed, and was out in four seven months. Then she paid.

A financier had a suite at $300 a month. He lost money and also emptied his bank account and his pockets. He had, fortunately, not yet stayed on until he cured a big deal. I had to think seriously whether I should tell him to go or let him stay on credit until his luck changed. He won't let sort of man to stay down. He was "in pawn" for four months. Then with a few borrowed dollars as "cover" he brought off a deal and squared up.

Frequently when people are staying at a hotel their money suddenly begin to go wrong. Optimistically hoping that things will right themselves they get into debt. Several times, tactfully, but firmly, I have had to suggest the removal of that type that insisted of going to a cheaper hotel and borrow to do that batch they should remain, reduce their expenditure and by paying a little more each week than their actual bill reduce their debt. Sometimes they do it, sometimes they don't; but the hotel is paid.

The first game of the provincial play-off took place at the Arena last Friday evening between Stettler hockey team and the Stettler hockey team of Edmonton. It was a modern-dash game, as it was found too expensive to have better and home games at that distance of the Association in making trunk drops was shown in this case The game ended in favor of Edmonton by the score of 3 to 2 after ten minutes of overtime It was the fastest game seen here this season, and the locals had the advantage throughout, but the breaks were against them. They should have won before the overtime play, as one of the Edmonton goals scored was of the Duke variety, while the two scored by the locals were hard-earned by superior play In the overtime the locals had about ten shots on goal to one by Edmonton, but they could not get the puck to register. At a critical moment and he scored by a pass from mid-ice After this goal the local team crowded around the Edmonton nets and a keen battle raged on their goal was wiped by all players, but they could not get the needed number This game puts Edmonton out of the provincial play-off but they have been booked for a game to play with Red Deer for the championship of the Big Four Series.

BYEMOOR NEWS

Mr s Stauffer returned home from Calgary this week We are pleased to report that Earl Stauffer who is in a Red Cross hospital in Calgary is improving in health

Mr W L Davis of the hardware store is a business visitor to Calgary this week Ernest Wade is cooking after the store during his absence

The Heart Lake school house was packed to its utmost capacity on Friday evening last when the local talent put on their play Help Yourself which gained great applause A good program supported the play Leslie Wade made a decided hit as Mammy a colored baby and Mrs Lee Lee proved herself a little short sketch Little Margaret Chamberlain also favored the audience with two pianist selections Miss Little singer is a great favorite Robert Lee and Eleanor Adams also sang two of the latest songs with guitar accompaniment by Miss Jamieson Mrs MacDonald sang some comic songs which created a lot of laughter Mr McDonald acted as chairman and very ably filled the position Mr Lash was ably by the ladies at the close of the program after which dancing was indulged in until three o'clock Mr McDougall was appointed floor manager and missed quite a little by the dancing Thirty of the young people from around Byemoor attended and all reported a real good time

At the annual meeting of the U F A Joint Local was held in the Parish Hall on Saturday, February 8th Officers elected were:

President, J Pogmore

Vice-President, P Poteriff

Sec-Treas Mr D Wood.

Among the many various items of business discussed was the formation of a Live Stock Pool at Byemoor in the coming season. Quite a number of the prominent farmers of the district are interested in the movement.

It is the intention of the U. F. A. to have an organizer of the Live Stock Pool at their next meeting on March 1st and hope a large number of the farmers will be there to hear him speak on this matter.

The February meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs Wood The meeting was opened by our president. Mrs Christensen, after which we were pleased to see among us again, after her long illness, Mrs Stephen Brown. After repeating the Creed, we had community singing until all members had arrived Roll Call was answered by Music and Composers. Mrs. Schenderlein of Lacombe gave a most interesting and instructive address on the life and works of Grieg, the famous Norwegian composer This was followed by a short sketch on the life of Stephen Foster, writer and composer of Negro melodies. Mrs. W Richards of Lac also gave a very interesting paper on the life of Irving Berlin, a song writer of today. This was a very full and graphic account of his life from early boyhood until the present time Other members responded with descriptions of songs and their authors, making an all a meeting both entertaining and educational. Twenty members were present and one visitor, Mrs. Lee. Lunch was served by the hostess assisted by Mrs. E Myers of Wall Hill, who favored the company with a good many selections for community singing and solos Hostesses were Mrs H Ross and Miss Muriel Pearson

Another practice game was staged on the rink between the local teams Byemoor and Consolidated on Saturday afternoon, resulting in a score of 8 to five favor of Byemoor This was a fairly even game

BRIDGING THE ATLANTIC WITH FLOATING ISLANDS

For years romantic-minded people have pictured all sorts of wonderful floating by the sea—but of floating islands covered with trees, flowers, houses, and even churches, hotels and service stations now and at intervals on regular routes across the Atlantic.

In the near to realize the dream of Jacques Piccard, the Swiss scientist, revealed by the United Press Staff Correspondent, Raymond E. Armstrong, head of the Chicago Museum of Science and Industry, and the Illinois Chamber of Commerce.

As a result orders have been placed for the construction to be finished before autumn others which will be placed across the Atlantic ocean between the North American continent with Europe via the Azores.

Air-island No. 1 is to be named Langley, after the American aeronautical pioneer. The other, like the first, will be named to commemorate the scientists of the pioneers. They will be called Chamberlain, Graham, Wright, Pilcher, Ilhsen, Hargrave and Piccard.

The floating islands will contain hangars, repair equipment, radio, navigation, observation, offices, meteorological towers and a radio station, as well as bars, dining rooms, and lounges for passengers. That's why' people will be able to land on the islands a chance for checking the Atlantic with contact buttons to passengers.

The artificial island would super a raid and yet temporarily disappear from outside territorial waters. It would be free from the exactions of all nations, and immune from the restrictions of temperance regulations—it carried liquor.

Each island will fly the Stars and Stripes, and it is not impossible that defunct international problems may arise from the presence.

Within a quarter of a century there may be hundreds of artificial islands, the size of Bermuda, in the Atlantic and other oceans, and it is believed that the prospect may be financed at the rate of one island to the interval of 1,000 miles. Leaders in President Coolidge's warning to the world to study the unsinkable nature of 1927, was it may be remembered.

The development of the present scheme is being closely watched by Germany and Italy, although it is understood no question has arisen of entering into any arrangement or understanding with the promoters. The Irish Free State is even more interested.

Work on the first island is to be started at once by the Sun Shipbuilding Company of Chester Pennsylvania, and Henry J. Gielow Jr., a prominent firm of American naval architects, have completed initial plans for the mammoth craft which will weigh 20,000 tons.

Illinois completed the island will be towed 200 miles southeast of New York and anchored halfway between New York and Bermuda for added flying experiences with the newly completed craft.

Each floating island will be 2 miles long and 1 mile wide and

IMPOSSIBLE TO TRAIN THE IDEAL SOLDIER

What is the idea of drilling soldiers? What effect does discipline have? Why are well drilled troops the best troops? How is the military machine of the Prussian to be trained? What is the best method of training? Has it revealed itself in the World War? These are some of the questions discussed by Arthur Conan Doyle, famous author, in the following article. Doyle was a surgeon in the British army during the Boer war, and is known throughout the world as the creator of Sherlock Holmes. He is a student of military affairs, and has written many books on the subject. He is also a keen sportsman, and is a member of the Marylebone Cricket club.

By Arthur Conan Doyle

The object of every drill is to make the individual soldier act in such a way that he will be of the greatest possible use to the army of which he forms a part. Every movement which he is taught has a definite object in view, and the whole system is built up upon the principle that the best results are to be obtained when the men act not as individuals, but as parts of a machine, each unit of which is under the control of the central power. Hence arises the importance of the words of command, which are the means by which the will of the controlling power is communicated to the individuals who form the machine. Hence also arises the importance of uniformity of dress, for the more the men are alike the more they will act alike, and the more perfectly will they obey the words of command which are given to them.

Still further does, ballast tanks to give the whole structure additional stability, which is further helped by having the centre of gravity below the centre of buoyancy.

The ballast tanks are connected in circular form to act as dampers when the pontoons are subjected to periodic character.

Mr. Armstrong's invention answers these requirements.

The ideal type of house is now the highest known safety, and be carried on a series of floating pontoons, which will be towed to their destination and held together by suitable anchorage.

These shafts will extend 175 feet above the water line. The huge platforms, more than 1,000 feet long and 200 feet wide is loaded. They will have a capacity of 10,000 tons each—ten times ballast weights of the ocean liners.

The whole is to be anchored to a buoy which in turn will be anchored to the bottom by a 17,000 pound mass which will stand more than up to 30,000 pounds.

The dock-houses are by to two-story affairs, similar to those on the ocean liner, and move down on keel keg.

Included in the tests made at Chesapeake Bay were rigorous conditions of storm and wind and the structure proved to be unsinkable in 1927, was it may be remembered.

Warden Says U. S. Starves Its Prisoners

The United States, which claims to be the most civilized nation in the world, is starving men in their penitentiaries to such an extent that many of them die of deficiency diseases, declared Warden Lewis E. Lawes, warden of Sing Sing prison, New York, in a recent address.

Lawes, who is in his twenty-second year as warden of Sing Sing, made the statement.

It is a curious thing that this man, who has succeeded in one of the most celebrated jails of all centres in the entire world should have the honour of being the man who has done more than any other to help the prisoner, and humanize them on the principle of humanity.

Young Stock Losses Easily Prevented

Losses in heifer, calves 12 to 18 months old, from bloat, are common all these losses are easily prevented, and after your can be easily controlled. Scientists have discovered a preventative for all these losses as well as other ailments in the regular feeding of sulphur to the animals, especially in pressure animals. It may be mixed with meal or salt, and a little at a time, or to a minimum three times daily. Then every animal receives inevitable its certain stress of the country where there is a marked deficiency of iodine in the food and water, the regular use of potassium iodide in the manner mentioned will be found by both humans and animals. It is recommended at all times.

Some are troubled as to the tasks on account of the privileges of the Sabbath day. Nothing in the law infringes all cases under absolute necessity.

"It is only a matter of time until every thinking breeder and farmer will be feeding iodine," says Dr. Hess, of Ontario Research Foundation, and Mr. George B. Rothwell, of the Rothwell Stock Farm, Kentucky adds "Speaking strictly as a practical stockman it would seem that a step structure of massive distinctive and, further that it is already without cost, and, hence is in the equivalent of the most inexpensive of all."

Mme. Curie Greatest Woman Scientist

We presume that ninety-nine out of one hundred people, if asked the name of the most distinguished visitor to this continent recently would answer Tommy MacDonald.

Permit the writer to say that the others are wrong and that the name should be "Marie Curie." The greatest woman scientist in history is in the United States to visit her friends and to receive from admirers the gift of a gram of radium, one of the elements, which she, in collaboration with her husband, the late Pierre Curie, discovered in 1898. The other element was polonium, named in honor of Mme. Curie's native country, and it is to be added that she still send the gram of radium which is to be presented to her. Poland has no radium, and Poland that she will send the gram of radium which is to be presented to her. Poland has no radium, and not only are her scientists therefore deprived of the opportunity of studying its marvelous manifestations and perhaps making more fruitful contributions in the science of radiology, but victims of certain diseases, such as cancer, lupus, which has been a means of curing these, which, in some cases has given wonderful results.

There is legality in labor, the practical of a home and his wife, together making such investigations discoveries and equally sharing the credit for them. They have been awarded the Nobel prize for chemistry and physics, and have helped their husbands in various ways in their work. Mme. Curie is a chemist of note, and has written a number of books on the subject, one of which, a treatise on radium, is the standard work on the subject. Mme. Curie was born in Poland, and received her education in the University of Cracow, where she met her husband, who was a professor of physics in the same institution. Both were poor, and their early years were a struggle against poverty and hardship. Mme. Curie was the first woman to be appointed professor in the University of Paris, and was the first woman to receive the Nobel prize.

Mme. Curie's discovery of radium was the result of years of patient research and experiment. She was led to the study of the subject by the discovery of Roentgen rays in 1895 and the discovery of Becquerel rays in 1896. Becquerel had found that uranium and its salts emitted rays which affected a photographic plate. Mme. Curie undertook to find out whether other substances than uranium emitted these rays. She found that thorium did so, and that the rays of both uranium and thorium could pass through many substances which were impervious to light. She found that the rays of pitchblende were more than four times as powerful as those of uranium, and that the rays of chalcolite were more than twice as powerful as those of uranium. She concluded that pitchblende must contain some substance more powerful than uranium, and that this substance must be a new element. She named it radium, because of its powerful rays.

The task that led to the discovery of radium was first undertaken in 1898 in a shabby shed which was hardly fit to be called a barn. Every known mineral was tested, and when these were run on the trail of the mineral which they believed existed. Many tons of pitchblende were worked over before they had to buy the materials for their experiments. The work that ended with the discovery of polonium and radium was carried on in a leaky shed which was hardly fit for sheltering a horse. They worked with primitive apparatus, sometimes they were on the trail of the mineral

Some Queer Foods Liked By Humans

In other parts of the world today many dishes are prepared from animals that are considered "taboo" in this country.

For instance, monkeys are eaten by many races, including the Chinese, the natives of Ceylon, inhabitants of Trinidad, certain Africa tribes, the Japanese of the Amazon and the Indians of Spanish Guiana, and it is stated that the flesh is most palatable. The African eats sometimes not the flesh of the lion, but this is not considered as savory as good in Java a species of bat, known as the kalong is highly valued as food by the natives. The flesh is white delicate and tender and generally imbued with a smell of musk. The Canadian type very popular with the Indians the African tribes are forbidden the flesh of the zebra, but it is not infrequently eaten by their arch foe. Much is heard about the fat of the camel but the fact is of this animal is considered a great dainty by the Arabs.

Cats and dogs form attractive dishes to the Chinese, and were sold on the streets of Paris during the Franco-Prussian war as well as in Belgium in the Great War. Rats have we must not forget, that, according to Pliny puppies were considered as a great delicacy by the Roman gourmands.

NEARLY FIFTY PER CENT. INCREASE IN SUN LIFE BUSINESS

It is only four years since, for the first time in the history of life assurance in Canada, a Canadian Company was able to announce over a billion dollars of assurance in force The event was properly celebrated by the Company in question. Sun Life Assurance Company of Canada, and evoked much gratified comment from public men, financiers and others. It was in 1914 that the crossing several satisfactory among the Canadian public. It was regarded as a signal achievement in a little more than fifty years of Canadian history.

President Macaulay spun that address in expressed confidence that the momentum then acquired would carry the Company to even more substantial achievements in the next decade. But it is doubtful if even the President of the Company himself who personifies confidence and optimism, could have foreseen that within sixteen years from that time the Company would be surpassed within four years of the end of the period. The annual report of the Sun Life Company published to-day shows that its assurances now in force are close to two and a half billion dollars, and that outsides of the magnitude of these figures may be gleaned from the fact that they exceed the total net national debt of the Dominion by more than $100,000,000.

The new paid-for business for the year shows an increase of $213,188,-000, or 48 per cent of an increase over the preceding year The increase is greater than the total business written in 1926. The annual new paid-for business was $654,439 000 This is an amazing showing considering the conditions that prevailed during the latter part of 1929, and reveals what a wide and efficient organization has been created by the Sun Life Company, and how thoroughly it enjoys public confidence.

The income of the Company, $172,682,000 an increase of over $20,000,000 over 1928, or $16,000,000 more than the entire current revenue of the Company in 1919.

The assets of the Company were increased by nearly $20,000,000 and now amount to $608,000,000.

The undivided surplus has been increased by $5,000,000, bringing the total over liabilities, contingency accounts and capital stock to more than $60,000,000.

In connection with the item of $69,174,881 paid to policyholders and beneficiaries for death claims, matured endowments, profits, etc., it is interesting to note that only how payments under this head were $5,000,000 received the sum of $419 674,000, but that this amount together with the accumulations at interest held for the security or benefit of policyholders exceeds the amount received from them in premiums by $130,-000,000

Even more impressive is the statement that the rate of interest earned on the funds invested assets has risen to 7.08 per cent This figure includes a certain amount of profit on sale of stock privileges accruing on some of the Company's holdings, but if these were eventually eliminated the rate would still be 6.66 per cent

Such a remarkably successful year by our leading life assurance company is unusually reflects the sound conditions in general Canadian business.

THE MODEL CHURCH

By Sunday

Well quite I've found the model church.
And worshipped there today,
It made me proud of good old times
Before my hair was grey
The meeting house was not finer built.
Than they were years ago,
But then I found when I went in
It was not built for show.

The system did not set me down
Away back near the door,
He knew that I was rich and good,
And saw that I was poor.
He must have seen a fit in me
He led me boldly through
The crowded aisle of that grand church
To find a pleasant pew.

I wish you'd heard the singing, wife,
It had the old-time zing;
The preacher said with trumpet voice
"Let all the people sing."
Old Coronation was the tune,
The music opened rolled,
Until I thought the angel choir
Struck all the harps of gold.

My deafness seemed to melt away,
My spirit caught the fire;
I joined my feeble trembling voice
With that melodious choir,
And sang as I have not sung for days,
Let Angels prostrate fall,
Bring forth the royal Diadem
And crown him Lord of all.

I tell you, wife, it did me good,
To sing that hymn once more,
I felt like some wrecked mariner
That gets a glimpse of shore.
I almost want to lay aside
This weight of flesh and bone,
And mingle in the blessed rest
Forever with the saints.

A fitted humble suit like me,
It suited hospital youth.
To win immortal souls to it
The earnest preacher tried,
He failed in one or round,
But Jesus crucified.

NEW HEAD OFFICE BUILDING

Rate of Interest earned on mean invested assets 7.07%

The high rate of dividends allotted to participating policyholders is maintained and the special dividend on maturing policies extended and increased.

EXTRACTS from DIRECTORS' REPORT

New policies paid for numbered 241,391 for a net amount of $654,451,341.27, an advance of $211,296,-752.36, or more than forty-eight per cent, over the previous year. It is believed however and the fact that the average policy, for the first time, exceeds $2,000, affords conspicuous evidence of the ever-growing popularity of the Company.

After deducting reinsurances assumed, the total assurances in force amount to $2,401,237,926.00, an increase of $706,141,761.71. The advance is noted not merely for its magnitude, but because what matters is the substantial character of the increase. It represents a remarkably high rate of maintenance, and evidences the confidence of the part of our policyholders.

The amount paid to policyholders now approximates, together with the amount at present held for their on carry or benefit, exceeds the total amount received from them in premiums by $136,700,000.00.

The rate of interest earned on the mean invested assets was 7.07 per cent. This figure includes a certain amount from bonuses and stock privileges accruing on some of the Company's holdings, but if these were eventually eliminated the rate would still be 6.66 per cent.

A net profit of $12,077,266.61 was realized from the redemption of debt and securities.

The surplus earned during the year, based on the values adopted in the valuation as at December 31st, 1928, $72,007,266.61, has been retained in appropriate form for the protection of the policyholders and the interests of the Company.

The valuation of the Company's liabilities, carried out under the searching provisions of the Canadian Insurance Act, has been completed by the Actuarial Department of the Company and by Messrs. Eckler, Sharpe & Ferguson, of Montreal, and Messrs. Bell, Gouinlock & Co., of Toronto, Consulting Actuaries, and has been approved by the Superintendent of Insurance. The valuation of policies in force at December 31st, 1929, has been made on the basis of the Government Standard of Reserves, with interest at 3½ per cent. The valuation of annuities and disability benefits has been made on the basis of the Company's own experience, with interest at 4 per cent. The valuation of the Company's liabilities, carried out under the searching provisions of the Canadian Insurance Act, has been completed by the Actuarial Department of the Company and by Messrs. Eckler, Sharpe & Ferguson, of Montreal, and Messrs. Bell, Gouinlock & Co., of Toronto, Consulting Actuaries, and has been approved by the Superintendent of Insurance. The valuation of policies in force at December 31st, 1929, has been made on the basis of the Government Standard of Reserves, with interest at 3½ per cent. The valuation of annuities and disability benefits has been made on the basis of the Company's own experience, with interest at 4 per cent.

The business of the Company has always been conducted under the searching provisions of the Canadian Insurance Act, and the rigid supervision of the Insurance Department of the Government of Canada. Every year we have reported the United States in 1895, the Company has never been under special supervision and is now subject to the regulations of thirty-three States, the District of Columbia and the Dominion of Canada. The Company is licensed in these territories. In the discharge of their regular duties at the offices of twenty-two examiners, representing the National Bureau of Insurance Commissioners (Ohio, Tennessee, Washington, Virginia, West Virginia, Florida and the District of Columbia) constantly conducted an intensive examination of the Company's affairs. The report of the Company's Actuary, Mr. Robert Tait McKenzie, F.I.A., F.C.A., has been submitted to our policyholders, and provides authoritative testimony to the Company's financial position. Its valuation of the liabilities shown by us on our securities, the valuation of which appears at the close of last year by $3,849,781 in excess of the figure claimed by the Company.

The unusual amount entered as a liability to policyholders for dividends and bonuses has been increased by $12,300,000.00.

The Company has always been conservative in its dividend policy, and has refrained from the unwarranted expansion of bonuses and reserves, which has been the cause of the collapse of many companies.

The Company's financial position and the security afforded to the undivided surplus, capital stock, contingency accounts, bonuses and reserves and capital stock, as $60,307,784.46.

In accordance with our usual conservative practice the securities owned by the Company have again been written at figures much below the market quotations current at the close of the year. The under-valuation of securities has increased instead of strength to the Company additional to the specific reserves made in the statements.

Your Directors are pleased to announce that the high scale of profits at present enjoyed by participating policyholders will be continued during the ensuing year, which the Special Dividend on maturing policies introduced last year, has been extended to holders of deferred dividend policies, and that the new rates of bonus and the scale of bonuses has been maintained.

GRAIN

Lower cables from Liverpool caused the Winnipeg market to open lower on Wednesday but the losses were soon recovered and the prices closed higher. Reports by the grain stabilization board to the effect that they had made large purchases in all American markets on Thursday, and word from grain dealers in South Illinois that serious winter killing was becoming more apparent with a further cold wave forecasted—all helped the market to advance

Governments Will Help The Growers Of Cereal Seeds

Definite action by the Dominion and Provincial Governments in helping to provide clean seed for Alberta farmers, was announced by Hon. R. G. Reid, Dominion Minister of agriculture, speaking before the Alberta Seed Growers Association in Calgary recently.

His travelling seed cleaning machines, under the new program, are to be constructed at Edmonton during the coming year Dominion Government officials will pay $500 of the cost of each machine and at a similar amount by the Province of Alberta. Premier J.E. Brownlee, recently, it was definitely decided to co-operate with the project, the Provincial government to give similar financial assistance for each machine

Additional cost of $2,000 will be met by the organizations wishing to buy the machines.

Conditions Stated

Machines will be sold to respective local organizations. Conditions under which will be that the machines be operated according to rules and regulations of the provincial department of agriculture A definite charge for cleaning, possibly five cents, will be set The organization taking over a machine must agree to clean only enough seed for each farmer to sow his land to provide clean seed for the next year when assurance was given that seed purchased would be clean.

With respect to the policy of creating a reserve, Mr Craig stated that the need for a very large plant of this type was not felt in Alberta. He emphasized the centralization of plants so that freight charges to farmers would be smaller He expressed optimism that from 50,000 to 100,000 would be saved this year in operation of an efficient cleaning plant He stated that a plant of this nature would supply needs of the province for some time to come. It seemed to be understood that if other plants were required they could be constructed at Lethbridge or Calgary

Resolutions Passed

Immediately following the address the organization with only three members voting, approved a resolution in favor of the retention of the Dominion Department of Trade and Commerce, advocating the providing of a separate unit to the interior elevators at Edmonton for assembling and shipping of American seeds, in order that the quality and purity of Alberta's most important line of agricultural seeds be maintained In the resolution the association points out: "In the opinion that such unit could be built in handy proximity to the city at a cost of not exceeding $50,000.

Dan. R. Hart, president for 1930 was re-elected by the board of directors for 1930, from which is chosen executive will be C. F. Greenlie, J. H. Smith and Mrs Linden.

Legislation Asked

Much discussion of a proposal to revise the prize list of the provincial field crop competitions to make it more limited to home-picked samples took place at the Alberta Growers' meeting.

The resolution in the matter finally adopted, was as follows:

telephone and radio service on various parts of Canada.

The construction of hotels from the canal to coast will benefit by the 1930 program to the extent of $5,300,000. The expenditure covers the addition of 100 rooms to the Royal York at Toronto, the erection of laundry and power house at the Empress hotel, Victoria, continued improvements to the Royal Alexandra Hotel, Winnipeg, a new hotel house in Banff, staff quarters and other buildings at Lake Louise three later to be constructed according to the plan which contributes to the beauty and convenience of that locality. One new hotel, the Cornwall, is at Kenville, N.S., another new hotel to be erected at Yarmouth, N.S.; later in the year and a new golf course to be built in connection with the Pines Hotel at Digby.

In keeping with its permanent policy of intelligent expansion the Company will continue with its program of providing additional rail facilities in all parts of Canada. In this connection approximately $18,000,000 will be expended in the West on the enlargement of terminals, branch lines and general provision for increased efficiency This will include the laying of 300 miles with 100 pound rails. The continuance of the ballasting between Port William and Winnipeg; improvement of existing line between Regina and Lenigan. With a view to providing the shortest and best route between Prince Albert and the Saskatchewan Capital, and the extension of the line to Tarnet at Vancouver, the construction of which was delayed by the Board of Railway Commissioners to consider the Pacific Great Eastern line.

In order to bring transportation facilities to the county opportunities for settlement in the North West, the Company will co-operate with the construction of branch lines. It is proposed during the present year to extend Senlingdale line to Baljennie, to build a further extension to the branch which will connect Hyssem and Prince Albert, to provide terminal facilities at North Battleford; to complete the branch from Lake Johnston into Arabire, to complete the line from Arrowwood into Bleskie; and in conjunction with the Canadian National, to build a line from Babcock into Aitkenen in Banff; staff quarters and other buildings at Lake Louise three later to be constructed according to the plan which contributes to the beauty and convenience of that locality. One new hotel, the Cornwall, is at Kenville, N.S., another new hotel to be erected at Yarmouth, N.S.; later in the year and a new golf course to be built in connection with the Pines Hotel at Digby.

Botha News

Spring seems to have arrived The snow is practically gone. The soil was as dry last fall that there is very little frost to come out Mr E A Friend reports hearing a robin last week. In glancing back over past years we remember that in 1916 dust was flying in March, but Oh! boy! how it rained that summer If we are not mistaken that was the fall farmers used the big plows in order to cut their crops

A meeting of the ratepayers was held in the Hall on the evening of February 26th, and discussed the question of building a new school house. A straw vote was taken and 10 voted in favor while 29 voted against it. The rest failed to vote at all Many are strongly in favor of disorganizing A high school is needed in Botha as we would like to hear a discussion on a Consolidated high school By moving the country school back to their old districts the vans could be dismantled thereby saving approximately $3,500 per year Children old enough to be in high school are old enough to do their own driving While the one-room high school is not as good as a city school it is far better than no school at all. Most people agree that the times are as high now as the district can stand; but we think such a change would give the children just as good an education and a raise in taxes would not be necessary.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Ball gave the young people of the community a fine time last Friday evening when they held a dance and card party in their home. The house was filled to capacity and fun and frolic reigned supreme At the close of the evening a delicious lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cake and ice cream was served.

The election for Councillor was held in Botha last Saturday, Mr. Edgerton Ren stood for re-election, while he was opposed by G. E. Armstrong. E. A. Cumming officiated as returning officer and C. A. Walker as clerk. Mr Ren was returned by a large majority

We regret to report that Ben Hoopingarner is in the Municipal Hospital.

Church service will be held on Sunday, March 2nd. Rev. Goddard will preach.

Several of the young folks of the town will give a card party on Tuesday evening, March 4th at Mr. Johnson's store. Ladies please bring lunch. Everybody welcome. Admission date, March 14th open and watch for further announcement in next week's paper.

Mr. and Mrs. A Beaver gave an enjoyable Card Party at their home on March 6th. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton and L. Hooper kept score. Mrs. Hamilton and Mr. Hooper were the lucky winners. Everybody had a good time and are all looking forward to the next one on March 4th.

The Junior Red Cross of this district are holding a Masquerade Hard Time dance at Aungar school on Friday evening, February 28th. A good turn out is expected as the proceeds will go towards the Red Cross Fund of Canada. Everybody welcome, single gentlemen 50 cents, couples $1.00.

Come early and stay late. We can't run out of a good time.

Mr. and Mrs. Aungar were week enders in this district on Saturday last.

Famous Welsh Singers Coming Here March 17

News that the famous Imperial Welsh Singers of North Wales will sing in the Stettler Theatre on March 17th. under the auspices of the Rotary Club will be of great interest to all music lovers. They are on their second tour in Canada which began last week in September, this group, which has been called the finest group of singers in Europe today, promises a great feast to all those who will have the advantage of hearing them.

Known all over Europe for the exceptionally blended beauty of their voices, the Imperial Welsh Singers have been heard by some 1,000,000 people on the Continent and in England. Their appearances in this country will give the Canadian people one of the most unusual musical attractions to be heard anywhere

The Welsh Imperial Singers have been organized for 20 years and have given 2000 concerts. The leader is Mr B. Postyn Davies, who has been called the "Mr Thomas Beecham" of choral music and he has been in charge of the Choir for seven years. Not associated with any church, not supported by any institution, the Chorus is kept alive by the love and superiority of the singing voices and the enthusiasm of the singers and that of their public Rehearsal is so vital with these men that only severe illness has been known to keep them away A leave of absence from their duty has been obtained for each of the singers for the duration of their tour.

Red Willow

(An Occasional Correspondent)

The Red Willow Cafe entertained in a delightful manner on Tuesday last The room was filled to its fullest extent with one of the most enthusiastic and appreciative crowds since the beginning of the season.

Keen interest was manifest in the announcement made by Mr. Becker in which he thanked those present for their support in helping to make the social evenings a success.

A suggestion was made that the whist drives be changed to Wednesday evening to avoid conflict with the crowd was loud in their demonstration and requested that they continue as they are, since they were so ably supported by the community.

A few people from out of town including Mrs. Scallon at Drumheller, Mr. John Jamieson arrived home on Tuesday after spending two week with relatives in Calgary and Edmonton.

PEOPLE MAKE A DIFFERENCE

Jack and Bill decided it was about time they answered few of the stories circulated about them so they got together and dug up this true one

A Scotchman, a member of Jesse age had to have an operation which required the complete removal of his brain. In the midst of the operation the doctor was called away to the telephone and in the short interval Sandy woke up and vanished. Gone away. After a three year search he was found in the south of England by some friends.

Sandy was working as a gardener for a rich man, and was very much interested in his employer's garden. One day the rich man asked Sandy if he knew anything about gardening.

"I was very much interested in your remark addressed to me yesterday. I had seen the Medicine report, and had very carefully considered the valuable information contained, and the question of several cash returns from such a policy has been amply demonstrated in many places on the continent. There is, however, just one reservation with reference to the Alberta situation as compared with states like Michigan, Wisconsin or other thickly populated area. To really give service to a great number of people, and bring to a return been gas tax, there, of course, must be a volume of traffic. This is possible where there are a number of industrial centres, or cities of considerable population close together, which would provide a very heavy traffic, as in the case of Michigan. Whereas such a population as we have here, sparsely populated with few centres of large population, there is, of course, not the possibility of developing such improvement to winner traffic. We appreciate the fact, however, that the time is coming when greater use will be made of our roads in winter and when we will of necessity keep open a much greater mileage than we are attempting at the present time.

"We have made a start this year for the first time, and are endeavoring to determine a type of snow removal equipment best suited to our needs, and to ascertain the cost and efficiency of the operation.

"I appreciate very much the spirit and tone of your editorial, but feel that I would like to draw to your attention one distinct difference between our Alberta conditions and those that prevail in the more populous areas where volume of traffic is possible.

"I trust that our efforts this year will be satisfactory and helpful in maintaining a more thorough program in the years to come."

OBITUARY

JAMES W. WALKER

Mr Jas. W Walker of Heart Lake died at his home on Tuesday evening, February 18th, following an illness of only one week.

Deceased was born in Edinburgh, Scotland and came to the Stettler District, April, 1908 He homesteaded at Heart Lake and after proving up on his land went to Stettler, where he resided for many years before coming back to his farm, where he lived until his death. He was respected by all who knew him and had lived an active life until the time of his illness, which brought him to fail.

He leaves to mourn his loss, his wife and one son residing here and two daughters residing in England.

The funeral service was held at the home and the large number of friends and neighbors testified to the esteem in which the deceased was held. The Rev Jackson and other conducted the service and interment took place in Wood Hill Cemetery on February 20th.

JOTTINGS

Several Roman coins were dug up on a farm near to Bungay in England recently There seem to be a lot of people who are determined to dig up Canadian coins on our own golf courses.

Which reminds us that we saw an ad. the other day of a practice ball guaranteed not to go over 30 feet. The old thing serves the same purpose just as well for some of us.

The Janitors are now in the midst of their winter contest—the annual long-distance non-refueling competition.

A golfing expert says that man's individuality shows most in his putting. He might have poor style otherwise and that it shows even more so in his language as he continues to putt.

To make money fast, you must make it first.

One can lose nothing by being polite, but a lot of people seem to be afraid of talking like that.

Per that tired feeling—sit down.

High School Notes

By Dot and Dare)

The High School students are all sorry that Miss Gordon Blair, one of last year's Grade XII. class had to give up running course in Vancouver because of ill health. We hope she will be back soon.

Our Juvenile Hockey team was defeated in the first round of the Provincial play-offs last Friday night. They played against Camrose. The score was in favor of Camrose, 5 to 1. The boy was not and most of the team fell down and went home.

Miss Agnes MacKenzie and Miss Dorothy Bamford entertained a number of friends on Friday evening at Agnes' home. The evening was pleasantly spent in dancing.

What's this we hear. Is it true that Grade IX. is going to throw a party for the rest of High School during the Easter holidays. Strut your stuff Grade IX.

She tried it

Grade X was treated to verbosp on Monday morning. The speaker gave an account of the Indian Mutiny which was fought on the Plains of Abraham by Indians. The wolves were shot down with grenades of cartridges by the natives of Burma. The dead bodies were put down the well of Cawnpore. The victors then danced a war dance.

Patsy Patrick is taking the much-coveted position of coach for the Girls' Hockey Team. He expects, to put them in the same position in hockey as the Commercial Grade has in basketball.

Pearl Colley took the train to Castor Friday We are glad to see she brought it back Monday morning.

Three little maids from school are we,
Two little maids from school are we,
Two little maids from school are we,
Let's take a picture before they leave.
Who the game or we shall grieve,
And for each goal a kiss receive,
Three little maids from school.

If we're late, not a word we'll say,
Down in the hallway we can play
Teams don't leave here every day!
Three little maids from school.

Three little maids and all smeary
Caught when they sneaked from the dormitory.
Bedder and wiser now, Oh, very!

Roy Lincoln, of Grade II., while playing with the rings in the school grounds, received quite a bad cut when his hand came in contact with a ring.

Born—On Tuesday, February 25, at the Municipal Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. L. G Hall of Big Valley, a son.

Mrs. O Skinner entertained some ladies to bridge on Tuesday night. The prizes were won by Mrs. Mc-Brine, Mrs. Sharpe and Mrs. Page.

The City Cafe has been fitted up with a full steel basement in addition to the renovating of the interior, and the fire hazard has been reduced to a minimum.

Mrs. H. Moe returned on Saturday from Calgary where she attended the Rebekah Assembly During her visit there she was the guest of Mrs. A. M. Ross.

Mr and Mrs. Percy Smith left last week end on a trip to Dunvegg and Fortstosh, where they will visit Mrs. Smith's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bolteoff for a week or ten days.

The weather has turned colder since Monday and snow flurries are the order of the day. The roads are in better shape since the mild spell and cars are able to come in from the country.

This has been a poor week for hockey in town as both the seniors and juniors have lost their games. The long spell of mild weather seemed to have put a crimp on the game and the head lessons could not come back.

The Elks' Club gave a nice card party and dance on Tuesday which was attended by a large crowd from town and country. The dance was given in honor of the return of five hundred from nine to twelve.

Chas. Sanford is leaving March 1st for Edmonton where he will take a position with the old firm, the Royal Fruit Company, and work out of Edmonton on the Vermilion line The family will remain here until the end of the school term, to which they will move to Edmonton.

Two rinks from the Elks' Club skipped by Mac and Bothwell journeyed to Big Valley last Friday, they crossed and had two interesting games with the Big Valley rink, lost to Big Valley curlers. Return games will be played in the near future.

The Missionary Society of the United Church in this district, held a Convention in the Church on Wednesday, followed by a banquet in the Wednesday evening. Delegates were present from Rumsden, Red Willow, Bankton, Gadsby, Big Valley and other points.

Stettler defeated Lacombe by 9 to 4 on January 31st, and Lacombe defeated Stettler's on home ice by 5 to 5 Therefore Stettler should have defeated Beatty's on home ice in they have the better team But the breaks often decide a game and a little bad luck put the finish out of the play-offs at the start.

Mr and Mrs Jim Adams left on today's train for Victoria, B C., where Mr Adams will attend the Convention of the $250,000 Club of the Great West Life Assurance Co This trip was made possible only by writing the largest amount of business of any Company agent in Alberta during 1929

The Sharpe rink won the North Star cup on Tuesday night by defeating Mackie by the score of 19 to 4 in the finals This cup is now up for general competition any rink having the privilege of challenging the winners by the payment of an entry fee The next game will be between Sharpe and Venner

Elections for Waverly M.D. held last Saturday resulted in a general change of Councillors the following being elected Division 1—Martin Orr. Division 2—G Hoverskeit Division 3—Albert Rairdan Division 4—J H Bateman. For the Municipal Board there was also a change F J Lee being elected over B A Vanderford. Tonight (Thursday) the official count will not be made until Saturday March 1st

Two rinks from Big Valley came up for a friendly game on Tuesday night with the Elks' rinks skipped by Blair and Bothwell which had gone to the Valley last week Two games were played by each visiting rink and the results were fifty-fifty as both Blair and Bothwell won and lost a game. The Elks' rinks are as good as you will find in the surrounding towns and they would do well in the annual Bonspiel held here.

Ted Reilly was in Calgary last week taking radium treatment for a lump on his lip After several hours treatment in the X-Ray Institute, he came home again and during the past few days the lump has been working out through the lip, and, while causing a good deal of pain, is gradually disappearing He has had this on his lip for two or three years and he was fortunate to have treatment in time to forestall a surgical operation.

A miscellaneous shower, given by the ladies of the Silver Prairie district was held at the home of Mrs. Shuckburgh on Wednesday afternoon. February 19th, in honor of Mrs. Lawrence Lafave, nee Miss Marian Fuller The many beautiful gifts were presented to the bride in a large decorated basket, which was brought in by two little girls, Misses Vivian Shuckburgh and Lois Fuller. Musical selections were given during the afternoon by Mrs. Judd and Mrs. Shuckburgh. The hostess was assisted at the tea table by Mrs. Taylor.

The Juvenile hockey team journeyed to Camrose on Tuesday night and were defeated in the second game of the provincial play-offs by the score of 9 to 6, losing the round by the score of 14 to 1. Now the juniors have not had much encouragement this year to hold their team intact. They have had few games to play and their best player, Ross Patrick was taken by the seniors for a sub. They have been up against it financially and in future seasons there should be a closer connection between the seniors and juniors, so that a better gate will be secured to help out. Another reason why

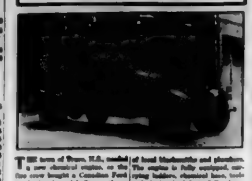
They Built Their Own



THE town of Truro, N.S., could not build a new electrical station, so the fine new hospital in Canadian Food truck chassis and built one themselves. With the exception of the chemical tanks, which were transferred from an old horse-drawn chassis, the engine is entirely a home made affair, all of the parts having been made on the spot by the men with the assistance of local blacksmiths and plumbers. The engine is fully equipped, carrying lighting, electrical fittings and six hundred feet of fire hose, the latter being fitted in the rear of the cab.

It has the appearance and durability of a professional job, and really deserves praise, the cost not only fifteen hundred dollars.

Do Gangsters Read Popular Magazines

Appears of the murder of seven men in Chicago, we quote the following statement from the police commissioner "We are doing everything we can to catch the murderers, but we cannot hold him. There are too many hideouts in the city for us to find them. We have armed our criminals with the power of money. The very enormity of the crime has created a concentration on their capture organization that will not catch the murderer

Ballyhoo Proceeds For Indian Giant

We presume that there are many people deeply interested in Primo Carnera's next bout at Madison Square Garden, Coney or any other disembodied area of Roly. Certainly many people counted about zero in New York when he recently arrived from Europe than he could have climbed inside with had he taken all day at the job. His first appearance to an Eisenhower ring drew a small crowd, and it was a successful debut since he unanimously dumped the bewhiskered opponent. Big Boy Peterson, who served as sacrificial goat for the premier. Now the work of building up Carnera into a world figure is being industriously promoted by those who have a financial interest in his prize ring career. It is true that Tex Rickard is no longer living to dispel the fatigues and ills that flesh is heir to, but his memory is preserved clearly from which he inherited a lot of brains, most of which he used in the boxing game. Carnera is being dished up in the middle of the Lotz, world with some little time ago by Lotz original Pirgo, the matchmaker of Italy, except Jack Dempsey and of a few on his discovery, and he hugs that New York ring as he had been born in the belt of a pure walker. On his customarily Pirgo's ignorance of English and the slow-witticisms of his adviser made him the most logical to stake the fight and the heavyweight championship. But Pirgo was wise, a mind a colossal character and piper his interest the heritage here Tex created for another to take his place.

That explains Carnera. It explains the extravagant claims made in his behalf and the gaudy purses which have been distributed. It is our duty to readers to look rather closely at these publicity and ballyhoo just what's of them may be supposed to have had their origin in some studio occupied by the boiled shirt of international fame. Carnera is this colossal fraud in writing. He is the well-known special writer for the New York World, who new Carnera with Peterson. Here's what he says "It is wrong to say he has a beautiful or even noble body. It is sad and sinister. His strength is the product of science, not nature. He is a monstrosity. He is not a man. He is a machine." Carnera is the champion in the hope that his terrific strength will flatter and a victory.

In the history of the ring Jim Jeffries has been the only fighter in whose interest the publicity agents have been silent. He is the one fighter who ever entered the ring the first position whose opponent was in the ring was a matter of indifference. Jeffries was the only bad man great men before Jeffries had been great men and Jeffries had seemed to be carrying on his shoulders the fate of the whole race. Jeffries was the last of the heroes and in his writings about Jeffries on the same man, the irreplaceable attributes were only equalled in his or years by Irvin Cobb in his Sherlock Holmes stories through the gloom of the German army. And Jeffries took with him another virtue, man the modern fashion of writing about prizefighters. He never could have been born. At any rate, Lardner needs Jeffries a sorrowing and significant figure—a forerunner—a chap who needs but get a regiment to fight or lead a number a sorrowing grimy brow. Something of the same sort was later tried with the stupid, amiable Dempsey. But it was not until the coming of Dempsey that the flesh of the newspaper reading public was really made to creep with terrible stories about the "killer," the unleashed whirlwind, the savage, the beast of the jungle. Dempsey is really a pleasant fellow, but if he had been represented as he was a whole lot of people would have died poorer, including Dempsey himself.

Carpentier, being obviously no savage or throw back to the gentle man had to be treated with a different technique. He became the "orchid man" the intellectual, fast as lightning when aroused and striking with the dealy ferocity of a feral—beast. Tunney was ballyhooed as the student the thoughtful scholar with wrinkled brow who stooped to the brutal methods of the ring to elevate it and restore once more the glorious a craze that had been neglected among the big men since the time of Jess Willard. He, the Carpentier, was also a hero. Their war records were produced and compared while Jack Dempsey had no war record that would have made interesting reading. He left a slower murderously in the illustrations. Firpo was "the wild bull of the pampas," without any redeeming [illegible] Firpo was a [illegible] under, and the public was swindled into believing that he was a match for Tunney. Max Schmeling, by virtue of his connection with Jack Dempsey, came a figure of romance and is due to make a fortune out of the American public for the time being. Even the Italian peasant Carnera, because of his abnormal build has become an unsifted laborer of international importance, and the creation of legends about him has become the chief preoccupation of a staff of press agents.

Clubbing Tuberculosis

(By Edna Kells)

Working wherever the need is apparent, a small group of people are endeavoring to cope with the dreaded tuberculosis through the province of Alberta. These workers come under the Department of Public Health of the Alberta Government, but they work in conjunction with local agencies.

From the Central Alberta Sanatorium west of Calgary on the Canadian Pacific Railway, there radiate a constant stream of nurses, medical officers, into the homes of tuberculosis sufferers. Here they are taught how to live with the disease, how to prevent its spread, how to build up resistance to it. Their duties embrace all these things and more. They must visit each patient at least once a month, and more often if necessary. At these visits they must make out a report, which reports his condition. This is repeated periodically and close record of every case is kept.

Record cards are grouped according to towns and railway lines, and these serve as a guide to the travelling diagnostician, Dr. A. Armstrong. Dr. Armstrong makes regular trips along certain railway lines, stopping at the local centers, to whom he gives a list of patients in the particular locality whom he would like to see. Here the advice or patients to get in touch with local doctors if they or members of their families would like to be examined at Sanatorium doctors do not treat patients outside the sanatorium. They do not however, refuse to examine a patient who does not come through a doctor. Sanatorium records regarding patients go to local doctors for their at the clinic's expense.

All patients are advised to be re-examined from time to time. If it is found they are slipping they are advised to have treatment. If they can have sanatorium treatment they are advised to do so. Those who cannot, are told that the sanatorium will write their local doctors telling him of their condition, and advised to see the doctor and diagnosis of cases.

Last year Dr. Armstrong travelled [illegible] and examined [illegible] of these a hundred hundred. [illegible] patients to him, and examined [illegible] female adult [illegible] patients. He travels with a portable physician, 95 of whom had tuberculosis. He then, and examined [illegible] of these a hundred hundred. [illegible] of these a hundred hundred. [illegible] of these a hundred hundred.

EVIDENCE ENDORSED

The prisoner, a Scotchman and a Jew, were brought before the judge.

"Guilty or not guilty?" asked the prisoners.

"What made you think those two men were interested, officer?"

"Well, yer honour, their foreheads were standing on the closer, and neither throwing away dollars when they had the two minded them up, and handing them back to him!"

CHICAGO IS WALLOWING IN FINANCIAL MUCK HEAP

We have received from a reader in Chicago a copy of a letter of information concerning the present financial difficulties in which Chicago finds itself. The writer says: "You might have been had from nothing-but-rosy reports in the newspapers on the subject that other cities besides our correspondent will be interested. First, it is necessary to say that Chicago is not bankrupt. It is in the same position as the man who finds himself without any ready money in his pocket and owes five dollars more than he has. Considered from the relations with his town alone, Chicago is solvent. But the Chicago now than there ever was before, and the sum total of which the public treasury has been looted of in the past are probably staggering to the mind. Up to the present time of the investigations into the looting not more than one per cent of the total amount has been recovered from the taxpayers' pockets. The reason for this is obvious. Chicago probably differs from other cities in the United States only in the fact that it is larger and more wicked. Graft is taken for granted in most large communities. As far as the public is concerned Chicago-dom and can afford it.

The graft, as we have said, is not of recent date, but the bottom of the trouble and those who have been responsible for the most damage to the pockets of the citizens of Chicago are the present mayor, William Hale Thompson, and the present city treasurer, Charles E. Dawes, who was the principal speaker at the Armistice Day celebration in London. Thompson is known as the "Chicago Idea" and Dawes as the "Chicago Idea" and Dawes as the "Chicago Idea" and Dawes

(By Ella and Dora)

Dora Patrick is in the hospital with a very bad cold.

The team of Gordon XI and 1929 held a party at the home of D. Johnson on Friday night.

A great many of the High School students have been absent from school lately. Nearly all these have been immunized for Scarlet Fever.

Leah—A temper some time I'm due tonight. Teacher please return to C wing. Social recount.

Miss Gladys Aker retired home Friday and is confined to the house for several weeks.

On the Spring a young man's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love.

In warm parts of the year.

Most we more of pressin' ages

In that very line he chose?

Ahem, we met upon the waterside.

Which makes young girl's heart.

Or is it knowledge?

That makes all these people happy?

May Longfellow Forgive Us

This tale is of lads of the Main Street Academy in Grades XII and XI. Some of their thoughts and their habits, as well as their dress is described below.

First thing in the morning on rising they go to a basin of water.

And stroke back their hair with a horsebrush.

Or wash some are pine and some are bandsoak.

Proceed with dress which they put on.

Though sometimes in the mirror.

They stand to look at their pimples.

And shudder at his trusty safe razor.

Then lathered right up to the eyebrows.

And filled with a pride that there over.

They scrape, with a terrible effort. Although there is little to scratch off.

Then brushing more than ever.

And holding their blocks over the bottle.

Most marvellous waves are accomplished.

And the odor is violets in spring-time!

And after they polish down their breakfasts.

They amble off slow to the school house.

Everywhere elect from the virtues.

And notwer the site of the Gold Course.

Gay down the street come the maidens

Wending on their seams their heads.

Some of scarlet, and some of blue, some of green stuff

Then the hearts of lads beath their jackets

Swell like the tide of the ocean.

And drawing from out their deep pockets

Their dearest possession their mirror mates

And gazing them right in through it.

They light up with great satisfaction.

But close must be hid in their pockets.

For they enter the school house and close rooms.

Then sweet is the air with Cleaners.

Or by the aid of a mirror.

They draw their combs through their tresses.

Leaving it all rock and shiny

Exposing the pine and the bombock.

Thus ends the most of the history.

The lordly young students of Stettler.

Word from Mrs. Wm. Peter who has undergone an operation in the Calgary hospital about two weeks ago, is progressing very favorably. We are all delighted to receive such good news and trust more delighted when she will be able to return to her home.

Mr. J. Simmons had the misfortune last week, while going down the cellar to get some coal, to slip and fall, injuring his right knee quite badly, necessitating the use of crutches for a week or so. Hard every one wishes you a speedy recovery.

Mr. Wm. Peter left on Monday for the Calgary hospital.

Tune in on Saturday next on our broadcasting station P.E.M. for the following program "Those Wedding Bells"—Mr. Wilson, "Mother's Goodness, Sent, "How My Pulpit Twice Blessed"—Rev. Mr. Hamilton, "Which ring has Vanished I'll Wait Forever"—Miss Peter, "Love's Lecture, "A Talk on Economy and Mrs. Peter and Rest.

Mrs. Cobb—Lecturer Tower Bell Tone Sermon, "Behaved the Third" 9 p.m.—Weather report by Bush.

Mrs. Susan Anderson and family are expected home from Blair Neb. after a three months' sojourn visiting friends and relatives this week. Her sister Mrs. J. Simmons will not return until sometime this month.

Most farmers are busy these days getting the machinery the save over, and getting ready for early Spring. The latest report is "We have not ever located our Twin Cities" but will be in Edmonton.

Word from Walt Downs in a letter to his sister states "He is now operating a bus from Kansas City to St. Louis, Mo., and has no thought of returning to Canada. He wishes to be remembered to all his friends here.

Things We'd Like To Know:—

There has been two cars overturned on the road that runs through Section 29-27-21-4 for over 4 years and it be possible to spend a little the taxes to 1929 and have some pleasure in repair?

Does Col Renfrew miss his lectures?

And how, when, and where will The Travelling Paregoric land us next?

Could anyone tell us where Christ gentlemen is going to reside this summer.

Do many in this locality enjoy the broadcasting of P.E.M.?

OBITUARY

MRS. JOHN CLARK

Little did we think, when we announced last week the illness of Mrs. John Clark, that we were announcing the sinner with her earthly life. Mrs. J. Clark died on Monday, this week, he called upon to receive her death. Death, however, is the uncertainty of life.

Early last Fall she arrives from the Old Country and was delighted and was enjoying excellent health On Sunday 9th inst she attended Divine Service morning and evening and up to Wednesday morning when she suffered a stroke of paralysis, she gave no indication of the impending end. From that time she gradually sank, and finally passed away on Saturday morning 16th inst.

The deceased whose maiden name was Margaret MacIntyre, was a native of the late Duncan MacIntyre and his wife, Helen Munro. She was born on the MacIntyre homestead, St Elmo East, now

Celebrated Painting Starts A Lawsuit

Boom in New York Jury as has ing what is probably a new chapter in American jurisprudence. This is the lawsuit according to the judge everybody is thoroughly enjoying and concerning the authenticity of painting the merit of which is a matter of opinion. The plaintiff is Captain Kerr Sabin who says he was in France and was offered by a man he knew with a familiar name named Andrew Lawson. They were associated in the Lawson Coal Mines Company. He stated he raised the money and bought the paintings of Mrs Hadley and a Mrs Lawson La Salle Peoria. Ill. Mrs Hadley said had been painted by Corot and Mrs Lawson said they were by Millet. Both women testified that they had owned the paintings for many years. Captain Kerr Sabin testified that he was in France and saw the paintings in the home of Mrs Hadley and was told by Mrs Lawson that they were by Millet. He stated that he paid $200,000 for the paintings. Mr Sabin testified that he had had the paintings appraised by Jules Dupre, Durand Ruel and Jean Francois Millet. He said he would be willing to pay $200,000 for the canvas if it should turn out to be represented. Some of the striking transactions between plaintiff and the Joseph Duveen the British art expert quoted as having been meticulous himself, he said that the Hadley canvas was a copy and an inferior one at that. Mr Nicholas sets this in the newspaper, and when Mr Sing next appears I said has been charged with Mrs Hadley, thereupon used the Joseph Duveen a counter-suit for $500,000 and this is the trial that is proceeding. Mr Joseph has refused to retract and has spent many hours in the box but not unattractive hours in the witness chair explaining why it would have been impossible for Du Vinci to paint "La Belle Fermonere." His

Reward And Work

Some of life's greatest lessons are to be learned from the simplest methods in living it Everyone desires to be happy. Everyone desires to solve his problems to get on in the world. Yet few are willing to pay the price and patient in the management of himself We think too much of luck and fate and forget the value of getting started on easy street without the hard work of every day and sweat and we wonder at the discouraged success.

What we are getting at is this There is too much looking up and down and around. If more attention we would rather have or be instead of looking for visions and the rough and ready jobs and discovering possibilities we may actually

Most of the troubles we have observed have arisen from careless and hasty conclusions. Jumping to conclusions is the most common error in the world. Hasty judgment is another human expression. Be sure you are being made the most of what you have before you look many miles for help. Most of people or pull to advance their prospects when they should exercise only a few attitude toward what they have in hand.

Go close yourselves into the closets and focus to some degree and as they do they grow more and more. The detail here is of no value to the general run. It is the detail of things that a fine delivery is reached in a brave walking on that matters most not in a fine penmanship but the task to which we are applied with a fairer prospect of success in view.

If possible lose yourself in your work. Forget that it is, when you are just what you are worth. Do all that you can and sometimes you may get it down as an under long part of life that there is not single piece of work so dutiful which when it is well done does not assist the general standing of life We may not suspect it at the time but it will prove out some

Most Important Forgery In The World

Any Christian art dealer and especially any decent Britisher, "although" he may have anything sought to answer in the matter of a certain picture can take instruction in the thought that it is not a forgery but is the very best of composition. The Christian Church has been established by the terms of the famous "Pale Illustrations" and the "Donation of Constantine," which charged that a century of millions of people the ten to the end was false and without value. It not indeed wholly vanished to that day that J H Parker, who some years ago issued a series of two hundred issued and wrote a book about them, was compelled to observe you is disposed to wonder whether Parker himself knew that truth has not had the more power, assert effect upon the destinies of mankind than the fact that the False Decretals and especially the Donation of Constantine have been thoroughly exposed some centuryovers of their original appearance continue to be cited and may be used for hundreds of years hence. Some part in determining the fortunes of churches and religious beliefs. The trouble between England and Ireland is traced to the Pope's share in it, as all will agree, long and bloody chapter.

In the early years of the church forgeries were perfectly common as authentic writings They were of course, the product of heresies which is to say that they were produced to support whatever theological view happened to be current at the time. Again and again the arguments of the church have been supported by documents which subsequent churchmen have been compelled to admit were forged. Among them being the... of Rhetus, Bishop of Antioch, Mar... Bishop of Smyrna and Benedictus Levita, Deacon of Mainz.

The writer, whoever he was, established the system of writing forged documents. Moreover, much of what he wrote was true and is a part of acceptable enough now in this day. Some of the sayings which he attributed to Popes were perfectly sound and were such that did them credit. The Donation of Constantine was signed in extended from Pope Clement in the 1st century to Pope Melchiades in the 4th. But incorporated in it were... and... which were general accretions were made among the doctrines, such, for instance, as that

Trotsky Once More Exiled From Russia

London, who emotionally differed from him, once said "I would neither lose a few provinces when now Trotsky" Here Stalin, who upon the mantle of Lenin has followed to such an extent that he is hated to see through his voluminous fields, would rather lose ten or three provinces and Trotsky with them than have the repeaser of the Russian revolution in the country. Trotsky was chosen at office and banished to the steppes, where as it was supposed, he would have no influence. But now it seems that he is to be chased out of Russia to find a new home elsewhere. This is not a new experience for Trotsky. Most of his activities have been outside Russia, and nobody knows better than he the exploitive power of ideas. He is the greatest propagandist in the world, and Stalin will not be rid of him even if he should so succeed eliminate to kill Trotsky. That, too, has happened to Trotsky before. But the time came when he defied the exile entered the country and helped to raise about and direct the revolution that was to overthrow the last vestige of czarism.

It would be foolish to deny the extraordinary ability of the man who is the Lenin Gossip of Russia, but a realist will probably more definite than that the Bolshevist Lenin was the thinker and the planner Trotsky was the man of action, the executive. The union of the pair was necessary in the success of the revolution, and at the moment of supreme decision, Lenin was in hiding. In the days of the October revolution Trotsky was driven out of the country and the Soviet government established. Trotsky took the lead and made the decisions. Of him Arno Dosch-Fleurot, correspondent of the New York World, wrote "He did not sleep, he hardly ate or drank. By the third day his face was so yellow as parchment, his eyes protruded but he did not stop the job for a second until he was sure the new power was firm. In those three days he consulted only the makers and the Red Guards. He left for Spain. From Spain he went straight around him. I watched him in every change in those days and while the rush of events remain in my memory I cannot remember ever having seen Kaminev Zinoviev or Stalin there. Later they and the people blossomed out, but in the day of '17 or six' there was just one big figure: Trotsky.

Like most of the other Russian revolutionaries, Trotsky was a Jew. His real name is Bronstein. Among others he was a high school pupil at Odessa, he first studied with authority, represented them by a dictated teacher. He was expelled while he was a participant in a Czech putsch, who planted the seeds of communism in his native. He joined an organization of workers which later developed into a labor alliance that admitted the hostile extension of the police. At the age of 19 he was arrested and for ten and a half years shifted from one prison to another. It was while he was a prisoner that he was first introduced to the works of Karl Marx which have been the chief influence of his career ever since. He escaped from Siberia and made his way to London. Armed with a letter of introduction to Lenin, who was then the editor of a little Russian paper printed in the interest of the revolutionary movement. Trotsky has appropriately described their meeting, and how, trembling with excitement, he hardly waited until the sun rose to present himself at the shabby apartment where Lenin lodged. They went out on the streets and wandering beside Westminster abbey, had plans for the overthrow of capitalism.

Trotsky remained in Europe for three years, supporting himself by writing for one or another of the papers or as papers such as that edited by Lenin. In 1905, when the Russian people demanded their constitution by the czar, a demand met by the establishment of the Duma Trotsky returned to the land of his birth to help the movement. He was there a year the royal promise of a amnesty to all engaged in the czar's overthrow was forgotten and Trotsky was arrested and banished to Siberia for life. Again he escaped and made his way to Finland where he wrote a book describing his adventures. He remained his former life and was the author of those, nearly

PRESBYTERIAL OF W. M. S. OF STETTLER UNITED

The 24th annual Presbyterial meeting of the W. M. S. of the United Church of Canada was held in Stettler on Thursday, February 9th, when Mrs. Peter Miller, Pres. in the Chair.

The morning session was given over to the appointment of committees, reading of minutes and Treasurer's report.

We were sorry to have a letter from our Honorary Pres. Miss Johnston from the Presbyterial dismissing herself from the duties on account of the press of work and that she has carried on for so much of this Presbyterial since 1911 for many years and we were sorry she felt she had to resign.

The report from the Secretary of Publicity, Mrs. Hall of Camrose, was very good. Camrose organized a new Auxiliary and a membership of fifteen and an average attendance of ten, standing with a credit.

Castor Band has recently entered the ranks, this Band deserves great credit, having a membership of fifteen but paid members $10.40 to the Presbyterial Treasurer.

Stettler Band is also doing wonderful work having an annual membership of twenty-four. Last year they paid $20.00 to Presbyterial and gave $25.00 to Presbyterial Treasurer.

A new Band was reported organized at Monitor but no report was had from them.

Bethe has thirteen mission members and paid $14.35 to the Presbyterial Treasurer they are hoping for an increase in membership.

Report from Secretary of Young Women's Work. Mrs. Procter, of Stettler, stated that delegates' report any newly organized C.G.I.T. groups and also any newly established C.G.I.T.

Report of Secretary of Associate Helpers, Mrs. Robinson, she had reports from Stettler, but nothing much from other societies along this line.

Report from Supply Secretary, Mrs. Hayward. The Secretary has all done very good supply work this year. The supplies sent have valued at $95.20 she asked that her letters to the supply work be answered promptly as this is very important.

Report of Missionary Monthly Secretary, Mrs. Wood. Has very much to report but gave an encouragement of why January editions was late.

Report of Strangers' Secretary, Mrs. Scott, was good. The conference seems to have been quite active in visiting the strangers in our midst and helping them in any way possible.

The Literature Secretary Mrs. Hamilton had nothing to report. The Secretary was instructed to send a letter of sympathy to our Provincial Literature Secretary, Mrs. Lane, on account of her serious illness. Also to our retiring President, Mrs. Adcock, a letter of appreciation of her work, of how she was missed at the meeting that day and of sorrow for her having to give up the work.

Mrs. Prior, Temperance Secretary, regrets much being done along these lines.

Adjourned with Misses Benediction.

At the afternoon session, Devotional exercises were given from Carter Bethe, Munster Consolation and Stettler. Also more reports of C.G.I.T.'s Mission Band work.

Mrs Campbell gave an one of her beautiful solos.

Mrs. Wood gave a splendid paper on "Consolidation." Her spoke of a book on Missionary work "That They May Be Won." and said she thought it was the best thing of the kind she had ever read and thought it would be well if each Society had at least one copy.

Report of Secretary of Finance and Christian Stewardship, Mrs. McKinnon, was given. We find that while Alberta is allocated $28,000.00, the Mission Board spends $54,000.00 annually in its Province.

So you see a great deal more is spent on Home Mission work in the Province than is raised.

Treasurer's report, Mrs. P. T. Oxley. On account of poor crops, most of the manitorer had failed to meet their allocation, though one or two, I believe, went over the top. Our allocation for the district was $800.00, but we failed by $140 to raise it.

The Secretary was instructed to send a letter of appreciation to Mr. Cresmell for auditing the Treasurer's books.

A letter was read from the Provincial Secretary of Services, re our allocation for 1928.

We then had an address from Mrs. Sinnett of Edmonton on her work and the need for work in China. This was very interesting, and we all felt very grateful to Mrs. Sinnett for the kind left her own Presbyterial Meeting in Edmonton to come to us.

We were favored with a lovely vocal solo by Mrs. O. Cribb.

It was moved, seconded and carried, that the following resolution be sent to the Government:—

Resolved—The hour parties of the Provincial are a nuisance to the rural districts of our young and a detriment to our votes.

Moved by Mrs. J. Russell and seconded by Mrs. Hamilton that the Stettler Presbyterial of the W. M. S. of the United Church, in convention, do petition the Government of the Province, to submit to the electors of the Province a plebiscite asking for the cessation of liquor traffic, that a copy of this resolution be sent to each member.

Mrs. Cutler's Mission Band gave a splendid programme.

Miss Isobel Webb gave a chorus in her usual style and way.

A discussion was held on our allocations and it was decided to accept the allocation for the year 1928 of $800.00.

Prior thought it was better to take high, even changing the figure if need be.

The following are the officers for 1928:

President, Mrs. Peter, Munster.

Vice-President, Mrs. Wood, Secretary of Veterans.

Vice-President, Mrs. Ward of Stettler.

Recording Secretary, Mrs. Hay of Stettler.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs. E. Baron Carter.

Treasurer, Mrs. P. T. Oxley, of Castor.

Secretary of Christian Stewardship and Finance, Mrs. McKinnon of Castor.

Secretary Supplies, Mrs. Campbell of Consolation.

Secretary Strangers, Mrs. Scott of Castor.

Assistant Helpers Secretary, Mrs. Robinson of Stettler.

Secretary of Young Women's Work Secretary of Y.P.W.C.G.I.T.

Mrs. Procter of Stettler.

Secretary Literature Secretary, Mrs. Hamilton of Stettler.

Secretary Monthly Secretary, Mrs. Sinnett, of Consort.

Literature Secretary, Mrs. Hamilton of Stettler.

Presiding Secretary, Mrs. Hay Hall of Stettler.

We were given a banquet at 6:30 in the basement of the church, it was kindly served by some of the Stettler young girls, and was very much enjoyed by all. During this time we were entertained with a piano solo by Miss Dorothy Bennett and a vocal solo by Mrs. Cribb with a piano solo by Miss Pearl Wilson, Mrs. H. Pegg gave a short address of welcome which was answered by Mrs. Scott of Castor Mr. Gaffard also gave some appropriate words of welcome and Mr. Cresmell was called on to say a few words re the auditing of Treasurer's book. He says it was a pleasure to do this, as they had been so perfectly kept that they needed themselves.

We then adjourned again for the evening session.

This was opened with a devotional period, followed by a very sweet vocal solo by Mrs. Bayrooft.

The installation of officers came next with Mr. Gaffard presiding. Mr Gaffard also spoke of the honor bestowed upon Mrs. Prior in being appointed by the Presbytery as to Commissioner to the Quadrennial Council in London, Ontario, in September. Mrs. Prior said that

Running Alphabet Now That Weigh A Ton

We had not suspected until we read an article in the Vancouver Province, from Vera Brooks-Prowse, that a letter ever reached a ton. We had supposed that half the weight would constitute a really unusual dose letter, for half the weight is that of a full-sized horse and 1,000 pounds would be enough to a Christian duty that the lowest form of animal should be fed. But we are sometimes obtain this weight that made by Robert Pendergast, who made a special trip for the letter and estimated to have weighed 1000 pounds. Of course, the letter was of a size barely upon which the regulations were based, but nevertheless it weighed and mailed no matter how it is possible to know the exact weight of extra large specimens.

Then Lavinia wanted a letter to her husband at Dawson and asked for the privilege of writing it herself. Permission was granted and she began to write. Her husband was a miner and she had not seen him for a year. Her letter was accurate and full of love. She

We will miss Mr. and Mrs. Sharpe from our midst as they are moving to the village. They intend leaving a sale on March 20th and we hope for the right. We hope the change will improve their health.

James Sillery has been out of school for about six weeks on account of his eyes and he has missed a lot of fun. By time you were coming back to school Friday.

The high school girls had a very enjoyable supper and a few days ago and felt sleepy for several days.

We are all glad to know that the roads are again open to Stettler.

Several people around here have had the stomach flu including Professor Beard, Mrs. H. O. Wainer and daughter and Donald McCrimmon.

The girls' basketball and basketball teams have started their practices. Eleanor Walker is captain of basketball and Maxine Coughlan is captain of baseball.

The high school basketball committee will begin on March 21st. The pupils are working hard and we all wish them success.

Did you know that out of the 12 pupils in high school we can boast of nine members, two members, a vice president, an editor, an elect editor and radio expert. As well as a first class player and coach.

Well, that's enough for this time.

Rain—On Tuesday, March 4th to Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Gardiner of Calgary, formerly of Erskine, a daughter, Dorothy Pearl.

Mr. H. A. Clark of Bashaw, is spending a few days in Calgary with her daughter Miss Dorothy and Mr. Stevenson.

The dance that was to be held on Friday, March 14th, in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Erskine under the auspices of the Curling Club, has been postponed until further notice.

Mr. and Mrs. J. McClintock arrived home from the Pacific Coast last Saturday. Jack's health has improved considerably as a result of the delightful all round climate. Victoria and the quiet atmosphere he was unable to locate anyone who knew or cared anything about the Wheat Pool or the condition of the wheat market, consequently he was persuaded to enjoy a complete rest.

In order to clean up the remaining games in the mixed Bonspiel schedule has been arranged for six a.m. or before. Who would want to handle a broom before this hour?

W.C.T.U. Notes

An important event of February 25th was the "Famous Writers" tea and program at 8 p.m. in the home of Rev. and Mrs. A. Gosden. Following the Crusade Hymn and Mr. Hutchison had in prayer, after which Mrs. Thomas Harper on the life and work of the founder of our organization, now operating in over 70 seven countries, was given by a number of musicians and guests.

A splendid musical program was enjoyed by all, consisting of a duet "When I Think of Thee" by Mr. and Mrs. Gosden. A duet, Alice and Mabel Stables. "The White Ribbon," by Mrs. Gosden and Miss Stables. Lish a Bunch" and "Trees" by Mrs. Gosden.

Rev. Mr. Gross addressed the audience on "Where Prohibition is a Success and Where it is a Failure" in a masterly manner, and Mrs. Gosden on "Prohibition."

Mrs. R. Frew spoke on the attitude of the recent U. F. A. and U. F. W. A. Convention re "The Abolition of Private Parlors," and a resolution to this effect was passed by a large majority.

Mrs. Stables presided in an able manner. There were between fourteen and fifty present and all did justice to the ample tea provided by the committee and served by a number of teen age girls.

Let us make our March meeting a "Dime Budget" meeting in the

On Thursday, February 27th part of the district executive of the W. C. T. U. met at the home of Mrs. Gosden to make partial arrangements for the district convention to be held in Clive in May. One feature of the program which Stettler union hopes to put across is a Medal Medal contest and six contestants are already to line. Mrs. A. Grobe who is kindly connected to train their voices wishes the contestants to meet at her home Saturday of this week at 10 a.m. bringing any song selections with them. The heart of the district president is gladdened by a letter from Mrs. Thomas Taylor of Bashaw telling how enthusiastically the Sunday School had entered into the "Do-right" campaign. Local unions are doing fine work and how be. A Crusade Contest and how be. A short lecture and an ex-teacher will be given. The examinations will take place in March

Thousands of ministers and business superintendents are gladly falling into line in this splendid course for the training of our boys and girls along these most important avenues. Others who are interested cost-effectual or have a vision of future citizenships are requested to write for a few days.

Bill Darling, I'm praying for you.

Agra Colonels Steals Fame Of Tijuana

Tijuana's infancy, which was unquestionably brief and brought about wholly by a race track and gambling, and which nevertheless has been stolen by its neighbor, Agra Colleata, another little Mexican border town, is the talk of the American boundary. We have heard various stories as to why the racing is now done in Agra Colleata instead of Tijuana, but that some influential Mexican wanted to have it as in order that he might have his percentage of the profits. In any event, the racing has shifted to the other town and is dangerous for a stranger to stray about unattended. The gambling and the drinking have drawn the inevitable rough element to the Mexican border and the Mexican flavor has not by rough evenings. Nothing is gone but the horses. The track remains and dogs race on it.

All the other lures are unchanged and the American who wants money to gamble or drink need go no further than Tijuana. All the drinks he ever heard of and some he never will are on sale openly as ever they were in any American town. The fact that used to wander and grope for the beam rail that was not there can happily now be forgotten. The bar is in front of the bars. If one prefers to drink in comfort and fashion sitting outdoors. In every barroom there are gambling devices and they are supposed generally to be crooked. The gambling at Agra Colleata is perhaps a little more and the latter town is undoubtedly the more interesting of the two. Here the methods at Agra Colleata are also a little more polite. There is a certain dignity about the usual Quick or Uneven City at the border of the United States. At Agra Colleata all the buildings owned by the gambling syndicates are new and beautiful and have red tile roofs and beautiful red roofs. One of the features first noted is an orangeade or lemon which at night is produced in attractive glasses and glass lined there after dark. Also in the daytime they bring passengers from the American side.

There is a first class hotel and beautiful gardens with lawn, grass and full palm trees everywhere. They say Agra Colleata is an oasis in more senses than one. The attitude of the tourist is said to be one of the finest on the continent. The general atmosphere is more refined than in Tijuana which is inclined to drink to the liquor rye and dogs' to the trouser legs into too beats. In Agra Colleata there is more to charm the eye and the promises whereby the American visitors are separated from their money are more delightful. See One can see movie stars from Hollywood and Los Angeles in the gardens of Agra Colleata's fourth of pretty. Besides from different parts of the world who have been attracted to Los Angeles are pretty sure to be found at the hotel at Agra Colleata, for it is the fashionable thing to do. But the stars of the movies are distinguished for nothing much more than their thirst and their inclination that they can spend money in excess of others. The fact that they are, nevertheless, the only ones who can be found in the gardens of the hotel at Agra Colleata is said to have caused much ill feeling on the part of the native and recruits the next morning, for at night the border is closed and no Mexican is allowed to enter. Contrary to the usual Mexican border town there is there accommodation for all the people who visit it by day. But Agra Colleata is worth seeing for its own beauty, even by those who are not interested in either gambling or drinking. We fear, however, that even its undoubted charms are lost to all their parents and friends. A very cordial invitation to visit them on Saturday afternoon and help to make this event a social and financial success.

Dance will be held on Friday evening, March 21st, under the auspices of the I.O.O.F. McDonald's Orchestra of Lacombe will be in attendance. This orchestra requires no introduction and a pleasurable event is being looked forward to.

This has been a truly wonderful week—Gophers and mud holes on Monday; Dust storms on Tuesday; Snow storm on Wednesday. Coming on Thursday; McDonald's Orchestra on Friday; Round it all off and drown your sorrows by drinking on Saturday afternoon at 2.

Mr. Oliver Harold is a Calgary visitor for a few days this week.

Service in the United Church on Sunday afternoon at 3 p.m. Rev. J. C. Gosden will preside.

The Scourge Of Cancer

The Medical Academy of Alberta has just appointed a committee to study the problem of the incidence and treatment of Cancer. The personnel of this committee has been selected with great care, all are outstanding in their several fields of activities and the knowledge arising from this study should be marked.

Therefore, without the co-operation of the public, results must, of necessity be delayed. Cancer is a high death rate because the patient is not seen by the physician until the disease has progressed too far to be beyond all help. (How quickly this knowledge could be used for the early physical examination.)

When results are to be secured, and the curability is raised to a high degree, the public must be educated to the early symptoms of the body, sick or without pain, for a reason enough for a visit to the physician. For instance, a wound however a small swelling under her arm or on her breast. It is not painful and does not appear to be very serious to the patient. Frequently the arm becomes heavy, upper is pain, there is edema (dropsy) of the arm, a tumor is seen, and the dread verdict of "You Late" is given. Do not let your pride stand in the way, consult your physician.

The financial statement showed that the club had everything paid up including the new Club House, except $200.00 still owing on the mortgage This will be paid off this year

The following were the officers elected for the year 1930

President, A F Kennedy

Vice President W Dunlop

Secretary Treasurer H J Meeks

Executive Messrs. Aird, Dickson's Lee White and Wilson

Auditor J F M Bone

After some discussion it was decided to put the fees the same as last year with the following amendments

Gentlemen $7.50 Ladies $5.00 Beginners, $2.50. Non-residents— $10.00. High School. $2.00

Messrs Aird and Dickson will head the league of nine of the town, while the ladies non-residents and [illegible] will be able to [illegible] rates while the business for this year will also get a representative.

Messrs Hudson and Sturrock were appointed the auditors for the ensuing year on the members [illegible] of the executive.

Gentlemen $7.50 Ladies $5.00 Beginners, $2.50. Non-residents— $10.00. High School. $2.00

Mr. Bone will look after the [illegible] of the town, and the secretary must see that the [illegible] are kept in order.

It was moved by Gemmill-Allen, that C L. Willis be the Club Captain for the year. It is his duty to draw up a series of club tournaments for the summer months and he will publish a schedule of tournaments both for ladies and gents. He must endeavor to interview all of two weeks during the months of June, July and August. The annual President vs Vice-President competition will take place early in May and this will be the final open tournament on May 24th and 25th will open the season.

The question of improving the course was discussed and plans will be made to plant trees and otherwise beautify the surroundings.

The Club House will be open for the use of members on Saturday afternoon and evening.

The Committee was pointed to interview the Town Council in this matter, to [illegible] Secretary Mcintire, M E McCoy and C.L. Willis.

The matter of caretaker for the course was left open for tenders. Mr. Aird reported that the new network should send their tenders to the Secretary

Annual Meeting Of The Wheat Pool

A meeting was held at the Town Hall on Monday afternoon, March 10th at 2. p.m. Jack presided. It was well attended, there being more than one hundred present

Mr G Chard, of the Field Service Department for this district gave a lantern picture show of Jubilee Year, and interesting events were very effective and interesting, giving a wonderful idea of the magnitude of the enterprise After the pictures the meeting was called to order, and the Secretary read the minutes of the last annual meeting. The Chairman then called for nominations for directors of the Local Board.

Mr S S Fudd was again elected President and J A Ashmed, elected Secretary by the meeting. The six members of the Board are A. Peter, J. Nelson, R Zimmerman, J Holder, W. M. Robinson and J. Mc Kinnon.

Mr Chard addressed the meeting dealing very fully with the action that the Wheat Pool was finding the grain off the market and hooding up prices. He showed that the Pool had been continually selling wheat as the market could take it There was only five days last year when it was held off the market. He showed how the Pool Elevator Companies were holding a larger percentage of wheat than the Pool. He explain d the help of Grain buying options, and how they were completely in the hands of the regular grain exchange operators how that organized groups were buying and selling to each other without any grain passing, with a bear system developed to a fine art.

Mr Chard explained the system of weighing and grading in the Pool Elevators The Private Elevator Companies operating for profit were not in position to pay more for grain than the Pool, because they give initial inducements but would get it back in the end.

He assured the farmers that there would be a final payment of the 1928 crop

At the close of Mr Chard's address a number of farmers asked questions—A vote of thanks was extended to him

Mr I. D. Taylor addressed the meeting, discussing many problems of the Pool How the Government guarantee was an advantage to the non-pool as well as to the members of the Pool. The disorganized state of the world markets, the countries adopting high protective tariff were making it almost impossible to sell wheat there. He emphesized the idea of the Empire Preference and the British market for our wheat, and that while other countries produced their farmers, the Canadian farmers already have protection——— Looking forward to the ideal condition of universal free trade.

He viewed the possibilities at conference that may come for the Wheat Pool in the next few years, quoting as a possibility amongst the conditions that have existed in the Brazilian Coffee Pool, where there were fixed prices and over-production. He reviewed the Australian Government Scheme of fixing the guarantee price of $2 cents. This with our No 3 grade Mr Taylor answered many questions.

It was generally conceded to have been a very successful meeting.

Botha News

Roy Bayder returned home from the hospital last week. his condition is greatly improved

The card party held at Jack Bannon's home last week proved to be the greatest success of the season. The house was crowded. there being 13 tables of players. Cards were played until midnight when supper was served, after which dancing was indulged in until 3 a.m. Mrs Underwood was 1st prize for the ladies while Ward Snyder won 1st for the gents and Norman Brunton secured the booby

Miss Mary Herbert and Mr. Murray Kirkwood, both of Penhalow were married in Stettler on Monday

Chief Primeau returned to Jos Ball's on Saturday as the mild weather has removed the snow and the lumber camp at Whitewood is now closed

We were asked last week to announce that Mr Chas Sibbey has resigned his position as buyer for the live stock pool and that Mr J. L. Sutton is now in charge of that department.

We made every effort to get this in last week's issue but owing to some oversight the item was missed.

Mr Herb Stewart and children spent the week end visiting friends in Botha. district prior to his departure to Ontario where he will make his home for the time On the occasion of his leaving Denzil B. D. where he has been the Secretary-Treasurer of the school district for a number of years, the pupils presented him with a beautifully fitted leather club bag as a token of the esteem in which he was held by the general neighborhood

Charlie Mills, Provincial President of the Junior branch of the U. F. A. organization is spending a few days with Mr and Mrs. D R Menzies, the latter having been his public school teacher for a number of years

The Women's Institute wish to thank everyone in any way connected with the Card Parties which have been held in and out of town, with a view to aiding the financial condition of the W I. The very generous support and co-operation shown is warmly appreciated by those who are carrying on the Institute work.

The Ladies' Aid Annual banquet was held in the Hall on March 16. The weather was not very favorable and may have kept a few away. Still a good crowd was present and the ladies were well pleased with the results. We are always glad to have New Oakland with us on these occasions, who as ably fills the position of chairman.

Professor Corbett's orchestra from Red Deer had come and went all the way from Red Deer and we will be glad to welcome him here again some time in the future.

Great credit is due Miss Herbert, the convener of the play and to those who gave their help in presenting the play. The parts were well chosen and given. The old vaudeville skit also helped to make the evening a success.

Latest Invention Shuts Out Noise

Sound proof houses, offices, factories and hotels are the event among vehicles—these are a possibility of the future if experiments now being carried out in a West London laboratory prove successful.

The problem of making conventional sound vibrations has been solved, and engineers now manipulating how to apply this discovery to everyday needs. The aim is to surround an area with a sort of electrical girdle which will absorb all "incoming" noise

Dr James Robinson, former chief of the wireless research department of the war, who is, within measurable reach of making his secret known.

Like all scientists, Dr Robinson is extremely reluctant to forecast the end of his research.

"I do not want," he said, "to raise any false hopes" and to an interviewer.

"We have, however, proved the principle that you can isolate wireless vibrations, and it is quite possible that the development of our work will provide a solution of how to isolate ordinary sound vibrations and stop them from penetrating any particular place. At the moment we have not got to the stage which it can be done, how sound vibrations can be stopped in the same way as wireless waves."

Infinite possibilities are behind Dr Robinson's discovery, and an expert who is in close touch with the experiments. We visualize a house in an office—indeed, any building—equipped with the apparatus, electrical or otherwise, which absorb all noises from without.

At the turn of a dial—like the turning of a wireless set—that building will be isolated. There will be no noise to penetrate. The only principle can be applied we think to modern vehicles such as trains and motor cars so that passengers may travel in silence

Individual houses in a home might then be sound-insulated from the rest of the house. I may see an author working in comfort and silence in his study while in the drawing room adjoining his daughters are dancing to a gramophone Life will become easier and more bearable in every way if the scientific contribution of Dr Robinson's invention can be made a success."

LOCAL AND PERSONAL

"Any rags? Any old iron?" chanted the dealer, as he knocked at the suburban villa. The man of the house opened the door.

"No, sir, go away," he snapped irritably. "There's nothing for you. My wife's away."

The itinerant merchant hesitated a moment and then enquired: "any old bottles"

Wedding Bells

(Reprinted from "Rotary Voice")

(Editor's Note This was clipped from the Kansas City Star Sheet. Where Editor cannot recall the source of this item but knows it appeared in an Oklahoma paper)

Mr Robert Chetney and Miss Alice Brown were married at noon Monday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr and Mrs P D Brandon, Rev M.L Causeway officiating

The groom is a popular young man who has been a bell of work since he got shipped in the middle of his junior year in college. He manages to draw well and keep a supply of spending money because his dad is a banker and has a job waiting for him up his dad thinks instead of letting him go to jail where he belongs.

The bride is a skinny, fast little girl who has been around town every day in town since she was 12 years old. Her mother is a perfect lady, sucks cigarettes in secret and drinks mean corn liquor when she is out of town. She is a perfect out of nights. She doesn't have to drink, but she likes to drink.

The house was newly plastered for the wedding and the exterior recently painted. Then appropriately carrying out the decorative scheme for the groom was newly papered and the bride newly painted.

The groom wore a rented dinner coat over reliable second hand imitation silk. His pants were held up by pale green suspenders. His number eight patent leather shoes matched his state in tightness and accentuated nicely with the extra-gaunt pallids of his hair. In addition he has put he carried a pocket knife a bunch of keys, a dime and his ring and his usual load of chewing tobacco.

The bride wore some kind of white thing that left most of her bust sticking out at one end and her knees sticking out at the other.

The young people will make their home with the bride's parents, which means they will pester us the old man until he dies and then after will take to washing.

THE PSYCHOLOGY OF ELOQUENT

H. Hitler is an orator of the highest order. He is a master of mass psychology. He knows how to arouse the passions of his audience. He knows how to sway them. He knows how to make them do what he wants them to do. He is a great orator.

This is true.

FROM THE DRESS CIRCLE

Erskine Dramatic Society staged a very successful play entitled "Pity Mists a Cracker," to a well-filled house in the I.O.O.F Hall in Erskine on February 20th It would be unfair to single out any of the cast for special mention, suffice be it to say that all characters interpreted their parts to advantage, and the play, on the whole, showed that this community possesses considerable histrionic ability and same was evident on the dance floor Proceeds went to the I.O.O.F. Building Fund

The cast follows—

Jeffrey Wayne—An Irate Business Man—C J GILLESPIE

Marie Pratt Wayne—His Wife—DOROTHY ELLIOTT

Mary Wayne—His Daughter—EDNA HORSFALL

Tilton Livingston Poet—Mary's Sweetheart—STANLEY SCALES

Lucette Neville—An Actress—HAZEL STOLL

Nora—The Housekeeper—AUDREY HARE

Inspector Dunn—Police Detective —A. W. SHAND.

WEDDINGS

LIVINGSTONE—HARTLEY

The United Church Manse Stettler, on Tuesday, March 28th, at 2 o'clock when Mabel Eleanor Leah Hartley was united in marriage to Mr. Ernest Livingstone. Rev. J. G Goddard officiating.

Mrs F F Hartley of Lee Alberta, attended the bride, and Mr W T Hunter of Big Valley, Alberta, supported the groom. Mrs. W T Foster and Mr. F. F. Pattern will preside at the organ.

BRIDE WAS FORMER NURSE

"That was an excellent speech you made on the tariff."

"I am glad you liked it," said Senator Sorghum. "Whole opinions may differ as to details, everybody must concede that every tariff is of legitimate value as an oratorical exposition"—Washington Star.

A Remembrance of Stettler High School Days 1912-13

The term 1912-13 of the Stettler High School opened auspiciously as the first year of a new building. Most was also another through a year of steady progress and the term before of a pack of the seats. It was never to be known. Pleading over the Christmas holidays of 1912 a fire broke out in the basement and was discovered by the janitor. Mr. Rutherford who was busy putting out the flames with a fire extinguisher. Meanwhile the alarm was sounded, and while some members of the chorus were singing upon Stettler Rotary Rink, he could have done so if engaged in community work

Mrs. S. Rudenschi is recovering at the hospital from a surgical accident which occurred at her residence a month ago when a portion of the wall severely burned around the chest, and Mrs. Rudenschi was burning a quantity of rubbish in the yard when her clothing caught fire, and when her husband came to her assistance he received severe burns to his hands and arms. Mrs. Rudenschi is reported to be doing nicely.

Sports were not neglected in the term 1912-13. A hockey team was formed and their progress from week to week and their competitions recently established by a women's hockey league in Stettler, and I may be hear of several other sporting events that may have come up to the standard of the previous definitions of golf as defined the best able a hole with instruments singularly unadapted for the purpose.—Condensed Memorial.

CHANGES OF THE WEEK AT WINNIPEG

Thursday, March 17th, 1938.

CATTLE

CHEESE—Real classes of all weights are full steady at Calgary and prices are firm. Other classes unchanged. Females are not in such good condition and the tops are not as high as last week. Choice steers, 1,000 lbs. and upward $6.00-6.25; good, $5.75-6.00; medium $5.25-5.75; common $4.50-5.25; choice heifers, 850 lbs. and under $5.75-6.00; good $5.50-5.75; medium $5.00-5.50; common $4.50-5.00; choice cows $5.00-5.25; good $4.75-5.00; medium $4.25-4.75; common $3.75-4.25; canners $3.25-3.75; choice bulls $5.00-5.25; good $4.75-5.00; medium $4.25-4.75; common $3.75-4.25. A good demand for calves but prices are lower. Choice to $6.50 for choice and common calves $7.00-8.00. STOCKERS AND FEEDERS: Light receipts and lack of quality is making this section somewhat slow but the better feeders are $5.00 to $5.75 and choice stocker steers at $5.00-$7.00. Stocker cows $3.50-4.00 and stock cows from $3.00-$3.75.

HOGS

Calgary hog market dropped 25c this week with Wednesday's market at $11.00 for selects, packers at $11.25; butcher hogs $11.25, based on off car weights.

Edmonton hogs made $11.25-a $11.35 for bacons this week and selects at $11.00 for off cars, weighed and watered basis of weights.

SHEEP

Sheep market at Calgary unchanged and market has not as yet come in. Lambs, choice $8-$9 with peeling at $7 to $8 and ewes at $5 to $6.

Buyers at Edmonton have adopted an indifferent attitude his week and prices are steady with sales from $6 to $10, yearling $7.00 to $8. and ewes $5 to $7.

GRAIN

Market at Winnipeg opened lower on Wednesday owing to lower cables from Liverpool and lack of export business. Liverpool reported liquidations. Fair support in the mixture of rusting orders from commercials, but under pressure of the moderate selling. Closing prices were unchanged to 1c lower than the close of Tuesday. Cash wheat was unchanged to 1c lower. Cash coarse grains were unchanged to 1c lower.

WEDNESDAY — SETTING — 1938-39

BUTTERFAT—Some creameries still paying advanced prices on basis of 24c at all points. Expect a decline of 1c from last week's prices. Quotations now are—Special 24c to 25c, first, 23c to 24c, second 21c to 22c CREAMERY BUTTER—Alberta prints are steady. Make now meeting competition at low declined butter which threatens to be a serious matter. Slight portion now coming in. Quotations are: DAIRY BUTTER—Market unchanged. Country make 18c to 19c. CHEESE—Prices are unchanged. Fine cheering reasonable warrant.

EGGS—LIMITS — 20c

POULTRY—Crates coming to the market are somewhat few of really choice birds. Retail demands fair. Prices steady but by storage with Graves. HOGS—Trade has been finding heavy receipts arriving Demand moderate Eastern buyers are not interested. Lower prices are the result. Some encouragement and take care of competition. Trade is expecting a further decline. Quotations for the week are Bacon, per; fresh, 22c; and country 18c. Pork 18c — CURRENT — 20c.

HAY—Market quiet, prices are unchanged. Wire enquiry from Montreal, asking for prices on timothy. Existing conditions poor and offerings of country prices are not offered. Upland worth $13 to $14, shipping point, and timothy $15 to $16 per ton. Choice hay market is steady and light receipts give a firmness to tone. Feed rate are unchanged.

FEEDS

Market very dull and dealers are not expecting any improvement until navigation opens. Millers are expecting possible tariff imposed by United States. Quality of protein in your cake this year is higher than the normal feed.

OTHER

Coyote skins fairly appear to be over and bids of less than last week. Badger is about only prize sale offering at present. Outlook for the trapper and rats are bright

Wholesale Poisoning In Hungarian Village

There is prevailing at Szolnok a terrible epidemic of typhoid fever which is attracting interest through out Europe although we have seen no mention of it in the press over this continent. It seems that they were being held here the front pages of the newspapers would be full of it. Thirty-six persons have been tried or are being tried for murder All are charged with the fact that the trials of eight have been concluded with the result that five have been acquitted, two sentenced to death, three to imprisonment for life, and one to 15 years. Four persons died from having been three pancreatic cysts removed from their bodies by murder. The trials are being heard by a jury, except for trial by jury in an accused a Regent of Hungary, Admiral Horthy.

The personal portrayed in the case are not the usual part murderers. There are only two of the aged and unprepossessing women of the community with nearly all of their victims were aged or of invalid relatives whom they feared if they were not killed would be a burden. They all brought about by arsenic poison, which was secured by making the paste off of fly-paper The manner in which it is supposed to have been administered is for the mercy of slaughter "Auntie Pandas" is a Hungarian sweetmeat, resembling in appearance the pellets which were added to bread to kill rats. It is believed that the poisoning has been going on for some 20 years, but it is only within the past few months that the police finally got on to the trail. Exhumations have been made of 37 bodies, with a slight difference in the amount of arsenic found in the various bodies. In one body there was found 1.7 grains of arsenic, which is considered a fatal dose. In another body 0.7 grains was found, and in others from 0.4 to 0.1 grains. Under Hungarian law 0.3 grains is considered a fatal dose. Another body was found to contain 0.2 grains of arsenic, and in the remaining bodies from 0.1 to 0.05 grains. Under Hungarian law 0.3 grains is considered a fatal dose. Another body was found to contain 0.2 grains of arsenic, and in the remaining bodies from 0.1 to 0.05 grains.

Kidnapping Of A Russian General

Was Gen Kostiepoff kidnapped in Paris by Russian agents? If so was he murdered? If so will the body ever be found? These are questions which are now to be agitating Paris more than any other question since the end of the War The whole city, if not the whole nation is interested in them passionately. All this I knows definitely is that Kostiepoff has vanished. And that he was a revered enemy of the Soviets. At least, he was a revered enemy of the White Russian emigrants now living in exile in Paris, for Russian country but Russia. Most of these people were former members of the aristocracy some of them have royal blood in their veins. Many of them were ruined by the revolution and have come to work. Others were also ruined by the revolution but quickly made a great. Two years ago, a Russian economist and of considerable wealth, would have starved in Paris. Now he is a taxi driver. Hence the diverse climate were lost that it may sometimes were united they were all united in one thing—hatred of Bolshevism. It would be impossible to prove any guilt. The fact that most of the victims of the poisoners were aged or infirm made it possible to dispose of them quickly and with attention. In many cases, no doubt, the relatives themselves only by a few months and if only these worn-out and unwanted peasants had been removed it may be that the story of the poisonings would never have come to light.

But it happened naturally that a person who had found their own means of ridding himself of such querulous invalid would have it in mind if emergency arose with a stronger grip of his could be removed to his enemies. Hence it is that there was the case of Julious Polotsev, who is believed to have poisoned his first husband and then his second wife lived with her after the death of the latter. He had made money with her bonus every year after the latter had made a will leaving her her little property to him. Then she found that she would also be left a small annuity payable to his wife passed away. So Julia spended them with arsenic But Gen. and unexpected death by typhoid developed quickly, and in 1936 the authorities began to look into the strength of information received in an anonymous letter that a wholesale poisoning was in progress. Investigation began that letter has been confirmed in every and the belief is that it was written by old Anna Pesenka with the object of throwing dust in the eyes of the detectives and discounting any subsequent letter which might contain more valuable information. It was also a precaution for the operative murderers because she was instructing and gave them confidence that they might proceed without any serious risk.

What is by far the most disquieting feature of the affair is that there should be a whole community of peasants who can go on for years, apparently with the knowledge and connivance of scores or perhaps hundreds of their neighbors, of the disposition one after another of their victims by the Hungarian police who have been engaged in investigating the case. Many of the murderers have been arrested

Egypt Being Ruined By Narcotic Drugs

There are today, half a million Egyptian slaves of the drug habit, whose hapless years are thus over-shadowed in appearance that dark a cloud. This is the substance of the report of the Central Bureau of Egypt to League of Nations Opium Commission, and by one of the most sensational documents so far issued with that body. It has been prepared by T. W. Russell an Englishman who is director of the bureau and also head of the Cairo city police and has out of every 20 in Egypt is a drug addict and that 30 years ago heroin was unknown there to realize how far of the Levant. When it is seen that less than a generation established itself Egypt has done as the Egyptians were almost in advance of the drug evil, it but Egypt has not the means and should be expected that the Egyptian cannot complete the modern drastic steps as Japan and consider to be checked on the European which are now being used by 300,000 people. The East has always had its drugs which have taken the place of alcohol. Opium, Cannabis indica (hashish) either in his crude or when of a vegetable or powder prepared, other by home the most solemn or cruelly by Courts have also offending the Orientals an escape from realities and an anodyne for them. But the old drugs were mild in comparison. Chief among these was hashish, which is a habit-forming drug, but nothing like so terrible in its effects as heroin. The hashish evil, according to Mr. Russell, is a local one and can be handled by the Egyptian authorities themselves. It may take a good while to root it out but it is no such problem as that of the synthetic drugs manufactured in Europe.

To rid Egypt of these narcotics the co-operation of Europe is necessary. And the need is urgent. One glance at the statistics will be enough to convince that such is the case. Only 10 years ago there were 4,000 shops in Egypt selling drugs. Now there are 12,000. Cairo, for example, has 600 shops, and Alexandria 400. Drug users just as commonly buy those who sell heroin to them of the delights to be found in the use of narcotics. Many cases have become a persistent user of absolute beverages requires considerable force of character and perseverance. Other gained this habit can be proven by any person of average will power. Such, in fact, formed drunkards are a good deal commoner in our civilization than drug addicts. Once the habit is easily acquired. There is no initial distaste for cocaine to be overcome. Once formed it lasts for life Dope fiends who consequently are no more to be expected than former Christian fanatics in the Salvation Army.

Until quite lately Switzerland was the source of supply of the wholesale dealers who found their market in Egypt. In the last month there has been a change in the law which will lessen the supply if indeed, it does not wholly divert it from undesired channels. But this will then an enlisted drug ended dumb, preparation similar to heroin in its effects, but of a different composition, so that legislature would come within the law, was found made and also be met by governmental safeguards upon its distribution Several chemists, knowing the market for their product confined themselves almost exclusively to the manufacture of dangl But competing with them and still in operation, so far as we are aware, is a factory in Japan, which like your produced twice as much heroin as the whole decimal profession in the world could find legitimate use for Those producers were ready to co-operate with the smugglers and made everything easy for them as far as lay in their power The drugs were nearly all smuggled through at Alexandria and from there passed on to local peddlers who roamed up and down Egypt under their moral patronage

One of the chief distributors who was later on caught and imprisoned, was an Armenian named Thomas Zakarian He opened a small shop in a prominent street in Alexandria where he sold carpets and rugs. In the rear of the premises he kept drugs For a time he bought his supplies in the ordinary course, but when his sales increased, got in touch with the chemists in Switzerland and France and dealt direct He sold heroin and dionyl but for a time his principal activity was another deadly drug produced from the poppy, the morphine and known as morphium benzoylicum. The stuff made in Switzerland or Germany was shipped to France where the Armenian took possession and had little trouble in smuggling it into Egypt His downfall was brought about because of the jealousy of a rival trader who had first recommended him to the chemists who made the stuff and who, for a time was paid a commission Finally Zakarian took this trade elsewhere the agent lost his commission and sometimes met with the police

Through Zakarian, the detectives were led to a Dr. Refki Bey, who was making dionyl in unlimited quantities He was permitted to do so according to the law of his country and naturally was not concerned with the havoc that his drugs created Refki was arrested three but each time was able to prove that he was within his legal rights, and so far goes unstopped of justice. In months the drug smuggling business of Egypt is supposed to be in fewer hands, but this does not mean that there is less of it On the contrary so much money has been made and the prospects of making more are so alluring that there has come into existence a powerful smuggling ring with ample funds at its disposal to bribe officials with accepted bribes and perhaps deal suitably with cases of informers. It is against this unholy combine that the League of Nations is asked to act.

How To Obtain More Milage

Millions of dollars could be saved annually by the automobile owning public through a more strict observance of the factors that control the gasoline mileage offered by the average motor car, it is revealed in a survey on fuel economy recently completed by a well known company

A gain of from two to five miles on the gallon of gas could be effected, on the average, it was disclosed, if the motorist paid strict attention to the elements that govern fuel consumption. The majority of these factors, it was said, are obvious to the average automobile owner, but through an inexcusable apprehension or carelessness are commonly overlooked.

The survey sets down approximately a number of factors, which, if observed should materially increase your mileage. They are:—

1.—When standing or waiting for the light to change don't race your motor.

2.—When you are to make a stop of more than a minute turn off your motor.

3. Don't drive at excessive speed unless the occasion demands. High speed travelling burns more gas.

4.—Remember that the faster you drive the more gas you consume. So when you find that you are about out of gas and are heading for a filling station, take it slowly and your chances for negotiating the distance will be greater.

5.—When starting watch the choke. Don't drive with the choke out a moment longer than necessary.

6.—Be sure that your brakes are not dragging. This can come from a number of causes, but should be carefully borrowed frequently.

7.—Have your valves ground when they need it.

8.—See that the intake adjustment on your carburetor is set correctly. Many times is that the adjustment is not too lean.

9.—See that the ignition system is in the proper point. It gives you increased efficient idling performance and smoother gas.

10.—Don't fill your gas tank full to the cap some will escape through the vent in the cap.

10.—Don't ride the clutch.

11.—Watch gas line for leaks at joints. Check it periodically to see that fittings are tight.

12.—Avoid excessive use of the choke in traffic.

13.—See that spark is in fairly advanced position.

14.—Avoid excessive use of the choke in traffic.

Observance of these suggestions, the survey points out, will save money for the motorist, and add considerable mileage to your driving ability. Many of these factors are easily steps at the gasoline station.

Dentistry

An item under comment entered the grocery store of a French woman. "This insect powder," she exclaimed, "is no good. It hasn't killed a single cockroach."

"Ah, Madame, you have not use it correctly. First you catch se cockroach. Ses tickle inside in se nose. Then you put catch se cockroach in se mouth. Ah, you pour se powder down inside. Then you smell se choke and die!"

Optimist

"Pa, you're right," said the logical Sage, "dogs do have understanding). There's a legend about a Swedenborg who told his wife that if she died first he would come back to her. If it is not all the proper point it gives you increased gas consumption, curled up in the corner and died of shame."

"Died of shame?"

"That's it. He realized that anything a Scotchman would give away must be utterly worthless."

No Spoon

"If I stood on my head all the blood would flow to it, would it pa?"

"Yes."

"Then how is it that when I'm eating soup the soup don't run down to them?"

"Because your feet aren't empty."

"Well, of all the nerve," she said, as she slapped his face. "Don't ever try to kiss me again."

"All right," he replied meekly, "if you don't like it you don't have to. I'll get all my kisses from the waitress."

Beaver Crossing News

The dance which was held in the Beaver Crossing school on Thursday, March 13th, was well attended. People came seventy-five miles to attend it. Everybody had a very good time

The men around Beaver Crossing have been getting out logs which they are going to have sawed into lumber, as there is a new mill moving to Duck Lake, five miles north of Cold Lake.

Most of the men around here are hauling their season's wood up to have sawed before the spring work starts.

The crowd that has been going around getting surprise parties will meet at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Scott Patterson soon.

Some of the dances they have already been to are—

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Pushbridge, a nice time was had.

Mr and Mrs. W. Pinsky, danced merrily all the night.

Jack Coldwell, four batchelors together—Charlie Smith, Lawrence Smith and Bill Duke. Chief pleasure and dancing all night.

Mr and Mrs. Dyer, card playing games and singing all night.

Mr. H. Bateman, a batchelor, a very nice time. Danced all night

Mr. J. Taylor, a batchelor, danced all night.

Mr and Mrs. Guy McCurdie, was held in the school house.

So you are even if it is away up in the North, the people sure have a good time.

There is going to be a concert and dance in the Beaver Crossing school on April 4th. There will be a display called "The Oxages-Breed Bee"

Mr and Mrs. Smith of Marwayne were visitors at the home of their daughter, Mrs. A. C. Wooldridge, last week, also with two of her sisters and one brother, Laura, Estel and Charlie Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. L. H. Wooldridge, Mrs. O. C. Wooldridge, Mr. and Mrs. J. Wooldridge and Mr. Anne were Sunday visitors at the home of Mrs. Guy McCurdie.

The Beaver Crossing is putting in a big deck at Cold Lake for summer boats, which will be ready for the coming summer.

Personal Glimpses Of Authors

"I was a dull and clumsy fellow," Thomas Hardy tells us, "who had to be set and kept down almost 6 to the type of their tasks. They shrewdly and rightly judged that I should suddenly they forgot the cold and their bones were considered to be getting warmed." Hardy wished a jolly little man clad in tropical bar-ornaments and a little woolly seal and to be his friends. Parnassus still, he was a detective, reminded of all he had forgotten, and Mr. Sherlock Holmes New York had ever seen.

The young Swinburne, clothed to the eyes and bounded on elevated seats to carry from to stone. The old Swinburne, clothed to the eyes and bounded on elevated seats to carry from to stone.

Dickens, who had his shrewd opinion that he stayed on the road expecting the next person to knock down and trample on him.

It was the last straw, as many Dickens lovers will agree, when Bernard Shaw declared that the Dickensian paunched for nothing else than to be tickled by Pickwick. Shaw showed almost childish hilt on him from everyone who boasted the least bit of intellectuality. Dickens' death August 9, 1870 at the age of 58 was mourned from the train—and dashed both over the trouble in pursuit of the Mystery of Edwin Drood—for months

He sold only a few dollars. that young Scotchman, and he saw he had nothing but a few hundred pounds in cold New York. But fighting was his game He'd gone out from Scotland when only 17 to be engaged in a big plantation in the very jungle-like country of Nicaragua, and understandably that when 19 he had made a speech before the Governor which had made the latter exclaim How does it happen that you, the youngest man call Panamanians about Jamaica." He had established such repute for knowledge of the country that he had begun to think himself that when the sub-editor of a Kingston newspaper asked him the paper offered the vacancy to him he would be glad to go to England for a yeoreman." At the age of 21 he had drowned many an obstacle. Lord Rosebery was the first man who was known all over Jamaica and Scotland. He was a young man of 21 when he had arrived from Scotland So he had gone to New York, arriving with only a few dollars remaining. Success was coming to him.

He flew from the fierce fighting spirit—and his Scotch humor He was a great man for stories. He took the manuscript into the pocket of his white waistcoat, scratched his beech and his fists and went out to Manhattan. He got given that word the hottest fast and he held out more ridiculous than ever to all the editors he knew. Enemmied of others a funny He thought the story stopped outside the editorial sanctum by a snippy office boy

Where's your story?" he demanded after two

The scrambled like Kitchen or Chinese to the young Scotchman. He held tensely to treasure it Then he gave up and handed the manuscript to the boy

"Take that to the editor he commanded crisply and turned to go away.

The story fell into the hands of the great "Dad" Charles and most wonderful man that ever sat in the editor-in-chief's chair. He was the man for the headline Mr Al So the story, getting acquainted, a letter after it. "Dad" Charles ran the New York Sun." It was from that Sun's office—and was welcomed notwithstanding his costume. As he was to be known for years to the Stephen Chalmers. He was offered the job on the spot. He took it.

But while he was strolling about the office, getting acquainted, a letter arrived for "Mr." Chalmers, care New York Sun." For six years Chalmers was one of the bright lights of New York journalism, but the lure of writing himself so hard that his health broke and his doctor ordered him to quit.

"Study the paper," said Chalmers. "The city editor of the paper got me up right away."

The city editor's favorite resting place where he knew he would find sympathy and consolation and had forgotten all about Chalmers' ailment by the telephone rang. A moment later he was talking to Chalmers.

The Times wants you, Mr. Chalmers," the city editor said.

Kingston, Jamaica, had been destroyed by earthquake, the rabbis had been broken, only meagre reports were coming from other West Indian towns—and Chalmers was the only writing man in New York who knew all about Kingston.

"I worked sixty hours without stopping," says Chalmers, "then as a reward, they sent me off on a pleasure cruise to the Indies,

The High School Student's

By Jim and Dave

The high school year was flying fast,
As towards the school its students passed,
Dressing their heads with hearts of fun,
Their hectic rise of stormy duties
We'll remember!

Our brows are sad, our eyes beneath
Flash like a hidden flash their warmth,
And like a tramp of doom these Beneath subdued men's hearts beguns.
The smoky cloud of that veil known
We'll remember!

In happy humour we are no light,
Except those with him who started night,
While cold September's bright sun shone,
And from our lips fell many a groan
We remember!

"Try hard to pass," our old man said,
"I see some cooks not far ahead,
At honors all this year you've shied"
But load nor clear we still replied.
We'll remember!

"Oh, dear," the maiden said, "I'll
Not
My weary head and get all dressed,
Some exercise will clear my brain
And then I'll get to work again.
I'll remember!"

Beware the Latin's awful words,
Beware the Greek's dark lore,

Hon. Charles Dunning tells this story as an illustration of the fallibility of averages drawn from arguments of certain contentions made in an argument unless the speaker and the audience are thoroughly familiar with the facts.

At one time in Great Britain, Sir Wilfred Lawson, a British M.P., was leader of the temperance crusade in that country. He was very fond of making speeches in the House on the evils of drink. If they had a bearing on the cause which he so strenuously advocated. On one occasion he aided these quotations:

1.—"What percentage of those who suffered casualties from any cause in battle were drunkards?" A certain campaign were almost as teetotallers?"

2.—"How many bootmakers were engaged in the campaign?"

The answers given were as follows:

1.—10 per cent.
2.—Two.

The last meeting of the Stettler U.F.A. held in the Town Hall a week ago, was one of unusual interest. The meeting was well attended by many interested in poultry and Mr Coldwell's talk was greatly appreciated. After a very informative address the meeting was concluded by saying that while he did not profess to know all there was to know of poultry, he had, however, given much thought to the subject and by his own experience had learned that nothing on the farm yields greater returns for investment of labor and cash than does poultry. The next meeting will be held in the Town Hall on Wednesday, April 2nd The topic for discussion is Preparation for a Big 25 years in Stettler, and one of the oldest Masons in Canada, his many friends wish him many more years of health and hope he will soon be able to get around.

Friend Of Scotland Yard Man With Iron Hands

We have often heard discussion as to the difference between detectives in real life and detectives in fiction. Just how much real detective work is done in real life as contrasted with the methods of fiction writers, where brains and nerve always seem to win over brawn, and where a detective in this category is that much superior to the detective in real life. The melancholy report that sometimes we feel is not collected for all the idea that flesh is later to marketing that which reposes in them this life, is brought to the recent death of Frank Pleasant, Scotland Yard detective. Pleasant, Yard 26 Pound 10 and for some years had lived in retirement, during which he quit the force he became the personal manager for Scotland Yard, and the detective force. His sensitive and polite manner in which you have treated us long a, my opinion, is a credit to the world. Whether it is such as good as it was then may be open to question, for we regret to say that some ugly rumors have recently smirched the metropolitan police force. But when Frank left the Service there can be no doubt that it deserved the heartfelt tribute King Coney.

Frank Pleasant was known among his associates and among English criminals with whom he came in contact as the "man with the iron hands." He had tremendous physical strength, and was known occasionally to amuse his friends by bending a pack of cards across or breaking a sixpence with his fingers which were like steel. In one way he was not fortunate. Pleasant got his hands on a suspected criminal the arrest was made, and the suspect died of heart failure in the police station. But justice, in the course of a police career, his honesty of grip nearly cost him his. Walking his beat in a London suburban part of London, he came upon a group of hoodlums about a disturbing an Hindu gentleman. He tried to get their verbal apology and started one of his arguments. A athlete flashed to the Indian's head and the man, thinking Pleasant knew he was trying to a knockout without himself aside, took to Bristol. It was in Bristol that he met Jean, had his early adventures and began the commercial career that came abruptly to an end when the ruffians ambition to become a police woman took possession of him.

Pleasant was greatly helped in many of his investigations because of the fact that except when in uniform most criminal acquaintances he looked more like a prosperous successful man than a detective. He always wore a silk hat, with the inevitably tight rolled umbrella and he believed in having his every evening clothes they were either fault- less or immaculate. In fact, it Montrose touched at Father Fox- Should appear that he bore a striking resemblance to the detective of Yard officer went aboard a ship and made the arrest. Milk And The Child

Although Infant human and animal are the first few weeks or months of their life on milk a diet of mammalian food, it is necessary to use milk in the nourishment of children over two who are not given milk, not because it is impossible to keep it, but because the parents do not have enough to give it, or knowing, they are too lazy to make the effort to make the milk palatable.

The writer has been on tea many occasions a tin of Nestle's milk on farm house dining tables. The cow is the healthiest, rich milk should have been forthcoming.

The young stock were given milk, calves, pigs, turkeys and chickens, even the cats, but the farmer's children were fed from a tin. Milk is so necessary and can be given in so many palatable ways, that all children can eat and enjoy it in a very short-digested pastry to delicious milk pudding, any or girl of a food that nature as materially in that growth.

Why give more thought to the purest drink than to your boy and girl?

Provincial police served on him a warrant for arrest on a debt charge by this time the train had left for Banff. Bennett it seemed that Cust would have to surrender his prisoner. But he kept them on hands on hand while he performed to settle the matter. By some quick work he chartered a special train and learned his prisoner aboard.

Bennett came behind the capital. The authorities telegraphed ahead, and a sheriff dashed on the track trying his hands to make an arrest. But Frost stood between the would-be arrester and his lovers and the train did not stop. In fact it ran over the sheriff. Another consultation again arose and an attempt was made to arrest Frost and his companion. This he evaded by chartering another train, reaching Buenos Aires and eventually Montreal, where the summer who ran contested to 14 years' imprisonment.

On another occasion Frost outwitted newspaper reporters and police officials and the general public when he was in charge of the prisoners who were tried in London for the Jameson raid. Instead of taking them through the streets, he put them aboard a tug and landed them from Gravesend to Temple Pier. Perhaps the ease with which his scatter will be longest remembered was that of Dr Crippen. It was Crippen's folly in distributing some of the jewellery stolen from his wife's body that led to his detection and trial. Frost was in charge of the ship by which the first tame that the murderer had been on the high seas of criminals, and the Chief Inspector Dew after the case, was a faster boat. When Montrose touched at Father Fox- Should appear that he bore a striking resemblance to the detective of Yard officer went aboard a ship and made the arrest. The Red Cross Nursery at the U.F.A. Convention has become an established part of the large convention, people who must attend to the business of U.F.A. For several years now the problem of caring for the little children of the delegates has been solved by the Red Cross, who supply a nurse and comfortable cots and other nursery equipment for the use of the small travellers. Such a busy mother can appreciate what it means to have the children taken off her hands for a spell. Hence the feeling of friendship for Red Cross is strong- ly shown by those delegates whose little people have been guests in the Red Cross Nursery for the Con- ventions.

"Wrest we can't and we can" will be the motto of the Alberta Government. The Dominion Department of Agriculture is now developing crops and means of extending the market for apples and apple products. Already the area down to growing, dehydration has been developed to a point where a good quality product is on the canned apple, now it's apple sauce. Fresh from the orchard, peeled, cored, sliced, and packed with spice ready for the flaky crust is a summer dream. Finally, there is the pie and baking trade the housewife will find it very handy.

INSECT WAR PROGRESS

A mighty army of mites waged countless warfare on all farms of plant life and just as ceaseless is the warfare of science and its entomologists to protect and preserve the farmer's crops. Reports for Experts of the Dominion Department of Agriculture have already planted many victories in the world-wide field crop pests for 1930 including Alfalfa weevil, Grasshoppers are fly surveyors, the pale western cutworm and his ally the red-backed cutworm, the bertha armyworm, the sawfly cutworm, the Colorado potato beetle, the imported cabbage butterfly and the root maggot fly. Then there is the warfare waged against the forest pests, including the aphids on maple, willow and elm, the spruce sawfly, the bud- ist, the lesser canker worm and the bud worm. Department of Agriculture find that the cocoanut which produces rum does not develop in the Canadian climate.

Six Dead English Women Unrevealed In France

Some months ago Mrs. Mina Oliver Smith, an elderly resident of Bournemouth, England, of good family, was murdered at Aix-en-Provence, in France. At least it seemed certain that she was murdered. Her body was found shot in her nightgown in a water tank in the grounds of the villa she occupied. There was a bullet wound between her eyes, and although the first local theory was that she had committed suicide, medical evidence and police investigations made this seem highly untenable Francois Joseph Caseur Pinet a peasant, was arrested and accused of the crime. At a preliminary trial he has just been acquitted, but this surprising issue is not likely to change the opinion of the authorities than Miss Brunson was murdered. that Pinet had a strong object for murdering her. that he was the last person to see her alive Why then was he acquitted" In the past few years there have been no fewer than six English women accused in France and up to date nobody has been convicted of murdering any of them. It would seem that public opinion in certain parts of France is spured to the conviction of French guilt who may have murdered English English women At the trial of Pinet, public opinion, or the jury plastic, and we give an account of it next month, as it is of general interest enstaadr by the murder on account of the standing of the dead woman there is a picture of judicial processes in the south of France.

Pending the appeal against the acquittal opened that the French Government had to supplement the local pendamarmes with a detachment of black soldiers, who, with fixed bayonets, were ready to quell any rioting The main points in the case were soon established Miss Brunson had made a will in which she bequeathed the property to Pinet, a fact of which he was aware One night Pinet visited her The next day her body was found by a servant to a water tank. Pinet, who was known to have called upon her that night. After these facts had been made clear the judge in conformity with French practice proceeded to question the prisoner They were such questions as no person in a British or American court would think of asking Pinet appeared to be astounded at first but refuse to answer The judge showed reminiscable ferocity and was really a part of the prosecution. The spectators who were all adherents of Pinet, strongly resented the line taken by the judge, and murmurs began to growls and even cries were heard At one time the judge hurled his hat on the desk and shouted out Clear the court." Nobody moved, and the incident ended thus, the trial resulting in questioning of witness with the greatest vivacity and the crowd showing its disapproval

Pinet admitted that he was in serious financial difficulties and that he knew the hotel would come on him but he insisted that he did not shoot it. It was proved that even before the body had been found he had made inquiries of a lawyer about Miss Brunson's will. A medico-legal expert for the prosecution swore that Miss Brunson had not undoubtedly been murdered. A local doctor contradicted him, saying that it was obviously a case of suicide. The judge ordered that the expert should be brought back and threw his wig down to emphasize his annoyance. On the two days sions stood side by side while the judge, the prosecuting counsel, the defence counsel and several jurymen joined in a general discussion. For two or three days the court was simultaneously in session After this battle had continued for some time with the judge unable to restore order, he adjourned court for fifteen minutes.

Inspector Oubliel of the Marseilles police was then called. Summoned to the lawyer for the defence accused him of having given Pinet the third degree for eleven hours. Oubliel retorted: "It is quite the fashion nowadays to hurl third degree drowning herself and then firing a brutality charges at the police but I know my job and I am confident that I have not committed any guilty" At this the defence counsel protested vehemently but the public prosecutor rose to his rescue of the detective and the spectators hissed and ejaculated. Then the trial proceeded and when yesterday was exhausted the testimony automatically came to an end It was here that the opposing counsel arose to make charges to the jury, and these charges must have seemed extraordinary to the few English-speaking persons who were in the court-room

The public prosecutor said that he did not ask for the death penalty because of the peculiar circumstances, but merely imprisonment for life After this exposition to the jury, he strode to the dock, raised his sleeves and waving his arms at the prisoner, shouted

"Be with your minirom. She had brought you the hotel. She had brought you her home! You thought you could get more money quicker by murdering her. She kept you; she was kept you. You are vile, you are unscrupulous. Courage your guilt. The case is clear. Against you."

Then Pinet, in a voice trembling with sound French legal procedure, did not confess his guilt but continued to look unconcernedly at the prosecutor who then turned to the jury exclaiming: "See that this man pays the penalty of his odious crime" The defence counsel then protested to ridicule his theories of the crime prosecution, asserting that the case was simply one of suicide. He called attention to the fact that Miss Brunson had gathered herself in a supplication "Ten deuils infames," according to English custom, before pistol bullet through her brain. It took the jury only 15 minutes to return a verdict of not guilty The crowd broke into cheers and the

Golf Notes

At a meeting of the Executive of the Golf Club last week, the job of caretaking was given to Mr Walsh, who was busy at the spring rink during the winter Mr Walsh commenced his duties A April 1st, and is getting the greens in shape for the coming season

A number of golfers are going the Banff during the afternoon. Often, the sun is at its height. The evenings are also getting longer and two rounds can be played after five o'clock.

Jim Duckworth has taken out a patent for a new kind of matt which is being used at present on his 5th green The handle always remains perpendicular, so that no bending over is required in mating the greens. Wallie White has also secured a patent for a new kind of tee, which consists of a strip of metal placed at an angle to the ground and from which the ball can be driven a number of 200 to 300 yards down the fairway

The caretaker intends painting the club house in the near future as soon as the greens are put in good shape for playing

Visitors are welcome at the course at any time, the green fees being 25 cents a round.

Some of the players went four rounds on Sunday which is good going for the first games of the season.

The committee in charge of the annual Tournament, on May 24th and 25th, has been appointed as follows: to mention that Mrs. Jas Anderson is ill.

Regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held on Wednesday afternoon in Walsh's Hall. Mrs. J Mitchell and Mrs. Wm. Wilson were the hostesses.

Dan McKenzie is visiting in Calgary this week attending the horse show.

"My kingdom for a rope," exclaimed the dramatic author in the reverse arena

The Wednesday afternoon women were delightfully entertained at the farm of Mr Fred Seymour west of Erskine on Tuesday During wood sawing operations a pulley flew off striking Mrs. Fred Record on the head. He was rushed to Stettler Hospital, but requis prompt medical attention, and the same evening with-out regaining consciousness. Deceased had been working all winter at Fetifer's Camp. Harlech, Alta., and having been previously employed by Mr Seymour, dropped in with the intention of spending a brief social hour with friends. Mr Record was a native of Birmingham, England, in his twenty-sixth year and had no relatives in this country. He had worked in this district for a number of years and was highly respected by those with whom he came in contact. Funeral service was held at the residence of Mr. Seymour on Thursday afternoon and interment took place in Erskine Cemetery.

Mrs A Owen reached the allotted span on Wednesday, April 2nd. A number of friends called to extend birthday greetings and good wishes.

Celebrating the close of a successful curling season and in the hope that club house will be increased, a dance will be held in the I. O. O. F. hall on Friday evening April 4th. McDonald's Orchestra has been engaged for the event. Dancing and supper will take place during the course of the evening.

Now that the days are lengthening it may be well to move a beauty vote of thanks to our village-lighter whose punctual activities have been so greatly appreciated. In fact, the presentation of a time-piece with luminous dial might be a suitable gift when the next illuminating season opens.

Divine service will be held in the United Church next Sunday afternoon, April 6th, at 3 p.m. Rev. J. O. Goddard will preach.

What A Man Sees At Wrestling Matches

There is an old college rhyme bearing:

"Tobacco is a filthy weed—
I like it."

Somehow it comes to mind as to what goes a visit to the wrestling match at the Arena. We had a real good time and saw some thrilling exhibitions of a very amateur kind like were we alone in this enjoyment for all the rest of the crowd seemed to be enjoying it, and they were for the most part, not nervous like the writer, but experts who, in various languages called attention to the fine points of the contest predicted what hold a man was working for and how another man would wriggle out of it. To us wrestling is a good deal of a mystery although we had a courteous assistance of a former wrestler in explaining the exhibition as it proceeded. The impression we got was that wrestling is a game of skill and science, a knack. He says the knack don't seem it hard or blocked. If a man sees down he knows why. If he sees a bloody nose or a swelling eye he can draw the proper deductions.

But wrestling is not a simple game. The ordinary man who thinks a boxer wrestling has the merest smattering of one can throwing another down on the ground. That is artificially wrestling in the same sense that one has enjoyed a violin recital when the virtuoso tunes up his instrument and nods to the accompanist. Wrestling does not begin until the men get down on the floor. Of course if one has to should pick up another bodily and hurl him to the mat with sufficient force to stun him, which sometimes happens, this would end the bout but as a rule the men are too well matched for any such sudden. As erstwhile Douglas Fairbanks stunt to be employed or attempted. The men get down on the floor as naturally, as a rule, with as little fuss as the over of a duck at dawn in the south. It is then that the science of the art come into play, the skill, strength and speed which the real connoisseur appreciates, and which must leave those who are seeing it for the first time in a state of bewilderment as to what it is all about.

Wrestling is countless except for the occasional thrashing of legs on the canvas and the elongated and shuddering when the contestants are on their feet. So far as anyone could tell the men did not influence a single word to each other. There by some chance

Round the Country

Mr J. D McDonald of Medicine Hat obtains header of the Liberal party at the Calgary Convention, and was Mr McDonald Pardee, mostly unknown, but as was Premier Brownlee, when he was chosen to head the Farmer Government. To be unknown is a strong recommendation for a new political leader. There is generally some weakness in a person who is consciously seeking the limelight, and Mr Mc Donald has been doing good work in his own limited sphere, backed by a training which fits him for similar work in a more public position

The Liberal party is indeed looking to the party of the farmers in politics from the old guard. The selection of Mr Shaw as leader four years ago was a step in the right direction and Mr McDonald should prove to be a worthy successor. He is made up of the common people who live on the farms and in the towns and cities of the province, who work hard for a living and do not fool away their money trying to make a fortune on the stock or oil exchanges Mr McDonald has worked hard at his life, he has given his time and talents in combating the ills that fall the community in which he lives, and he will now move into a larger sphere of usefulness and talents to the province at large

A movement is on foot to have a portrait of Premier Brownlee and Mr McKinney, to be hung in the parliament buildings, and every woman in Alberta is asked to contribute.

Mrs McKinney was the first woman member of parliament from Alberta, and, in fact, for the British Empire, as she was elected for Commonwealth Edmonton in 1917, when Alberta women had not even obtained the right to vote. Mrs McKinney has since been a leader in social reform and church work, and a woman of fine personality, who can do many things and all things well Like most social reformers, however, she is a strong believer in coercion, using reform times and has more faith in rules and regulations than in the still, small voice in other words, Mrs McKinney would be as much as belonging to the juvenile court, which endeavors to treat children from without, rather than from within Apart from this parliamentarian attitude she has somewhat in general, Mrs J McKinney is a broad and versatile mind and stands above the average as a member of the legislature Any woman who has been elected to public life, has a hard row to hoe securing a lot of more, particularly as because she has had to divorce her parliamentary activities from her duties as a wife and mother. Most men are not social reformers and they don't like anyone that is. They want to be let alone, rave and drink, and when they occasionally get home they want normal meals and not to be pestered with "movements" or "causes" or "reforms" Mrs McKinney has not only very occasionally. By this time the phrase had come to signify nothing, but it was a good phrase which does not mean much anyway

Roosevelt used "yours sincerely" and Wilson made "cordially and faithfully" prominent and at times "affectionately" when he wrote to Premier Mussolini Twenty of the days when he had affection for any Frenchman are "yours very sincerely" a term which is used by almost any one to anybody. Lincoln used "yours respectfully" and "yours truly" and "yours" etc., or respectfully "yours truly" and "yours" etc., or respectfully "yours truly" and "yours" etc., or respectfully

Portrait Of Mrs. McKinney For The Legislature Building

The unveiling of the portrait of Mrs. Nellie McClung, which has been painted by Mr. Wm. Cruikshank, and presented to the Provincial Government by the Alberta Women's Liberal Association, will take place in the Legislature Building on the 16th inst. Mrs. McClung, who is now living in Victoria, will be present at the ceremony.

The committee are in charge of a committee of 25 women representing the provinces, and they are asking every woman in Alberta to subscribe to the fund. The Hon. Premier Brownlee will be in charge of unveiling the first constitutional address to the late Hon. Frederick Haultain, Premier of Alberta, 1905-1910, and the first Minister of Education.

Mrs. McClung has been a prominent figure in Canada for many years, and in addition to her political activities, she has been a leader in the Methodist church and church work. She was president of the Women's Christian Temperance Union for many years, and the Rose Cheer is evidence of a debate, wrote the words of the temperance hymn which was sung at the unveiling of the portrait given R. ram her home, overlooking her friends, with a reference to a "Mother," under a party dress for some little girl whose mother is in the hospital or otherwise unable to do it gave a paper on Dutch Cheese Cake and Coffee Cake at the Ladies' Aid meeting this week. The cakes were delicious and were heartily enjoyed by all present. Mrs. Hoffman was the hostess for the afternoon and was assisted by Mrs. Ed. Hoffman.

Mrs. Hoffman is held in high esteem by the women of the province, for during "Prohibition" days, the cause of Prohibition, for her fearless advocacy of the right way of life, for her wise and kindly counsel, for her ready sympathy, for her ability to carry burdens without ever once feeling sorry for herself, but, particularly after a loved husband of her delightful and cheery sense of humor which relieves the clouds of her high pressure life. When asked one time during her period of office in the Legislature, if she did not find it hard to make so many speeches, she replied with a smile, that it was not really so hard for she had only one at a time, and as she told the truth each time she did not need to remember what she had said before.

Mrs. McKinney is one of the Five Women of Alberta who pressed the question of women's eligibility to the Senate as far as the Privy Council and who were so successful in having the late Hon. Senator Lougheed in her own speech in the Red Chamber the other day.

In presenting Mrs. McKinney's picture to the Legislative Assembly, the women feel they are honoring one who has made and is making a notable contribution to the welfare of our people, remembering that the first that our own Alberta led all the British Empire in accepting the principle of equality between the sexes, and, in addition, they cherish the hope that succeeding generations may see in the strong, kind face of Louise C. McKinney, something of the idealism, courage and high adventure of that intrepid trail breaker, the Pioneer Woman of the West.

Contributions, big or little, will be acknowledged by the Treasurer, Mrs. Wilbur Hamer, 815-10th Ave. West, Calgary.

NELLIE L. McCLUNG,
Chairman of the Committee.
MARGARET I. SEGRAVE,
Secretary.

DRIVE FASTEST AHEAD

Driving "farther ahead" this being conscious of what is going on in front of one so far as it is possible, is one of the first features of safety at this season of the year. A greater degree of concentration is requisite but the rewards fully justify it. The more time a driver has to execute any manoeuvre when the streets are slippery, the better is his execution.

THEY ALSO COUPE

In addition to making the car run more efficiently and last longer, there is a chief advantage to regular chassis lubrication that cannot be more than be realized. That is that it makes the job about twice as simple because there is no "greasing or slopping" of the compound, as sometimes which the lubricant reaches bushings, bearings and the like.

The High School Rhubarb

By Mrs. Bob and Susie

We have called Mr. Bob to our club meeting. He represents the club which meets every year about the time of the High School Prom. Perhaps some of the Rhubarb Club who belong to the Rhubarb Club will be there to help us out and tell us about the Prom.

What do Grade IX. girls say on their desks at times of day, changing on like some dress hooks.

Mr. Gardner let us with you play "Symphony in a little league, Mr. Gardner thinks could be a little stronger.

Do we almost your work could not be stronger.

Do we almost you're today."

A few High School students attended a party at Bennett's last week.

There was a young man of Grade Ten,
Who with his elbow made an agate,
And used agate, and agate, and agate,
And agate, and agate, and agate,
Until his desk was full.

Work, work, work
All these mats and desks, I see,
And I would that my tongue could rest
Also.
The thoughts that enter in me.

Oh, roll for the prayer bag.
Oh, roll for the girls in the chairs,
Who can with their contention play

Never a chance for a cozy talk
Without the teacher out under the hall,
But through the quiet there comes a voice
That tells of a table never still.

Sit, sit, sit,
While the old gray clock goes on ticking,
And down the hall we can hear the sound
Of the small boys getting a licking.

The ——— School were mad+ out Monday morning, they were the boards that delivered to smooth a smiling exterior.

The town of Pinebville has a reputation against her legs on the street. Flesh colored hose is a problem. They solved that nicely by watching for the moon, then enter the seamless hose.

"How can I tell whether those girls have hare legs or not?" was the plaint of a policeman on guard.

"Pinch 'em," was the only suggestion he got.—Brooklyn Eagle.

In Short And Terse

The Japanese will be represented at the experiment of the projected three-power treaty from reluctance to submitting their statesmen to 24 hour confinement in a train's pass. It is also pointed out that at the same time America may claim the right to withdraw from future negotiations any concessions made to Japan at the London conference.

Today's session of the principal delegates was brief and concerned the subjects for discussion at next Friday's plenary session. Another session will be held tomorrow. The complete agenda was left for the secretary-general to announce this afternoon.

Dino Grandi, Italian minister appeared extremely worried as he arrived at St. James today, closely followed by Senator L. Scialoja, who had walked all the way from the Ritz Hotel.

Aristide Briand, French foreign minister and Joaquim-Luis Desseminister of marine, were the last to arrive They sat for several minutes in their automobile in front of the gate in animated conversation To Desmond's vigorous gesticulations Briand closed his hand impatiently.

The Japanese reply to the Anglo-American proposals is expected within a few days, and if the five-power agreement is lost definitely by that time, experts declare the Tokio-power plan can be completed shortly thereafter.

Premier Stimson hurried back to the Ritz Hotel at noon for a general conference with the other members of his delegation.

Branch Of Province Sells The New Winnipeg Basket

Winnipeg is New York baby after all—the attractions of the boulevard of southern belle the latter has proved more attractive enough to lure the cream of Canada. The U. S. colony, of course, each spring and summer, by natural selection, becomes a hotbed of tropical enervation. Indeed, it was only a few months ago that a cause célèbre, the jealous and indignant client sued on his lawyer. "Do you mean," said the latter, "that this client man has been married to another, I did not know." "Certainly," replied the lawyer with dignity, "I had assumed as a matter of course that you knew. Everybody in Winnipeg knows that Mrs. Blank is not married to Mr. Blank."

V. L. DELAGE.

Provincial Secretary of Province, appointed by the Canadian National Railways, who has been engaged to accept the position of Director of Colonization for the Province of Canada in the Federal Government.

Winnipeg is not the only city where the attractions of the boulevard are now very low priced—in fact "cheap" is the word. Travelers in Canada in the Federal Government, who has been engaged to accept the position of Director of Colonization for the Province of

Britain is Hungry For Speed Records

In 1926 when the world was thrilled by endurance flights across the Atlantic, we noted motor enthusiasts remark that the ocean-hopping monoplane Lindbergh, which was the last word in speed, would not be able to have been planned and constructed for a decade to come. Lindbergh's plane was a 100 h.p. Ryan, which was the last word in flying boats, which made a non-stop flight to the Azores three days ago.

Don't say it cannot be done. Before proceeding to London Alcock and Brown journeyed every town in Newfoundland and landed in Ireland. The comments on the contrast between these achievements were to the effect that the motorist had to have changed rules. The British were thoroughly reported to be rather slow and plodding in their methods with a habit of sticking to the old while the American was most keen for doubling. Single attempts made were much more successful but a good deal more risky. It is worth while noting that it is in the matter of extreme speed that the British now excel all others. They hold the flying record, the automobile record and the motorcycle record. They are now out to beat the automobile record of 231 miles per hour in just so gratifying as the possible 200 m.p.h. that Don may reach. We cannot blind ourselves to the fact that Mr Don is likelier than not to fall himself in the attempt and it would be a pity to see such an exciting to an accident. Consequently we gather, it is the long consideration of motor men, and not the motorists either concerned, that this is probably not to have the speed limit on motor-boats removed as it is believed that it would be a menace to other craft. The trial will be made and all comments of prominent persons concerned will be asked for. We have no doubt that the limit of 20 miles an hour will be raised when he lets his self down on the Florida beach, and at the hour given up record will be broken. Only the answer to is the future

A LAST ONE

Bill Robinson, the bluest-faced stage dancer, says that his idea of a happy time was old Uncle Rory Rory loved to watch funeral processions more than anything else One afternoon as he was lying out on his front lawn, basking in the sunshine, his wife looked up from her washtub and called out

Rory they's a big funeral comin down the road.

Gosh!" said Rory, with a wistful sigh, "I wish I was fourty seconds ill!"

CHICAGO GANG WAR IS TRANSFERRED TO FLORIDA

Northern Al" Capone is about to have some trouble with the law in connection in Miami, there to manage estate from the spoils of a twelve-month spree in Chicago, but Scarface Al" will be reminded that Capone, perhaps the most notorious of the gangsters and one of the men whom between and Chicago for years, was not convicted for murder, or any of the other dozens of serious crimes with which he was charged. He was merely convicted of two counts of violating the prohibition law and fined $50,000 and sentenced to one year in the penitentiary. It was an anti-climax to the long series of Chicago gang killings and the Western public, which had come to Washington many years ago, considered Capone a hero for having thrown down those who dared to flout him. He was served in the penitentiary and promptly began to manage his estate from the cells of the prison. The newspapers of the country were astonished to find that Capone was permitted to be visited frequently by all kinds of persons, including newspaper men, and that he was periodically allowed to leave the penitentiary to go to Chicago and to Miami and still apparently figure in the news from his cell in the prison.

In the opinion of a special correspondent of the New York Times, Capone is planning to contest the banishing sentence of Florida, and this correspondent he will again come into collision with the "Dago" Mason gang with which he had his bloody battle. Shall it out" more or less finally.

Capone was no just Marcus a gang, but worked to establish themselves and their organization by intimidation, corruption, a couple of his brothers, Ralph and Al, were gunned down in Al's interests, the Marcus controlled to have the gunmen arrested. Each side is supposed to have hired up various political friends and officials, and there is nothing a certain amount of pulchritude, but neither will likely be satisfied with only serving a share of the business though it will run into millions. So what Mr. Capone is going to do in Florida to prove his better advertisement for Florida than the Miami Chamber, Fruit Fly or the occasional hurricane, is more than Dame Rule himself, but Florida is in an embarrassing position. It certainly does not want the gang war here bootlegging, but just as certainly it wants possession of their dollars. It seems to be difficult to induce millionaires to march pacifically members to spend their winters in Florida!

One of the undersigned but not publicly blamed advantages of temporary residence in Florida is that some Dutch can be bought for 20$ a case, which is not much more than it can be legally bought for by the Canadian. Other Canadians are correspondingly cheap and available. The source of supply is, of course, the Bahamas, where liquor is really bought at reasonable rates. It is then shot across the border almost in sight of its native town. In the winter when the coast guard and prohibition agents are most overcome and wrinkled, not more one or seven cargoes is shipped. In the summer when the water is not so strict the percentage of arrests is even lower and the cargoes are just as large when running from the Bahamas is on an all-year-round business. It is said that carloads of whisky are shipped north every day of the year despite the fact that the fly operators are vigilant. Though they are able to arrest a couple each on a grand rush they appear unable to notice a car of Scotch whisky. The idea, is, of course, that they are not particularly looking for it.

The Florida police are reported as fearing that Capone will be welcomed home with machine guns by the Moran gang John Moran, nephew of Al, said in transferring charge of the Capone gangings at the idea The Morans, he says, are yellow They would not dare to show their faces in Miami. Brother Al would degenerate such talk. Since it is well calculated to string one of the gang up to the pitch of proving that he is not yellow and proving it on the body of the ex-faced gunman John says it is by no means impossible that his brother should be shot but if so it will be the work of some Italian. He doubts if Al cares whether a member of the Moran gang or some unattached Italian kills him. He is understood to be eternally opposed to arms, and Florida more especially at the present moment, where he is basking forward to the time of his life To prevent this career he will not return to Florida by a fast train but will proceed more leisurely by boat.

The Morans and Capone gangs have already come to a collision in Florida over the gambling houses about Miami A recent reform wave that engulfed that astonished city is said to have been brought about by the Capone faction which sought to shut down all games of chance. Later some of them would be re-opened, but all in the hands of Capone, the Moran who already have

If you think you are beaten, you are.
If you think you dare not, you don't.
If you think you'd like to win, but you can't,
It's almost a "cinch" you won't.
If you think you'll lose, you've lost.
For out in the world you'll find Success begins with a fellow's will—
It's all in the state of mind.

Full many a race is lost
Ere ever a race is run.
And many a coward fails
Ere even his work's begun.

Think big and your deeds will grow,
Think small and you fall behind,
Think that you can and you will,
It's all in the state of mind

If you think you're outclassed, you are;
You've got to think high to rise.
You've got to be sure of yourself before
You can ever win a prize
Life's battle doesn't always go
To the stronger or faster man.
But sooner or later, the man who
Is the fellow who thinks he can.

Dominion of Canada Income Tax Returns DUE APRIL 30th

ACT PROMPTLY—
Accept the help offered by Income Tax Inspectors and Avoid Penalties

Every person who during the year 1929 had an income, from any source, of as much as $1,500, if single, or $3,000 if married or supporting a family, is required to make an income tax return.

If you are situated as above described, failure to make this return by midnight, April 30th, together with cheque or cash for at least 2% of amount of tax, will render you liable to a penalty equal to 5% of the total tax payable. (Limit of penalty $500.)

To avoid incurring this penalty, obtain NOW, from your postmaster, or from the Inspector of Income Tax in your district, the necessary forms and mail your returns at once. Those forms are as follows:

Form T1 — For Individuals other than Farmers and Ranchers.
Form T1A — For Farmers and Ranchers only.
Form T2 — For Corporations and Joint Stock Companies.

Each form contains in itself instructions for filling out.

By making your return by April 30th you gain in two ways:

Firstly, you avoid penalties for delay.
Secondly, you qualify yourself for the privilege of paying in instalments.

INCOME TAX INSPECTOR WILL HELP YOU MAKE OUT YOUR RETURNS

If there is anything in the income tax return which you do not understand, your Income Tax Inspector will be glad to explain what is required.

Round the Country

Mr. W. J. Stephens, the late field crop commissioner for the Alberta government, is advising all farmers to put in more crops than usual this Spring, as he states that a number of farmers will have a poor, very what to do owing to the dry condition of the sub-soil.

Mr. Stephens' advice should be hardly necessary in a year like this. The Spring of 1929, so far has been the most favorable for many years, so far as climatic conditions are concerned. The weather is warm and open, and all farmers can seed early so as to escape the frosts in the fall.

In 1928 the Independent worked out from the moisture records of the Experimental Farm at Lacombe the influence of the Spring rains on the crop of the succeeding summer We found on taking the first half for a period of twenty years, that a dry April was invariably followed by indifferent crops in May, June and July to ensure an ample crop. The moisture conditions of early that rainfall in April, before seeding, is essential so far as the crop prospects go, when rain after seeding is the moisture that counts.

The season of 1929 was no exception to the rule The best part of our moisture that year fell in April before seeding. April, 1929, was a wet month, and on April 30th there was a foot of water in the ground, and everything looked ideal for seeding. Yet May, June and July were dry

The whole theory depends on the law of averages Alberta usually gets from 4 to 10 inches of rain during March April and May June and July. If March and April are wet then the future months are likely to average. This average has been maintained for a large number of years and it is only in the last few unusual years that the rainfall for those five months has been below the rates But when the rainfall for the five months is around 6 or 7 or 8 inches, it is absolutely essential that the bulk of it falls in May June and July. The crops have been maintained in nine years out of ten, as we stated above, but the distribution of the rainfall varies, and that's what makes most of the trouble Sometimes early Spring rain too much, and when this happens late spring rain is required in too little.

But the season of 1930 is weather-cast so far in the way that one local years have worked out March was dry, April, so far, wet and May continue dry until the seeding is completed.

Out of 8,800,000 passenger miles flown by airplanes in Canada during 1929, accidents involving deaths or injuries occurred in but one mile, according to statistics prepared by the information service of the civil aviation branch of the Department of National Defence. There were 31 deaths from flying operations, of which 23 were pilots, 14 pilots were killed in accidents on the ground, and two others died as the result of injuries received in accidents. Thirty persons were injured. In 1928 there were 19 deaths from flying operations

A meeting of the Stettler U.F.W. A. will be held on Saturday, April 18th at 2 30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Edgar Hark. This meeting is conducted by Mrs. Tomlinson, convenor of horticulture, and a paper on gardening will be given by Mrs. Bodenmehl, and a talk on poultry raising by Mrs. W. Hirsch. The roll call to be answered with hints on "How to Beautify the Home and Surroundings." Hostesses are Mrs. E. Barnett, Mrs. Bignell, Mrs. Mach and Mrs. S Heck.

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute was held in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening, April 6th. Mrs Melfor in the absence of Mrs. Stewart, convenor of agriculture, read the paper on "Preparing the Garden in the Spring for planting and sowing." Mrs. Fred, president and delegate to the District Conference, recently held at Drumheller, gave an excellent report and then informed us that the Buffalo Lake project which is being endorsed by the Board of Trade of different towns, Brownfield, Stettler, etc., was presented and passed unanimously.

The annual travelling clinic from the Provincial Council, operated by Dr. Ben Lile, arrived in Stettler on Wednesday and held a clinic for local and district farmers. Dr. McKenty of Wetaskiwin, assisted the company, and Dr Nicholson of Wetaskiwin, was in charge.

Here's dainty nothing your mother or sister will like as well as a gift "Gift of Memories," next Monday evening, April 20th.

Federal Budget May Be Expected April 29

Hon. Chas. Gil Until Then to Be Dealt with Under Tax Reform

DAY DECIDED TAX LIKELY TO BE LITTLE CHANGED

Federal Surplus Duties and Excise for Imposed Since 1922 not to Be Removed

OTTAWA, March 31.—April 29th looms up today as a very possible date for this year's budget pronouncement, hailed in all circles as of peculiar importance the delay in bringing it down is a stimulus to interest both in political and business circles.

The house will adjourn on Friday, April 13th, until Thursday, April 26th and the budget may come the following Tuesday, but if not then, very soon afterwards. It is learned that the long cabinet sitting on Saturday was devoted largely to this question.

Hon. George Imperial

Mr. Boucing, the minister of customs, is likely to devote the Easter recess to the preparation of this pronouncement and it is expected to be an extensive item in the past few years fifteen or twenty items in the budget has been considered. There will be many more this time. More than 600 are under consideration. a great many of them bound in the iron and steel schedules, which seem certain to be dealt with. That has been the biggest case before the tariff board.

Previous budgets held good then in the changes the efforts of the United States tariff on one hand and the desirability of increasing trade on the other will not be ignored, but just how and to what extent can, the value of being said and what will be done with the duties on automobiles and parts, and the question of the sales tax is not decided, the budget is not framed.

Tax Reform Under Way

The sales tax either in part or in toto or abandoned but in the house this week changes is likely.

This is a busy day in official circles. It is the end of the fiscal year. The government will have to secure from parliament by tomorrow an interim supply bill in order to carry on.

It will be a few days before the finances of the year are in shape for an announcement, but today the estimate is for a surplus of between $50,000,000 Expenditure will run around four hundred millions and revenue four hundred and fifty millions.

There will show a decline in exports, but curiously enough the decrease is just about the amount of decline in wheat and flour exports this year compared with last owing to the poor policy of holding back the crop because of a hoped-for price.

Red Cross Report For 1929

The annual report for the past year is off the press, and provides much interesting matter for the friends of Red Cross, and those who are interested in the welfare of children. Some striking thoughts are presented in the address of Sir Edgar, the National Commissioner, who emphasized the tremendous importance of Red Cross in stimulating a health consciousness and then preventing diseases which were largely preventable This must be realized, and it is the special duty of Red Cross to teach the peace through the Junior Red Cross, the value of being well and strong, and with this thought in mind the Junior Red Cross has been organized.

The Province in Alberta numbers almost 15,000 members and these are organized in 600 groups. Miss Cora Ting Thom branches were enrolled in the year of 218,000 membership fees and various efforts, all of which goes to support the staff and maintenance of the hospitals at Calgary and at Edmonton.

The reports of the crippled cases contained show that the children have been benefited. A large part have been being time orthopedic cases, they expended $5 institutions and come from 57 points within the province Peace Corps Hospital has a splendid record of 284 admissions and 2161 hospital days. An X-Ray has been installed and good improvements made.

Immigrants and children would show a vast follow up of an intimate nature from placing parents and guardians to the children's homes and making social adjustments in time of trouble. Fines and penalties have called forth the service of the emergency department of the Red Cross.

Copy for a copy of the Red Cross report may be had free of charge, on Civic Hall, Edmonton.

Waverly W. I. Notes

(Local Correspondent)

The above meeting of the Waverly Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Bell, with fifteen members and two visitors in attendance.

Minnie Clark acted as secretary in the absence of Miss Annable.

Several communications dealt with various activities of this branch were appointed.

The Standing Committees as follows:—

Child Welfare, Mrs. T. Burford. Home Economics, Miss Ethel Chandelmation, Mrs. Marvel. Agriculture, Mrs. Gregory Home Economics, Mrs. H. Clark. Legislation, Miss Annable. Legislation, Mamie Clark.

Mrs. Burford to give paper on Child Welfare at the May meeting.

It was decided to hold an Easter dance at the Stewartvun school on Monday night, April 23rd.

A pre-nuptial shower in honor of Miss Opal Buckmaster whose marriage is an event of the near future will also take place at this time.

Mrs Mamie Clark, our delegate to the Drumheller District conference, gave us a splendid report of this affair.

Mrs. Burford was in charge of the entertaining period and contributed a very interesting and original gumming contest, entitled — "The Familiar Name' contest.

Mrs. Annie Hammond won the prize given in connection with this feature

Mrs. Gregory will be responsible for the May entertaining period.

At the conclusion of the meeting our hostess, Mrs. Hicks, assisted by her daughters, Mrs. O. Bell and Mrs Clarence Anderson, served a most delightful lunch. Bell dinner it was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

May meeting to be with Mrs. O. Hicks.

The members are each asked to contribute for the May meeting, a poem, a clipping or a brief paper, complimentary to Canada for the "Hockey Day"

The whist drive held at the Annable home was comprised of ladies and gents as follows:—

Ladies' 1st, Mrs. A. Jones Ladies' 2nd, Mrs. P Lattimer Gent's 1st, Jack Bell Gent's 2nd, Herbert Gregory.

Due to Mamie's having a whooping cough epidemic, the Birdsell whist drive was not so largely attended, but an enjoyable time was had by those present.

Prizes as follows —

Ladies' 1st, Mrs. I. Birdsell. Ladies' 2nd, Mrs. J Burns. Consolation, Mrs. Latimer. Gent's 1st, Mr. P Clark. sr. Gent's 2nd, Mr. J Burns. Consolation. J. Van Stratten.

Tilly of Bloomsbury" An Outstanding Play

The above play was put on at the Theatre on Monday evening, April 16th under the auspices of the I O D E There was a large audience present and the play was considered one of the best that has been seen here for some time.

The plot revolves around the adventures of Tilly of Bloomsbury, a member of a middle class or even cockney family the Welwyns, and Dick, the only son of the Aristocratic Bainbridges.

The first Act deals with the Mainwarings, Lady Mainwaring and her daughter Sylvia, are introduced as snobs, proud and snobbish, with a dislike of ballying Mainwaring secretary, and making themselves more ridiculous than popular with people in general. Their son Dicki makes a bad break so far as they are concerned by becoming engaged to Tilly, the daughter of a family they keep boarders.

The second Act deals with the Welwyns. Mr Welwyn is an ex-college professor, whose passion for drink makes him a failure at middle age. Mrs. Welwyn drops her H's, but is otherwise a good bandlady. Her daughters Tilly and Amelia and son Percy make up an interesting family Tilly inheriting from her father the love of books and the moral worth of the Bunkas.

It is from the home of the Welwyns is in possession of a short, but effective time, when the officer in charge noted as temporary boiler in the cellar, in order to make a good impression on the artistocratic visitors.

Of course, Dick and Tilly come through the ordeal in the best possible manner, and Lady Mainwaring and her daughter Sylvia lose out. Old Welwyn gets a job in the British Museum. Mrs. Welwyn, we hope, does not need to hug comforts and Tilly moves from Bloomsbury to Shotley Beanchamp.

The cast of the play was as follows.

Abel Mainwaring, M.P., Mr. L. Gemmill.

Milroy, Butler to the Mainwarings Mr. Floyd Page.

Sylvia, Mainwaring's Daughter, Miss O. Bell.

Lady Mainwaring, Mrs. Harvey Page.

Mrs. Adrian Rylands, Mr. Roy Little.

Constance Ensor, Mrs. A.E. Kennard.

Richard, Mainwaring's Son, Mr. Norman Powell.

Tilly, Welwyn's Daughter, Miss Mabel Griffith.

Percy, Welwyn's Son, Mr. Stan Wilson.

Welwyn, Welwyn's Tilly'sged Daughter, Mrs. Ralph Lowe.

Grandma Banks, Mrs. Welwyn's Mother, Mrs. Wm. McTaggart.

Mr Melvin Sam. A Law Student, Mr. Floyd Page.

Mrs. Welwyn, Mrs. C. L. Wills.

Lucious Welwyn, Mr. Douglas Free.

Mr. Stilbetite, A Sheriff's Officer, Mr. Duncan Gaudinee.

The cast was under the direction of Mrs Sharpe, and she made the best possible selections for each part. All fitted in as if brought up for their respective positions, and while the members have no opportunity to go on the road, they would do as well as the better class of players who appear here from time to time. The cast worked out their interpretations and practiced steadily for some weeks and the play gave a financial boost to the I.O. D E treasury as well as a good evening's entertainment to the citizens generally. It was a good show and well worth the labor involved

Mrs. Assaper and Mrs. Dunlap gave valuable help with the stage appointments.

Board Of Trade Notes

Stettler Board of Trade wishes to remind the farmers of the District that it is commencing the usual Field Crops and Corral Dress Competitions during 1928 Many old-timers are predicting an ideal crop year such as obtained in 1926, and we would suggest that a little extra interpretations and practiced steadying for some weeks and the play gave a financial boost to the I.O. D E treasury as well as a good evening's entertainment to the citizens generally It was a good show and well worth the labor involved

Mrs. Assaper and Mrs. Dunlap gave valuable help with the stage appointments.

The regular monthly meeting in April will be held on Monday next. Commencing one-two-three-four p. m. It is necessary to advance the hour as another organization has made prior arrangements for the Council Chamber at 8 pm If all members arrive sharp on time we can get our business over in an hour At this meeting we have for consideration the formation of a community relief board, with the object of unifying the relief efforts of the Town Council and the various fraternal and other bodies which engage in relief work. It is thought that over-lapping of effort might be avoided under a community board, and that better work would be done Relief committees of all organizations in Stettler are invited to be present and to take part in the discussion.

The Spring Clean-Up Campaign is to be launched in the near future If any citizens or members of the Board have suggestions tending to make this campaign better and more efficient, bring them to the meeting Monday evening.

Baseball Meeting

Here we know us Spring' A very successful baseball meeting was held in the Town Hall last night, and it really seemed like old times to see so many enthusiastic young ball players turn out. We were somewhat disappointed, however, to note the practically 100 per cent. absence of our business men.

The following officers were elected for the season

Honorary President, D R McIver.

President, F. T Colley

Vice-Presidents, Jas Miller

Secretary, Jos Martin.

The following compose our Executive —

J. C McIntosh, H. Baston, C. G. Nelson and E. A. Hart.

It was also decided that we join the Buffalo Lake League and make an honest effort to put a team on the diamond that Stettler will be proud to back.

You'll hear further from our ball team.

From The Heart

Mrs. Rusty Ferguson Murphy, of Edmonton, is a lady—any 2 persons—of many varied talents. When she left her native Ontario some years ago for the prairie west, the new country appealed to her so strongly that she put down vivid impressions under the signature of "Dawn Chinook." At Jasper Chinook she became famous overnight.

There was humor in Janey Canuck, but there was deadly seriousness in her later outbreaks on the drug traffic rewarding which, as a social service worker she had acquired a good many facts. Her enthusiasm for social service led Mrs. Murphy some years ago, to accept the position of women police magistrate at Edmonton, which she has held ever since

In her capacity as police magistrate Mrs Murphy has done a great deal of good. Tempering leniency and severity alike with sound common sense, she had usually prescribed the sort of judicial sentence most suited to meet the needs of the individual case. And she had won and continues to enjoy the gratitude of a good many women who she has helped back to a clean life and normal success. Not merely by counsel and advice in her judicial capacity, but by genuine helpfulness as an individual.

Sometimes, though, the gratitude of those she befriends becomes embarrassing. A case in point occurred a few months ago.

A young woman considerably suppressed appeared before Mrs. Murphy on a charge of intoxication. It was all too evident that poor Jessie had looked upon the wine when it was red, the only doubt was whether she had looked upon it sufficiently to become intoxicated.

Jessie pleaded her case desperately.

Well, what are you going to do with me? Send me to jail or let me go? You know I think the best thing to do would be to let me off I wasn't drunk. I was just over-dressed. You know I always swear. didn't you? Y-u remember the time I—

Don't tell it," muttered the weary and discerning some slight hope for Jessie gave her the benefit of the doubt.

Jessie lost no time in expressing her gratitude. She climbed out of the prisoner's dock and rushed up the steps to the magistrate's chair "You are a friend of mine for life," she gushed "If there's anything I can do for you say (impl-just let me know" And she was all set to give Mrs Murphy a resounding and somewhat inebriated kiss when the magistrate put up her hands and beat a strategic retreat

"Oh, ain't she nice" Jessie asked the police matron "Ain't—she—nice?"

And before the astounded police matron could sidestep she became the recipient of the gratitude of a full kiss.

Landlady to artist lodger "How would you like your potatoes today, sir—with their jackets on or in the nude?"

EMULSIFICATION

JUST an emulsification of the butter-fat in milk makes milk one of our most easily digested foods, so emulsification of cod liver oil is the main reason why it is the most digestible of all fats.

SCOTT'S EMULSION

It's the reason that millions of children and grown-ups prefer it to all other forms of cod liver oil.

Be sure the emulsion of cod liver oil is guaranteed. That's Scott's Emulsion.

The High School Students

By Mrs. Bob, (age) Sandy

I've been that some of the high school students of Gadsby think they are rather too young to have many engagements as yet, but there does live a few who are already married. Such a couple was up in the station.

Bill: Say me a grave—dig it wide and deep!
I know my mother will come and weep
When she's got job and all that kind of stuff.
That came to Leith has boarded me that.

Scott: Bill thinks Grade 10—They give me a pain—more than half of them get over nearly in History—Dates.

Bob: Anything for the column this week Bert?

Bert: Something from the history of Lincoln—

"Have you, Dave?"

"Yes, the intensity of light varies inversely as the square of the distance."

"Dick"

"Of course. If not I'll plan MCE. equals Dead Man."

Items of Gossip Heroes

You shall hear of Irven's schedule,
Of the handsome Tomfohrde,
Of the fair and lovely maiden,
Schedoni engaged with their lessons.

At the head of all the students
Towering over them in learning,
Schedoni engaged in the lessons,
Working up their hearts within them.

In the learned Ellen Porter,
Next in rank comes Vera Taylor,
Who excels in Mathematics,
Comes up if Ellen follows.
Norman Canning leads the male ass
He ran in the middle can tread him.
Thought the boys we notice Jack Clark,
Tall he is and very slender,
He'll grow even taller some day.
Standing last in all the grade is Young and handsome Eddie Tipson.

In assembly class is Teddy,
Towering high above all pupils,
Head that reaches nigh the treetops.

With a form most slim and slender
Dignified and grave his mien.
Having passed the age of nonsense
Lady Gordon C White follows,
Better known to boys as Chester
At the school of any grade
He laughs his mystic dances,
Treating subtly as a pastime,
Whizzing round and round in circles.

Little curve he for the studious
Which the teacher kindly signs him.
For the girls in 'xvus, now him,
Love the sprightly Chester Gordon.
Young and lively is quite an artist.
Classic sometimes to my dreaming,
Last Clive Thomas, the hard worker,
If you'll ever you him evidence.
He, and he, must young teacher,
He could make any scholar.
When it came to downright study
Of the grave and comely maidens,
Jean McNiget is the fairest,
Also the dreamy silent maiden,
Where brown eyes hide her absence
Dorothy Sanford's the student.
Plays in tunes of deep emotion,
Songs of love and songs of longing.

Also Alice and Clark's Viola
And Irene Murfitt make a trio
Full of fun and luscious levity.
George McFarlane, also of tongue,
Also loves into a trumpet.
He it is can scratch a mean bow
From the strings of a fine fiddle.
Chester Robinson's another.
Great big guy o Grade Eleven,
Hand to heel for brain and muscle
If we only knew him better,
We might tell you something further.

But the most feared by the maidens
Is the fair and sweet Madeline
"Pauley-vous," she whispers softly,
"Come to me all my children."
When she speaks the maidens shiver,
Shiver in their little bosoms,
For her voice is soft and luring.
To all Irven's gallant warriors,
Oft they Stop unto her urgings,
Leaving love-love needs behind them.

Robert Grant, a heap brave warrior,
He the author of pert chosers,
He the handsome Vandaal,
Pound by Irven's jealous chatelaine.

Edith Moore, the fine enthuser,
She the marvellous story teller.

Helps to swell the rank of Irven.
Mary Rasmussen and Dan
Walker Lobe and Little Allen,
Jean Sanderson and Violet Vassar,
These along with Hazen Connelly,
Make the list of Irven's leaders,
Interested in their tale of pupils
Are and pass about before you.

Premier J. E. Brownlee, accompanied by A. L. Sanders, M.L.A., visited here on Wednesday. He discussed matters of interest in Redcliff hosted by the local Board of Trade, and afterwards addressed a large gathering at the Methodist Church. Mayor Cantrell, on behalf of the town welcomed our distinguished guest on his first visit here. He spoke of the progress which has been made of interest in this locality, following which Premier Brownlee gave an inspiring and instructive address on the many problems confronting the Province. He pointed out the present time, and told how they were being dealt with. He spoke particularly of the Educational situation, the Provincial Normal School, Hospitals, Power, Public Parks, and our Natural Resources, and urged the thoughtful co-operation of the people with the Government in solving these problems. At the close of his address several enquiries were discreetly answered, and the Premier received hearty applause.

Mrs. Norman Dunn entertained at bridge on Wednesday evening, the guests being Mrs. J. Beatty and Mrs. A. Bennet. Out of town guests included Mrs. F. Turton and Mrs. A. Burr of Hanna and Mrs. H. A. Bennet, of Stettler.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Jeanson of Fleet, and Mr. and Mrs. M. Mildred of Cheker, were Sunday visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. Mannix.

George Davies and S. Schubert returned by car on Friday from the north, where they had spent the week-end.

On Friday evening in the Town Hall the following splendid program was rendered in aid of the Hospital Fund.

Selection—Rendston Orchestra.
Reading—Dr McGowan.
Ukulele Chorus—Dusky Dozen.
Piano Duet—Avra Turner, Helen Meadows. Jean Rich. Aleta Young.
Ellen and Olive Ghent. Marjorie Harris.

Sketch—"The Gaddsy Gossips."—Phyllis Pendor. Margery Dean, and Barbara Bradey.
Selection—Rendston Orchestra.
Sketch—"Our Darkey Friends."—H. L. Hoch, N. E. Painter, S. Meadows and Dr. McGowan.

During the evening the brave Neptune was donated by H. A. Hart who refined and won by Fred Bristow, and dance followed, the music being contributed by Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Pether W. C. McIntosh and the Gadsby Orchestra, to whom the committee wish to extend especial thanks and to all others who helped in any way to make such a success of this event. The proceeds amounted to $110.00.

A dance was held at St. Knife school on Tuesday evening in aid of Gadsby Hospital, and realized $15 for which the Hospital Board extend their thanks.

A disastrous fire occurred on Friday night on the farm of Pete Herzog, north of town, when his large barn was completely destroyed. One half was burned, also a good supply of feed.

On Saturday evening at the local school, the following debate took place "Resolved That Commercial copperate with the United States would be a benefit to Canada." The Affirmative speakers were Bessie Bentley, T. Hanna and S. Shibbold, the Negative team being Wm. Dean, D. Johnson and E. S. Macmillan. G. C. Porter was chairman and the judges were R. I. Hoch, C. McMichie and Mr. Bridgens. Mr. Porter announced the decision to be against the affirmative.

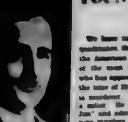
As a result of enquiry made to the Council, Chairman and Mayor have been authorized to re-open the Cemetery Road. That the necessary work be done at once. That the Council will not be responsible for the Easter holidays, namely Saturday, Sunday and Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. Sunday, and Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. Sunday, and Monday afternoon at 2 p.m. Sunday,

Mahatma Gandhi Again in Control Of India

A year ago it seemed to the British authorities that Gandhi had lost his power with the Indian people. He was in prison, and the boycott of British goods was being carried on successfully in spite of the efforts of the rest of his followers to prevent it. But it seems likely that the campaign must still better him power with the Hindu masses as he has been freed, after he found his power may be greater still for he still have become a saint and a martyr. The proof that he had by no means withdrawn into himself was proved a short time ago when he proposed a modification of the Anglo-Indian congress demanding complete self-government for India. The motion was passed. Had he so desired there is little doubt that he could have swept the delegates into open rebellion there and there and spread fire and destruction throughout India. But he holds to his old doctrine of non-violence. A committee has been formed which is empowered at a suitable time to put into effect Gandhi's proposals for the non-payment of taxes and other schemes of non-co-operation, which are designed to make British administration impossible. In face of the threat the British government is about to despatch an extra division to India to meet any emergency that may arise. It seems an inadequate step, but what else is to be done?

William Gandhi is a little doubt that if the principles of non-co-operation is put into effect properly it must have great force. Passive resistance is much more difficult to use than open rebellion or resistance with force. You cannot shoot down men who simply disappear. Nor is it possible to put some millions of people in jail or herd them in concentration camps. The greatest hope is that Gandhi can change his mind and come out of jail. The most human failings is that he does like power, and at first he approved the prospect of becoming autocratic as long as he was the importation of manufactured goods prevented. His idea is that the Indians themselves should manufacture their own goods. It is a pleasing vision in such a home is one of the most cherished ideas. A spinning wheel might conceivably be considered a machine, yet Gandhi is opposed to all machinery. How can he expect a vast population to support itself by wheel handicraft in a machine age and in a world where machinery is multiplying every day?

It would be simple indeed, if every Indian were like Gandhi, and perhaps his chief delusion is that what he has made of himself every other Indian can make too. The result is a day should provide him with all the food he needs, or naked except for a loin cloth. He eats as little as a mere abstract he has ceased to be a man and has become a thing. Here is the measure of Gandhi's failure. He was at one time an unsurpassing power, respected even by those who disagreed with him, and admired by British people of such a personal and sincere character as a number of people in Gandhi's day. Gandhi, the Indian politician, leaders he has many enemies. The younger men despise him for his utter revulsion he refuses to make use of the wider teachers whose whole Nationalism he thinks would be lost. Gandhi said is considerable difficulty is found in answering him He is a man who can not regard himself as a martyr means to put him out of the way nor as one deserving sympathy. One believe this were it not for his hold of the masses. They do not regard him as a political leader or religious reformer but simply as a kind of saint. To Christians it seems those who understand the strength of the caste system in India to find the man who is by most powerful critic being professed to be a Christian.



FRED T. GEBERT

A Remembrance—a book made by J. Fred T. Gebert of Lacombe, Agriculture and Immigration, has been published by the Department of Agriculture for the encouragement of Food for Britain, formerly of Prairie Home Breeder at Ottawa, and one of the best informed men on agriculture in the natural resources of the Canadian Northwest. Superintendent of Immigration Commissioner for Canada at Montreal, Mr. Vernon, Mr. Gebert was appointed over the Provinces of Manitoba and Saskatchewan.

FOUND HIS PLEASURE IN POISONING PEOPLE

We have recently dealt on the case of Dr. Crippen, the American murderer who has appeared in the news every few years for the last twenty years. Crippen was a murderer. He is James Davis, a name the same himself "Dr. Jim" and admits at every hearing of the murders and wounded he has committed. But he is not found to be in possession of a couple of specimens, and a child he took with him. It is supposed he intended to murder the detectives and escape to some rubber plantation or Davis that he would have had a fancy wanted to be a millionaire and not an ordinary but other trade which would have been just as much more effective For he seems to be a kind of knave more than a fool. He has had a long list of his crimes by the hour. He does not apologize for them and seems to have been honestly puzzled with a caste one might suppose to find in a mentally degenerate. Dr. Lord Leopold Davis too is a degenerate and should be locked up, but he has killed the nine people he murdered at least two of them were unfortunate women who had got into New York detectives remarked gratefully that Crippen murdered "Only women" and that he was sure he in this state

Doctor Anderson for women rather than for men, seems to have been the cause of his undoing. For while they were living together in London they has summoned he had gone to South America.

Crippen was finally out of their clutches if he had had a little more caution or a little more money. Somehow where women were concerned or if he had been a little more careful in his choice of victims he might have had a little more success. Crippen was a murderer, but he is patronizingly opposed to the importation of manufactured goods prevented. His idea is that the Indians themselves should manufacture their own goods. It is a pleasing vision in such a home is one of the most cherished ideas. A spinning wheel might conceivably be considered a machine, yet Gandhi is opposed to all machinery. How can he expect a vast population to support itself by wheel handicraft in a machine age and in a world where machinery is multiplying every day?

It would be simple indeed, if every Indian were like Gandhi, and perhaps his chief delusion is that what he has made of himself every other Indian can make too. The result is a day should provide him with all the food he needs, or naked except for a loin cloth. He eats as little as a mere abstract he has ceased to be a man and has become a thing. Here is the measure of Gandhi's failure. He was at one time an unsurpassing power, respected even by those who disagreed with him, and admired by British people of such a personal and sincere character as a number of people in Gandhi's day. Gandhi, the Indian politician, leaders he has many enemies. The younger men despise him for his utter revulsion he refuses to make use of the wider teachers whose whole Nationalism he thinks would be lost. Gandhi said is considerable difficulty is found in answering him He is a man who can not regard himself as a martyr means to put him out of the way nor as one deserving sympathy. One believe this were it not for his hold of the masses. They do not regard him as a political leader or religious reformer but simply as a kind of saint. To Christians it seems those who understand the strength of the caste system in India to find the man who is by most powerful critic being professed to be a Christian.

Primate of England Is Barred From Jerusalem

"The strength of unions and syndication is recognized everywhere now."

In answer to an open forgiveness which was taken by Dean Alfred Allenby at Anglican, Jerusalem, a solemn winner has a sense that the Archbishop of Canterbury, commissioned by Great Britain and over a mandate from the League of Nations, has been forbidden to enter the Holy Land. The primate of all England, Dr. Randall Thomas Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, would pay a visit to Jerusalem in the course of a tour of the Near East, but the Latin patriarch, Monsignor Barlassina, communicated with Rome and the Vatican communicated with Mussolini. The end result was a message to London, and then there was an announcement that because of the delicate situation in Jerusalem, the visit had been postponed indefinitely. It is understood that the British government appealed to Dr Lang not to cause trouble and that Mussolini and the Vatican exercised the old quarrel between church and state. But the fact is it is difficult to believe that the Archbishop of Canterbury would insult Jerusalem and Rome and have succeeded the great British church had been planned for two years. Pope Pius XI is said to be not to confidentially as they were in the days before the war and the League of Nations has no power to give them respective powers, particularly in Palestine, which was a mere secular state.

Physical Animals Made Gibb Celebrity

It is now twenty years since Dr. Frederick Gibb first startled the world with his discovery of the Banting Insulin, brilliant surgeon-physician, who has since been honored and in the service of mankind, but for the moment he is best known as the discoverer of the laboratory but disappointed at not serving in the army. Dr. Gibb was refused because he had to pass one eye. He quit his job Then his name he went back to the laboratory and began experiments with dogs.

In September of 1920, Dr. Gibb visited Winnipeg into Organizing on the return voyage from his "back to the pole"—here to be Dr. Gibb's guest. Dr. Gibb's outstanding accomplishment, official honors—and experimentation. In the fall of 1921 he had established a surgery was in Toronto. Dr. Gibb's operating theatre, official honors—and experimentation. In the fall of 1921 he had established a surgery was in Toronto. Dr. Gibb's operating theatre, official honors—and experimentation. In the fall of 1921 he had established a surgery was in Toronto.

Dr. Cook was unquestionable in his first interview. He talked freely about his experiences with Peary and Leopold Davis too is a desperate man and should be locked up. That is all the Gibbs pressed him for more information and he refused to say another word. He has not been in the street. The end of the war-time excitement. Dr. Gibb's position as an investigator is one of the most interesting personal questions in the history of medicine. He has been in the position of a city in the heart of a country completely surrounded by enemy territory. The Germans were determined to starve the people into submission. Stettler Theatre News

"Blue Canary" will be the feature picture at Stettler Theatre on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 31st, 32nd and 33rd. It stars Ida Lupino.

A beautiful girl and two sly matrimony dodgers nothing on earth, or points—especially when they happened to be the priceless Dionne quintuplets.

The Dionne couple celebrated recently their thirty-third year of wedding bliss, and the remaining Callihoodle twins their 4th birthday. The parents were placed in the cash register by the midwife. And of course, Mom and Dad's find the only set of tears to cry.

The girl had to stay on to become important marriage—not an accessory, as it were.

But Mr Dionn was lonely. Mrs. Dionn was interrupted by a shrieking pain player.

The two male contemplators of the girl were in a hurry to elope.

The shrewdest, but the girl had a way of heart.

The husband, father, doubled in brass. And then came a church or anything or anything over evening, all consisting half a dozen lines in the act of departure. Ride.

"Acquitted" is the feature picture that will be shown at Stettler Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 24th, 25th and 26th.

Ross Hardy's featured player is "Acquitted," the Columbia all-talking drama of the under world has won the appellation "Lucky Ross" because of the popularity that has kept him working consistently in his twenty-seven years on the stage. Invariably any company he signs with would have a long engagement.

His career has been an interesting one. Educated at Yale University, he decided his leisure time could be devoted to amateur theatricals. After graduation, he "starred" in the Yale Dramatic Association shows, made his professional debut with the Washington Square players, and then made a success of everything he touched, culminating in leading roles in the productions of David Belasco. Then came the call of the movies. Ross Hardy was the first of several citizens—who finally played roles in a picture—to be brought to Hollywood to star in "film," a part to which he appeared the least interested.

Botha News

The first real storm of the season ended up on Monday afternoon. A downpour of rain, hail and snow made it completely humid in the early hours. The moisture will be a great help to pastures.

The crocus is showing up as usual in spite of the late spring.

It is becoming quite apparent that the farmers don't the equity in Canada subsidized under a dollar, as it is now selling for around 90 cents. They say that the stores want to collect cash from them and that they will not buy anything with that low price. At the end of June Wade Bros. Wheat Pool contract will be completely wiped out. The farmers are looking forward to the Easter Holidays that start on Good Friday and continue for a week.

Miss Ona Prudden started back to school again on Monday.

The Ladies' Aid Society spent an enjoyable afternoon last Thursday at the home of Mrs. J. Groves when they met for their April meeting.

Mrs. Elmore presided over the meeting and will continue to do so until Mrs. MacKay's health permits her to take up the work again. Velma Simkie will be Secretary protem.

Mrs. R. Everett and Miss Hartley of Innisfail, were present and displayed a beautiful quilt which was made by their Society. Lunch was served by Mrs. R. Priest, Miss Sproule and Mrs. Groves.

Camrose Editor Passes Away

CAMROSE, Alta —Called by death in the prime of life, Frederick John Blight, editor of the Camrose Canadian and prominent in business circles in Camrose, succumbed on Monday, April 21st, after an illness of several months. Last autumn the condition of his health became manifest and he sought a course of treatment at Stettler Hot Springs, B.C. No permanent benefit resulted, and his condition continued to grow worse. A few week's ago he was taken to St. Mary's Hospital, Camrose, for the second time during the period of his failing health, where his widow, he is survived by three small daughters. Shirley Marion, age three; Lorna and Carol, twins, two years of age, two sisters, Mrs. H. Fuller and Mrs. Lofstedt, five in the Camrose district.

Deceased was in his forty-first year, having been born in England, October 31st, 1898. He came to Canada in 1910, and soon afterwards was employed by the Daily Times Printing Co., where he was on the staff of that paper for one year he went to Vancouver but decided that he would prefer to locate in Alberta. He returned to the province and became a member of the Camrose Canadian Then the Great War broke out. When the Armistice closed the war, he was among those of the forces sent with an army of occupation into Germany After spending his discharge from the army he returned to Canada, in May, 1919. On December 20 of the same year he married Miss Ida Henry, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs R. J. Henry, early residents.

Almost immediately after his marriage, he purchased a newspaper business at Erskine, Alberta Nearly two years later, Mr Blight disposed of the Erskine paper when he and Mrs. Blight returned to Camrose, and he became editor of the Camrose Canadian.

Red Misery Interests

He was a member of the Camrose Rotary Club a member of Camrose Masonic Lodge A.F. & A. M., No. 79, a Past Exalted Ruler of Camrose Lodge, No. 92, B.P.O.E. and had been District Deputy Grand Exalted Ruler of District No. 9, B.P.O.E., Alberta.

He served a term as president of the Camrose branch of the O.W.V. and several occasions he served as chairman of committees of the Camrose Board of Trade, and had contested one time for the Conservative party of Camrose, when his health forced him to resign that office as member of the executive of the local branch of the Canadian Legion B.E.S.L. in charge, in accordance with the wish of the deceased.

ERSKINE NEWS

The proposed new school for the Grose Lake District west of Stettler has been the chief topic of verbal and long distance conversation during the past few weeks, resulting in a public meeting of rate payers in Welch's Hall on Wednesday evening, April 19th, at which Rev. John Ross, Deputy Minister of Education, and Mr. F. R. Tuthbourne, inspector were the principal visitors.

Seating capacity was taxed when the meeting was called to order and Mr J. G. McCreath appointed the Chairman, with Mr Oliver Marshall, Secretary pro-tem.

Delegates were present from the following school districts: Grose, Buffalo Lake, Swing Hollows, Thunder Hill, Buffalo Head and proposed Grose Lake

The Chairman heard that the various speakers taking part in the discussion would confine their remarks to the one subject, matter and present their views, for and against, in the friendliest manner possible and requested the Deputy Minister to outline the purpose for which the meeting had been called.

Mr. Ross presented a brief resume of events leading up to the present vote of 15 to 13 against the proposed district. Since that time, on the strength of new boundaries, the Department had been asked to authorize another vote It is the custom of the department, continued the speaker, to study very carefully the merits or de-merits of any petition of this nature and suggested that those present who were requesting the re-arrangement should be given an opportunity to state the hardships their children were subjected to as regards distance from schools now in existence This suggestion was endorsed by the meeting and for an hour and forty-five minutes a free and full discussion took place in favor of, and opposed to the necessity of a new district being formed. Consolidated cross-fire and banter was sufficiently in evidence to waive monotony, members of which seem inclined to wander here re-directed by Mr. Ross, who at times

Mr. Ross also answered a number of questions relative to the Consolidated School Act, and the Department's attitude in the event of the formation of new district it would have to assume its own burden without imposing undue financial hardships on districts already assessing In the meantime the matter is being held in abeyance pending action of the department.

PROHIBITION

The dry squad was about to raid a notorious den of hi-jackers and bootleggers. The dive had been the scene of many a shooting and the agent in charge was addressing the squad to bolster up their courage.

"Remember, men," he threatened, "we are about to raid the worst den in the underworld. This takes courage and these gun-women are armed to the teeth. Don't give up until your last shot is fired; then, and only then, will it be time to run."

He paused for dramatic effect, and then started moving away.

"As I am a little slow on my feet," he called back over his shoulder, "I'm starting right now."

REASONING THROUGH

There is an old Hebrew saying that when the individual thinks a beautiful thought, a new angel is born in Heaven. There is also a Rabbinic legend that between heaven and earth, on the top of Jacob's ladder, stands the Angel Sandalfon, who receives the prayers of men as they ascend, changing them into flowers in his hands, which he then strews through the ways of the Celestial City.

RUSSIA MAKING WAR ON HER RICH PEASANTS

As for most other things, even in Soviet Russia there is a reason for the murder of millions of men, women and children by the Communist rulers of that country. The reason is not to be found in any such silly explanation as that given by Lenin, when he declared that there has been a good deal of unnecessary killing, but that the treatment meted out to landowners, the aristocracy and the bourgeoisie of the intellectual class was necessary in order to prevent the possibility of counter-revolution. Nor is it to be found in the explanation of Trotsky, when he said that the killing of the aristocracy, which are hated by the people, was necessary to prevent counter-revolution. Then in 1929 the Soviets introduced the five-year plan. This called for the collectivization of agriculture, that is to say, the compulsory pooling of all peasant holdings in communistic farms. The peasants were to be pooled in large units and were to be compelled to work in common to turn over their surplus to the government at a fixed price. At the present time less than one per cent. of the land under cultivation is being worked on the collectivist principle, but this percentage will be increased gradually until all peasant farms are operated under communistic control. Meanwhile, the Soviet authorities have been trying to break down the will to resist the system of collectivization by the imposition of high penalties and by the confiscation of the possessions and property of those who refuse to turn over their produce to the government. The penalty for refusal to turn over the produce of the land to the government is death, if he is not shot he is sent to the Arctic Circle to work in the mines or to the Siberian forests. Those who are left to starve to death, if he is not shot and it was the fear that is now ruling in a thousand thousand villages throughout the Soviet Republic.

The reason of the resistance is, first of all, a desire of keeping what they have got, and, in the second place, a desire of keeping their wealth and having the means to purchase additional capital equipment.

Moreover, under the system, which has been in operation for nearly the month of confiscation of the property of the rich and the confiscation by proper and real interest. The collectivist basis does not encourage production, but on the contrary it tends to discourage production and to encourage destruction. Under the collectivist system, which we have mentioned, the peasant will be compelled to turn over their surplus to the government at a fixed price. At the present time less than one per cent. of the land under cultivation is being worked on the collectivist principle, but this percentage will be increased gradually until all peasant farms are operated under communistic control. Meanwhile, the Soviet authorities have been trying to break down the will to resist the system of collectivization by the imposition of high penalties and by the confiscation of the possessions and property of those who refuse to turn over their produce to the government. The penalty for refusal to turn over the produce of the land to the government is death, if he is not shot and it was the fear that is now ruling in a thousand thousand villages throughout the Soviet Republic. Money Of Parrots Fraid To Owners

Although the owner of parrots is often considered cruel, it is extraordinary that some individuals should fear the parrot is responsible to the punishment when it runs of the fact that the parrot may spread to members of their family.

It is a very prevalent belief, but the parrot is by no means the first criminal for the fact is such as to be of little importance. It is a very common belief that parrots are responsible for the spread of tuberculosis, but this is not true. It is believed that the disease is spread by a parrot and that the owner is always with the parrot and never becomes healthy anyone as long as the bird is in good health. Most healthy people are carrying germs about with them and not the absence of the fact until their resistance becomes lowered and the germs then get a chance to strike effectively. So with the parrot, the tuberculosis is perhaps not the occasional thing, but, as a dog, by the parrot lighter than the parrot is rarely ill with the disease when it lately has grown a so much unfavorable condition. It lives in an environment to which through thousands of generations it has become adapted and consequently reaches a ripe old age. This environment is answering free from cold, but the parrot that is brought north has consequently to face cold and dampness even when it is never outside of a house.

The consignee is generally spread by the bird's beak. At all times, but particularly when it feels in need of nuts. It will press its feathers trying probably to remove the sense of irritation. Many people are rather proud of the fact that their parrots are so tame that they will take food from their lips. When an infected beak is inserted into the mouth of a human being it requires no expert medical man to foresee what will follow. This practice is always to be deprecated no matter how tame the parrot is. There are records of death brought about by the bite of a presumably healthy parrot, and, of course, a bite from a sick bird directly introduces virus into the blood which is scarcely less dangerous in the well meaning attempt of the owner of a sick bird to wrap it in his own clothing or hold it close to the body to get it warm. When the parrot is infected the virus is then this. It clings with a cloth at night will protect the parrot against falling temperature and it should not be kept in a draught. Loaded tobacco and cigarettes are injurious to almost all birds, from canaries to turkeys, with the exception of ducks. Over feeding is another common error, and as a rule the greater the pet through pneumonia. In other words the pet lamenta has so weakened the system that the pneumonia germs cannot help taking about, find no resistance victim and usually make short work of him. The environment of the owner may be inferred from the fact that among members of elderly people severe attacks will end fatally in 40 per cent. of the cases. Young people rarely succumb since they have the vigor to throw off the infection. The disease is highly infectious and has been known to run through entire families. It is interesting to note that the parrot is immune to the disease which is so fatal to human beings, or to the conclusion of those who have carefully investigated the matter, that the disease is not communicable to the parrot, and to marry the disease. The idea that parrots are subject to all illness, though not to the extent imagined. But he was responsible for the introduction into this country of the cockatoo, which now abounds in the cockatoo, having been introduced many years ago. Many of these birds were caught in the wild state, but many were reared in captivity. Many of these birds were caught in the wild state, but many were reared in captivity. Many of these birds were caught in the wild state, but many were reared in captivity.

APPEARANCE!

THE Judgment of this new Durant 6-54 built luxury line in four fine car body models rests on taking questions and preferences. This is correct.

The long, low body, long, flowing lines and wide sweeping fenders, together with the same genuine Durant quality control throughout, account for the attractive appearance of the new Durant products.

You will best appreciate the Appearance, Performance, Comfort and Value of these new Durant cars by comparing your dealer's proposition to them at.

Our Railway Minister Wanted To Be Surgeon

It is more than a legend at Ottawa, that many of our great men in past and present, have not been and are not happy in their assigned positions of power and authority. It may be said confidently that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, if his inheritance had been different, considered his political interest to be strongly and unworthy of substitute. There were, to him, far higher heights, which he would have gladly said to have said a friend may say when it is remembered that he would rather be a world champion of the ring than prime minister of Canada.

Hon. "Pete" Crerar, who has just received an acclamation in Brandon, is another outstanding public man who utterly failed to subscribe his ambition.

Crerar never had a desire to be a big business man, a highly paid executive nor even a polished lawyer. Peace endowed hopeful he longed to be a surgeon. In his teens, working on the family homestead at Silver Creek, Manitoba, he would have been content to grow up to be a farmer had it not been for the overwhelming urge to become a doctor—one who saved lives by skill and courage, one who would under the glorious lights of the operating theatre, amid the cries of the sick.

It was this ambition which made him dissatisfied with rural life and supported him during the years of privation in which he got certificates of education to enable him to "read medicine." This he believed, would be the hardest part of his operation. Month in residence college and at last, Crerar, a school teacher, he had a sure source of income and he would marry, money to put himself through college. He estimated that it would require five years to complete his future medals.

In the fifth year, just when he believed the first obstacle would be overcome, he noticed a cataract on his left eye. Within a few months, the trouble became so severe that he was threatened with permanent blindness. He had to relinquish his position and return to farm life.

Crerar, however, has written letters declining the premiership of Ontario and Manitoba, respect from the Union Government, from the leadership of the Progressive party. These letters were very compared to the one that young Crerar wrote resigning his school teaching and with it all hope of ever practising his profession.

Starting the passing years with all the success they have brought Crerar is reminded frequently of his disappointment. In a real sense these successes have been barren and joyless.

BRITISH DEBT IS WORLD'S TREASURY

Montreal.—Mr. ——, who is believed to be the smallest baby ever born of a normal-sized mother, but happily weighed in at 5 pounds, has the right to a Scotsport check she has been presented with only 200 guineas, 12 cats, 1 doz. woolen rapidly decreased to 500 pounds, but she is kept by breadwinner of the family. When Mr. ——, the child of a Montreal family. First one has right to a Scotsport check she has been presented with only 200 guineas, 12 cats, 1 doz. woolen rapidly decreased to 500 pounds, but she is kept by breadwinner of the family. When Mr. ——

Snowden's Tilt With Churchill

Watch has round in the heavens British Chancellor of the Exchequer coming to rest? This is the all-important question in England just now to which Mr. Snowden has promised to give the answer on April 24th, when he is to introduce his budget in the House of Commons. Until then he refuses to "judge," despite clamorous appeals for an indication from sundry still, sage and many melodious.

When Philip Snowden says "By or The" nothing embellishment, meet with equal contempt, cold or loud laughter, have since they stand.

The Yorkshireman's "Hay is his Why. Yes' is his Yes' " to say no- thing will tell you, "and if you don't like it, well you can damned well please yourself."

"In his way to tell the villain first, and explain why afterwards. And Philip Snowden is a typical man with Yorkshireman. His quiet tenacity, contempt on his lips and the cour- age of the fanatic in his eye. A. Snowden is a man of deep con- victions, and his personality has permitted by experience and the hard knocks of life. Mr. Snowden is enough to see that there is no short cut to enforced prosperity.

Mr. Snowden will have none of them.

Both the premier and his chan- cellor of the exchequer are men of vision, the Yorkshireman being more practical and seasoned than his colleague. Both are hard-headed realists, but the Scot is the more reliable, while the Englishman is the more brilliant. Both are Socialists, but they pull for solid founda- tion of useful peace on which to build a Socialist State, and to all claims.

It was Mr. Snowden's understand- ing of Britain's capital plant in the countries of the world and his knowledge of the value of the Dawes plan at the Hague Conference that brought the Dawes plan to fruition, and brought for the country of labor- ing Britain. Mr. Churchill cannot claim the credit for the Dawes plan, for he was not in the Cabinet at the time. It was the other Yorkshireman who had the courage to put it through.

In a recent speech Mr. Snow- den stressed as the most important problem of the day the unemploy- ment question. At the time of writing there are 1,200,000 unem- ployed nearly twice down the Atlantic, and the problem is the most vital that Snowden is resolving. It is in no sense a political question. Both parties have had their turn at the helm, and both have failed to find the solution. Mr. Snowden is not a politician, but a statesman, and he is trying to find the solution of the problem that is vexing the world.

Against the solid rock of Mr. Snowden's Free Trade resistance Mr. Churchill's high hatted waves break in futile rage.

There is something wonderful in the chancellor. A religious man with Nonconformist principles, he is typical Yorkshireman. He quiet tenacity, contempt on his lips and the courhaving heard her heroic son make a speech in the House of Commons.

At 63, Philip Snowden "the eldest mind which has perhaps ever been associated with the Labor movement in England," looks little older than the young man of 1898 who gave up the steel service and three himself passionately into the advocacy of socialism.

TOURS AT MINETY

Gled Cheer Hotel

We know a young lady of ninety-three who is living a wonderful life although sadly crippled by a broken hip, this bright spirit has never allowed herself to become negative. She cannot be worried by anything. She never learned the needle at both ends—She never ate ill-balanced meals—but that was perfectly unsuitable for aging organisms—nor is too large quantities. She always slept well in a ventilated room. She always kept herself at ease, refusing to worry over trifles that age the mind.

She always smiled—say, she possessed a hearty laugh. Her happy cheerful disposition was indeed a benediction to all with whom she came in contact. Last and best of all, she lived graciously and gave by example of her influence to others in their selections. She was often heard to say that one of her happiest hours was in life was being a member of the Red Cross Society. She herself could not be native to the sort of work that the Society was doing but by doing the little she was able, financially, she realized that joy of service to others, and gained in happiness and contentment there-

WEDDINGS

HEBBERD—BUCKMASTER

The residence of Mr and Mrs. Morris Latimer, Warden, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Thursday afternoon, April 24th, at 3 o'clock, when Opal Buckmaster became the bride of Melvin Orr Hebberd, Rev. J. O. Goddard officiating.

The bride, charmingly gowned in white crepe de chene, was given away by her grandfather, Mr. James McIntosh. Lone E. Hebberd attended the bride and wore a beautiful gown of peach georgette. Mr. J. Goetfrey supported the groom.

Immediately following the ceremony, a sumptuous wedding dinner was served. The guests present were:—

Mr. and Mrs. G. Hebberd, Mr. and Mrs. Earl McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. M. T. McIntosh, Mr. and Mrs. August Erickson, Mrs. J. Gostfrey, Miss Laura Hebberd, and Miss. Bessie Erickson, Violet Rose, Harvey Hebberd, Hazel Buckmaster, Helen Hebberd, Mrs. K. S. Adams, Lawrence Herring, Mabel Herring, Madge Shaw and Herman Goetfrey.

Miss Canbel Barron is again at her desk in the Royal Bank after a two week's vacation spent at her home in Erskine Miss Louise Barron returned with her for the week end.

Mrs. George Davies and children returned on Wednesday from the Coast where they have been for the winter.

Miss Annie Anderson was the guest of Miss Violet Hobbs at Botha for a few days last week.

School re-opened on Monday following a week's vacation for Easter. At a meeting of the Board it was decided not to admit beginners until September

At a meeting of the Board of the United Church held recently the resignation of the pastor Rev J A Millar was presented and accepted to take effect June 8th or the next year services on alternate Sundays will be conducted here by Rev Clegg of Halkirk.

Under the auspices of the Women's Institute a demonstration in Interior Decorating will be held in the Town Hall on May 3rd, 5th and 6th under the direction of Miss Hutton Sessions will be from 9 to 11 a.m. and from 2 to 5 p.m. All the women of the community are invited to attend

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held at the home of Mrs. W. D. Hay on Friday, May 2nd, instead of Saturday, as usual.

The small son of Mr. and Mrs. John Murphy narrowly escaped serious injury on Sunday evening when he swallowed a quantity of Rawleigh's liniment. He was at once rushed to the hospital for treatment and is now quite recovered.

The junior group of the C.G.I.T. held a social evening on Wednesday at the home of their president, Miss Ellen Ghent. Miss Helen Menzies gave a splendid account of the Rally held at Wesley Church, Edmonton, on Easter Monday.

The Board of Management of the Gadsby Mission of the United Church held a meeting at the Parsonage at Gadsby Rev Mr Millar gave a report of the activities carried on at the various appointments in the circuit which was very interesting and showed that good work was being accomplished.

A communication was read from Rev G D Armstrong of Coronation who is Chairman of the Presbytery, stating that Mr. Millar had sent in his resignation as pastor of the Gadsby Mission and recommending that was received by the Board with a great deal of regret and a motion was passed thanking Mr and Mrs. Mrs. Miller for the services they had rendered the community during the time they had been with us by D. Brimmer, seconded by Wm. R. W Townsend. Special mention was made of Mrs. Millar and her work as superintendent of the Sunday School. Action has been very successful.

Mr and Mrs. Miller will continue in the work till the end of June and after that date the services will be taken over by Mr. Clegg of Halkirk.

The Gadsby and Halkirk fields have been combined and will now be self supporting. This change has been made because of the lack of funds by the Mission Board of the United Church.

The meeting was attended by representatives from Prairie Grove, Ingleton and Gadsby Church

HALKIRK NEWS

The schools re-opened on Monday following the Easter vacation.

Mr and Mrs. Lloyd Pedder and children of Pamolina Valley, were visitors here on Good Friday, accompanied by Mrs Hennessy Dorothy and Miss May Desgardens. They went forward to Calgary where they on Saturday last.

The junior boys' and girls' choirs of Elim Sunday School were given an outing on Tuesday last during Easter vacation Two cars conveyed them to Rodney's mine, where they alighted and enjoyed a hike over the coulees

They were then taken into the mine and shown something of the workings of the mine. After which they returned to town via the new road from Gordon s mine round by Spruce Creek. It was a real and enjoyable holiday tour for the kiddies.

One of the signs of spring "Wet Paint" at the Chinaman's restaurant. Why not a clean-up, paint-up and paint-up campaign for the whole community? Could not the Board of Trade inaugurate such a campaign as part of the provincial movement to beautify the towns and villages?

Some cleaning, repairing of fences and gardening are some of the things on the Easter menu, for when he swallowed a quantity of Rawleigh's liniment. He was at once rushed to the hospital for treatment and is now quite recovered.

Paralysis

(Health Service of the Canadian Medical Association)

Paralysis appears to be a disorder of the muscle, but it is in reality a sensation-control disorder. The disorder of the nerves or nervous mechanism which control the muscles. The disorder of the nervous control causes either a rigidity of the muscles or a relaxed state, or another of these, complete or partial loss of control exists, and the muscles involved or the part served by the muscles is said to be paralyzed.

The disorder of the nervous control is caused by damage to the nervous tissue. If the spinal cord is injured, there is a loss of sensation below that point. The amount of touch, pain and temperature are lost because the connection which carries these sensations is from the skin is broken at the point of injury. Paralysis does not occur as the result of injection, the action of bacteria or living disease germs, by certain communicable diseases the spinal cord is selected for special attack. This is the case in infantile paralysis, in which disease, unfortunately, paralysis is one of the outstanding features. Injuries of the head may result in paralysis on account of the bone's pressing on nerve centres as the brain which control the muscles.

the brain means pressure, depending on the amount of blood which is poured into the brain. Apoplexy, or stroke, is the name given to the condition in which paralysis is of a greater or less extent occurs. This condition is commonly called apoplexy or paralytic stroke. The blood contained in the blood vessels is under pressure. If the wall of the blood vessel becomes weakened, it may give way under this pressure and hemorrhage result. The blood vessels of the brain are particularly delicate and that is why they give way first. The weakening of the blood vessel walls occurs as a result of disease particularly syphilis. In other cases, the break is not due to any particular weakening of the blood vessel walls, but to an increase in the blood pressure that causes the blood to burst through the vessel walls.

The extent of the relief which may be given depends upon the cause of the condition. Many forms of mental strain can be helped, some can be improved. For other, unfortunately, little or nothing can be done. Prevention is chiefly done through the control of infectious diseases and maintaining health, addressed to Canadian Medical Association, 184, College Street, Toronto, will be answered personally by letter

SPECIAL MEETING OF WAVERLY TAXPAYERS

A meeting of the ratepayers of Waverly will be held in Ben's Hall, Stettler, on Wednesday, April 30th, at 2 p.m. to hear the Auditor's report and to amend the by-laws for the standard rate of taxation, the subject of roads and road work, and any other business that may be brought before the meeting.

Those who were in favour of the by-laws and voted for them are urged to be present.

Dated at Petrolea and W Ben-ner, This 28 Stettler to Chairman of the meeting.

Chairman took the chair. He stated that the meeting was called together that they might hear the Auditor's report and amend the by-laws for the standard rate of taxation, the subject of roads and road work, and any other business that may be brought before the meeting.

Those who were in favour of the by-laws and voted for them were urged to be present.

POLICY—

Mr. Ainsworth said it was a pleasure to speak to the ratepayers in regard to the township policies. In the matter of roads the policy was to be completed by meetings of the ratepayers. Last year the policy was carried out and the roads were completed by the end of the old Hardisty Trail. The meeting in the present year was to decide what policy should be followed for dollar up to a certain amount each year. There was a petition presented to the council for a road to be made in the province of Alberta, and the council had to refuse the petition on account of the lack of funds. The council instituted a system of keeping roads, clearing out ditches and putting in culverts where needed. The council dealt with these matters in a business like manner and the ratepayers were pleased with the way the council carried on the business of the municipality. The council had also been successful in maintaining the roads in a good state of repair, which must be applied solely to the construction work. The two men who had been appointed as municipal districts could be all classed as roads and that the cost per acre not more than two. He mentioned that the Waverly district in 1927 entered into an arrangement with the government to build about 40 miles of provincial market roads under the dollar for dollar arrangement. The area within the town had not been entirely satisfactory. He felt that a legitimate effort had been made to get a program and he had approved the payment of $2,000 to the town for three years past. He added, however, that unless the work done each year could pass inspection the department could and did, in some cases, withhold payment of the grant in full. He mentioned certain districts, one of which had received a year, and from the accumulated tax money were sent on the petition of the ratepayers. Many market roads under this dollar for dollar arrangement. He was glad to say that he

"Hit the Deck"

Regular all tragedy are crowded by all Jones in "The Hitting Deck" in a musical comedy, which is said to be presented by Vincent Sher, and Jack and Thursday at the Stanley Theatre.

It is the is crowded as one of the most powerful emotional actors on the screen, and he is also a clever entertainer, as his work as a comedian, though his former work has been in dramatic roles, will be revealed in this picture. He is the terror of which he is capable.

In "Hit the Deck" he is first seen as a carefree, wise-cracking entertainer—a singing sailor in a New York cabaret—but eventually starts comes to him a tangle of love and romance, from which he nearly changes the course of his life. Everything which he has attained through years of striving is suddenly stripped from him, and even he loses his name and becomes an entertainer under a story of the sea.

Married to a never star who falls in love with another man, Jack Jones suffers intensely which includes the death of the child he loves, and his subsequent devotion to the dumping Pool runs the whole scale of human emotion.

Jolson's amazing gift for recognizing those who have the talent—and the will—to work hard, and his willingness to others, was demonstrated in his discovery of the twenty-year-old Dorsy Lee to play the part of Sonny Boy in "The Singing Fool." Miss Lee comes from among nearly two hundred applicants.

Sonny Boy and Al Jolson's mother are seen in the principal featured roles, and among the supporting players in the cast are Reed Brown, Arthur Housman, David Lee, Beth Laceyand Edward Dillon, who made the adaptation from a Leslie S. Barrows story. The production was directed by Lloyd Bacon.

The articles were made by Mrs. Judd for a sewing machine owner, and a special prize was awarded to Mrs. Hinkin. Mrs. Van Bloeck for a luncheon set. The judges were Mrs. Cowles and Mrs. Jones and the U.F.W.A. think it should all who made the quilt a success.

A meeting of the Executive of the Stettler Curling Club was held in Dr. Assmer's office on Monday evening, when matters dealing with the annual business meeting on May 20th and 21st were taken up. The annual tournament is promising to be one of the major tournaments for the towns of Alberta, and it is the first one that is held each year. The officials decided to make a change of $2.00 for each entry in the tournament, whether members of the local club or visitors, while the entry fee for ladies will be $1.00. It was also decided not to make any canvas for prizes but to buy them outright, as it was felt that the entry fees, along with cash donations, will be sufficient to pay for the prizes. W Dunlop is the convener of the tournamental association with C L Wills and W F White as the other members.

BYEMOOR NEWS

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. John Christensen returned home from Stettler Municipal Hospital on Wednesday last and is getting along nicely. Miss H Montgomery is staying with her for the present.

Miss M. Todd, teacher of Rosemary School, spent the holidays spending the Stetler holidays at her home in Stettler re-opened school last Monday.

Mr. Henry Wahlberg, of Endiang, has rented the dining room of the hotel here, and will be ready to serve meals in the near future.

Mr. Ernest Ide, aged the child of Mrs. Duval, an old-time resident of Stettler, who passed away in the General Hospital, at the age of seventy years.

Mrs. Duval was one of Stettler's pioneers, being the first management of the Stettler Hospital. She will be remembered in the minds of many of the early settlers, as old country immigrants who settled in the Stettler district over twenty years ago. She resided with her son Robert County of Long Lake for a number of years, and remained by her residence with her youngest daughter in Delia. Mrs Duval was well known in the Stettler district and leaves many friends to mourn her loss.

The sympathy of the district is extended to her two sons and two daughters who survive her. The remains were laid to rest in Calgary, on Monday afternoon, the funeral Rehorst, who has been attending the Teachers' Convention in Calgary, returned home on Sunday. Mr and Mrs. W Rehorst, of Edgerton, are receiving congratulations on the birth of their friends at their home last Sunday.

Mr and Mrs. Babb and their daughter Rita, were visitors at Mr and Mrs. J. Summers's last week.

We are pleased to hear that Mrs. Summers is nursing is now in full swing, and Mr Strange has also a class of opening engagements to fill after spending a fortnight in the details of the auctioneer are given in the Penn notes.

The 110th Anniversary Services of the Stettler I.O.O.F and Rebekah Lodges will be held in the I.O.O.F Hall on Sunday, May 4th at 3 o'clock. Rev George Hutchinson will conduct the services.

Bobs baseball team will play the Stettler team at the local diamond on Friday, May 16th, and a dance will be given under the auspices of the local club after the game The club is starting with little cash in the treasury and it is hoped that the advance game with Bobs and the dance following will give the necessary amount of war for the season. Mr Lowndes the Coach-in will function at the dance.

The annual Clean-up Campaign is now in order and the blind committee have been selected in all sections of the town. The posted from May 1st to May 10th we will be ready for the clean-up and householders are already getting busy on the work. After May 10th all premises not cleaned up will be reported to the Town Council for action.

The cast of "Miss Somebody Else" had an unusual experience after the show at Big Valley on Wednesday night or Thursday morning when the bus carrying them got stuck in their cars into the ditch and a number of them were held up near Penn from one o'clock to five This has not happened for some time on district roads, and it is hoped that the occurrence will be frequent all summer. Although not with the people.

Looking In On Parliament

By Ian A. Jones
Member Peregrine

After a little more than six months of hectic parliamentary life in Ottawa and seven the politicians have departed from Ontario and are now basking in the sunshine of the Canadian Riviera, which, considered from a climatic point of view, is a delightful spot, but considered from Agriculture, well!

That it will be a contest of rest for them is not in certain. Though there is, of course, nothing like the promise of an official announcement in connection with the date of the election seems definitely in prospect, and members of all parties, during the recent Easter holiday recess duty duties may be deposited upon to spend a great part of their time in preparing political lessons and assuming ready for what will undoubtedly be a hectic few weeks of campaigning.

As to when it will come there is considerable doubt among the pundits, but in fact the fact that the Imperial Conference and the Commonwealth Parliamentary Conference open in London, the latter part of September, one would be safe in assuming that the election would be held in the latter part of August.

It But Canada is not the only country interested at these Imperial gatherings, and an election campaign with the Premier and several Ministers out of the Cabinet abroad is, of course, out of the question. It is the general desire that the general election will come before September—probably the latter part of August.

But the end of the session is by no means yet in sight. There are many important matters which are pending. Those who saw the Prime Minister in action in the House of Commons ages when presenting the House recently will realize that he is very much in earnest, and if any formidable opposition had developed against the floor tax in the session what might have happened Mr. Diefenbaker's budget will be brought down, it is expected, during the week following the Easter recess, and could conceivably be brought through in a favorable reaction to the budget proposals would be necessary to it to develop in the House. The Premier may bring a boom dissolution but let the session rather than Parliament decide the time. However this is all speculation, and today, as regards the date of the election, one man's guess is really as good as anyone's. The large number of Liberal constituencies lacking candidates, but, it, however, ample warning that a contest is in the offing.

The issues? Plenty of 'em. Foremost, it is expected, will be the tariff, and the opposition may be depended upon to make the most of the abandonment of the policy of the drastic upward revision of the United States tariff, which hit Canada in several vital spots. What the government will propose in the budget to offset the adverse attitude of the United States of course, remains to be seen, but it may safely be assumed that there will be some changes calculated to bring about an increase in inter-Empire trade and also to open up other channels for the sale of Canada's products. Whether there will be any retaliatory measure towards our southern neighbor is another matter. There are many on the opposition benches who feel that we should not "take it lying down," and that towards the Russian tariff matters we should follow an "eye for an eye and a tooth for a tooth" policy. Identity of the adverse balance of trade against us with the American nation at present, and the fact that for years past Canada, living next door has been One's Sam's best customer.

On the other hand, the majority of members on the government side are more moderate in their views on this matter and feel that if we can find other outlets for our products nations, and manufactured the working out of the new United States tariff will, need it a short time bring to the people of that country a realization that by treaties at Washington a repealing them and policy system. Indicate improvement through various channels now shortly whereby v... force the United States Senate a... the face of what are regarding as... Canadian Minister, at least, the trade barriers against Canada

However the tariff question is one to which the principles of no party can be pledged in advance. Each item in the budget will have to be considered on its merits, and the government will be guided in framing it by the views of the majority of the House.

The Australian and New Zealand trade pacts which the government has made with those countries during the past session will also enter into the discussion of the budget.

The government has been criticized from time to time during the session for not having a definite policy in regard to the development of the natural resources of the country. It is understood that the government will be the matter of development of the natural resources of the country will be the subject of a resolution to be introduced by Hon. Walter Harris, Minister of Citizenship and Immigration, and that the matter will be discussed by many hon. members. The question of Conservative conference will be discussed by the Premier, and will be put forward as the policy of the party if the government is returned to power. The question of the building of the Mackenzie Valley railway will also be discussed by the Premier. The opposition on the other hand maintains that it is at least partially responsible for the present financial difficulties and should be given to... Mr. Diefenbaker has made definite... on this matter the government... was confirmed by a majority of 10.

In the event of a general election the question of the holding of the Imperial Conference in Canada will be left entirely to the provinces. The opposition to go to the people with a demand for federal aid in connection with the conference, but, though supported by all but 11 members of the House, it has not been adopted by many hon. members of the majority of Conservative conference would be held in Canada, and would be left entirely to the provinces. Mr. Diefenbaker has made definite... on this matter the government... was confirmed by a majority of 10.

In the event of a general election the question of the holding of the Imperial Conference in Canada will be left entirely to the provinces. The opposition to go to the people with a demand for federal aid in connection with the conference, but, though supported by all but 11 members of the House, it has not been adopted by many hon. members of the majority of Conservative conference would be held in Canada, and would be left entirely to the provinces. The opposition on the other hand maintains that it is at least partially responsible for the present financial difficulties and should be given to... Mr. Diefenbaker has made definite... on this matter the government... was confirmed by a majority of 10.

MARKETS

WINNIPEG GRAIN EXCHANGE

Thursday, April 24th, 1958.

CATTLE

Cattle — The demand for the good choice cattle at Calgary during the past week has been fairly active, while otherwise continues to be very light. The undertone of the market is steady to strong, but slightly higher. Choice heavy steers sold from $30.00 to $32.00, choice light $29.00 to $30.00 with a few going as high as $31; good $27.00 to $29; common $25.00 to $27.00. Choice heifers sold from $28.00 to $29.00, choice light $27.00 to $28.00, good $25.00 to $27.00, common $23.00 to $25.00. Choice cows sold from $23.00 to $24.00, good one cow made as high as $22.00, good kinds $21.00 to $22.00, medium $20.00 to $21.00, common $18.00 to $20.00, canners and cutters $16.00 to $18.00. Choice bulls sold from $25.00 to $26.00, good $23.00 to $25.00, medium $21.00 to $23.00, common $19.00 to $21.00, stock bulls $20.00 to $23.00.

HOGS — Due to light receipts the hog situation market has found the demand much stronger during the past week and prices higher. Choice hogs sold from $24.50 to $25.00, heavy hogs from $24.25 up. Good demand prevailed for sows, with the prices steady at $11 to $13 for the choicest and common kinds $9 to $9. STOCK-ERS and FEEDERS—Choice feeder steers $6.50 to $8.75. Choice stockers from $6 to $7.25. Stock heifers from $5.50 to $6.50. Stock cows from $5 to $5.75.

SHEEP

Calgary hog market jumped $1.50 this week, with Wednesday's sales at $23.25 for lambs. Select went at $22.75 with butcher hogs at $21 - $22. Sows at $17 - $18.

Edmonton hogs made $11.65 to $12.50 for lambs. Select went at $12.25 to $12.50. Sows at $8 to $9 with heavies per cwt. on sale.

Sheep market at Calgary was steady this week while receipts were very light. The butcher lambs sold at $27.50 . . . purchase from $26 at $26 . . . sold . . . from $6 to $6.

GRAIN

Fixmores at Liverpool and an improved export demand caused the grain markets to advance sharply, showing a gain of over 1 cent on Wednesday's session. Reports that one and a half million bushels of American durum had been worked over and sold to Europe did not help late in the session. Export business in Manitoba was confined to approximately 600,000 bushels.

WINNIPEG — OATS — BARLEY — RYE

OATS — Prices reported on Thursday's trade this week making the following quotations read as follows: No. 2 CW, 1 Feed grade No 2 Ex. First, No 2 Ex; second grade No 2 Ex; CHEAPER

BARLEY — Alberta prices are down 2½ this week with No 1 carlots No. 3 carlots No. 2, No. 1 prairie No and No 2 prairie No. Slight surplus of barley in province DAIRY BUTTER — This market easier with demand only moderate. BUTTER — Prices are unchanged, supply is showing considerable increase.

POULTRY — Grain

POULTRY — Grains now arriving on the market consist mainly of old hens. Retail demand is slow, with storage costs taking care of all trade business reported. Limited receipts are handled this week. Demand only moderate. Few changes in prices noted to customers. This week's quotations are: Grains: Hens 2½ and over 23c; Hens 2½ and under — Cocks — Geese — Ducks — Turkeys — Eggs

HAY — Demand on market is poor and as fair. Trade is not very active now that spring work has commenced. Upland hay quoted at from $12 to $13, shipping points with from $10 to $12 per ton. The Calgary hay market is showing more activity; receipts are large, while demand is fair. Prices are steady to strong, with offerings limited.

SEED

Market quiet on flax and demand is only moderate. There is some improvement for some time. Feeding or bins feeding lots of demand. Quality of arrivals from country points is fair, but good cities are not reported until June.

FOOD

Bulk of fare finding very little demand; most of them are spring. Mustard and brewer only poked pods being caught at present, and there are not offered on the open market.

FARM NEWS

TREATMENT FOR COUCH GRASS

During the last few years many outbreaks of smothering couch grass have been reported. Most of these have been in corn, some of which are suited only to particular soils or conditions. The general principles involved in each case are the same, namely smothering or starving and dragging out.

Before starting either method the land should be thoroughly cleaned as much as possible. This can be done by cutting as soon as headed possible about three inches above the ground, cutting in September or by plowing shortly thereafter, leave it in the fall and leaving the rough furrows. Plowing in the summer and heat-setting has proven successful on a cause of killing bonny grass at the Dominion Experimental Station, Swathern, and will kill out much of the couch grass.

In smothering or starving all growth above the surface of the soil must be kept down by the use of one means. The method is best suited for small patches. Covering should start as soon as the frozen ground has thawed in the spring and continue until all roots have been exposed in early infested fields at least once per week. In order to kill the roots by raking and hauling off or spreading down after they have been exposed long enough to be killed Cultivation — one must be sure that all plants have not been killed.

It is well to follow such treatment with a crop of fall rye if the cultivation is commenced early enough or with a thick sowing of barley or oats after plowing the following spring.

CEREAL DUTY—DETTOSOL
DE-ETTERIN

Investigations carried on by the Dominion Entomological Laboratory of Winnipeg, in co-operation with the Dominion Laboratory of Plant Pathology, Saskatoon, have shown that rust is spread in Western Canada by means of spores carried by the wind and that these spores are found to a height of a mile or more overhead. Moreover, there is very convincing evidence that the annual infections in Alberta appear in Western Canada arise from spores that have been carried in by the winds from rust-infected areas further south. Obviously then it is impossible to build any barrier or impose any quarantine measure for their exclusion. There are, however, certain practices of the cultivating rust, and the Dominion Rust Research Laboratory of Experimental Farms Branch, has done a good deal of work on both. One of these is by applying some toxic substance to the plants which will adhere to them for a considerable length of time, so that, when the rust spores alights on plants and germinate, they come into contact with the substance and are killed. Finely powdered sulphur has been found to give very effective control. The cost of the treatment is between $4 and $5 per acre. Quite satisfactory hand-dusters are available for treating small-sized plots and several manufacturers have made commercial progress in developing a type of machine suitable for large acreage. The other method is by smothering rust-infected plants with a moderately dampened vitriola, or other cereal. By the plant-breeding method, it has been possible to transfer a high degree of resistance advancing practically to immunity to a number of very penetrating strains of wheat. In making hybridization all of these are equal to Marquis and several of them are superior. Breeding for rust resistance is said to progressing, and the prospects of developing strains of note highly resistant to the most destructive strains of stem and leaf rust are hopeful. On the other hand, any variety may be lost or busted, and any variety has been found which possesses any marked resistance to the most prevalent strains of rust. It is not safe to generalize to remind that rust resistance is higher during dry years than in wet years, and the wet dry years generally favor the development of rust. For the first time in history, this year, the Dominion Government is making a commercial grant . . . Further Reading.

GARDENING AND FLOWERS

The best time to plant all shrubs, hardy, frost and ornamental trees, roses, vines, evergreens, hedges, etc., is in the early Spring, as soon as the ground is in condition to dig. Choose the soil here the roots but over from the Winter and let the hot day soak overnight. Dig deep and mix plenty of manure well the time I planted earlier I would prepare the holes in the fall and prepare the soil for the time if the ground is not prepared for planting on account of the manure being frozen. Dig a hole large enough so that the roots may be spread out, plant a little deeper than they were before, fill in with water and fill the first time.

Saturday night lifted, to life and Mrs. W. H. Smethurst, a son.

Dr. and Mrs. Chown were guests of honor at a banquet party held at the LOOF hall on Wednesday evening, April 23rd.

Programmes which introduced a pleasant social atmosphere during the earlier hours of the evening, when tables being required to accommodate the large number who attended Honors at cards were won by Mrs. A. W. Shand and Tim Everett, prizes being presented by Mr. A. Smethurst. Mr. and Mrs. Rose-Bell accompanied by Mrs. Chown sang two vocal numbers, after which Mr. Smethurst young referred to the object of the meeting and called upon Mr. Shand to say a few words. In presenting an ebonite standing lamp with shade to Mr. Shand expressed the best wishes of the community and hoped the usual token of esteem would be a constant reminder of friendships

Dr. Chown, activity in sports, presented a delightful lunch evening was indulged in.

Mrs. A. F. Pettigrew is visiting a brief visit to Leduc.

Spring work has commenced during the past week, and from all indications, there should be a very healthy financial year in Stettler.

Tenders and Bond Buildings may be the subject of an interesting address delivered by Mr. R. Alexander, Government road engineer, to a large gathering of Wetaskiwin municipal ratepayers in Dow's Hall on Wednesday evening, April 23rd.

Mr. Alexander gave a comprehensive survey of road building events from the year 1905 when he was placed in charge of road construction in the southern part of the province, and outlined in detail the progress made in the twenty-seven intervening years now under his jurisdiction. At the conclusion of the address the meeting was thrown open for questions and comment, a considerable discussion took place

Mr. Albert Hamilton was chairman of the meeting, and Mr. Oliver Marshall at the Secretary's desk.

Councillors of Waverly Municipality have decided to dispose of the grader now on hand and appropriations have been authorized for roadwork, same to be done by contract at as much per hour

The Eckert Winnie's League of Stettler will present "Miss Somebody Else" on Friday evening, May 2nd, under the auspices of the I.O.O.F Dance after the show. Mervell's Orchestra.

ERSKINE NESW

"Miss Somebody Else," a comedy in four acts, was played here on Friday evening, May 2nd, under the joint auspices of the Catholic Women's League and the I.O.O.F. to an appreciative audience. The manner in which the various members of the cast portrayed their parts reflected painstaking preparation and at no time during the progress of the play were dull moments experienced.

The players were severely handicapped by the smallness of the stage which, no doubt, accounted for the unusual delay between acts. During these periods Mr Hunt contributed pleasing vocal numbers.

Following the play the cast were entertained to lunch in Welch's Hall.

Mitchell's Orchestra, of Nevis, supplied the music for the dance, which continued until the early hours.

Mrs. Brockhart, who has been in a rather serious condition of health, is reported making favorable progress.

Mr and Mrs Scotland motored to Calgary last Sunday and returned home on Tuesday They were accompanied by W Woodward.

Rev. Smith is convalescing.

Three carloads of fans motored to Edmonton last Saturday to witness the basket ball game between the Commercial Grads and Chicago Taylor Trunks, and further extended motored up on Monday to see the final game. Good weather and roads combined to make the outings pleasant and all returned safely. A tave on the home hops the gang from going to sleep. Everyone reports a very pleasant time.

Harold Brockhart is recovering very rapidly from the effects of the recent injury to his eyes which necessitated hospital attendance.

Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Mike Kerben of Big Valley, who passed through the sad but trouning experience of losing two little children within twenty-four hours as a result of pneumonia. Stricken down suddenly and despite prompt medical attention and nursing aid, a bright little girl of two passed away on Saturday, May 3rd. The following afternoon, baby boy, 12 months, was also taken. The funeral service was held at the Big Valley United Church on Monday, and interment took place in the Erskine Cemetery.

Mrs. Kerben was formerly Miss Alma Clark, daughter of Mr. Mrs. Wm. Clark of Erskine.

Conservative Meeting

Mayor H A Blair of Stettler was the unanimous choice of the delegates at a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Stettler and District Conservative Association, held in Stettler, Wednesday, May 7th, called for the purpose of nominating a candidate for the Legislature for the Provincial Election June 18th next.

Dr Clive Staples opened the meeting and J W. Fletcher of Scotford was the choice of the delegates for Chairman, filling his duties in a very capable manner.

Mayor Blair in his remarks after the selection had been made, thanked the delegates for nomination and stated he would work from now until the polls closed, and was pleased that at this election he would be backed up by a strong organization.

The following spoke in favor of the candidate promising their hearty unstinted support:—

A. L. Pearce, G. H. Pettit, A. E. Hardy, H. M. Scott, Dave Olive, F. T. Colley, W. W. Barr, Harry Lyon and J.W Fletcher.

The meeting will be held throughout the Constituency as soon as arrangements can be made.

Hackett News

Seeding is progressing nicely in this district, almost all the farmers have their wheat sowed.

Mrs. John Tait of Turner Valley is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Keast of Hackett.

Mrs. C. Keast arrived home on Sunday last from Mar. She and her baby daughter are much better.

A two-hour play followed by a dance and supper was given at the Model school house, Friday evening of last week, May 2nd, by the Hackett Girls' Ball Club. The play was put on in order to secure funds for the purchase of equipment for the club.

The girls were very ably and kindly assisted by some of the men of the neighborhood. The young people put in a lot of hard work on the play and had a lot of credit coming to them, but were disappointed in the proceeds of the evening, as some of prominent men of Hackett interviewed and indicated the young people make a charge of 25 cents for the dance in the evening, and consequently they did not secure enough for new uniforms, as planned.

The above comedy in four acts, was staged in Stettler Theatre on Tuesday evening, May 6th, under the auspices of the C. W. L. The theatre was filled to capacity, and even the aisles being used to accommodate large numbers of people present. The play was an enjoyable one and all the cast was to suit, as that the comedy was followed with much interest by the large audience.

The play opens with Mrs. Anne Dobson (represented by Mrs. Mary McIlhone) who is conducting a rest down establishment, known as the Tuxedocrat Clubhouse, and who supports a scientist husband (C. E. Morton) who thinks of nothing but dancerous cocoa, a medical preparation for delicate children. Mrs. Dobson also supports a frivolous daughter Mildred (Miss Margaret McIlhone) whose one thought is clothes good times, hence the establishment boasts of a melancholy maid Susan Blazer (Mrs. Douglas) her whose wellknee lies in the direction of funerals and undertakers Richards. In the engine rooms of colossal liners . . . and of cargo carriers . . . where the matter of lubrication is vital, there is marked respect for the full-body and unvarying purity of Texaco.

In the dry and on land, the same is equally true. The more exacting the lubrication service the more readily is Texaco accepted. There is only one answer to this:—exceptional quality!

Millions of motorists now are alert for the Red Star and Green T. Reasons from practical experience they know that Texaco Golden Motor Oil and the New and Better Texaco Gasoline exert a wholesome influence upon their motoring pleasure—and their cost-per-mile. You will find this true, yourself!

Round the Country

There is very little election news at present. In fact, the announcement of election on June 16th has caused hardly a ripple in political circles in town and country. The Conservatives are holding their convention on Wednesday evening (this is written Tuesday) but it is perhaps unnecessary to state that a nomination is quite different from an election.

The Liberals meet Thursday afternoon to talk things over. It is not likely they will announce a candidate at this early stage of the game, but they will make a preliminary survey of the situation and draw up plans for the future. The new leader, Mr. McDonald, has intimated that he can give this constituency a date during the present month.

The U.F.A. are holding their convention on May 20th. This seems late in the day, but they know their own business best. Mr. Reader, the present member, has a good chance for the nomination as any opposition he will encounter will simply be split up. His name will go before the convention and three or four other men are mentioned as aspirants, as well as Mrs. Price.

The above brief summary of the situation does not indicate that there is any rush and clamor on the part of any of the political parties to get into the game. In fact, the situation is like a stagnant pool, with only a slight breeze to agitate its surface. No one particularly wants an election and no valid reason has been given why an election is being held before next year. Of course the administration of the Natural Resources is given as the reason for the present appeal to the electors. But the government has a sufficient majority and a new department could be created without an election. Premier Brownlee stated this week that he expected that about the same number of representatives would be elected for the government in June, as he has now. Personally, we think that this estimate is about correct, and in that case why have an election to discover it? If the Premier insists that the "Power" department could be created without an election,

Wedding Bells

Wednesday, May 1st, 1929.

A pretty wedding took place at the Methodist parsonage, Stettler, on Wednesday, May 1st, when Rev. Mr. Hall united in marriage Miss Ethel Mary Hall, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hall, Stettler, and Mr. Ernest Edward Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hall, Stettler. The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Ruth Hall, and the groom by his brother, Mr. Thomas Hall. The bride was given away by her father. The bride looked very charming in a dress of white crepe de chine with veil and orange blossoms and carried a bouquet of white roses and carnations. Miss Ruth Hall wore a dress of rose crepe de chine and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, when a number of friends were present to offer congratulations. Mr. and Mrs. Hall left on the afternoon train for Edmonton, where they will spend their honeymoon. The bride's going away dress was of navy blue crepe de chine with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Hall will reside in Stettler.

Women U. F. W. A.

The April meeting of the Women U.F.W.A. which met at the home of Mrs. Madison and at which there were twenty ladies present, was also a meeting of unusual interest. For two months the members had looked forward to having Mrs. Rodenstein's recent accident, appointed to the Swiss National Congress, and her interesting talk of the customs of her home land gave great pleasure to her listeners.

A very fine paper on horticulture was also read by Mrs. Dafoe, and a vote of thanks was tendered to these ladies for their worthwhile contributions to the program of the afternoon.

The contest prize was won by Mrs. Townsend of Stettler.

A delicious tea, served by the hostess and Mrs. Harley Gunter brought to a close a most enjoyable meeting.

The May meeting will be held at Mrs. Dafoe's home, and will be a Mothers' Day Program. Miss Rowe will give a paper on "Persons Commemorated by Flowers" and Mrs. Lambert will have the care of the social hour.

Under the Field Crops Branch

Under the Field Crops Branch the Province has been divided into Districts, Inspectors, in each of these districts a Field Supervisor will be stationed. His duties will be in connection with Weed Inspectors appointed by Municipal Councils, and in Local Improvement Districts, in general Weed control work and the enforcement of The Noxious Weed Act.

Because of the Provincial Government's interest in the control of the pests of these men. Their office will be at Edmonton.

PERSONAL EXAMINATION WORLD'S BEST LOVER

In the Province of Ontario one person out of every three dies ahead of his time. And at that, Ontario is no worse in this regard than the other provinces of Canada. Better in fact than some of them.

Professor Winslow of the Yale University, states that 50 per cent. of all deaths in the United States Registration Area could be postponed. An analysis of Ontario statistics shows that in this province 36 per cent. of all deaths could be postponed. And these statistics are official and the analysis is that of competent health officials.

Its shocking to weak minds the news, showing that every third person you meet has death beckoning affectionately over his shoulder. Such warnings would not be permitted in industry. What concerns this gigantic wastage of human life? The reason is just plain, human stock-headedness.

If one person in every three was killed ahead of his time in a railway crossing accident, such a public hue and cry would go up that within a year, grade-crossings would be eliminated regardless of expense. But on our one-out-of-three loss is not so dramatic as that. It is brought about by the stealthy ravages of disease, and therefore is not noticed. For people have never yet learned that many of the diseases that kill their children, their husbands and wives and friends, could be prevented.

An immense amount of sickness and consequent misery could be eliminated if people could be induced to get thoroughly examined regularly, by their physicians. There is an enormous amount of incipient diseases of many types, which, being neglected, in the early stages, result in serious disability, necessitating hospital care and often in death.

One of our leading public health authorities says: "Sickness costs Canada over $911,000,000 annually. The loss of future earnings through premature death is conservatively estimated at one billion dollars a year."

Diphtheria kills 1,500 Canadians every year, while 12,000 other Canadians suffer from this disease but recover.

Yet science offers you a toxoid treatment to make you and your children immune to diphtheria. This disease is a frightful childslayer. Have you taken advantage of toxoid to protect your children, or may they be among the victims 12,000 during the next 12 months—or possibly among the victims of the state medicine in a in Canada in 1927. Yet typhoid fever is absolutely preventable by means within the reach of everyone.

Tuberculosis—8,000 people died of tuberculosis during 1927. Yet we have cut the death rate from this scourge in half, during the past 20 years, and we can shortly eliminate it with adequate health machinery.

Cancer—Early treatment (which is assured to anyone taking the trouble to undergo an annual or semi-annual physical examination) guarantees success in curing cancer in many cases.

Venereal Diseases—The organized and concerted attack that this country is making upon venereal diseases is an utterly convincing proof of the progress that can be made in disease-control when all forces of the state combine in a

The boys' club of Girls' Ball team went to Stettler on Saturday and played the Stettler team.

The boys' luck continued to hold as they won out again, the score being 4 to 0 in Botha's favor. This is the third game they have played this spring and it was also their third victory.

There was misunderstanding as to the time the girls' game was to be played and the Botha girls missed two hours. When the game finally started it was no lady ball. Innings were played. The score was 19 to 6 in Botha's favor.

Botha News

Wheat fields are getting green and a good rain would start things in great shape. While the longlooked for rain has missed us it continues to reach other places and is gradually getting closer. It rained Richard last Friday. Water holes are again going dry and farmers are beginning to wait not be long delayed.

Special Mothers' Day services were held in Botha on Sunday at both Sunday School and church services. The Sunday School Superintendent Mr. Jas. Gibson was assisted by several scholars and Miss Ruth Hollinshead, who gave a splendid reading. A pageant by several members was beautifully given and was greatly enjoyed.

Mr Murray's solo was a feature of the church service and Rev. Goddard's sermon was an inspiration to all who heard it.

The pulpit was surrounded with potted plants and these, together with carnations purchased by the Sunday School in honor of the day, made a wonderful display. A large congregation was present and the Board of Officers were encouraged to hope that many more will make it a habit to be present for worship.

Mr. Gibson, on behalf of the Sunday School, gave each Mother present a fragrant carnation.

Special services were also held at Semih on Sunday. Mothers' Day was finally observed and the Baptismal Service was also held. ten were baptized.

The suggestion has been made that when the change in service is made at Baptism at the end of June, that service be held there and at Botha on alternate Sundays. The community would then have preaching every Sunday. We are giving the suggestion for what it is worth, but think such an arrangement is possible if it is really desired.

This district was saddened by the death, of Mr. Roy Snyder, which occurred on Tuesday evening. May 6th While he had been ailing for months, no one realized he was in such a serious condition or that the end was so near.

Roy came to this country in his youth and took a homestead. He gained himself all the hardships and privations of pioneering days and has always been known as a man who did not spare himself when there was work to be done.

For many years he was ——— for the Semih baseball team. Other players came and went but Roy was always there and in the same place until advancing years forced him to give up playing. He has played in every town for miles around and consequently was well known. He early death at the age of 47 years is deeply regretted.

He was united in marriage to Miss Edith Hankins and four children were born to them. The eldest daughter pre-deceased him a number of years ago.

Funeral services were held in the Hall last Thursday afternoon. The building was filled to capacity many being unable to get in. The casket was covered with flowers, which were beautiful.

Rev. Goddard conducted the services. The pall bearers were T. A. Cunningham, Jos. Shrosbree, Roy Shrosbree, Frank Hollinshead, Louis

TENNIS TOOTS

Spring is here, so now we can look for out-doors to see if they will do us for another year. The Courts are in excellent shape, owing to the attention of Herb Jaques, who has completely overhauled them, and are now ready for the local talent to improve itself.

The Club is open for fifty members here, and fees may be paid to Miss Pat O'Brien or Bob Hamilton.

The coming season promises to be very interesting owing to the competitions and tournaments which are to be held.

Rivalry is very keen between some of the members who are taking full advantage and filling in all their spare time at practice in order to make themselves eligible to enter the tournaments. Judging from form shown recently we should have a very fair chance to capture the honors this year.

We hope to have a large membership, to enable us to have nets, Courts, and improvements in general.

TO PROTECT CLOVER

Driving clovers are bulky and hard to carry around. The result is that they are very easy to lose. It adds definitely to the expense of winter watering. The ideal place also for these valuable seeds is the leave their gloves in the car, especially if it is a closed model which is easily locked.

Golf Notes

NOTES

The 4th annual tournament will be held on May 24th and 25th. Bowlers are requested to fill the surrounding towns. It would be the biggest tournament yet held in Central Alberta. All local members are invited to take part, the entry fee being two dollars. Ladies one dollar.

Melhow played a 36 with a 7 on the 7th hole on Monday night. Why he made a screw he does not explain. Like Bobby Jones, he refuses to talk. The following is his score:

—4 4 3 4 3 7 6 4 —36.

After the Bashaw games the local players took their guests to the Regional Hotel where the Host, Ed. McCue served a full course dinner. Some of the players went out to the course again in the evening

The prizes for the annual Victoria Day Tournament are on display in the Palace Pharmacy window.

Stettler Women's Institute

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute in the I.O.O.F. Hall on Tuesday evening, May 13th, at 8 p.m. was well attended.

After the business was transacted which included a paper on Consolidation by Mrs. Raibe, members and friends then enjoyed a musical program.

Misses Alice and Ethel Hailes, vocalists and pianist selections, which were beautifully rendered and very heartily encored. Miss Colene Dent gave a recitation entitled "Discontent." Mrs. Bayerolt kindly favored with a solo "Mother Machree" accompanied by Mrs. Brennan. A sketch concluded the program entitled:

"Advertising for a Companion."

An Elderly Wealthy Spinster, Mrs. William McTheraat.

Dainty Woman, Mrs. D Forth

The Other Woman, Mrs. W. Todd.

The Irish Woman, Mrs. H. Wothington.

The three women who applied for the position of companionship caused much laughter Each one something her capabilities to be engaged as companion to the elderly lady spinster calling for help from her male friends, named the three applicants, who then departed hurriedly. The four members delighted an appreciative audience.

Refreshments were served

Mrs. W. Rodwell will be the delegate to the annual convention of the W. I. to be held in Calgary next week.

W.C.T.U. Convention Held In Clive

The second convention of the Stettler District W.C.T.U. was held in Clive on May 8th and 9th. The meetings were well attended by the district officers, delegates, members and ministers of various churches.

Mrs L. McKinney was present to ——— the district. Mrs. Gerrard, Calgary, was present to ——— and gave a splendid paper on the work of the Young People's Branch.

The reports from the local unions were encouraging and especially so from the Consort district The Treasurer's report showed a good balance with which to start the second year.

Our Round Table Conference and the Symposium 'Our Educational Work' brought on face to face with our obligations to the Young People and showed us the Educational Value of the W.C.T.U program.

There were two contests held, an Oratorical and Impromptu. In the Oratorical contest, put on by six contestants from Clive, Emma Maghusen won first prize, a bronze medal In the musical contest, Arthur Rose of Content, carried off first. The Clive Union presented the playlet "What Mrs. Do said Mrs Dolagi Do Did." The musical numbers at the different sessions were much appreciated and showed the talent in our district.

At a most enjoyable banquet given by, the Clive Union, addresses of welcome were brought from the different organizations of the district from Clive, while other speakers from Stettler, Consort and Content, "Canada, yesterday ,today and tomorrow." We were also glad to be heartily encouraged to know we were willing to stand back of the Temperance Cause.

The following officers were appointed:—

District President, Mrs. Dustin of Stettler

Vice-President, Mrs. Holmes, of Consort.

Corresponding Secretary, Mrs J McRae of Erskine

Recording Secretary, Mrs. M View of Donalda

Treasurer, Mrs. Coote of Clive

A Sour Stomach

In the same time it takes a dose of soda to bring a little temporary relief of gas and sour stomach, Phillips Milk of Magnesia gives positive relief. Nothing else in the world is so quick, so safe, so thoroughly effective. Because this pure white liquid is the best form of relief you will ever want to worry about your diet and experience a new freedom in eating.

This pleasant preparation is just as good for children, too. Use it for any upset tongue or bad breath that may be a symptom. Physicians all over the country prescribe Phillips Milk of Magnesia, so you may know that it is safe to use. For the genuine, the name Phillips is important. Imitations do not act the same.

Occupation—None

On the authority of the greatest of all government statisticians—the Census Bureau—we have announced that the housewifeers of the Nation are women without occupation. You may cook, you may sew, you may scrub, you may dust, you may wash the dishes and care for the babies and tend the fires, you may shop at the markets and argue with the butcher—even though your work lasts never done, still you have no job. The Census says so.

Now, in the census, the legislature, the authority who determines—all those persons who recognize as duly recorded by Census is "none."

In the Census of 1930, more than thirty-three million of the United's lusty-two million voters had years of age and over" and were duly assigned positions. But a scanty few million of these were housewifeers. Of course, they were duly numbered among the married women and given a percentage. Women who work for wages outside the home are duly numbered among the gainfully employed. But a scanty few million of all the women in the United States are listed as "occupied."

In two years the Government will once again enter upon the gigantic task of enumerating our population. Preparations are already under way, for it is no slight undertaking to count one hundred and twenty million of us, and to gather statistics to show where we live and what we do, the kind of homes we dwell in and the number of beds, cows and dogs and pigs and children and motor cars we own.

We are made tremendously important in the eyes of the Census Bureau. Our every habit is recorded, our every movement, our every thought. Even our sins are numbered, and we are listed as to how many of each we commit.

But we want to know, of course, how many housewifeers there are in the United States. Because we have a right to know. Because we have a right to be proud of them and of their work. Because we have a right to have them counted among the gainfully employed.

Therefore, when the Census Clerk of 1933 does his rounds, we want to be sure that he finds no housewifeers. Of course the title seems to pass, but we want to be sure that it does not pass over our own door.

Round the Country

Mr. Mitchell, the new Liberal leader in the House of Commons, will be 57 years old on Friday, May 19th, and will address a meeting here in the evening. A concert, too, will be held in the afternoon, and a sandwich will probably be chosen if the delegates can get the kind of a man they want. A Liberal convention is meant to make the best candidate in the community is agricultural, and we believe that the urban part of the population would be quite satisfied to have a rural representative for a while longer at least.

The U.F.A. convention will be held on May 30th. That convention could do worse than nominate the present member, Mr. Sanders is not brilliant but he has been fairly active with constituency business, and has improved consistently during the past four years. He is getting away from the idea that the whole world revolves around U.F.A. Lands in other words he is broadening out and is not so standoffished as he used to be.

The provincial government will likely be content with about the usual majority. What there will be a stronger opposition, the strength of the two old line parties will come chiefly from the cities. This means that the opposition will consist of the city element and the government of the country element. This can't go on indefinitely. There is bound to be a break in the government ranks sometime. Then, probably in constituencies that have large towns and villages. The chief test at present is a stronger opposition.

During the World War, India provided a million and a half men for military service on behalf of the Allies. Ghandi was a pacifist by nature and training, but he went on a recruiting campaign for the Allied cause. He was a strong supporter of the British rule in India until a military concert by the Allied armies of General Dyer came and started to shoot up the native women. The unarmed women there was one of the old military type of generals who learn nothing and forget nothing; the same type that brought Germany to ruin. He was responsible for what the Dyer of Connaught called "the dark shadow of America." On April 13th, 1919, a riot occurred in the city of Amritsar in which six Englishmen were killed. Hundreds of Indians, who were holding a meeting in disregard of military order, were shot down, without warning. They were in an inclosed space from which there was no escape, and Dyer stated that he had done this to create a "moral effect." He also increased the "crawling order," which required the native to pass the scene of the riot on their hands and knees.

Dyer has gone ! to say of all flesh, but his type s : "military genius" still exists in the world, and he was merely a successor of the type of rulers who sent to cut off man's ears or burned alive at the stake for disobeying military orders.

Egypt's action was typical. A large army to the native agitators, and it banished from a friend to an enemy of the Empire. It was in 1909 that he started the campaign for civil disobedience of a non-violent character, having as the objective a Dominion membership for India. The natives were jolted a long need the advent to power of the Labor Government in Great Britain. As long as this government was in power there was some progress made towards giving India more rule, as far as the circumstances permitted. When the Conservatives were in power the whole question hung fire. In the meantime home rule for Ireland was successfully obtained by the Irish type of Englishman, and Premier Ramsay MacDonald's recent efforts to power he has made a declaration through his vice-roy, Lord Irwin, that Dominion status is the aim of British rule in India. An all India congress was called just before the beginning of 1930, to consider the question but the opposition broke down when the delegates demanded that a date be fixed for the beginning of Dominion Status. Gandhi organized the non-co-operation movement which resulted in the jailing of thousands of natives, including Gandhi himself. Gandhi was released from jail in January, 1931, and a conference followed in London, but the conference broke down completely through which

Letters to the Editor

Pendalle Farm
Finn, Alberta,
May 12, 1933.

The Editor,
Stettler Independent.

Dear Sir:—

For two weeks I have been a patient at the Stettler Municipal Hospital, and I therefore had a good opportunity of observing the matron at work in which the Hospital was managed. I am writing to you to express my very much pleasure at the way in which the matron, Miss Gerrie, has conducted herself during her stay in charge of the Hospital and its affairs are managed by a very efficient and conscientious Board.

I had the opportunity of speaking to most of the members of the Board and I could not help but be impressed with the interest that these gentlemen took their work and thoroughly conscientious and were willing to give a good deal of their precious time to the affairs of the Hospital.

I was particularly struck with the efficiency and kindliness of the matron and her staff of nurses. I have had some experience of Hospitals and have never seen a Hospital where the patients received more personal attention than at the Stettler Institution.

The food is wholesome and varied, is particularly served, and properly cooked.

I consider also that the service of the doctors to this Hospital is better than in the case with most Hospitals that are larger.

All in all, I feel that this district is fortunate in possessing the services and hospitality of such institution as the Stettler Municipal Hospital.

Very truly yours,
H. G. L. STEARNS.

Why

We Sell Only GOODYEARS

It is true that all tires are not alike. And it's obvious that all tires are not the same value. That's why we sell Goodyears only.

We've watched Goodyear Tires in use for many years. We've watched the way they give mileage and the way they stand up under hard driving. We've seen how they behave in all kinds of weather and on all kinds of roads.

It's easy we don't make quite as much money per tire. But we sell a lot more tires.

We know your size and type.

BYEMOOR NEWS

Mr and mrs Robert Rae of Stettler, were Byemoor visitors this week.

Meeting was called to order by Mr Ray Payne and Miss Payne accompanied by Mrs. Wood and M.s Jameson were Stettler visitors on Thursday.

A meeting of the Byemoor Sheep Club took place in the Parish Hall on Saturday May 17th at 2.30 p.m. Wool of Hanna, District Agricultural. after which the boys and the girls of the Club appointed their president.

Mr W McClintock was the unanimous choice Miss Lillian Wooster was chosen as Vice-President and Miss Rose Swain of Byemoor as the Secretary-Treasurer.

Mr John Barrett of Well Hill and Mr Wm. Swain were appointed Directors.

During the meeting Mr Wood gave them a very interesting talk on the object and aims of forming a Sheep Club and also an interesting and profitable talk on the wool clip How to prepare and market it, explaining just how to get the best grade and consequently the best prices.

This was a very enthusiastic meeting and good result. Wishes the boys and girls of this district, and surrounding districts.

The members of the Byemoor Cricket Club are already practising and preparing for a game on May 24th.

We are sorry to report that little Rose Stauffer has diphtheria and Sunday School was postponed last Sunday to Tuesday the 27th in Hall.

A meeting of the Livestock Pool under the auspices of the U. F. A. was held in the Parish Hall on Saturday evening, May 17th, with the president, Jas. Pegrume in the Chair.

Mr. R. Gardiner of Stettler, was here to address the meeting. Owing to stormy outlook of the weather, the meeting was not very well attended but made up in enthusiasm what it lacked in numbers.

The Livestock Pool has decided to make a trial shipment on June 5th.

WHEAT

(Composed by Jim)

Wheat is planted extensively in the Canadian West and by the way the price is going it will be planted more and more.

There are an unlimited number of grades and the man who can tell the difference between all of them is called the Wheat Grader by the public, and a Pest by the Farmer.

The price is determined in some mysterious way in Winnipeg. It goes up when you have sold and down when you have bought.

Brokers should always advise their clients as follows: "Some think it will go up; some think it will go down. So do we. Whatever you do sell by wiring. Let at once."

Wheat is planted in May, mortgaged in June, hailed in July, frozen in August, and ploughed under in September.

You can and you can't. You will and you won't. You will be dumbfounded if you do and damned if you don't.

A heavy wind storm struck the town on Tuesday afternoon at five o'clock, and kept up for about an hour The wind seemed to be blowing from 30 to 40 miles an hour, and the flying dust darkened the sky, so that no filling every crevice in house and office This snowstorm following in the early morning settled the dust for some days.

The weather this week has been featured by a move storm on Wednesday morning which lasted from 2 a.m. until noon. At some periods in the morning it reached the height of a small blizzard as the wind was blowing strongly from the north-west. The moisture, we would judge, would be around half an inch, which is sufficient to carry the crops until June 1st. The total moisture for the month so far is around an inch.

The holiday in Stettler will be celebrated by the annual golf tournament and it is expected that about 100 golfers will take part, including ladies. Golfers are expected to attend from most of the surrounding towns, and competition for the various prizes will be keen. The prize committee this year has abandoned the prize list and will give articles of silverware throughout, all of which are well worth winning and will prove to be prize-cherished souvenirs of the occasion.

On Sunday, June 1st, the Oddfellows and Rebekah Lodges of Stettler, Botha, Big Valley, Midlandvale, Donalda and Alix Lodges, with Donalda and Alix Lodges, with a joint memorial service in Stettler. They will meet at the I.O.O.F. Hall at 7.15 p.m. and parade to the Cemetery, led by the Boys' Band, where the service will be conducted by the Rev George Hutchinson. A collection will be taken and the entire proceeds will be turned over to the Wood Christian Home for orphan children.

HAS KNOWN NO FAILURE.

Two British Families Have Produced Outstanding Men for Conference

The result of the Hall of Balfour recalls the fact that for two consecutive two British families have produced leg men for generation after generation—the Cecils and the Churchills. There is no known parallel for this in any other land or in any other age.

The Pitts, father and son, were premiers of Great Britain, but it needed Gladstone and Disraeli to equal them. Other men of note in the old land have had sons, but in no instance have the descendants here not attained any other honor save that of carrying a big name.

If it be true that the mother transmits mentality, then the Cecil and Churchill sons must have an uncanny habit of selecting unusual wives.

Mrs. Grant, Lone Rock—Presbyterial 11 to 5.

The leading side have now to play the semi-finals for the cup.

From the score cards that have been handed in it is evident that the challenge cup will be keenly contested for and the competition promises to be the best ever held in the district. The cup will be put up for competition again.

The latest card turned in the end of Alex Young who made the splendid score of 39, which includes 10 birdies.

We would be glad to have a visit from our golfing friends of Stettler, and district at any time, and if they care to we will arrange a game. The use of the course is extended to all visitors free of charge.

How Do You Handle Your Clock

With proper care the life of the ordinary clock can be extended indefinitely. It is not generally realized that the position of the clock is an important consideration. If it stands on a mantelpiece, table or other base, it should be placed where the support is firm and free from vibration. In many instances the home ravelations can be attributed to the passing of trains, heavy traffic or by machinery in the basements of buildings. There is often a considerable jar on the walls of the building, which is especially subject to vibration. In selecting a position for a valuable clock, it will be well to consult a jeweler in regard to the matter.

When a clock is set up it should be as free as possible from the effects of the room, such should be established at once, and if anything is out of order it is well to have it attended to at once. A clock is also a thing that is said to be known very quickly out of balance, with proper attention to the foregoing conditions. A clock should be occasionally repaired to keep it in order. Clocks are subject to many troubles and these should be handled by a competent repairer. A clock should be cleaned and repaired at least every two years and then thoroughly overhauled. In so doing the way to send it, it should be taken not to let the cloth leave it, however slightly fouling the bottom position. It is a good idea to have all the cloths in one's home examined at regular intervals by a competent clock maker, who will check them for accuracy and anticipate a possible breakdown. Many clocks are ruined by the neglect of a few cents expended to run along for years without the slightest attention, and then they actually break down from the wear and tear. With proper attention a good, serviceable clock should last for years and become a valued and dependable heirloom.

Locomotive Engineers have great faith in TEXACO

Men who sit at the throttle of locomotives know the danger of poorly lubricated bearings. These men openly endorse Texaco, confident that its proved purity and unvarying resistance to heat will provide lasting protection.

All the air ports know Texaco. It removes one element of risk from a service that is fraught with sufficient uncertainties without the addition of lubrication troubles.

On the world's waterways, Texaco lubricates the engines of both ocean greyhounds and freighters; while on shore it promotes efficiency in the working schedule of industry.

Millions of motorists now are alert for the Red Star and Green T; because from practical experience they know Texaco Gasoline and Motor Oil make the New and Better Texaco Gasoline exert a wholesome influence upon their motoring pleasure—and cost-per-mile. You will find this true, yourself!

Leader McDonald Speaks at Stettler

that following a recent statement of the Government members the bill was temporarily withdrawn yet permanently. Political conjecture, he claimed, alone dictated its withdrawal. He said the existing School Act now makes possible the fusion of a number of school districts as consolidated school districts. Efforts in this direction, he felt, should be encouraged.

A second luncheon "session plan should be effective in Alberta without delay, claimed the speaker. The Liberal party, he said, had been asked to the Minister of Education that a committee of the legislature be appointed to consider education and keeping it out of the realm of partisan politics. Offers of co-operation were spurned, he said, and the minister had kicked our educational problems into the field of partisan politics." Introduction of a School Act providing for a highly centralized and autocratic system of education with control vested in the Minister of Education, he claimed, would follow return of the present administration to power, said "the taxpayers will be short of every extension power save only that of footing the bills."

Speaking on the Dunsmuir Coals factory, the speaker said the whole situation appears to be that the supervision of credit sessions had been more or less free agents without any effective control by the treasury department officials. In addition, the Provincial auditor had not carried out his function and generally, the whole Act that been allowed to lapse.

"A Liberal administration," he continued, "placed the Co-operative Wheat Act on the statute books of this Province. The Liberal party's contribution to agriculture is to abstract from proper administration of the Act already on the statute book away by a weak and submissionable Government."

All session coming from motor and gasoline taxes should be spent on highway maintenance, Mr. McDonald urged. He claimed that the Government in the fiscal year ended March, 1928, expended $4,497,197 on highways, ferries and bridges and received from gasoline tax and automobile license fees, $3,611,808. For the same period interest $2,887,389 was secured by borrowing and the Government used out of income account $1,219,807, a sum of $1,211,742 less than the interest actually received from the Province on this account.

"The result of this method of finance," he said, "is not only to increase the public debt, but also to provide a surplus on income ac-

Stettler Women's Liberal Club Formed

A large number of ladies attended the meeting in the Town Hall on Friday evening last, at 8 p.m. for the purpose of organizing a Women's Liberal Club in Stettler. Not only Stettler, but also the surrounding district, was well represented, and judging by the interest and enthusiasm shown [illegible] every prospect of the Club proving a strong force in the life of Liberalism in this community.

Mrs. [illegible], Constituency Secretary of Women's Clubs, and Mrs. Stewart, of Edmonton, were present, and gave the benefit of their counsel to the ladies present. Mrs. Business gave an interesting speech outlining the success of these clubs in other places, and speaking of the important place held by women in the life of the province.

Following this a Club was organized with a membership of thirty ladies, and after some discussion the fee was fixed at fifty cents a year. It was then decided to hold the meetings on the third Tuesday of each month at 8 p.m. A special meeting is called for Tuesday evening of next week

The following officers were elected —

President: Mrs McIvor
1st Vice-President: Mrs. A.B Clark
2nd Vice-President: Mrs C H [illegible]

3rd Vice-President, Mrs. J Good
Treasurer: Mrs. I. W. Olive.
Recording Secretary, Mrs. W W Sharpe.
Corresponding Secretary, Mrs George Wylie.
Executive Committee—Mrs. Ansger; Mrs. Willis, Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. McKinnon, Mrs. Morris, Mrs A. Robinson, Mrs. Hutchinson. Mrs M Brown, Mrs. Rohrer, Mrs Elsdon; Mrs. Bursted and Mrs. Frank Lee

Mrs. Business then addressed the meeting and said that it was an unsought honor, but that somebody had to shoulder the burden, and but she would do the very best she could.

Mrs. Bonness, replying to a question as to the aims of the organization, stated that they were to secure and maintain good government, organize clubs to familiarize ourselves with Canadian politics and function along the lines best suited for our community

Mr. A. B. Clark, the Liberal candidate, then complimented the members on the success of their meeting. He said the regular nominations was a slow, tame affair compared with this and that if all their ladies had attended he felt that one of them could have taken his place. He contended that the Liberal party was the progressive and contentment in the home were the wives, mothers and daughters.

Speeches were made by C. L. Willis and D. E. McIvor, giving credit to the ladies for taking an interest in the politics of the country.

GOLF TOURNAMENT HAD MANY OUTSIDE ENTRIES

The fourth annual Golf Tournament was held on the local course on Saturday and Sunday, May 26th and 26th. Sixty-two golfers entered the Tournament, consisting of 30 visitors and 32 local players. It was the best Tournament yet held in town, both in the number of visitors and the quality of play put up by those who entered. Three twelve players qualify with scores less than 89. 34 less than 89. it shows that play generally was of a high standard, and that the Tournaments held here are bringing out a lot of new talent, and raising the quality of play of many of the older players. The ladies also played well, as five out of the twelve entered qualified from 49 to 55, and the balance were in the 60's and 70's.

Last year there were 35 visitors, and this year 30, so that a distinct gain was made in that regard, notwithstanding the celebrations in surrounding towns which kept away several players who generally attend Unfortunately the wet weather on the second day spoiled the semi-finals and some of the games were won by default so that the visitors could get home before the roads became impassable. The fairways and flooded greens also made the scores higher on the second day.

The following are the qualifying scores of the players entered:

Wellwer, Red Deer, 71; Mielke, Stettler, 72; W. Duckworth, Stettler, 73, Willis, Stettler, 73, J Duckworth Stettler, 74; T Jarvis, Beahaw, 75; Jarvis, Beahaw, 76; Ansger, Consolation, 79; J. L. West, Beahaw, 79; Bill Findlater, Stettler, 79; E. E. Freeman, Innisfail, 79, Templeton, Ranna, 79; McKenzie, Red Deer, 81; Kennedy, Stettler, 82 Webber, Castor, 83, White, Consolation, 88.

Three players made up the First Flight.

Three players made up the Second Flight.

Short, Consolation, 92; Fulton, Red Deer, 92; W. P. White, Stettler, 92; G. Duckworth, Stettler, 91; R. Sturrock, Stettler, 91; Ross, of Beahaw, 91; Moir, Stettler, 92; Alexshaw, 91; Moir, Stettler, 92; Alexander, Stettler, 93; McAlister, Stettler, 93; Thompson, Stettler, 93; McCurrie, Stettler, 93; Shuberg, of Stettler, 96; Bayerdt, Stettler, 96; Cochrane, Ranna, 92; Cordiff, of Consolation, 95; W. McTaggart, of Stettler, 96; Stettler, 102; Tinion, Consolation, 103.

Three players made up the Third Flight. .

Ladies:

Mrs. Fulton, Red Deer, 49; Mrs. Pepper, Wayne, 56; Mrs. Kennedy, Stettler, 63; Mrs. Willis, Stettler, 55; Mrs. Anson, Wayne, 56; Mrs. Mercer, Stettler, 58; Mrs. Templeton, Ranna, 58; Mrs. Creighton, Stettler, 59; Mrs. McTaggart, Red Deer, 64; Mrs. Gardiner, Stettler, 65; Mrs. Wylie, Stettler, 67.

Prizes for ladies will made up the First Flight.

FIRST FLIGHT—

In the first round. Willis defeated J. Jarvis. 2

Wellwer defeated W. Findlater

Cuthbert defeated Kennedy.

J. Duckworth defeated Templeton

Mielke defeated Mielbrook.

Ellis defeated Freeman.

W. Duckworth defeated J. White

West defeated Mielbey

In the second round Wellwer defeated White.

J. Duckworth defeated Cuthbert.

Mielke defeated Jarvis.

W. Duckworth defeated West.

In the third round J. Duckworth defeated Wellwer in a nine-hole game.

Walter Duckworth defeated H. J. Mielke three up and two to go.

Mielke was one up at the end of the first nine holes played in the afternoon. The second nine was played on Tuesday evening, and Walter won the first four holes, and the match was not lost on the 7th. making him three up. There was a good gallery in attendance.

The finals will be played between Jim Duckworth and Walter. On second edition on Thursday evening

NOTES ON TOURNAMENT

Lyman Wellwer was favored to win first flight as he won last year at Red Deer His game with Willis attracted much attention, the latter having him three down and three to go. He holed out mashie approaches to the last 2 holes to win them and then won out on the extra hole. The scores for the last nine were —

White .. 5433333444—34
Wellwer 44444443333—35

Duckworth defeated Wellwer 3 up in the finals played. This game was played in the spin and the scores were —

Duckworth 5563333546—37
Wellwer 6454445343—41

Cuthbert defeated Kennedy on the 20th hole, the game going two extra holes.

Duckworth defeated Cuthbert on the 20th hole after tying him on the 18th.

The prizes given were all in silverware, and were superior to any prize list we have seen for golf in this vicinity.

The high winds have postponed a number of semi-finals and final games but will be cleared up by the end of the week.

Only the wet weather of the last day prevented the Tournament from being the best yet held in town, but the committee in charge take no responsibility for the weather.

Tennis Tournament

The Stettler Tennis Club held their annual Tennis Tournament on May 26th. Players from Strome and Veteran attended the the tournament. The local club was well represented. The results of the tournament were as follows

MEN'S OPEN SINGLES—
George McPherson, winner.
Mr. J. Johnson, Strome, runner-up.

LADIE'S OPEN SINGLES—
Mrs. Thorburn, Strome, winner.
Mrs. Barrigan, Strome, runner-up

MEN'S OPEN DOUBLES—
McPherson and Ramsay, Stettler, defeated Johnson and Barrigan, Strome runners-up.

LADIES' OPEN DOUBLES—
Mrs. Thorburn and Mrs. Barrigan, Strome, winners.
M. Duckworth and E. Ansger, runners-up.

MIXED DOUBLES—
Mr Johnson and Mrs. Barrigan, Strome, winners.
Mr. and Mrs. Thorburn, Strome, runners-up.

The local club are not very strong in lady players, but there are a number of beginners this year that will be able to hold their own at the U.F.A. Mrs. Price Hammond the rumour that she was seeking political honors and stated that her heart was in the Educational work.

Mr. J. E. Brown, the Director, addressed the convention at some length on the accomplishments of the U.F.A. during nine years of office, dwelling on the problems, and called the question: "What have we done to solve them?" There were the tariff, immigration, organization, production, unemployment, etc. Increase of population means increase of production, but we need to study the question of distribution.

The U.F.A. has made strides towards the building up of a sound citizenship. There were lots of rough, but he advised us to keep on the main trail. We were facing two elections, but must keep our eyes focused on the right ideal. We elected the U.F.A. representatives, and it is our duty to study questions and see that they do the job. Mr Brown stressed the point that we can't organize ahead of public opinion and asked the members to be busy and solve these problems themselves. The U.F.A. Government is the best we ever had

Following the question of unemployment. Mr Brown said that it had become quite acute and was brought about by several causes. There was not enough serious consideration given to it. Something [illegible] has been a problem since the days of the Norths of people without land and work is a result of the economic system. There is in fact, plenty of food, but they can't get it. This question is not solved by charities or relief. There is [illegible] not the slightest excuse for unemployment. We have the labor and material and willing workers. A good many of the unemployed could fill the positions in the legislature quite as well as the members, but they can't earn their daily bread. If interested in the welfare of the people, get behind the U.F.A. and organize and win the election, on the high ideals above mentioned

Mr Brown was given a hearty vote of thanks by the Convention.

There were a few resolutions brought before the convention, which were disposed of satisfactorily.

At the evening session Mr Sanders stated that he would cover the Constituency thoroughly, so that the people would not have too far to go to meetings. In reference to the School Bill, he mentioned that it had been accepted with mixed feelings. Improvement on the old system was the important problem, but that it takes lots of time.

Any changes should have a good measure of support from the people first. We cannot go ahead too hastily. There was no better question to cause ill feeling than the School Question.

The Highways problem is being carried out on a practical basis During series of meetings there we have met ourselves and discussed the question, and have asked if it had doubled taxation, and gave figures showing the expenditures since 1921 and also total revenue.

The highways development was touched upon. The main highways are the main arteries of travel. The cost is assumed by the whole province. also 100 per cent cost bridge construction by the province The main trunk highways provide for future traffic and are being laid down primarily for the people of Alberta. Our own cars have increased tremendously to around 160,000

Mr McPherson hoped the Convention would inspire a feeling on public matters. There has never been a Government in better standing with the people of the province. He hoped the candidate would be elected.

The administration which we [illegible] is the soundest in the province. We [illegible] sources is one which has already proved itself

Mr McPherson answered a number of questions to the satisfaction of the meeting after which he was heartily thanked and the meeting closed with "God Save the King."

A. L. SANDERS NOMINATED AT U.F.A. CONVENTION

A very successful convention was held at Stettler, May 26th, by the Stettler Provincial Constituency Association for the nomination of a candidate to represent this Constituency in the forthcoming Provincial election.

A large crowd was in attendance, and there seemed to be enthusiasm by both the delegates and visitors. There were 47 delegates present, representing 11 Locals.

There were three candidates put forward. A. L. Sanders, M.L.A. Jas McConnell and Ira Taylor. Each candidate was given 15 minutes for a speech and at the conclusion of this, a vote was taken. A. L. Sanders was elected, as standard bearer

In his short address, Mr Sanders stated that he came after four years of service and it was up to us to say whether we were satisfied or not. The Natural Resources problem would be very prominent in the next five years Mr. Sanders appreciated the ability of the other nominees but he believed that no man could be in the Legislature nine years without lacking a wide experience if elected, he would carry the banner with sincerity and renewed energy and serve the Constituency to the best of his ability.

Mr McConnell spoke next and remarked that he had watched the doings of the U.F.A Government with pride, and that they had carried out the policies of the platform on which they ran at the election. He complimented the Hon. O. L. McPherson for his work in the Department of Public Works also Mr Mondley in his activities in connection with health and bonding up citizenship.

Mr McConnell repudiated the rumour that he is Conservative at heart, but belongs to the organization on which he had set his heart.

Mr McConnell advised increase of supervisors and supervisors in the school districts, but thought it was not safe to carry the province to under-take anything costly referring to the School Bill. Arrears were large already and taxes had to be raised. Touching on unemployment, organize and help those who can help themselves should be allowed to enter the Province.

The last speaker was Mr. Ira D. Taylor He congratulated the Director, Mr Brown, on his speech, and that he was not playing a lone hand in the things he talked about. Mr Taylor was not satisfied with results and urged that we must do more in the next five years. We are facing a new era with the transfer of the Natural Resources to the Province. We stressed the development of these Resources, especially power for the people The Resources had been exploited and there was a tremendous waste. He stated that he had per day last December. In January the cost was $4000 per day and this taken from the fields He advised strong pressure on the Government to get the Natural Resources. Plenty of lots of time and detailed study Mr Taylor was of the opinion that the Rural Question should be handled in schools and homes, and work from the bottom up. After thanking the delegates for the opportunity he sat down.

The ballot was taken, and Mr Sanders was elected. Mr. Taylor immediately rose and asked the Convention to make it unanimous.

The meeting opened at 8 p.m. and the president, Mr M R Hoder, was nominated Chairman, and made the opening address. He asked the delegates to think and act, for the benefit of the Locals. That the candidate was financed by the Association. Mr Holder requested support for the Board of Directors and the Association. There were only 21 Locals represented out of a possible 70. He thanked the convention for the large attendance, and which a vote of appreciation was tendered him by the convention.

Mrs. Price, Vice-President, took the platform and pleaded for the full support of the men in the farm women's work That the U.F.A. was part and parcel of the U.F.A. Mrs. Price flaunted the rumour that she was seeking political honors and stated that her heart was in the Educational work.

Mr. J. E. At the evening session Mr Sanders stated that he would cover the Constituency thoroughly, so that the people would not have too far to go to meetings. In reference to the School Bill, he mentioned that it had been accepted with mixed feelings. Improvement on the old system was the important problem, but that it takes lots of time.

Any changes should have a good measure of support from the people first. We cannot go ahead too hastily. There was no better question to cause ill feeling than the School Question.

The Highways problem is being carried out on a practical basis During series of meetings there we have met ourselves and discussed the question, and have asked if it had doubled taxation, and gave figures showing the expenditures since 1921 and also total revenue.

The highways development was touched upon. The main highways are the main arteries of travel. The cost is assumed by the whole province. also 100 per cent cost bridge construction by the province The main trunk highways provide for future traffic and are being laid down primarily for the people of Alberta. Our own cars have increased tremendously to around 160,000

Mr McPherson hoped the Convention would inspire a feeling on public matters. There has never been a Government in better standing with the people of the province. He hoped the candidate would be elected.

The administration which we [illegible] is the soundest in the province. We [illegible] sources is one which has already proved itself

Mr McPherson answered a number of questions to the satisfaction of the meeting after which he was heartily thanked and the meeting closed with "God Save the King."

new premises from day to day. There have been criticisms from the press, but the main opinion is that the Government has been of good moral and honest carrying on efficiency, but only farmers seem to be recognized by critics of the Press

There has been a great deal of talk about the increased public debt of the Province, but the necessary questions of roads, go to make up a progressive country, but creates problems. Mr. McPherson gave figures of the direct and indirect debt, public buildings, roads, bridges and ferries, railways and telephones, Lethbridge Bridge, Provinct, Seed Grain, education, etc., and asked the audience which could be eliminated and which increased

The Minister referred to criticism from a local paper for the increase in cost and playing fake to the cry of economy This administration has instituted many economies and there was no commission needed to carry it out, as suggested in the paper

He referred to the increased revenue caused by increased number of cars, succession duties, corporation company tax and amusements and asked if it had doubled taxation. and gave figures showing the expenditures since 1921 and also total revenue.

The May Meeting of the Waverly Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. G. Hardy, Thursday, May 17th.

The attendance was very good with a number of visitors present. The Community Convenor read the Institute motto, and also the motto of the month, "Better Homes and Gardens," and a paper on Child Welfare, which was followed by a discussion and question on the many phases of child welfare.

Mrs. Dunn spoke on the handiwork and of the satisfaction to be had in making articles for the home. Mrs. Dunn also gave a demonstration on crocheting.

The question of the meeting for the Roll Call was planned by Institute and voted for unanimously.

Mrs. Diamond, who was a member of the Institute when it was organized, gave a very interesting talk on the early days when the Institute was first started. Mrs. Diamond was thanked by the president for her talk.

The Institute will be responsible for the lunch at the evening meeting.

Scotchmatic Brakes On New Durant Four

Motor Racing Driver and Race Comfortable

Many favorable comments are being heard these days regarding the new Durant Four, the Canadian Four, which was recently offered to the Canadian public by Durant Motors of Canada, Limited.

One of the outstanding features of the new Durant Four is the Scotchmatic braking system. Not until one has operated this type of brakes is it possible to gain a true conception of their efficiency, smoothness and positive action. In decelerating the car rates flat and smooth and without going very far on expanding traffic the driver is imbued with a feeling of absolute confidence and security.

Scotchmatic brakes combine the self-energizing action of the brakes with the smoothness of the cam and lever. They are simple, strong, powerful and give trouble-free service. The mechanism is contained in a single drum, which is cast integral with the hub.

The new Four is also becoming popular as an exceptionally easy car to handle in traffic. Very good is the smooth, "velvety" action of the two-way hydraulic shock absorbers on the new Four.

The new two-way principle which is an integral part of the spring action, cushions road shocks, prevents rebounds and helps to make motoring more comfortable and enjoyable.

Modern Spelling Bee Finds Easy Victims

Spelling is an art which many can claim unexpectedly. Few experts. We have little of spelling bees which once were the favorite indoor sport of the Victorian parlor and the rural community. How and then in a recently held, for instance, we hear of a group of people getting up to celebrate a spelling bee to hold and the prized results given to the world. Recently there was such a bee probably the first for years to be conducted. The competitors were representatives of the United States Senate, the House of Representatives and the Washington newspaper correspondents, previously mentioned. The Senate claimed their incompetence before we immediate audience of 500 at the National Press Club and so heralded a coherence of perhaps millions. The Senate was represented by Senator Tom and Senator Pat and within half an hour all them competitors with the exception of two had fallen, and on words that would hardly have been given to children in primary classes of some 30 years ago. The winners were Mr. Ray Tucker, a correspondent. The word that made them champion was kimono which was misspelt as "chimney" by Senator Robert Lee of Massachusetts, and Senator Highway, by the present writer in effect, however, ignorance seems to have been such a asset as to be hardly worth mentioning.

Why all the words that moved them the spellers are those in common use. There were literally three that one might not expect to come across in the course of an ordinary day's reading among all is by reading words that most people who do not write anything but letters get their ideas of spelling. The point is, we suspect, that most of us read too fast and do not consciously fix the image of the word upon the mind. The first word to claim a victim was 'exhibit' which was spelled 'exhebite,' a natural enough error. The second misfortune was committed in "irresistible" by omitting one of the "r" also a mistake due to a false analogy, "irresent", of course, having but one "r" in this case. Another point about this is that it was omitted "irresistible" in the original draft of the American Constitution. "Achievement" was the speaker misspelled one of the ee which is seems to us required some little reasoning and research to find a certain day of the week as "Tuesday."

To omit "acceptance" as one of the contestants did as "accomodation" seems to us an idiosyncrasy and possibly thing to do, for here the two words "accept" and "acceptance" are fairly suggested. Something akin to genius, we contend is required for the spelling of "idiot" word on the part of the citizen who has to guess at it. To spell "surprise" as "surrise" seems reasonable enough, especially to Webster glossary, but "surprise" is correct, though there seems, though questions "but the odd case seemed to trouble the giver.

Here, his wife was very curious to know what was in the drawer, but she could never find the key. But one day she asked it, and opened the drawer, found the miniature.

"Oh," she said interrogatively, "Is that's the cat he looks at, is it?"

Round the Country Debate

Mr Sanders, in his speech at the recent meeting of the U.F.A. constituency here on Monday, spoke of an attack made on him by a weekly newspaper, that he had no ideas of his own, and he answered the accusation that he had no claim to brilliancy but issued a challenge to the editor to debate on the record of the U.F.A. Government during the past three years, on any platform during the course of the campaign.

The editor is pleased to accept the challenge of Mr Sanders, and the study of the provincial questions is good at any time, and I would suggest that the debate be held in Stettler, as being the most central point, and that the date be arranged the second week in June say June 8th and June 9th. The usual procedure of a debate to be used with two persons of my towns; minutes for each speaker, and a five minutes rebuttal and a final ten minutes for each to close the discussion. If Mr Sanders will appoint some man in Stettler or district to act as arrange details for him or me me personally. I would be glad to have the date and place fixed definitely.

I. I. I.

Regarding the so-called "attack" on Mr Sanders, we are at a loss to discover just what the attack was. The following is the paragraph referred to, as published in the issue of the Independent on May 19th:—

"The U.F.A. Convention will be held on May 26th. The convention could do worse than nominate the present member Mr Sanders is not brilliant, but he has been loyally active with constituency business, and has improved considerably during the past four years. He is getting away from the idea that his whole world revolves around U.F.A. Locals. In other words, he is broadening out, and is not so clannish-minded as he used to be." If that is an "attack," then all we can say is that the other candidates in Alberta would be glad to have a write-up of their character and personality per M we had said that the member could do worse than return Premier Manning for another term, or that Premier Manning is a good party man in the district would say that he was running a U.F.A. paper. Mr Sanders refers garbage-lightly to the statement that he is not brilliant. We could say the same with equal point regarding all the members of the legislature with the exception of the Premier and all the officers of the textiles in Alberta. Brilliancy alone does not go far in politics or anywhere else. We do not hesitate to say that Mr Sanders is reliable, and if he has not exerted personal pressure on the Minister of Public Works in regard to completing our highway from Stettler to the west three years, it was no doubt because other members were clamoring for the same consideration in their constituencies and he realized that the Government could not do everything for the same consideration in the short space of time. We do not think we make any pre diary at the present time as to who will be elected in Stettler, but we do think we are safe in saying that the electors appreciate a member who is up-to-date and that the candidate elected will serve the constituency to the best of his ability. This is all the electors can ask.

The Government this week received $100,000 in cash as the result of the sale in July 1960, for the election. If payment is not dissolved by May 25th to permit one of the last Monday in July for balloting. Canvassing will go to the polls on August 11th to choose their government for the next five years.

Objection in August 6th was brought. In the first place a large number of Canadian citizens cast the first Monday in August as a civic holiday, an occasion widely observed by many people. Secondly, many voters would be away on their holidays. Hence polling on that date would leave an unsatisfactory situation upon a party which urged the holiday-maker to honor a decision which would call on the polls on August 11th to choose their government for the next five years.

SLATS DIARY

By Slats Pinsent

Friday—and the weather sets a note to go today and take him a bad to a chief's dance. Bought a pint, and tastes so bad we eat it in the porridge and give me a bellyache and then we eat my porridge and my pint and my bellyache so bad we can't eat it, but it popped into my bed made by he that lingers me also.

Saturday—they take a morning to day and bring made a X across the bed. Jake and John and Jim rendered with the Sheriff and they had a band which played a jamboree dance and also a banquet. Traditional air which was rendered with much vim and a very excellent time and we drank other.

Sunday—oh we was out either to the old font just as we was coming from a party and we was to come a train and Gideon rides up and says he is a man of God and engineer wears a hat, stained with oil and we was to ride on a wheel as he went past.

Monday—Pa made a medical report which Miss Hood sent in and showed us a picture of the fellow to which she is engaged to be married to, after she let pa see it she and well what do you think of him and pa replied and made me say it must be very wobbly. she went out laughing and pa made me say it was heard And they say cannibals about a ton Pass.

Tuesday—we are getting ready to give a play in a couple of wks. I do not like my part very well now I am supposed to a Englishman and I am having a lot of trouble to get the Mistrale to stay at one spot.

Wednday—they was a upset here today and he was going to and they a Snapdragon but she and I was evasive so we is left for her one of them things beam she was to old to learn to ride it easy ways.

Thursday—Pa gets pretty mad cuz my 17 years old and he says I'm 27 about this time now I catch thunks he is smart needs pa a thin.

A quite event to a Beach today. A heavy rain is to be had then the wind and the Thin-Skin takes many tree and runs.

Then the call for the cyclery crowded.

The hand earth lay in a frame like a leaf or leaf in the garden rest.

Still a robin red-breast with heart undaunted

Sings to the world in songs of cheer

What if the nest that his love had builded

Her cottage in the old oak tree?

What if his wings are weak and weary

And every motion and will not flee?

He sings, for he knows that the buds are swelling,

The flowers are showing beneath the sod

He sings, and his joyous song is a message straight from the lips of God.

FENN NEWS

The residents of Penn remember that their town is at last really on the map since it was honored on Thursday night by a visit from an "airplane road show" To those who know Penn with its straggling, its post office and store and various [illegible] held building, the scene was a most unusual and unfamiliar one. Excitement and merry-go-round the centre of a large crowd More cars were parked on the prairie at this spot on Thursday night than it is probable have ever been seen in the town since Penn before! The entertainment was well worth the while and the merry-go-round received good patronage from young men and older children. The company was operated by the Commonsey Club.

A terrific windstorm visited Penn district on Tuesday afternoon but fortunately no considerable damage was done to crops and to property Windows were broken, buildings blown over, and quantities of poultry and transported from one farm to another Reports were received on Wednesday night, there was a slight snowstorm, when .07 inches of moisture were deposited.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert were visitors on Thursday at Innisfail.

The Penn team took part in the game on May 24th, tournament on Saturday afternoon, Stettler and the first game from Erskine and Penn. Penn was defeated.

Mr. Leslie Legg and Mr. J. Cravens were delegates of U.F.A. delegates to the convention of the U.F.A. which was held in Stettler on Monday last.

Letters to the Editor

Editor Stettler Independent,

Stettler, Alberta.

Dear Sir —

I am told that my name has been used as a member of the Liberal party in view of the approaching election. As the use of my name has been made without my knowledge, I consider this procedure as to say the least, most extraordinary.

The fact is that since the U.F.A. organized politically, I have been a staunch supporter of their policies, and I think the splendid record of our present provincial government amply justifies my supporting it with all I can, and furthermore, for the Dominion government, it is a fact that the Hon Robert Forke, Rebus was only under the pressure of the too small but so aggressive number of our federal group in the house.

I wish you would publish this letter. It is true I am an old man, but not quite in my dotage yet, and I do not like anybody to choose for me a line of conduct.

Very thankfully, I am

Yours truly,

J. GEORGE'S FISHER.

Boths News

The recent showers have added a little to our early start of moisture however the weather seems to be changing to more sunny days and rains The dirt storm of last week was the worst we ever experienced as the wind was strong and the dirt and blew with such force that grain was cut off at the top of the ground. much was also buried but it is all coming on again and is looking splendid

Saskatoon bushes were ruined with the dirt storm last week It will be some time yet before we know whether or not the damaged trees or not.

Mr Harry Armstrong of Stettler spent the week end visiting relatives in this district.

Mr and Mrs Frank Meehan are preparing to remove their new buildings from the present location to a site on the west end of the town. Mr Meehan has also sheltered and he desires to school

Victoria Day was everything very quiet in Boths but a number of our citizens attended the celebrations at Erskine and the baseball teams were there in force but by some misfortune Lady Luck was left at home, and all three teams were defeated We would never really appreciate it if we didn't, also know defeat.

The men's team have purchased new suits this spring. The old ones have been in use for many years and were ready to be discarded. The colors are the same red and white, with black stripe. The appearance of our ball team is greatly improved.

Miss Hilda Schofield celebrated her 15th birthday on Monday by entertaining the ninth grade girls, and one or two others, at supper.

The girls gathered immediately after school and played games until supper time, when Mrs. Hinkle served one of her usual delicious meals The guests departed shortly after supper in order to get home at the usual moment of time on their bicycles.

Mrs. Durant and Mrs. Elhorn attended the Institute Convention in Calgary last week. Mrs. Durant was the official delegate from Boths.

Mrs. Harry Everett was the delegate from Zentith. The three ladies went and returned together They report a great time and a fine convention.

The Joe Olhorn family spent Saturday and Sunday with friends in Innisfail.

Miss Ada Lyon spent the week end with her brother Ronald at Olds. She returned home on Monday evening.

Mrs. J. A. MacKay and the little girls motored to Gadsby on Wednesday, May 29 and helped little Mary Steele celebrate her 5th birthday.

The Institute meeting will be held on Thursday afternoon, June 6th at the home of Mrs. Durant. Members will please take notice.

Mrs. W. Peverely and Mrs. Jos Hardeen presided at the tea table

These present were Mrs. J. Martin Mrs. W Peverely, Mrs. V. Peverely, Mrs. H. Church, Mrs. R. Church, Mrs. O. Muir, Mrs. J. Woodcock, Mrs. J. Hardeen, Miss R. Hardeen, Miss Dorothy Townsend and Mrs. W. Dayton.

EXTINCTION APPROACHES SEVERAL ANIMAL SPECIES

Many who have nothing else to worry about can find sufficient excuse for concern and despair in the fact that the fauna of the earth is being slowly reduced and that certain species of animal are becoming altogether extinct. There are creatures with which our grandfathers were acquainted that have vanished, never to return, for it should be noted that once a species becomes extinct there remains no machinery in nature to reproduce it. In Canada we have seen the buffalo which was once so numerous as English sparrows, vanish except for a few specimens kept in restricted parks. The passenger pigeon is gone. There is still one survivor on the floor of the earth. Yet at the time of the Pemmo Build they were so numerous in the Niagara Peninsula that their flight darkened the sun. At night when some of these great flocks roosted for the night they actually broke off the limbs of huge trees on that the forest looked as though a hurricane had struck it. The same story is to be told in all parts of the world and it may not be a fiction to say that the first good specimen of the human species that we see will be its burial. Of course, there are still a few species the protection comes certainly put an end to the white man's rifle. For example it is said that there are but nineteen white rhinoceros. What is the rarest animal in the world? It is the snow panda of Thibet, which is known to science by only one specimen. Therefore, it is not surprising that the largest of the species, that only 89 head remain alive.

There live in Thibet some particulars in Subsisted, and this species may merely disappear with the animals it shelters, for there is no imminent demand that it be spared for entitlement. Two years ago two of the dwindling band of white rhinoceros were shot by poachers, who probably hoped thus to lure the dog when the mercy would be shielded. The Transvaal Government has spent a good deal of thought on the problem of removing these huge creatures from their present habitat to the Kruger National Park. But the size and weight of the animals, the difficulty of catching and transporting them long distances without injury are so great that no action has yet been taken. In the absence of action they are likely to go the way of the great auk of the northern white rhinoceros, which is scarce but by no means so rare as its southern brother. In reading its last stand in the Belgian Congo. It is protected by law but offers a constant temptation to poachers since one pot of a pound for its horns, which are one of the most valuable ingredients in some Chinese medicines. There is a ready market for the horns just over the Belgian border, and the business has found it is impervious to sound reasoning. Even when where the vanishing animals are can into the territory to put an end to the poaching which in turn will of the species the protection comes certainly put an end to the white man's rifle. Having been Nominated as the

Liberal Candidate For The Stettler Constituency

I beg to solicit your Votes and Support in the Provincial Election of June 19th

I would like to see all the Electors before voting day, but find this impossible on account of the size of the Constituency.

I am, therefore, soliciting your support through the columns of the Press, and I would ask the Electors for your First Vote on the ballot paper, and if, for conscientious reasons you cannot give me First vote please give me your Second Vote.

Be sure and mark the ballots with the numerals 1 and 2 opposite your choices and not with an "x."

BIRTHDAYS

Lives of great men all remind us, As their pages o'er we turn. That we often leave behind us Letters that we ought to burn.

HALKIRK NEWS

The sudden death of Charlie Bird age 38 years of Daisy Bank on May 30th following an operation for appendicitis at the Stettler hospital came as a shock to the whole community and very deep sympathy is felt for Mr and Mrs J. H Bird and family in the severe loss they have sustained.

Some years ago their son Cecil, at the age of seven years, was suddenly killed during threshing operations.

The funeral which was the largest ever held in this district left the Elon United Church. Halkirk, on Monday, May 26th. Nearly 70 cars were in the procession.

The church was crowded and many men and women had to stand outside.

The service was in charge of the Oddfellows and Rebekahs. Rev. R. Clegg acted as Chaplain with Bro. Lloyd officiating as Noble Grand

The service both at the Church and at the graveside was very impressive and the deep sorrow of the community was keenly felt by the present

This is the second member of the lodge of the I. O. O. F. to have deceased since the opening of this lodge, and the value of such a fraternal order was clearly demonstrated in both cases in which the bereaved ones were relieved of anxiety and responsibility at interment.

The late Charlie Bird was well known and very highly esteemed by a large community of young people, who showed their deep sympathy and respect by their presence at the funeral service.

Charlie had not been well for some time and after nursing was completed decided to go to the hospital for an operation, which was apparently successful, but soon sudden and unexpected developments resulted in his death His younger brother, who was in Ottawa, was immediately summoned and the funeral service was held out until his arrival on Monday, May 27th. Mr. Bowman of Stettler was the undertaker in charge of the remains Fleni wreaths associated tributes from the Women's Institute, Daisy Bank Community Club, the Oddfellows and Rebekahs and others.

Grandma: "Did you have a good time at the party, Tommy?"

Tommy: "Yes, but I got a pain in my stomach."

Grandma: "Oh, dear! Did you eat too much?"

Tommy: "No, I got it from holding in."

Sharpe & Page Twenty-First Anniversary

The well known firm of Sharpe & Page are celebrating their 21st anniversary this month, commencing on Saturday, June 7th. The firm commenced business in Stettler in the Spring of 1930 and took over the store now used by Plunkett & Savage as a distributing warehouse. The original staff consisted of Mr. W W Sharpe Mr. R. Page and Mr. T. R Seddon In 1916 they bought out the business of Biggs and Whyte and moved over into their present quarters situated in the premises of Biggs building In 1919 they built the grocery department now facing Alberta Avenue, giving them frontage both on Main Street and Alberta Avenue Two of the original staff of 1910 are still connected with the firm Mrs E Y Reilly and Mr Percy Lee, and the total staff, although not so large as usual, owing to dry conditions consists of fifteen people in all of whom are particularly represented in a large part that the firm have had published in the interests of the Exhibition Besides this the firm are celebrating on a Big Anniversary Sale commencing next Saturday, and have issued larger posters announcing the Sale and are using three pages of the current issue of the Independent to advertise the Sale throughout the district generally. During the Sale will also be incorporated with a real Old Timers gathering and the Tea Room will be open every afternoon during the ten days for the serving of refreshments A large birthday cake with 21 candles will be served each afternoon to visitors, and music will be furnished by Mrs Adshead and Mrs. G. Cullis. The firm is also giving away 100 hand souvenir tickets with every $10 purchase for the hand concert to be given in Stettler Arena on Saturday, June 28th, to aid the band in compete in the band tournament in Calgary and Edmonton.

The prizes of all goods in the store have been reduced to a point that will afford an opportunity to their numerous customers that will not occur again for some time Every resident of town and district should visit the store during the ten days of the Anniversary Sale whether they purchase or not.

ERSKINE NEWS

Erskine boys' and girls' baseball teams made a very good showing at the tournament held in Stettler on Saturday, May 31st. With Miss McNeil in the pitcher's box and Vera Kaechtel extending the big men the local girls brought home the shield, having defeated Botha 8 to 6, and Big Valley 9 to 5.

Allan Chapman was twirler for the boys and Ernie Herman the low down squaller behind the bat. Backed by good team work the boys defeated Big Valley 10 to 1, Morrin 19 to 1, but unfortunately lost out in the final game with Consul, taking the short end of a 4 to 3 score. Allan Chapman pitched all three games

Regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. L. H. Parr on Wednesday, June 4th. Hostesses were Mrs. Parr and Mrs. Evans. Visits to the homes of country members are always keenly anticipated and enjoyed. On occasion was no exception to the rule.

Municipal Rover Scirdan is now spending considerable time on the road these days, supervising work being done under contract. Good headway has been made on the stretch north of the six mile corner this portion should be in fairly good shape shortly.

F W Laing is on a vacation for a month and left Tuesday morning for Calgary, where he will entrain on the Alaskan Shrine Special on Wednesday night for Toronto. Recital agent W S Sobey is in charge during the absence of the regular agent.

A. W. Shand motored to Calgary last week, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Horsfall, who attended the Alberta Musical Festival.

Reports from Stettler Hospital are to the effect that Mrs. Smith hart continues to make favorable progress

Church will be held in the I.O.O.F. Hall under the auspices of the new hall committee on Friday evening of this week. Rinker's Orchestra from Bevra, will be in attendance.

Clean-up Campaign

Sir, the annual campaign, organized by Stettler Board of Trade to encourage and manage the Clean-up Campaign during 1930, beg to report that we have completed our work and have made final inspection of the Town.

We are pleased to report that the streets, lanes and private properties in Town have never been in a cleaner and tidier condition than this year at the time of our inspection. We wish to congratulate the citizens of Stettler on the unanimous sense of civic pride which has led them to put forth this Spring a greater effort than in the past to make our Town the cleanest and brightest spot in the province It is hoped that there be no slackening of effort in this direction, as we are convinced that time and energy spent in improving the appearance of our Town will eventually bring in rich returns

It is also our pleasure to thank the Mayor and Council of the Town, the town supervisor, and the various block captains for the wholehearted co-operation which they have given to us Without the loyal assistance of these gentlemen the present result could not possibly have been achieved We wish particularly to commend the town supervisor for the efficient manner in which the task of removal of rubbish was carried out

We remain yours for a cleaner and brighter Stettler

To The Electors
Having been Nominated as the
Liberal Candidate For The Stettler Constituency
I beg to solicit your Votes and Support in the Provincial Election of June 25th.
I would like to see all the Electors before voting day, but find this impossible on account of the size of the Constituency.
I am, therefore, soliciting your support through the columns of the Press, and I would ask the Electors for your First Vote on the ballot paper, and if, for any personal reason you cannot give me your First Vote, then I ask for your Second Vote. Be sure and mark the ballots with the numerals 1 and 2 opposite your choices and not with an "X"

Confidence

Confidence and friendship unite in winning and holding customers who make success in business possible.

Confidence cannot be won in a day, it is the result of frequent contact and numerous experiences.

The firm of Sharpe & Page have successfully catered to the home requirements of the people of Stettler and District for the past twenty-one years, and we sincerely trust that the solid foundation which we have built, will continue to exist the Confidence and Good [illegible] of our customers in years to come.

Just About Ourselves

Twenty-one years ago the firm of Sharpe & Page was established in Stettler to sell dependable merchandise at a fair price, to operate a store where shoppers could buy safely and economically. Today, we feel that the greatest asset which we possess is the Good Will of our countless friends throughout the town and district, and it seems fitting that our friends should participate, in some manner, in the celebration of our Twenty-first Anniversary of successful merchandising. Time has wrought many wonderful changes. A common sight on our streets in 1909 was the ox team and cart used by many of the early settlers. This, in time, gave way to the demorcal and carriage, to be followed by the more modern means of transportation; the automobile, and who can say, that, should we be permitted to continue serving the people of Stettler and district for twenty years more, that our customers will not be coming to town to do their [illegible] in aeroplanes.

We have made elaborate preparation for a real Old Timers' gathering during our Ten Days Anniversary Sale, and we extend a cordial invitation to all our customers to visit our Tea Room at sometime during this period.

The large birthday cake which we have provided, will be served along with a light lunch each afternoon, from 2:30 to 5 p.m., and we ask you to accept this invitation to be our guest on this occasion.

You will note from the photo re-productions on this page, that some of the original staff are still at work, waiting to greet you as in days of yore. We feel that we would be ungrateful, were we to neglect to pay tribute to the members of our staff who have assisted very materially in making our business the success that it is today. Each and every employee of this firm join with us wholeheartedly in this, our Twenty-first Anniversary.

SHARPE & PAGE

Hospitality

What does one appreciate more than to be greeted throughout the store in a friendly, hospitable manner.

Pages and pages have been written about service, but the good old fashioned word which expresses and means more to everyone is HOSPITALITY.

With about [illegible] thousands of loyal customers and friends for us, and we pursue always to have the kindly string of human kindness waiting for our patrons.

TELEGRAM

Mr. D. R McIver received the following telegram from Premier Gin on Wednesday

"As we enter the political campaign of the present year, may I extend to you and through you to the Liberals of Camrose Constituency the very hearty congratulations of my colleagues in the government, and myself upon your selection as candidate of the present administration. The far-reaching consequences of the main issue of the present session and the strength of our cause which should make a strong appeal to the electors of Camrose Constituency, I shall be grateful if you will say to the people of the constituency that if returned to power, the present administration will do its utmost to continue to merit the confidence thus expressed by the citizens of the Dominion.

W. L. MacKENZIE KING.
Premier of the Dominion.

STETTLER TENS DONALDA 6-3

Ken McIver pitched air-tight ball at Donalda on Monday night to give Stettler their first shut-out victory of the season. Ken had a great form and registered 14 strikeouts. His team mates were giving good also, and gave him at support. Boyd who was in the box for Donalda, hurled a good game but his catcher had a little difficulty in holding him. The Donalda players were weak at bat and only managed to get two safe hits. McClellan was Donalda's outstanding fielder and caught three lovely flies that landed like sure hits for Stettler.

Score by innings:
Stettler 0 1 0 0 2 0 0 0 0—3

HUGHES—WOTHERSPOON

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. R. Wotherspoon, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Friday evening, June 6th, at six o'clock, when Miss Lon Paterson, eldest daughter of Mrs. Margaret Wotherspoon, of Blackridge, West Lothian, Scotland, and the late William Wotherspoon, was united in marriage to John Brown Hughes, of Edmonton, Alberta. Rev. J. G. Goddard officiating.

The bride was given away by her brother, Harry Wotherspoon. She was gowned in a handsome frock of satin georgette, and wore a veil with coronet of orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of pink roses.

Miss Gladys Muir, maid of honor, wore a gown of beige chiffon. Her flowers were white roses.

The bridegroom was attended by William Wotherspoon, brother of the bride.

Janet Hamilton, dressed in white veil with silver hair band, and slippers, made a charming flower girl.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold pendant set with a diamond. The bridesmaid's gift was a white gold necklace, and the flower girl received a white gold ring set with a sapphire. The bride's gift to the groomsman was a sport ring.

After the ceremony the guests sat down to a sumptuous wedding dinner. The table decorations were carnations. The bride's table held a three-tier wedding cake decorated with white heather, Scotch thistles and the Hamilton tartan. Mr. John B. Hamilton proposed the toasts to the bride and loved ones in Scotland.

The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts from friends in Scotland and Stettler.

The happy couple left on the noon train Saturday for Edmonton, where they will make their home.

The bride's going away ensemble was tan, coat and frock of wool.

The guests present were Mr. and Mrs. John B. Hamilton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Muir; Mr. and Mrs. M. E. McCoy; Mr. and Mrs. P. Y. Cudlip; Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Macbeth; all; Mr. and Mrs. John Hadley, Mr. and Mrs. B. McIver; Mr. and Mrs. T. J. Hinkle, Mrs. M. A. Goddard, John McIroe, Ted Mackay and John Hall.

OBITUARY

DAVID JOHN PROTHEROE

Mr. David John Protheroe died at his home, at seven o'clock this morning (Thursday, June 12th) at the early age of 39 years. He had been ill for some weeks, and, in fact for the past two years, had been in poor health, although he kept on working up until a few months ago.

The late Mr. Protheroe was born in Llanelly, Wales, and he came to Canada district in 1910, and worked for some years then in the co-operative store. He came to Stettler in 1920 and for some years conducted an automobile agency in partnership with Mr. Bennett. Later on he took a position in Sharpe & Page's store. His wide acquaintance with the public generally, while acting in a business capacity both at Cudahy and Stettler made him many friends throughout this part of Alberta, and he was highly esteemed by all as a friend and neighbor and a sterling citizen of the community.

He leaves to mourn his loss his wife and two small children, as well as his father, Mr. D Protheroe of Youngstown, Ohio, three sisters, Mrs. Meirose of Youngstown, Mrs. Middleton of Saskatoon, and Mrs. Roberts of Ladysmith, B. C.; as well as one brother, Henry Protheroe, of Conrich, Alberta.

The funeral will take place on Sunday from the United Church, Stettler, at 3 p.m., and the services at the graveside will be in charge of the Masonic Lodge

Much sympathy is expressed for the bereaved wife and family, and the loss will be keenly felt by all friends of the deceased with whom he had been associated in business and social relations for many year. There are few men who had a larger list of friends.

Stettler School Fair September 18th

At a meeting of the School Fair held May 31st, it was decided that the Fair be held September 18th at the Fair Grounds, as usual.

A poster competition between the various schools taking part to advertise the Fair on the 18th was decided on. These to be sent to the Secretary by June 30th. A prize to be given and a capable judge in Mr G Adshead was chosen.

The directors hope to interest the town people in this worthy work and so help us make this organization worth while.

The Advisory Wood Board of the Province is giving an additional $2 prize for the mounted weed seed collection when 30 c. This should be a big inducement to the children.

PENN NEWS

This district is still badly in need of moisture, most of the grain is showing slightly brown at the roots. There has been no visible change in the appearance of the grain during the past two weeks. The barometer has fallen on two separate occasions to a very low point but this has only brought wind and dust storms which have done considerable damage and darkened the clouds.

Several residents of Penn were present at the Elks' 'at home' which was held in Big Valley on Friday night and which was a great success.

Mr. H. G. L. Strange, left Monday for the annual Convention of the Canadian Seed Growers' Association, which this year, is being held in Wolfville, Nova Scotia, on June 16th. Mr. Strange will be absent for about two weeks.

Mr. and Mrs. Burks spent the week end with their daughter at Morrin.

PREMIER BROWNLEE ADDRESSES MEETING IN THE SKATING RINK

Premier Brownlee held his First meeting of his campaign in Stettler on Tuesday evening, June 10th. The skating rink was the scene of the meeting and the rink was well filled for the occasion. Stettler Band was on hand to do honor to the premier, and the Band also paraded to the rink following by a number of cars. The rink is the largest auditorium in town and the premier expressed his surprise that we had a building of its dimensions in town.

The chair was taken at 8.30 p.m. by Fred Holder, the president of the U.F.A. constituency association. Mr. Holder stated that the rain which was then falling was undoubtedly due to the visit of Mr. Brownlee, and showed the benefits of the U.F.A. rule. He called upon Mr Colley to speak on behalf of Mayor Blair, who was absent at the moment.

Mr Colley welcomed the premier on behalf of the town, and stated that the town would be pleased to see him as often as he could conveniently pay us a visit. The chairman then called on Mr A. L. Sanders, the local member Mr Sanders paid a tribute to the premier and said that he had given the Opposition much more considertion in their obstructive tactics than he himself could have done and that he was always scrupulously fair in debate and otherwise He paid a compliment to the town band, which he said was the best in Alberta town, and he also announced the debate for Monday evening next, probably in the rink and that no collection would be taken for that occasion but that it would be free as in all campaign meetings.

The premier was then called upon to give the address of the evening.

In appealing to the people of the province, Mr Brownlee stated that he felt it was not necessary to make any promises for the future as the past record of his government was before the people and past performances were the best promise he could give for the future.

He declared his administration had sought an election this year, when it still had a year to serve, in the belief that in doing so, it was serving the best interests of the province.

"We believe that to have the verdicton of an election over before we were plunged into the work of organizing administration of the natural resources, was a business-like [illegible] he said.

"To prevent turmoil in the record of the Farmer government in office lasting of its work in securing the railway legislation and provincial problems, saying there was remarkable unanimity in the praise given the government for its work in these connections by Friend and foe alike admitted the worthiness of the administration, he said.

He I need to enlarge upon this subject when from sources satisfactory to the government and from sources representative of the business interests of the province, some admissions that we have given good administration" he asked

One of the principle attacks upon his administration he said, was made on the grounds that in 1921 the province had spent $12,000,000, while this year it proposed to spend $17,000,000. Another of the chief criticisms was that the public debt had increased by $44,000,000 [illegible]

Such criticism of the debt situation is at once false and unfair," he declared, saying that one quarter of the debt was accounted for by the telephone system which would be sold at any date for its full value. The system, he said, was in dependable condition in 1921, when it had no reserve and showed annual [illegible]

Today the system is making annual profits and building up reserves which will, in a few years be sufficient to meet the debt.

"Another $14,500,000 of the debt is accounted for by the highways system of the province," the premier said.

"The provincial railways, for which we were not responsible are [illegible] under 5th Credits Well, which $16,500,000 will be returned to the province when the purchasers make their final payments.

"Public buildings account for another $12,000,000. This sum is not large when the number of public buildings in the province is considered.

"In [illegible] the Provincial debt was [illegible] and the [illegible] debt [illegible] $26,000,000. The actual total liability was $97,272,000. In 1926, the liability is $111,800,000 of which $10,800,000 is to be retained from the railways.

"Our political opponents neglect to tell the people of the increased debt in 1921 which became a liability They neglect to tell that the natural increase in the province's debt in nine years has been but $13,000,000. They neglect to tell that the previous administration increased the public debt by $17,000,000 in 1921. That is where the rising and bitterness comes in.

"The criticism is that we are spending too much money," the premier went on. "They say that in [illegible] are $17,000,000.

Increased Costs

"Here are some of the increased costs we have to bear"

Mental institutions are costing $448,000 more than in 1921 the central Alberta sanatorium, $230,000 mothers allowances, $155,000 hospital grants $164,500 children's welfare, $70,000, highways and maintenance and grants, $777,000; educational services, $194,634 old age pensions $107,736

"In spite of increased services we have not increased [illegible] taxes per [illegible] the premier said.

"The only new tax is the gasoline tax, which is similar to those levied in all other provinces and affords a means of constructing highways. The only tax increase is that of succession duties which have been slightly raised on large estates

"Against this must be considered the fact that the tax on coal has been [illegible] account to be paid by individuals as supplementary revenue tax has been removed

"I wish to impress upon the people that this matter is in their own hands. If they want the services reduced the expenditure can be reduced" Mr Duggan, the Conservative leader after advocating reduced taxation said he would [illegible] $25,000,000 for road building. To take such a step would add $2,500,000 to the annual expenditures. The two things answer themselves"

Mr Brownlee referred to the administration of the co-operative wheat producers

"Our opponents have referred to the Dominion society It is significant that they do not refer work in connection with the Cow Bill," he said

"The provisions in question," he said "Are identical with those in previous administration." The Farmer government had adopted the principle of co-operation and had administer them.

Alberta As Example

For vindication of the policy he remarked that the New Zealand government had studied all similar legislation; and finally modeled its scheme upon the lines of that in use in Alberta.

There are 27 societies in the province," he continued, "and the personal equation must enter into such schemes. We found that for some strange reason the supervisor had not followed his usual judgment in connection with that at Donalda. He had formed a coloniation scheme rather than a credit society We immediately put the matter in the hands of the attorney general and replaced the supervisor with a new and efficient man.

"The total loss was between $60,000 and $80,000. We have already received an offer for a reduction of $25,000 and we hold all the chattels involved. What the actual loss will be I cannot say

"The personal equation entered, as it enters all such transactions. As you would see if you could but know of the losses of banks, loan companies and similar institutions," the premier said.

At the close of the meeting, Chairman Holder called for three cheers and a tiger for Mr. Brownlee, and the Band closed proceedings with the National Anthem. The Band also played several selections in the interludes between the speeches.

The District Finances—

To June 1st $12,800 of the $17,100 of the District's borrowing powers had been used Arising From Old Royal Bank a request to the Deputy Minister of Municipal Affairs to approve the advance of additional loans to Waverly on the security of the $4111.00 grant for market roads purposes, there was an animated discussion It was claimed that, in order to secure the Government Grant as quickly as possible the Council should have been kept on Market Roads work in preference to divisional work and this would have made financing easier

Reeve Raizdan volunteered to finance the estimated $2,300 contract work in Division 5 until the 15th.

The letter to Waverly from the Deputy Minister who had been supplied with a copy of the 1930 estimates, suggested a curtailing of the Waverly works program to meet the restricted borrowing powers, and declared it was impossible to sanction borrowing in contradiction to the M. D. Act. After a long discussion it was agreed, on motion of Councilor Rowledge, that the program of public works as outlined be carried through.

Wants To Read The Tie Of Church And State

Whether the Church of England should be disestablished is a question which in the minds of a few is of more than passing interest at this time, and the Church Assembly having passed the necessary resolutions to secure the appointment of a commission to inquire into the relations between Church and State That fact was emphasized recently in the House of Commons when Mr. Ernest Bevin, M.P. for Central Wandsworth, moved the following resolution:

"That, in the opinion of this House, the time has arrived when the relationship of the Church of England to the State should be considered by a Royal Commission."

The vote in the Commons which followed was a party one, the Labor contingent, Liberals and Irish Nationalists voting for the motion and Conservatives against it. Mr. Bevin's motion was also supported by Mr. Lansbury, Labor member for Bow and Bromley, who declared that the Church of England was "the most corrupt institution in the world." He said that the Church of England was the only Church which had to go to Parliament to get its Prayer Book altered.

Mr. Bevin, in moving the resolution, said that the Church of England could not exercise those full powers on the business side, the financial side, which it ought to exercise because the greater part of those were spent in politics—Conservative politics, and if the Church were to be deprived of their power it would fall upon the State to provide a considerable amount of useful machinery which now made no demands upon the State. The tithes and the taxes, which constituted most of the endowments, were originally given for services rendered and in the doctrines from which they are derived. If the Church of England was disestablished, it would be a question of the Crown of England. Often do I sit amused pleased to hear the Bishops of the Church of England ask us to take them, who was long my church's permanent.

Woman Broken Spent Three Days In Jail

When Edith Isabel Pye looked in the prison cupola of the old "Bastile" in Lincoln, England, she found a woman confined below in it. Accordingly she wrote to the Home Secretary, Sir William Joynson-Hicks, and asked him to release her. Other women confined there also had written to him, and in due course Miss Pye was released from her cell.

Miss Pye is the only woman broker in Vancouver, and one of the few women brokers in any amount of importance in Canada. Her seven years' partner was her father, and on the charges of which she spoke had been committed by the provincial government department of the province at Alberta. He was in her own words "the most unjust conspirator of my whole life."

Miss Pye, whose experience as a broker, dates back to the 1914 and 1920 oil booms in Calgary, Alberta, is considered an authority during the amount of those two periods of short activity. She was associated with some money to be made, and she was associated at that time and when the 1920 activity of the oil market in Calgary revived interest once more, the women became excited and had a change of conspiracies against Mrs.

Arrested in the very act of closing a big deal in some promotion for the mining company of which she is head agent in Vancouver, Miss Pye was taken to jail in Vancouver. Because the charge against her had been laid in Alberta she could not arrange bail through a lawyer, but had to stay there for three days until she was brought to Edmonton under escort, where her case was heard by the city in the cells before bail could be arranged by her solicitor.

In the Alberta capital she was, in the end a silver-lining, "properly gotted" by the attorney-general's department and all charges against her withdrawn.

Because she is a woman and consequently Miss Pye was "simply summoned by the whole proceedings, but in the end, she explained, the judgment of Baron Strathclyde, former lord justice-general of Scotland, never more thought of doing, but intends to carry on and succeed in her chosen life work.

CANADA'S EXPORT TRADE
OVER THREE BILLIONS

Sir Alfred Logan, publisher of the Pembroke Standard-Observer and of Canada's outstanding semi-weekly papers, has just returned home after an extensive tour of the British West Indies. He discusses interestingly Canada's export trade and that important area. He reviews the trade situation Mr Logan says:

"Of recent years Canada has made a bid for this export trade We have secured a preferential tariff with all the islands of 50 per cent and we have established a line of steamships which make fortnightly trips to all these ports These "Lady" steamers are very popular in the West Indies. Canada has a populist on the questions arise

1—Is our export trade increasing?

2—Are we getting all that we can reasonably expect?

Regarding the first question, no very definite and positive answer can be given because all the statistics for 1930 have not yet been compiled We found that this year probably the case at every port. However, we obtained the report for the Port of Georgetown, British Guiana and found that for 1929 Canada's percentage of the export trade to that colony was 19 against 32 per cent for 1928, a drop of 13 per cent. At the port for the Island of Antigua he found that Canada's exports for 1929 totaled at $8,-701 pounds, where they were 16,000 pounds for 1928. It is only fair to say, to note that there was a corresponding drop in the exports from both the United States and Great Britain as well Further, in considering the trade figures for 1929, it must be remembered that the depression in all the islands and in British Guiana is acute on account of the price of sugar, for it costs more to produce it now at a price than it can be sold for

In the interests of new passing through a period of very hard times, they have been hoping that the British Government will come to their relief, but as recent developments have shown Britain is to give very much encouragement, a spirit of optimism will be found in our case. Most of the Colonies were of the opinion that there would not be any improvement between the figures for 1930 and of those for 1929, but personally formed knowledge they considered that trade with Canada is increasing, but if anyone is under the impression that it is increasing with "leaps and bounds," he is very much mistaken for it is not so easy to divert trade from its accustomed channels.

SHIPPING EXPERTS STUDY CANADIAN FARM METHODS

Commissioned by the British government in Canada and the United States to study farm methods and conditions and later start a decision on the farm. Thomas Baxter, J. R. Bowman and G. Chas. Taylor, representing the farm workers arrived in Ottawa recently

Mr. Baxter is representing the National Farmers' Union of Great Britain, Mr. Bowman of the agricultural institute of Great Britain, and Mr. Clarke represents the farm workers.

During their stay in Ottawa they entertained the William Clark, British High Commissioner and Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture. They explained that the object of their visit to Canada was to get an interview of information from officials here to assist them in their investigations. The tour will cover about five months and the party will be guests during that time in Canada and the United States.

A. Meier—Pastor

The Evangelical Lutheran Churches all over the world are this year celebrating the 400th anniversary of the presentation, before the Diet of Augsburg, of the Confession of Lutheranism. Outstanding in the minds of the Lutheran Church people is the fact that this confession was the result of the Reformation. All parts of the world. It is that confession of faith which Reformed Doctrine is based, which the Thirty-nine Articles, the official confession of the Episcopal Church were modelled. The Lutheran Confession Church, the Church with the Message and Mission of Reformation, is the Church of the Reformation.

D. R. McIVOR CHOSEN BY LIBERALS AS CANDIDATE IN THE CAMROSE RIDING

Liberals of Camrose federal riding turned out en force last Friday, May 30th, at the nomination convention held in the Rexlay theatre, Camrose, and after three had been candidates—C G Purvis of Viking, D R McIvor of Stettler and Hon. George P Smith of Camrose, now of Dundas, Ont.—selected D. R. McIvor as the Liberal candidate in the forthcoming federal election. The name of Hon. George P Smith was first voted on as it was made known that he did not wish to contest the nomination. The meeting opened shortly after 2 p.m. The theatre was well filled and included approximately 175 authorized delegates from different parts of the constituency many women were present.

Owing to the absence of both president and vice-president of the Federal Liberal Association, J. H. Hunter of Bashaw was appointed to chairman and J.H. Rogers of Stettler as secretary, pro-tem.

Election of officers

Election of officers for the ensuing term resulted as follows:—

Honorary presidents, Rt. Hon. W. L. MacKenzie King, Hon. Charles Stewart.

President, Dr. A. S. Aaager, of Stettler.

Vice-president, J. H. Burgess of Camrose.

Second Vice-president, W. McKillop of Viking.

Secretary, H. H. Mapes of Stettler.

The president was authorized to appoint five others to the executive from different parts of the riding.

Credentials committee—C G Purvis of Viking, J McDonald, of Lougheed, F L. Farley of Camrose

Resolutions committee—D. R McIvor, J. H. Burgess and Mr. Tennett of Viking

Resolutions Approved

The following resolutions as prepared by the committee were approved by the convention:—

"Resolved that this convention expresses its fullest confidence in the administration of Rt Hon W.L. MacKenzie King and expresses our appreciation in the fact that although as regards depression Canada is 30th among the nations of the world, as regards trade she is fifth."

"Resolved that we express our appreciation of the fact that notwithstanding the world-wide depression in trade, and general lack of employment, Canada, while in some degree affected, still maintains an even tower, and already evidences of returning prosperity are to be seen in diminishing unemployment and better markets."

Resolved further that this Convention expresses its appreciation of the energetic manner in which Mr. W McDonald K.C. has taken hold of the work of leader, and that we extend him our united support in his endeavours to further Liberalism in the province."

Resolution Called On

A. Woodruff of New Norway, who was endorsed by the Provincial Liberal Association, May 30th, addressed the rest in the provincial legislature, spoke briefly, outlining the policy to be followed in the campaign to win this seat for the provincial Liberal party, and entertained the record of the present U.F.A. government in regards economy and administration. Mr Woodruff said he had not called for the provincial convention and in fact had fought against being elected it, but his supporters had been so insistent that he had finally consented to stand. In closing he said he would do his fight to win, would do all possible himself and with the help of all who are dissatisfied with the present administration hoped to "turn the tables" in this provincial constituency on June 19th.

Nominations for a candidate to contest this seat in the Dominion election were called for, resulting as follows:—

D. R. McIvor

Moved by Purvis, D R McIvor and George P Smith. On the latter being nominated by Leo Wilson and seconded by Kenneth. F. L. Farley of Camrose, intimated the delegates present that Smith had been approached on this matter by local people, and in reply had written from Hamilton to the effect that much as he would appreciate it he was unable, at this time at least, to run. A message from Smith's name was accordingly withdrawn.

The nominees were then asked to address the meeting and each of them spoke for about ten minutes after which ballots were distributed by the returning officers.

The question arose as to whether proxies would be allowed. This was finally settled on the negative.

R. R. Bulow Chosen

On the convention coming to the result of the vote, the president announced D R McIvor as the choice of the voters and consequently the party's candidate. C. Purvis immediately moved that Mr McIvor's nomination be made unanimous and added he was glad to support Mr McIvor to the limit. The vote was McIvor, 139; Purvis, 31.

Rising to thank the delegates, Mr McIvor said he would be a poor Canadian if he did not feel a thrill at receiving the nomination of this riding for the second time. He thanked the delegates for their confidence in him and complimented Mr Purvis on his splendid attitude. It was a great pleasure to be associated in securing the nomination, but of the final result he was not worrying. He felt certain from the feeling of the meeting and the constituency at large, that he was to be the next Federal member for Camrose constituency.

He had confidence in the value of Women's Liberal clubs, stating that the women were "the pivots of the whole political machinery." They were in an excellent position to get the vote out on election day and he advised the formation of such clubs in every corner of the constituency.

"I will, if elected, endeavor in my best to be a credit to the constituency," he concluded, "and to live up to it fully. In a riding such as this, non-partisanship is a definition, the representative should go to Ottawa with all classes of the community

To The Electors
Having been Nominated as the
Liberal Candidate For The Stettler Constituency
I beg to solicit your Votes and Support in the Provincial Election of June 19th
I would like to see all the Electors before voting day, but find this impossible on account of the size of the Constituency.
I am, therefore, soliciting your support through the columns of the Press, and I would ask the Electors for your Post Vote on the ballot paper, and if, for unavoidable reasons you cannot give your vote give me your Second Vote.
Be sure and mark the ballots with the numerals 1 and 2 opposite your choices and not with an "x."

Miss Muriel Griffith is leaving today for Red Deer, Ontario, where she has secured an assistant of the summer resort for the past two or three seasons, and will let her own position during the summer.

Mrs. E. Sheriff, mother of Will Sheriff, her sister Mrs. Russell Tay, and Mr. Tay and little Bobbie arrived very unexpectedly on Monday evening from the States for a real holiday at the Sheriff home

A Band Concert will be given on Saturday afternoon, June 21st at the dancing rink for the purpose of raising funds for the provincial band competitions. An open air concert will also be given on the main corner in the band stand next Saturday evening, June 28th.

The weather this week has been fine and favorable for the crops. There was a nice shower on Tuesday evening, but the high winds on Wednesday night will increase the soil drifting. Rain will have to fall soon in this district to give a reasonable crop.

Political meetings are the order of the day and night at present in this constituency, and all three candidates are holding them each night. Last night, the Conservative leader, or was a visitor in town on Wednesday on his way to meetings in Bashaw and Camrose.

Sharpe & Pace are running a very successful campaign in this district and are the owners of the three cars now being used by the Liberal party leaders. The two cars in use are providing a popular attraction, and we think it safe to say everybody in the public generally are finding their service and is pleased to have such service and is pleased to have such a fine garage. Sale and it will continue for a few days yet.

Parents Pay Way As Guests Of Zoo

Visitors to the London, England, zoo are often puzzled by the word "Subscriber" which appears on the cards describing certain animals. These are the paying guests of the Zoological Society. There are few of them now that there used to be, but they still number hundreds.

Sometimes one is made for the yearly membership ticket and affixed to the cage for $3.00. Instead of keeping the offer it was thought to discover whether the interested would for a month, hear the other's side of the story. Dr. Ida.

Subscribers seldom are frequently left "on approval" for six weeks or so by Jonathan Rather the case of purchase. There are even a few cases of the kind which are kept quite to the public, though London zoo disapproves of the practice.

As a rule the lodgers are humble of kinds of distribution, belonging to persons particularly interested in the species they "entertain." Almost all the members of the London family, with stock, for the pleasure, which with the city rats from Smithfield, and from "the purlieus of Tottenham" are to hear from Lord Rothschild. The kangaroos and bears, however, are owned by the public.

Occasionally there is also a lodger from the Buckingham Palace zoo—usually not—and other animals sent to play with the children are sometimes loaned by other zoos or acquired in exchange. Lord Rothschild has "rented" one of his animals.

Owners of rare creatures lend them the brains are sometimes allowed to keep them in the zoo until they are sold to others. Often such a visit ends in the animal being purchased by the zoo, or either owner or individual. A lizard-headed monitor has just exhausted his first year of the visit.

THE LAST STRAW

The most serious load ever in the last ship nearly an hour, and the patient sheep exhibited had had the stuck down for her inspection.

"There would not you," he said as a last resource, taking down yet another pair. But still she was not satisfied.

"I don't like them," she said, "they are always trying to get under when they are a bit old."

"Well, madam," replied the exasperated salesman, "didn't you ?"

LUCKY MAN

Pete "Dad, you are a lucky man."

Father "How is that?"

Pete "You won't have to buy me any school books this year. I have been left in the same class."

Announcing

TEXACO-ETHYL

THE "DRY" ETHYL GASOLINE

The Texas Company of Canada, Limited, announces that Texaco, the original "dry" gas has been combined with Ethyl fluid. It means the linking of two famous names in motor fuels to produce one of the finest gasolines ever offered the motoring public—Texaco-Ethyl!

The Ethyl fluid in itself cannot perform miracles any more than rich cream can make poor coffee good. The better the gasoline you begin with, the better the Ethyl Gasoline.

The new and better Texaco, the original "dry" gas that vaporizes instantly, plus Ethyl equals the last word in automobile fuels Texaco, the driest of dry gases, permits complete and uniform diffusion of Ethyl through the manifold into the cylinders. It creates higher standards of power, speed and mileage for any car, old or new. This new premium grade is now available at Texaco Service Stations to all motorists who desire a superior anti-knock gasoline. Try it today!

CLEARING'S REVIEW OF THE WINNIPEG MARKETS

Thursday, June 5th, 1930.

CANADA

BRAN—No improvement has been noticeable in receipts on the Chicago market, during the past week. Shorter stocks and grain fed cows are finding a moderately active demand, while very few heifers have been offered. Prices are holding to best steady. Choice heavy steers made from $8.25@9.00; choice light from $8.75@9.00, good $8.25@8.50; medium $8@8.25, common kinds at $7.50@8.00. Choice heifers also brought from $8@8.25, good $7.25 @8.75. Choice cows from $7.75@ 8.00, good $7.25@7.75, medium from $7.25@7.50, common $6@6.75, the canner and cutters from $5@6.25. Choice bulls brought from $5.50@ 6.00, medium $5@5.50 and unsteady (from $5.50 up. Choice light calves made from $10@$12 with common kinds at $9@$7. FEEDERS and STOCKERS—Trading in this market continues quiet, while the prices show little change from last week. Feeder steers made from $7@$7.75, stock steers $6@$7, stock heifers at $5@$5.50 and stock cows from $5@ $5.25.

BEEF—Market at Edmonton has not been active during the past week as buyers have been indifferent, with the result that some of the offerings were hard to turn over. Choice heavy steers made from $10@$10.25, choice light $10@ 10.50, good $9.75@$10, medium $9@9.50, common $8@8.50. The choice heifers brought from $10.25 @$10.50 good $10@$10.25. Choice cows made from $8.75@$9, good $8 @8.50, medium $7.25@7.75, common kinds made from $6@7, and canners and cutters from $3.50@ 5.25. The choice bulls went over the scales at $5.50@5.85. The medium kinds $4.50@5 and calves from $4.25 up. Choice calves brought from $10.25@$11.50 and common from $6@8. FEEDERS and STOCKERS—Trading at the market are moving quite freely at unchanged prices. Feeder steers made from $5.50@$7.50, stock steers $5@$7.25, stock heifers $5.50@$7, and stock cows from $5@$5.

HOGS

Market at Calgary on Wednesday was $11.20 for bacon; $12 for select with butchers selling at $11.15. This quotation shows an advance of 65 cents over last week's close

Edmonton reports bacon hogs as bringing $11.35 on a fed and watered basis on Wednesday. Saints made a 35c premium over this quotation while butcher hogs were discounted 15c

SHEEP

Trading very quiet at Calgary Prices are about steady. Yearlings from $7@$7.50, ewes $5@$6; new lambs from $7@$8.

Edmonton reports receipts insufficient to establish a market. The few offerings bringing $7.50@$8; ewes are $5@$7, lambs from $9@$10.50.

GRAIN

Scattered buying by Chicago and eastern interests caused a firm opening in Winnipeg on Wednesday but as soon as this demand was satisfied the market eased off. General rains in southern Saskatchewan and Manitoba and scattered showers in southern Alberta helped in the downward trend Closing prices were off more than 1c

BUTTER-FAT — BUTTER — EGGS, CREAM—Receipts showing steady improvement as grass is now carrying cows. Prices holding steady Special quoted at 31c to 32c first, No 1's, second grade at 30c to 30c CREAMERY BUTTER—Market declined 1c this week making No. 1 cartons 34c, No. 2, 32c, No 1 prints 33c; No. 2, 31c Surplus appearing in parts at Alberta Small movement to the east. Demand fairly active DAIRY BUTTER—Values are lower in sympathy with creamery product. Fancy table finding good demand at 25c to 27c. No. 1, 24c to 25c, No. 2, 24c to 24c. EGGS—Trade business nearly at 22.5c per 100 lbs. No. 1's Candlewicks eliminating is being done

POULTRY—Receipts consist a few lots, but very few choice tenders have been marketed so far Poor in good conditions and turning over fairly easily. Broiler price not attractive. Summer roast trade has not commenced yet. No. 1 fowl, over 4 lbs., 19c; No. 1 under 4 lbs. 18c, No. 2, 2c; roosters, 2c; old tom turkeys, 12c; broilers 18c These prices prevail on live basis. EGGS—Decline of 1c registered on this market on Monday Session, 21c; Tues., 20c; seconds, 18c. Receipts light but quality not very good and no lack of hardlings are reported at seconds, this is reason for decline in price. Wednesday showed prices easier.

HAY—Receipts supply beginning to get cleaned up. Offers are very limited. Upland quoted at $12 per ton. Some cases of timothy quoted at $15 per ton. Prices nominal. Alfalfa quoted at $16@$20 per ton as to quality. Oats—Receipts have been light and quality not very good and no lack of hardlings are reported at seconds, this is reason for decline in price. Wednesday showed prices easier.

is sufficient to fill all orders. The question of its growth

GRAIN

Underwear of market very weak and a drop may be affected any day Tenders not buying Receipts from country increasing and quality improving

WOOL

Cutback not very bright. Nothing arriving from country points yet, but letters are forwarding bags and rates on that account are prevailing. Cold weather will delay the shearing

FURS

No interest being taken in this market. Summer period of idleness is now in progress.

Bank Of Montreal Issues Strong Report For Half-Year Period

Paid-up Capital is at a New High Level of $22,000,000—Good Account $25,000,000. Two Millions Above Paid-up Capital—Total Deposits Reported at $600,000,000.

The Bank of Montreal is now formulating to shareholders a particularly satisfactory statement for the half year to April 30th.

In the face of unusual conditions the Bank has been able to keep strong in liquid assets and cash and at the same time to show satisfactory profits. In the general statement one of the outstanding features is the increase in current loans in Canada. Both Capital and Rest are at new high levels. The Paid-up Capital now stands at $22,000,000, up from $20,540,700 a year ago, while the Rest has been increased to $25,000,000 from $22,540,700 at which level it is $2,000,000 above the Paid-up Capital.

It is likely due to the larger capital employed that the Bank has been able to report to shareholders slightly increased profits for the six months, as compared with the corresponding period last year The profits amounted to $3,343,917, up from $3,021,251 There were also received in the six months payments of $51,000 as premiums on new most. These amounts, when added to the balance carried forward, brought the total available for distribution up to $4,330,956 This was appropriated as follows: Dividends and interest on instalment payments on new stock $2,147,500, amount credited to Rest Account $51,000, provision for taxes Dominion Government $529,979, reservation for bank premises $200,000, leaving the balance of profit and loss to be carried forward at $1,301,823

Strong Liquid Position

In the general statement of assets and liabilities total assets are shown at $622,500,245, compared with $613,703,052 a year ago. Of this, liquid assets are reported at $377,460,394, equivalent to 51.25 per cent. of liabilities to the public Included in them are cash holdings of $66,617,466, equal to 13.99 per cent of public liabilities.

At the same time there is a some what unexpected increase in current loans and discounts in Canada and these are now reported at $260,-301,194, up from $214,464,197 While a portion of this increase may be attributed to the wheat situation, it is also known that there is an increased tendency on the part of large customers to avail themselves of banking accommodation.

Castoria is a substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is harmless—you do not have to consult a physician when you use it. It contains neither opium, morphine nor other narcotic substance. It is a sweet, pleasant substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Teething Drops and Soothing Syrups. It regulates the stomach and bowels, assimilates the food, gives healthy and natural sleep. Children like it. It cures Diarrhoea and Wind Colic. It relieves Teething Troubles, cures Constipation and Flatulency. It assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Panacea—The Mother's Friend. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. See the kind that comes with it.

As was to be expected with the change in the general credit situation throughout the world, the most important variations are in the call loan department Call loans in Canada are down to $27,669,256 from $39,200,772 and call loans in Great Britain and the United States have been reduced to $69,892,615 from $110,271,249 At the same time, balances due to banks and banking correspondents elsewhere than in Canada—which to a great extent represented deposits temporarily placed on this side due to higher loan rates—are now down to $5,856,264 from $35,397,197

Total deposits are reported at $558,597,752 Of the above, deposits bearing interest are $365,-256,327 and deposits not bearing interest $192,618,297

The principal accounts show as follows :—

Total assets	$622,500,245
Liquid assets	377,460,394
Current loans and discounts in Canada	260,194,194
Deposits not bearing interest	192,618,297
Deposits bearing interest	365,979,455
Dominion and Provincial Government Securities	56,661,956
Canadian Municipal Securities & British, Foreign & Colonial Public Securities	21,826,227
Capital	22,000,000
Rest	25,000,000

WATCH YOUR DIAMOND

None of our possessions are so carelessly treated as the diamond Although these beautiful stones are the most concentrated of all forms of wealth the owners of diamonds are proverbially negligent in giving them the care which will keep them at their best and properly safeguard them against loss The owner of an automobile has his car examined at regular intervals It seldom occurs to many owners of diamonds even of very valuable pieces to take the same precaution

To preserve the maximum brilliancy of a diamond, it should be cleaned regularly Many people think the stones can be properly cleaned by rubbing with an ordinary brush or piece of cloth The cleaning of so rare a piece of property as the diamond should only be entrusted to a jeweler From experience with different gems and their settings, the jeweler obviously will be able to do the work far more skillfully than the average owner Since the beauty of diamonds depends upon their brilliancy it is poor judgment to neglect having them examined at regular intervals.

The safety of the diamond is threatened by wearing them for long periods without having them inspected. The setting may become weakened from ordinary wear The attempts of the average owner of diamonds to brush them up, also tends to loosen the stones The Jeweler examines each setting with a magnifying glass and can detect at a glance if the stone is becoming loose. Countless stones have been lost by the failure of their owners to take the simple precaution to have their gems cleaned and examined by competent jewelers.

ERSKINE NEWS

Golf baseball seems to be the order of the evenings lately in our fair village. Two local baseball nines have had some lively encounters on the diamond, opposed by a North team, Walker high school girls and Jack Sherman's nine, to the senior nominal. The game consisted of the latter's goals at date of writing at 36, Sherman's team leading the only one who backed the winners enough to beat the locals Wednesday. North entertained Stettler on Mona ground. We suggest the boys get together, every a league on the order of the old Wednesday League and have regular games in Stettler and provide a tournament for the holidays.

A regular meeting of the Community Board of Trade will be held in Webb's Hall on Monday, June 23rd. The committee in charge is requesting a large turnout, as do the president.

We are very anxious to know when was in the parent a young lady of our acquaintances married up this fall. If so how come the digni lately

The dance on Friday night last was very poorly attended, and the music up very early.

We are still waiting for that much needed rain. Where is a general impression that this section of the province is the only locality in need of it, but from travellers' reports, all parts of the province, with exception of the north of Edmonton districts, need rain just as bad as we do. If one can get any satisfaction out of the thought, we must be just as hard up as Aztec, and neither any richer than our neighbors. From the standpoint of prospects.

At a recent meeting of the school board it was decided to close one of the school rooms in town starting in September. This shortens the by a little over two years. Stettler will now be a three room school as of 1937

Women's Institute held their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. J. H. Furr on Friday afternoon, June 6th. Mrs. J. Bradley gave an interesting report on the recent W. I. convention to which she was the delegate.

A surprise party was tendered Miss Thelma Lyon on Tuesday evening, June 10th, in honor of Miss Irene Lyon by the young ladies of the town and community. Games, dancing, etc. were indulged in and supported to her home. A miscellaneous shower was given and Miss Lyon was presented with a purse and useful vase.

Miss Florence Peterson returned from Camrose Normal School the the summer holidays last week. On to E. J. Peterson came up from Three Hills for the week end the family was together again for a short time at least.

Basketball games for the Central Alberta High School Championship district were held in Erskine on Saturday last and Erskine scored entered teams for both boys and girls.

In the boys' section Camrose defeated to Erskine, Bleeding beat Donalda and Erskine beat Forestburg, that year's district champs. Beaten by them beat Erskine in the finals game by a small margin. The highlights in the Erskine games was the work of little Jack Bower, who scored ten points in one game in spite of being closely covered by the opposing guards. He were double his weight.

In the girls section Donalda beat Camrose and Erskine beat Bodgeville 16 to 2. Coalshell beat Bleeding and Erskine beat Donalda 6 to 4.

In the Final Bleeding was forced to take the losing end of a 10 to 9 score from Coalshell.

A feature of the final game was the work of Miss Lottie Parr at guard holding down Coalshale star performer to one basket only during the game. Great credit is due to his coaches, Mr. Reid of the teams and interior to their manager for their excellent showing. Both these teams are extremely good for their size as they encounter much more weight than they oppose in their opponents. We hope for better luck next year in connection with bringing back the shields

To The Electors Of The Stettler Constituency

Having been nominated as Conservative Candidate for the Provincial Legislature, I wish to take this opportunity of soliciting your support at the coming Election, on June 19th, 1930.

If I Am Elected:

In matters pertaining to the welfare of this District, I wish to reserve the privilege of supporting any measure that may appeal to me as being of value to the Constituency which I will represent.

I further pledge myself to work for the benefit of the Agricultural interests of the District, it being the great basic industry of the Stettler Constituency.

STETTLER LOSES TO CLIVE 11 TO 1

The Stettler nine had to take another defeat from Clive last night. The local boys made their runs in the first inning when Dee, Wrights bit a lowly three-bagger bringing in Lyon and Chapman.

The Clive aggregation were hitting their stride hard and in their second time at bat succeeded in getting two three-base hits and managed to score six runs before the side was retired. Joe Baldwin was pitching (a usual good game for Clive and his brother A. Baldwin who was catching for him, made the only home run of the game.

The score might not have been so one-sided if Drummond had been in better shape, but it was, without a doubt the poorest field the boys have had to play on this season.

Both teams changed pitchers in the ninth inning, Lyon going to second for Clive and L. un relieved Mclntyre. On account of darkness Umpire Sherman was obliged to call the game at the end of this inning. Score by innings:

Clive	6 0 0 0 0 5 — 11

The Line-ups:

CLIVE—Swenson, cf; A. Baldwin, c; Johnson, 3b; J. Baldwin, p; Short ss, Jeqhus, rf; Whalen, 2b; Meldrum 1b, Tevik, lf

STETTLER—Lyon, 3b; Chapman, lf; Wright, 1b, Savage, c; Wright, ss; Dee, ss; Rothwell, 2b; McCartie, rf; McIvor, p; Kirkpatrick, cf.

HOME RUNS BY THE BOSERTON BROTHERS AND CHAPMAN IN RED WILLOW GAME

The Stettler ball team went on a batting spree Tuesday evening when they trounced Red Willow 17 to 3. The score was 3 to 1 in Red Willow's favor until the fourth inning when a home run by Chas. Swenson, along with hits by Rothwell, McIvor and Wright brought in five runs.

It looked as though Red Willow was going to make a bunch of runs in their half of the fourth, they had three men on bases and only one man out, but Sorem was working hard on the mound, and struck out the next two batters to retire the side.

Stettler's biggest inning came in the fifth when they scored seven more runs. After this McDonnell took Hilbery's place in the box but did not prove much better as Chapman made a home run off him the first time up.

Score by innings:

Stettler	0 1 1 5 7 0 1 0 — 17

The Line-ups:

RED WILLOW—S. Lyster, 3b; Hambly, 1b; Hilbery, p; Sipes, c; McDonnell, lb; Allenson, lf; Cronk, rf; K. Lyster, rf; McCorkindale, ss.

STETTLER—McIver, 3b; Chapman, cf; Wright, 1b; C. Sorenson, rf; Savage, c; H. Sorenson, ss; Rothwell, 2b; Sorum, p; Stansbatne, lf.

ERSKINE NEWS

Mrs. C. C. Newcomb was taken to the Municipal Hospital at Stettler on Monday evening, and was operated on at once for appendicitis. She is doing well according to latest reports from the hospital.

We are glad to say that Mrs. Harry Brookhart is recovering so satisfactorily that she is expected back here shortly.

Mr. Robert A. Parker of Calgary, Assistant to the Grand Secretary I.O.O.F. paid an informal visit to Bruttne I.O.O.F. No. 53, on Tuesday evening and gave the boys a very interesting address.

Miss Mary Peisentshaugh arrived home from St. Hilda's school for girls, Calgary, on Monday's train.

Quite a crowd of Brahmites attended the dance in Stettler Arena on Monday evening, between Mr. A. L. Sanders and Mr. C. L. Wills, and report a very unstructed and enjoyable time.

We are informed that the Erskine scouters have lost two more sad ball games lately with Bevis, and a month of town team. As Erskine has some very good material for a team, we would suggest more practice.

Since last date of writing we have had some much needed rain around an inch has fallen, which will at least improve the feed situation. We are hoping that the rains will continue and that our growing crop will improve sufficiently to ensure the district some grain to market this fall.

Mr D R. Roberts and wife, of Concord, were guests at the week end, visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Woodward.

Mr. A. L. Sanders held his final meeting before election in Erskine at Webb's hall on Wednesday, June 18th.

Mr. E. A. Blair spoke on behalf of his candidature in Webb's hall on Saturday night last. Quite a large number of voters attended to hear his views on provincial matters.

On Tuesday evening the Erskine Bruins challenged the Wildcats to a game of softball and took the short end of a rather heavy score.

Real lights of the game were the record of five putouts in one inning pulled off by the Wildcats. This was caused by a triple play being made on the 3rd out.

The Wildcat dash have accelerated of late, one of their runs and the official scorer grants another Wildcat a score on an errored run.

The Wildcat ladies need coaching but such is unadvisable on running bases.

One Wildcat got to bat on a scratched sacrifice and stole the other three bases on an overthrow.

The Bruins were weak at second and left field was kept busy running back to allow the ball to drop in front. The Bruins' pitcher was weak in the pinches. Some ball game, oh! What? Lots of fun though and we hope to have more of them.

Botha News

The weather is still going great guns for agricultural work. Crop prospects have never been so poor before at this time of year While we received a nice rain last Friday, the almost constant wind does quite a damage. Fields that were green are now as bare as if they had never been planted. There is still life in them and a good soaking rain would make a lot for feed crop, though it might be too late to produce mature grain, but every day that passes lessens the chance

Housewives can clean up dirt almost any time they feel like it and many times have it to do when they don't feel like it.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Walker passed a very unpleasant experience during the thunderstorm of the evening of June 16th. The lightning struck the telephone wire and after shattering several poles along the road ran along the wire and entered the house through the telephone wire. Five bottles in several places in the house and the telephone was ruined, the inside being twisted together, even the screw that fastens the door was melted and had to be pried out. As this is the sixth time lightning has come in on Mr. Walker's phone he refused to have the new one inside. It is outside in a box fastened to a post.

The rousing demonstration held in the Hall under the auspices of the Institute with Miss Goodall as demonstrator drew a good crowd Most of the town ladies attended, while as many as possible got in from the country Tuesday was the final day of the demonstration.

Mr and Mrs. H Dalby have returned from the States and are expecting to stay in Alberta for the present.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hilbs are rejoicing in the birth of a son, born at the Municipal hospital Thursday June 12th Mother and baby are doing well

Fire broke out on Monday morning at the Blumenhurst farm and the high wind made it impossible to get it under control, until the barn, a granary and the brooder house were consumed. We understand that it started from the brooder Many of the contents in these buildings were also destroyed Men from Botha and the adjoining neighborhood were there and did manage To save the house when the wind shifted to the north in the afternoon Much sympathy is felt for Mr. and Mrs. Blumenhurst in this heavy loss.

A number of Botha folks attended the debate in Stettler on Thursday evening and the general opinion is that honors were evenly divided. Those who were absent Liberals when they went in returned the same way. They were disappointed.

The George Monster's family of Calgary are now visiting at the Tennant home.

Road work in this locality began last week with Purvis McMillan again in charge. They are ramping near John Rottenhauer's and with these heavy wind storms cutting in to the work is hauling the land to keep ahead of their board bill.

The Misses Elm and Doris Baxter arrived on Sunday evening. They motored up from Chico. Cal. They stopped for a few days in Edmonton visiting with Mr and Mrs. Guy Rothenhaul

The Ladies' Aid spent a most enjoyable afternoon at the Thursday when they met for their June meeting at the home of Mrs. J Peacocke There was great enthusiasm shown when over thirty ladies and their drive ovrvas ladies to a meeting on one of the worst days we have had this summer. Much praise is due Mrs. Peacocke as a most efficient hostess. Mrs. Hunter gave us an interesting and illustrated account of her trip to Montreal. Mrs. A. A. Cunningham, Mrs. R. Lowery Mrs V Peacocke assisted the hostess in serving a delicious lunch.

Church service will be held next Sunday, June 22nd. Rev. Goddard will preach.

FENN NEWS

A very pleasant meeting of the U.F.W.A. was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs Fleshman The members decided to hold their next meeting at the Lake, this to take the form of a picnic to which all the ladies of the community and their friends are cordially invited Each member will bring a lunch with her We hope that swimming and games will be enjoyed. The date will be Thursday (not Wednesday) July 10th, the day after our annual meeting date We make a special effort to be present and make this an enjoyable occasion

This week has been a momentous one for Fenn district, since we have at last enjoyed relief from the long and worrying drought A total of 1.96 inches of rain have fallen since Tuesday night when the first storm occurred and although some damage was experienced by the gardens and crops from the wind that accompanied the rain-storm, everything looks very much better for the long prayed for moisture

The baseball game with Pine Lake and Fenn was postponed on Friday night, owing to the weather Arrangements will probably be made for a game in the near future to be followed by a dance as previously advertised

The children are taking their examinations this week and we extend our good wishes to those who are writing

Don't forget to go to the school and vote on Thursday

Miss Lizzie Kerber who is well known in this district has been confined to the Stettler Municipal hospital for some two weeks suffering with rheumatism.

We wish to congratulate Miss Pelay Burke on winning first prize in an essay contest sponsored by the W.C.T.U of Stettler Her essay will be sent to Edmonton and entered in the Provincial competition.

2nd Vice-President, Mrs. H. Black
Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. H Hart
Dave Drinnan returned on Sunday from Edmonton and reports Mrs Drinnan making favorable progress following her operation.

Many friends went to Stettler on Sunday afternoon to attend the funeral of Dave Prothero, whom passed away at the early age of 39 in a and has to all who knew him.

The funeral rites at grave were conducted by Rising Sun Lodge, A. F and A.M., Cadsby, of which the deceased was a member, assisted by Apollo Lodge, Stettler.

"Sir, sir," pointed the new shepherd, "I got all the sheep in, but I had to run some to get those lambs

"Lambs, I have no lambs, tell'e me what you got?" was the answer.

Looking into the sled the astonished shepherd saw fourteen panting Jack Rabbits.

"Inglee my embarrassment," said Aunt Emma, "when, according to my usual custom I looked under the bed before going to sleep. I had forgotten I was in an upper berth."

AT STETTLER EXHIBITION

August 7, 8 and 9

Laugh, Clown, Laugh!

The day as well-trained that he was before in Stettler and Pictured.

Stettler Exhibition will be revived again this year after being off the boards for two or three years. It will be bigger and better than it ever was, and has been put on this year because the Government has a new plan for grants and has discontinued grants to smaller Fairs and will encourage only Fairs that come up to a certain standard as the larger towns.

The publicity committee is in charge of Doug Penn this year, and when you remember how Doug put over the Old Timers' Re-union some years ago, are assured that he will put the Fair before the public in the same way this year One of the features of the Exhibition besides the agricultural exhibits will be the Dominion and Govrett Show, which will give the juvenile contingent grands in Fairs and admire how all the entertainers must they care for. There will be trained monkeys and clowns and trained bears, and a real old time circus in a smaller compass. This will be all new stuff, never before seen except at the city Fairs and will attract record crowds in itself.

Other information up this subject will soon be given by talking to Mr. Joseph Smith.

The query is composed of one heart of coal oil to twenty quarts of soapy water.

JUST STORIES

Little Boy: "Mother, I'm going to be late father with a very solemn face: "Is it true father, that marriage is a failure?" His father surveyed him thoughtfully for a moment. "Well, Boy," he finally replied, "if you get a rich wife it's almost as good as a failure"

The Newlyweds had bought a chicken, and as Newlywed was an amateur at carving, his wife insisted on his learning how to carve from the cookery book, so that he should not display his ignorance before their guests.

When the fowl appeared on the table, the host was plainly at a loss how to begin.

"Why don't you carve it, dear?" asked his wife, anxiously. "You know exactly how to do it."

"Of course I do, love," said Newlywed, "but I can't find the dotted line."

Charlie Chaplin said at a supper party in New York: "I don't always make a million a minute I remember a occasion when I was prompter in an English provincial theatre for 15 shillings a week.

"I worked harder than I do now. In addition to keeping the actors in their lines, I had to make all the suitable noises.

There's A Reason For The Popularity Of Women's "Enna-Jettick Health Shoes"

Putting on a pair of Enna Jettick Shoes you step into your own imprints, as it were. You do not crowd your feet and unconsciously hunch. YOU DO NOT HAVE TO BREAK IN THE SHOE—That is accomplished in the moulding and the construction of the Shoe. Lack of proper exercise and improper fitting shoes are the cause of certain arch and foot troubles.

ENNA-JETTICK HEALTH SHOES incorporate several original features that maintain the strength and buoyancy of the foot and prevent those lameminesses that are suffered by so many.

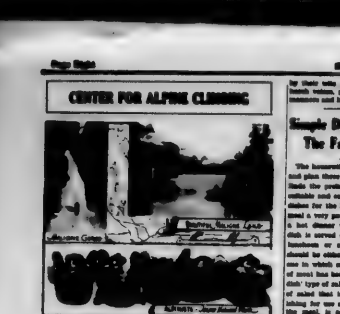
Lord Derby, Sportsman, Wit, Dandy

Derby is a name held in honor wherever the pursuit of domestic animals arouses a real interest, for by the judgment of most authorities of sane outlook some member of the family has been identified with the sport for a century or more. Derby's genius, combined with certain special factors, never quite seems to conquer with the result in most cases that a certain difference in some of the Derbyites reminds one forcibly the advertising of sugar: but we presume this probability is to be against saying anything that might promote the sale of a particular beverage. We have no such intention and were ashamed to say that we were speaking of the Derbyites with more than usual respect for their sagacity. Nevertheless, Edward Stanley, seventeenth Earl of Derby, was a man of parts. He was a sportsman of the first water, a wit, a dandy, a politician, a statesman, and a classical scholar. He was also a bachelor renowned for his many amours and a skilful performer on the violin.

It was in fact as an after-dinner violinist that he first attracted attention. Lord Derby was a member of the famous Dilettanti Society, which was founded by Sir Thomas Dashwood, the Lord Sandwich of Captain Cook's time, and the object of the society was to bring together a number of the prominent wits of the day. Among the members was Horace Walpole, and the society was a sort of Bohemian club. It was the fashion before the Dilettanti was established. It was the custom for the Grand Tour, and after the Dilettanti was established. It was the custom for the Grand Tour, and after the Dilettanti was established. It was the custom for the Grand Tour, and after

CENTER FOR ALPINE CLIMBING



Into a country where there are many important peaks still unconquered and even unnamed, will come Alpinists from all over the world for the 1930 annual camp of the Alpine Club of Canada, July 20th to August 16th, in Jasper National Park, Alpine members of the revived profession of England, will be among those at this year's camp.

In this vast mountain kingdom visitors will by their skill in mountain lake region, where they will gather at Mt. Robson, Mt. Christie, Mt. Clevon, Mt. Warren, Mt. Harry Vent, Mt. Hadgins, and Mt. Resplendent—ranging from the eleven thousand feet in height, offer most interesting climbing problems.

It is perhaps the splendid profusion, the amazing of choice that distinguishes this region from all others. In the Rockies the folly of comparisons, where beauty is concerned, is always obvious. There are a score of lakes, each different, each the very best, held their places in the heart forever. Yet the mountains are as distinctive as the lakes of the others are colorful and scenic. Maligne is the grandest of the group. The composition of the view picture has lots it has good enough beauty to make a dozen ordinary homes.

The Bridges Valley is one of the most interesting in Jasper National Park, but only an account of its remarkable scenery, but because of big game trails and hikers—Medicine and Maligne.

The famous canyon of the Maligne River is an interesting feature of what nature can do in the way of natural carving with unlimited means of working and with nothing water as her tool. Its great depth, its narrowness, and then with which to experiment. These colors are usually commercial, they seem to be made up of small amounts of left-over most unpalatable, other, they may be made in advance of the meal.

If the salad is provided as a last minute coup and is followed by a fresh dessert and a hot beverage the meal will be an inexpensive easily prepared and thoroughly satisfying one.

Potato salad is a very popular dish. The following recipe for Queen of our readers:

Queen, Egg and Potato Salad

Hard cook four eggs. Cook six or eight slices of bacon until crisp, drain well, chill and break into small pieces. Prepare three cupfuls of cold, cooked potatoes cut in cubes.

Cut three of the eggs into small pieces, and combine with the bacon, beans, 3- cup salad dressing, 1-4 cup chopped celery, 1 small onion, finely chopped; 1 teaspoonful of salt and 1-4 teaspoonful pepper. Serve on lettuce if desired. Garnish with the remaining egg cut in slices, and a dash of paprika.

French Cream Potato Salad

Two cupfuls cold boiled potatoes, 1-3 stalks celery, a few grains of pepper, 1 teaspoonful vinegar, 1 1-4 tablespoonfuls chopped onions, 1 teaspoonful salt, a few grains of paprika, 1-8 cup cream, 1 tablespoonful butter.

Cut the potatoes and celery, mix with the minced onion, salt, pepper and paprika and the vinegar and allow to stand 15 minutes. Heat the cream and butter until the butter is melted. Pour over the potatoes, stirring with a fork, so that the potatoes will not be mashed. Serve cold. Nice with thinly sliced cold meat.

A Favorite Potato Salad

Two cups cold cooked potatoes, 2 hard-cooked eggs, 1 tablespoonful onion, a little chopped green pepper, 2 small onions.

Cut the potatoes, egg and cooked fine, shred the piece of pepper and onion and add to the potatoes. Cover with mayonnaise. Let it chill thoroughly and serve the top and garnish with long strips of cucumber pickle, cooked through piece of hard cooked egg whites. Pass with this additional mayonnaise or boiled dressing.

Another good combination is 2 cupfuls cooked potatoes, 1 cup finely chopped cabbage, 1-4 cup chopped cucumber pickles, and the yolks of 2 hard cooked eggs. Moisten with cream and season with salt and pepper.

Simple Dishes For The Family Supper

The housewife who must prepare good plain three meals a day usually finds the problem of obtaining palatable and easily prepared meals dishes for the luncheon or supper meal a very perplexing one. When a hot dinner with a hearty food dish is served during the day, the luncheon or supper meals dish should be either a immediate one or one in which only a small amount of meat has been used. The 'main dish' type of salad, that is the type of salad that is sufficiently satisfying for use as the main dish of the meal, is an exceedingly useful dish with which to experiment. These salads are usually economical, they usually are a means of small amounts of left-over meat and vegetables, they may be made in advance of the meal.

If the salad is provided as a last minute coup and is followed by a fresh dessert and a hot beverage the meal will be an inexpensive easily prepared and thoroughly satisfying one.

CRIME LABORATORY IS NEEDED IN TORONTO

On the recommendation of Coroner Crawford, a laboratory for the study of crime may be established in Toronto and the general opinion is that this city would provide an admirable clinic. It was noted that when Toronto detectives wished to learn whether a certain bullet had been fired by a certain pistol, they had to journey to Montreal to make the discovery. If it had happened that the person suspected of using the pistol wanted to fire he would have had an opportunity while the police were visiting Quebec. So far as the general public is aware there is no body of experts in the service of the police department with the exception of the men in charge of the finger print and the man who makes the Bertillon measurements, both of which positions demand certain rather than psychological qualities. There are, of course, specialists. There are men who have a special knowledge of lead-pencils and their makers. There are others who from long pursuit of dope traffickers know their devious ways and can spot an addict as far as they can see him. But apart from the machinery by means of which messages to and from the men on the beat can be flashed with the swiftness of electricity the police of Toronto appear to be without those aids to the work which are required in large cities.

Writing in the New York Times magazine, F. Raymond Daniell speaks of some of the departments of experts which have been developed in that city. There seems to be no such periodic dissatisfaction with the work accomplished by the police that we should not cite that city as an example to be copied if the data for any other city seem to be available. But in any event there is in New York what Mr. Daniell calls "an organized system of crime detection, the function of which is dependent upon a few experts and a large number of trustworthy individuals doing routine tasks." The science of ballistics is a new one, but there seems to be no good reason why the police force of any large city could not afford a medico legal expert like Dr. Deromme, of Montreal, who can tell by a microscopic examination of a bullet and a revolver, whether the one was discharged from the other. We presume that Dr. Deromme's opinions are no more the result of guesswork than are the opinions of trained an analyst as to whether he found in the organs of a dead man sufficient strychnine to have killed him.

Where it is the New York force a man, who by taking a glance inside the case of any watch can estimate to half a dozen firms in the city which might have sold it. He can also tell the value of a watch or piece of jewelry at a glance. He has made a special study of these things. He knows the secret mark of all the manufacturers, indistinguishable to the uneducated eye. Similarly, another man has become a motor expert. He knows just where each manufacturer places each of the plates bearing the car's serial number. The average thief is silly enough to change four or five plates to correspond with a faked bill of sale, but he generally overlooks one of them, and this expert can find it immediately and report he fraud Obviously one could not expect all the detectives on the force to equip themselves with this special knowledge, but in New York a box been made extremely useful to have one man with it at his finger tips. Still another detective has studied the Chinese tongs and tongmen and can give information resulting in such crooks when trouble breaks out.

Another is a specialist on blackhand threats. Because of its very cosmopolitan population, there has long ago been found advisable in New York to have detectives of various nationalities. It might be the police idea of a delicate compliment to appoint a couple of Jews to the force in this city, and perhaps an Irishman or an Italian, but the specialized crime that has its detecting specialists. Presumably no amateur ever blows up a safe. He does not know how. The man who forces them have there own special avenues of attack. No yeggman is versatile enough to have mastered more than his own. Therefore if a safe is opened in a certain way the expert at headquarters can give a shrewd guess as to the author of the crime. This information is communicated to the forces at large and then the routine work of hunting down the suspected persons proceeds.

There is one obstacle to the development of high and specialized intelligence in the police force of practically all cities, and that is the necessity for a detective to work his way up from the police force. Policemen are primarily engaged for physical qualities. A very modest quality of intellect indeed is required of them. The average person who becomes a detective is usually promoted because on occasion he displays the physical qualities of courage and determination. Former Chief Constable Dickson set his foot on the ladder which reached to the top of the force when he shot a burglar and arrested a murderer. It is not, as a rule, until after an officer has become a detective that his mental powers are thoroughly examined or tested. If they prove sufficient he will endure. If they remain average, he will stay on the job until somebody does creating a vacancy into which he automatically moves. It is true that from the various police forces detectives of high mental powers from time to time emerge, but they do so in defiance of the laws of probability. It seems that if certain experts whom work might be invaluable to a police force were to be enlisted, irrespective of their height, weight and muscular development, the force would be better qualified to deal with modern crime. Criminals, we note, come from all weights and heights. Those who prosper do so on contention of ignorance.

Final Results Of Provincial Elections

Election day, June 19th, for this constituency passed off quietly and the vote polled throughout the constituency was 95 less than in 1926. The total this year was 2627, and in 1926 the total was 2722, but we understand that the number of qualified ballots was greater this year, as that the totals were notably not far apart. Mr. Sanders polled 1602 votes in 1926 compared with 2140 in 1930. The Liberals polled 770 this year compared with 944 in 1926 while the Conservatives polled 1126 this year compared with 980 in 1926. The U.F.A. candidate had a majority of 37 over both candidates this year, and 980 over all in 1926. Before the election the prophecy was made that all three men would be elected, according to the quarter from which the news was received, but the electors, as usual, chose only one man out of the three Little banking was made on the result as it was felt positively that the U.F.A. candidate would be elected, although a count on the second choice was considered probable. Some tall guessing has been made since the election regarding the trend of the second choices, but it is probable that all three candidates would have shared substantially in the second choice and the first choice would have been about the same.

The following is the result of the final polls:—

OUT OF THE FRYING PAN

Physician announces that a child that practises every day on the piano won't develop the habit of finger nail biting. Yeah, but won't he develop the habit of practicing on the piano every day?—Boston Telegraph.

Band Concert Next Saturday Night In The Skating Rink

The Stettler Band will give a concert in the skating rink on Saturday evening next at 8 30, to raise funds for their trip to Calgary and Edmonton where they will compete in the provincial band tournaments. The band won first prize at Calgary last year and second at Edmonton, and they expect to do as well this year, as the boys have been practising faithfully during the past few weeks. The program on Saturday evening will include the best pieces to be played at the provincial tournaments, and the public will be able to hear them up and see how they like the selections that have been put on this year. The band should have a large audience on Saturday night, and dancing accommodation will be ample for the occasion

Baseball

The Tenne Colored Giants visited Stettler on Tuesday evening and took the long end of 7 to 3 score from the Stettler nine Joe Harper, pitcher for the Giants was the star performer, allowing but 5 hits to the Giant's pitcher An overthrow to second and a home by Dial resulted in two runs for the Giants in the second inning Kirkpatrick and Savage were Stettler's best batters each getting two safe ones. The line-up was in charge of W.L. Priest as follows:

Line-ups—

GIANTS—Bennette, cf; Winston, rf; Marshall, 2b; Harper (p); Reese 3b; Dorsey, lf; Dial, ss; Morehead c; Killingsworth, p

ERSKINE NEWS

Miss McDonald, of Mr. Hicks's College, Calgary, was a week end visitor here last week, the guest of Mrs. A. F. Peterson.

We are glad to note that Mrs. C. C. Newcombe, who was operated on for appendicitis last week at Stettler, is so well recovered to contemplate returning home today (Thursday.)

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Laing returned from Toronto on Wednesday's train. Mrs. Laing has been studying voice culture and piano at the Toronto Conservatory of Music for the past year, while Fred has attended the Orpheum convention on his recent holiday.

We were shocked to be informed of the sudden death of Mrs. Yates Fennel in Stettler Municipal Hospital on Tuesday morning last.

This was quite unexpected as everybody believed she was doing nicely after her recent ordeal.

The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the sorrowing husband and ra'alives.

Mrs Yates is nowin her loss her husband and th.ee children, a girl three years old and twin boys born on June 20th. The twins are doing well. The funeral will likely be held from the United Church, Erskine, to the Erskine Cemetery. on Friday, June 20th, at 2 30 p.m.

Mr. A. M. Hayes and Mr. W. A. Scotland left for Alberta and Kerrobert respectively, on Wednesday morning. Adam is looking over an elevator with a view to moving to a part of the province that has better crop prospects than Erskine. Mr. Scotland is bringing his brother Bill's car here from Kerrobert.

Mr. Jas. Peterson is with us once more, coming back from Three Hills on Monday. Jas has finished up all the work that part of Alberta had to offer in the time he has been away, and will now be added to any carpenter work in this locality! Cuss on in estimate!

A soft ball league has been formed composed of Erskine teams "A" and "B"; Behrens and Nevis. Games will be held in Erskine every Monday, Tuesday and Friday evenings, and in Nevis every Thursday night.

A complete schedule follows:—

June 30—Behrens vs. Erskine A.
June 31—Nevis vs. Erskine B.
June 27—Erskine B vs. Behrens.
June 28—Erskine B vs. Erskine A.
July 3—Nevis vs. Behrens.
July 4—Erskine A vs. Erskine B.
July 7—Nevis vs. Erskine A.
July 10—Erskine A vs. Nevis.
July 14—Erskine A vs. Nevis.
July 17—Nevis vs. Erskine B.
July 18—Erskine B vs. Behrens.
July 21—Erskine A vs. Erskine B.
July 22—Behrens vs. Nevis.
July 24—Nevis vs. Behrens.
July 25—Erskine B vs. Erskine A.
July 28—Erskine A vs. Behrens.
July 29—Behrens vs. Erskine B.
July 31—Nevis vs. Erskine A.
Aug. 1—Erskine B vs. Nevis.
Aug. 4—Erskine A vs. Nevis.
Aug. 5—Behrens vs. Nevis.

Games played on diamond of the town mentioned here. Behrens's home games played on Erskine diamond. All games called at 7 p.m.

Botha News

Our bushy needed and much needed for rain arrived on Friday of last week. It fell almost continuously from Friday afternoon until Saturday noon. The rain of the preceding week was of much benefit, but the barrels and storms rather reduced the fact for a number of days. Gardens are coming along nicely where the seed was not blown out of the ground. Grain is reviving although here isn't much hope for badly blown fields, and pastures are re-seeding nicely.

It is too soon yet to predict much on the crop, and if conditions in the entire West that was badly affected by the drouth, is similar to this district the boom in the Western prairie provinces will be here on to their shirts a while longer.

Prices for all grains at the present time give very little encouragement to farmers.

I. A. Cunningham went to Calgary on Wednesday where he is undergoing medical treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Jackson and family of Clover Bar are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert Hauser. Mr. and Mrs. Jackson are looking well and are taking great pleasure in renewing old acquaintances.

Mrs. Maurice Gibson is enjoying a visit from her father and mother, both of Edmonton.

The week ended up the school year and saw the finish of the examinations. Miss Gwynneth Pratt returned home for a couple of weeks ago and is writing here.

Mrs. Murray and infant daughter returned home last Friday. Both mother and baby are progressing nicely.

A real ball game took place on the 19th when Cadar came up to play the home team. The teams are evenly matched and the game was close throughout. The final score was 3 to 0 in favor of Cadar.

For the satisfaction of those who know and for the information of those who don't know we will correct the item in last week's Independent. The item should read "The Misses Ethel and Dark Hansell have arrived in Botha from their home in Chico, Cal."

The executive bodies will hold the regular meeting on next Thursday, p.m., July 3rd.

Liberals Will Have St. Denis 6 and Editor 1 in Next House

The last doubtful seat in the Alberta election, that of St. Paul, was definitely placed in the Liberal column today with the arrival of J. L. Joly U.F.A. candidate in Edmonton.

Mr. Joly states that there is still one poll to hear from and the present figures give a lead of nine votes to the Liberal candidate J.E. Decheine Mr. Joly concedes the election to his opponent, but the members from the two parties will certainly alter their respective standings.

With St Paul conceded to the Liberals, the standing of the parties in the next legislature will be:

U. F. A.	40
Liberals	4
Conservatives	4
Independents	1

In the last house the U.F.A. had 43 seats in a house of 63. Liberals had seven and Labor six, and the Conservatives 4.

Gadsby News

The splendid rain last Friday and Saturday has greatly brightened the outlook for all in this district. It was reported to be the best rain in two years

The regular meeting of the Women's Institute will be held on Saturday July 5th, at the home of Mrs. George Hampshire.

Miss Florence Draper spent the week end in town with Miss Betty Berry

Miss Martha Drinnan leaves next week for Edmonton, where she will enter the training school for nurses at the General Hospital

Mrs Bradey, of Lacombe is the guest of Mr and Mrs J A Brady

Miss Dorothy Corless from Edmonton, is visiting Mrs. R. R. Mennell at present.

Mrs E. Kennedy arrived from Calgary on Wednesday to visit her daughter Mrs C Cockerell

Mr and Mrs S Steele have taken the Tarlton bungalow recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. A E Ryan They expect to move in next week

J. E. Harris and family motored down to Gadsby on Thursday evening and reports a jolly time.

The June meeting of Omega Circle was held on Thursday at the home of Mrs. M. Beadle with Mrs. Hooper joint hostess. There was a suggestion to replace the present wood curbings at the cemetery with cement, but after a lengthy discussion it was decided to defer this work for the present. Several fancy work articles were handed in for the fall bazaar. The July meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. John Christianson on Thursday, July 31st. As this is the annual meeting a full attendance of members is requested. Visitors are always welcome.

There will be general rejoicing for teachers and pupils next Friday, the 27th, when school closes for the summer vacation. We extend best wishes to all for happy holidays.

FENN NEWS

It is very gratifying to be able to report this week a good snowfall. On this date, June 23rd, since last Monday, we have enjoyed 1.54 inches of rain, the largest rainstorm occurring on the night of Friday last. The crops are already looking in much better conditions and many pieces that appeared to have been completely blown out are showing signs of growth It is quite evident, from the bigger spurts of the farmers, that they have not given up hope, but have come out and we can at least look forward now to the promise of a bumper crop.

A good many people from Penn visited the Chautauqua performance in Big Valley last week, the entertainment being of a high standard and much enjoyed by all those who were able to be present. It is a great credit to the town of Big Valley that, in this year of stress it had the courage to put on this very worthwhile and educative entertainment for the enjoyment of the people of the district.

The baseball game between Penn and Pine Lake was again postponed owing to inclement weather Date of game and dance will be announced as soon as arrangements are made

Mrs Ernie Anger has been visiting with Mrs H Corliss, and is now visiting other friends in the neighborhood

Mr H Fisher leaves for the World s Poultry Congress in London England, on Monday June 30th. Mr. Fisher will be absent for about 3 months His place is being taken by Mr Hughes during his absence

Do not forget that the next meeting of the Anger Local U.F.W.A. is to take the form of a picnic afternoon at the Lake on Thursday, July 10th all members and their friends

NEVIS NEWS

The Nevis Doo Dads ast ball team played in Erskine Monday taking a very bad whipping, score 30 to 5.

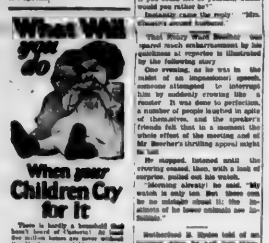
Cadet Teacher — How old is your grandmother?"

Normal Pupil—I don't know but we've had her quite a while.—Spartan Spokes.



There is hardly a household that hasn't heard of Quaker's 100 million homes are never without it. If there are children in your family there's almost daily need of the comforting and helpful cereal. Just you very thankful there's a bottle in the house. Such a few steps, and it's ready—cooked and prepared, so delicious, nourishing and satisfying. And don't a baby simply thrive for eating it! Letters is about the only thing we have ever heard doctors advise giving to infants. Stronger foods are so dangerous to a little baby—never mind how easy they may be to digest—food old Umbrella Remember the name, and remember to get it. Quaker Oats is the same the world over. It is always good. It always smells and tastes like it. Get a package (1) for everyday breakfast, any hour of the day or night that baby becomes fretful, or mother thinks was never more popular with mothers than it is today. Every druggist has it.

To Horses — Who Knows?

We used electricity but treated consequent in our language, but it will never become synonymous in the vocabulary of the scientist. The scientist of to-day is more completely fascinated by the mysterious than was Benjamin Franklin when he flew his kite in the storm.

Electricity is the force man will use to propel ships, railroad trains, airplanes and automobiles. "So they will some when man will drive his Lizzie from it. Through electricity man will be able to control the weather the farmer will be able to regulate his crops.

You will sit at home and be able to talk with and see a friend who may be on a steamship in the Indian Ocean or even in the Arctic. You will be able to hear and sight at the same time a sermon preached in London. This science is already in existence and is known as television. But it is only a matter of time when the home will be provided with it.

Many energy problems will be simplified. More and more electricity is being used for work which calls for any amount of heat. The brooding apparatus is owned by the man growing a few sows and raising hens. This is a photo-electric cell which is fastened above the garage door which the beams are transported and when it suddenly obstructed bridges inside the garage. The electric eye is calling into play in cases where there is need for selective grading in manufacturing. It has been found that electricity can be used to dry grain. This is now costly. It is expected that big harvests could be dried and be put to a thousand and one uses to which it will not fail or grow fatigued and

In my own work with electricity I have attempted to radio and the talkies moving pictures. Coupled with radio is the great study of television. Within a year you will be able to have television in your home. It will be limited real estate in its workings, but, for that matter, so was the home radio of but a few years ago.

The three ways are

1 By applying electricity through the soil, using underground non-insulated wires.

2 By stringing wires above the plant life so electric discharges are set up in the air.

3 By use of ultra-violet light

To electrify the farm will be expensive but in the end quickly pay its importance in the increased crop returns. Research has proved the feasibility of the plans the next step will be imperative as future sources of electricity will be necessary as the cost fuels and cost them. That is furnishing food for a rapidly growing population.

Vegetable fruits and grains can be grown with the help of electricity will be much richer in vitamins than they are now they will be more nutritive to the eye because the flow of electricity will retard the growth of parasites, if not stop it altogether

The uses of electricity are fairly unlimited. There is no task to be done. It seems that electricity cannot simplify in the doing

Farm Relief Bills Signed By Hoover

Government officials here in Ottawa are keenly interested in Unit-ed States governmental farm relief measures recently passed by Congress and approved by President Hoover. Although it is anticipated that certain of the measures, such as high tariffs on agricultural products may cause hardship to the Canadian farmer, there are other experimental measures which, it is stated might be considered by this country.

One bill, which was signed by the President on June 15th, gives a Federal Charter to the farmers' foundation for co-operation described as having for its purpose "economic and practical research for the benefit of the textile industry and for allied branches, including the production of raw materials."

If this bill succeeds in aiding the woollen industry it might be duplicated in Canada with advantage to both the woollen manufacturers here and the wool producing farmers. The woollen industry and the farmer upon whom it relied for raw material have suffered severe commercial depression in order to be able to protect and, and unless something is done to halt the decline even more serious consequences will ensue

A second bill, signed on the same day is, in the opinion of President Hoover a very important agricultural bill since it sets up a new marketing set for licensing dealers in agricultural commodities in order to prevent unfair practices in dealing with farmers' products. The passing of the legislation for some years," said the President "It has been supported by the great majority of commission men and dealers in agricultural perishables as well as agricultural organizations. It is a very important step in protection to the farmer, the honest dealer and the consumer

RINGER MOVES HERE TO ASSIST DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH

A recently published newspaper interview with Mr Ringer announces that he is living on a mild diet, and credits him with the following statement.

"When I was a baby," he said, "I lived on milk and didn't like it. Now I have gone back to milk again."

An article in one of the Calgary magazines based upon interviews with Mr and Mrs. Ringer quotes her as saying about Mr Ringer's diet thus

"In January of last year he said, 'I am going to go on a milk diet'—nothing else!' He went on a milk diet and stayed on it. Two cheers for that very two hours. He can't quit taking any chances with his health.—Here is too much to do."

Among the recent English politicians there has been no one readier with the witty and discomforting comment than Mr. Lloyd George. Addressing some Welsh farmers he said: "We will have home rule for Ireland and for England and for Scotland and for Wales."

"No" and a blustering low-Breed voice interrupted to push forward his red-haired face. "I say, Mr. George, I say, I say! Is a fact."

"I always do," replied Welsh, stopping aside and calmly passing on.

"Search me, brother," said the Station Agent.

"What's the name of the town?" queried the drummer

"Lord & Church," replied the unperturbable Bishop.

"Sum, Lord and Church. Never heard of it. Got any branch houses anywhere?"

"Branches all over the world," said the Bishop.

"That's queer. Never heard of 'em in it books and shows?"

"No."

"His and rain?"

"No, that either."

"Oh, dry goods I suppose?"

"Well," said the Bishop, some call it notions."

Cardinal Vaughan and Dr Polis adler were sitting next to one another at a banquet.

Now Dr Adler said the Cardinal, 'when they'd have the pleasure of helping you to some ham?'

The rabbi replied without pause 'At your Eminence's wedding.'

During the hearing of a case, Judge Darling was disturbed by a youth who kept moving about in the rear of the room.

"Young man," exclaimed the judge "are you making a good deal of unnecessary noise What are you doing?"

"I have just my overcoat and am trying to find it," replied the offender.

"Well," said Darling "people often lose whole suits here without all that fuss."—Pitlochry Ledger

THE SKEPTICISM OF ANTHONY

Anthony Adams, notable three,
Is the frustrated boy you could hope to be.
But he asks, with the hint of a tiny frown,
"Why did the Bridge fall down?"

Anthony Adams believes the things
That his ever-so-lyrical mother sings
To him, as he sips on his evening soup,
But "Why did she lose her sheep?"

Anthony Adams, his father's maid,
Doubts never a thing that he is told,
But he asks, regarding the pigsty's
"Why did away he run?"

Anthony Adams his father's trust—
Worries when anything isn't just straight.
His life is built on a regular plan,
So "What is a crooked man?"

Anthony Adams, a moral boy,
Find Tommy Tucker a passing joy,
But this is the question of his life
"Why did he want a wife?"

Three are Anthony Adam's years,
Too few to fashion a woman's tears
And "George Pore Y"—he asks me—
"Why,
Why did he make them cry?"

Anthony Adams, a person wise,
Knows that his father never lies,
I answer his queries truly, so
I tell him I do not know.

Anthony Adams is only three,
And trusting as ever a boy can be.
He'll never question a word I say,
So kind
As to write to the undersigned.

Franklin P Adams

DARLING

(By Arthur Silverbirch)

Your voice is like the wind on summer night,
Melodious and sweet;
Your hair like willows on a summer night
So calm and soft and neat;
Your cheeks are like a rose on summer night,
So lovely and so sun.
Your shoulders like a lake on summer night,
On which there rests a swan;
In fact, I'd say your eyes would be like stars on summer night,
If only that your left one looked the same way as your right!

Theodore Roosevelt, while addressing a large Progressive Republican gathering in the election campaign of 1912, criticized the doctrine of "Manifest Destiny" as the Democratic party. On concluding his address, a Democrat who happened to be present in the audience, and who objected to some of Mr. Roosevelt's remarks began to question the speaker:

"Mr. Roosevelt," he asked "why are you a Republican?"

"Because my father and grandfather were both Republicans!" was the reply

"What would you be if your father and grandfather both had been horsethieves?" again asked the Democrat.

"I'd be a Democrat!" Mr. Roosevelt replied.

WAR, PERFECT WAR!

Condensed from Collier's Magazine

Joseph Jones, our correspondent of the vintage of 1955, went north recently to see for himself what kind of war the next war would be.

First he went to the artillery fort and considered. The same old fort, the commanding officer on a hold down corps of cement 30 inches thick his guns except the Allies to Just behind him, each down, were a vast piece of machinery known as a 12-inch disappearing gun. You know the kind. It rises majestically on steel grass hoppers hop, hitches out a cloud of black smoke as big as a thunder cloud, and then ambles back into its basement nest. Cost, $750,000.

"BLACK & WHITE" SCOTCH WHISKY

The exact artillery officer was giving that 12-incher hell just as Shimoda He gave some figures and considered. The same old fort, the commanding officer on a hold down corps of cement 30 inches thick his guns except the Allies to Just behind him, each down, were a vast piece of machinery known as a 12-inch disappearing gun. You know the kind. It rises majestically on steel grass hoppers

"Below the horizon!"

"Why yes, our new guns carry so far that we must fire at them over the curve of the earth."

"But is that curve big enough for a battleship to hide behind?" asked Jones

HOW BIG THAT BIG CURVE IS—Jones can shell 35 miles. A target at 36 miles would be 416 feet below the horizon. A battleship's crow's nest is 155 feet above the surface. Why those battleships can't see us at 36 miles—at a relative drive of 14 miles. And yet in a naval exercise in the mid-Pacific (1947) at that distance shooting over the air-ships at the earth. That's one reason why airplanes are indispensable in the navy."

The other great boat Jones down into the remotest depths of the fortification's area to see that locked like a dreadnaught's mess shop.

Here we strike we can. We get facts, by wireless, during a sham gun-calculations down here, telephone the gunners where to aim the gun and exactly when to fire."

All this time Jones was browsing among the dark corridors and dead ends and asking questions. At last, he was looking for the "Bureau of Interior Movements."

"That's an astonishing lot of," his guess," he said as he entered. "Is this for me, serving a sham gun-crew?"

And then he took Jones out into the woods of Stanly Heath and showed him even then bigger gadgets, mechanical men that do the tasks of peace. Paleon gas would be less likely here to suffocate the gun crew than in the modern mess.

"These are the 32-mile guns," the officer said. "The same thing. You can point them almost straight up into the sky."

Right then and there Joseph Jones decided to find out by going from office to office in the War Department and from navy yard to navy yard, what has been done since the war ended.

Cold-blue generals used to say Trust in God, but keep your powder dry. A new watchword for all has thrown that old motto into the discard. Still, what General said about war is rightier than ever. Major-General Clive Gibbon, in Ordnance, outlined a few modern tools of war as follows:

"Guns, varying in diameter of bore from one-third inch to 16 inches, ammunition for the same, bombs and fuses so sensitive as to explode at upon impact with the fabric of a dirigible or as nearly as is mechanically possible at the end of a predetermined time, heavy ship's armor and then explosive bombs which explode in over a gun without showing any flash at the muzzle, bombs varying from a few pounds to two tons and so designed as to explode when they strike water, land, houses or ships, or as the special need requires, guns that can reach you seven, heigh cry, 10 miles or more, and guns that can reach, can hear over trees, name that can reach you by night and by day, and can reach with their tremendous penetration."

The best privately rifle of the Great War will be a old-fashioned at that. Many of the sniping Chinese privates a few thousand years ago had got at it down to a fine art. Even now a good rifleman could get rid of ten shots a minute effectively. But in that event they have been invisible. Either side could have dropped poison gas from airplanes, but that would have been to protect its troops from gas from the other side. Besides, gas is hard to start the practice. But each side was ready to follow suit if the other side began.

There isn't a war department in it—that will be the next war—that isn't busy. And it is prepared to combine the airplane and the gun in a way that will be astonishing. In short, if need be, in whatever it may find itself engaged. That is one subject that simply is not discussed," a leading military man in Washington said.

But what about the airplane—no matter what he's dropping—isn't it going to be a big help in the next war? Not a bit. It is going to be a menace to the friends of its own side. Just as long as he can see the plane through the bomb-sight he can drop his bombs by aimed guns can throw 10 explosive shells a minute within the plane's zone, as high as any plane has ever yet flown. At night, a searchlight finds the plane instantly, and a great lamp, such, on the ground, is turned on the sky. By dawn, in the sky, they will outfit, they will fight against the aides of the night flyer. Then, with the range finder, the plane can be forced on as successfully as by night.

Bullets in the next war will be something like an Ephita." That's one note Jones put down

He discovered that miracles have been wrought in tanks. One of the perfected with terrific speed, power and endurance and do the work of 40 tanks in the War. In the old tanks fighting with speed was impossible; the seat, put barbed with the tank. Tanks are now built on springs. Points are made to use thousands of the men tank fighting and chine gun nests in the battle-ea. They have armor that will no bullet and it across battlefields under fire laying wire. These tanks will be manned by men with the service pistol.

Soldiers in the recruit war ad-vanced side by side in charges with the great, lumbering tanks. Next time they will have to be trained to keep up. The time is here to the Rules of Land Warfare, War Department and, incidentally in the Bureau war plans of the war department of 21 other nations, shows a considerable proportion of soldiers next war will be trained in armored chasis-per cent.

"Brilliant drilling speed," as Mr. Jones put it, "for effective plodding with the next war."

Then a commander is to control troops so equipped in a problem that is being worked out. But one thing is certain. Those who always hailing generals because they didn't climb into front-line trenches' War won't be so safe for certain officers in the future. In the next war generals and staff officers will find it necessary to be where they can get with their men.

Military men throughout the world are mechanizing war with the greatest speed. Mechanization" it a term confidentially to every civilian department and organization on earth. It means organization to deliver a maximum of fire-power per man behind it.

An army behind a mechanized force will be a unit of fighting men moving under their own power on wheels, is something new in the world. Yet that army is being built everywhere. In England two of the finest fighting forces mechanized are turned in their fine horses for armored cars and tanks. The French have not gone so far, but they have a mili-ion land tank. The Russians have a mechanized army of 30,000 men.

One of inevitable result of these plans is this "Good-bye to trenches in warfare." When machine-gun bullets can't get you you will get out of the way. No soldiers will stay in the trenches to be things Fiesta and of shooting gas-throwing bombs or cross rolling along—as they must next war—if war is ever waged.

But it will not be a smooth hand that wields the sword the will be fought. The battle will be disturbed from the sky by airplanes. Cities will be destroyed, fields ravaged by airplanes, not on the battle front, but in the rear, in the vicinity of great battleships and yet those ships out of action, will be engaged on land attacks.

There are airplane bombs that can quickly cover many square miles of fighting ground with holes so large that the most agile tank will be unable to move over the terrain. The smallest of these bombs weighs 100 pounds. The largest, 2,000 pounds, moves at best 60 tons of earth, in-cludes tons of rock, when it hits the best ocean. Dot a tank battlefield with pneumatic Ibs that and you have a tank graveyard.

As for gas—poison bombs, it would be fool dope to fear a gas-war. It was with the latest model steam shovel and a fleet of seven trucks. Mr. Jones said that this monster shot can throw toward the sky.

Mother Joseph Jones saw this writer feels competent to describe with any degree of adequacy the effects of the next war, the sights of the general's transit and confusion of the battle-field, and the horrors of it in the next war. It'll take a new kind of war correspondent to do that. Maybe, instead of correspondents, they'll have radio announcers reading abroad in tanks, broadcasting the doings instead of writing them. Anyway, That means that they'll be drawing on the utmost stage instead of an newspaper effects for their supply of reporters.

And that would be no stranger than most of the other changes that are taking place during this mechanization of war.

Eight Years Treatment of the Soldier

Canada's Legislation for Her Veterans, 1922-30

WAR VETERANS' ALLOWANCE ACT. The War Veterans Allowance Act has just been enacted session. Any veteran a dollar's old who is indigent at the age of sixty-five years, is also entitled to the allowance provided for the veteran who became permanently unemployable before reaching sixty-five years. The allowance is important, substantial and well-considered measure that will relieve many hundreds of veterans who have been suffering hardship, dire distress and privation. It will relieve them of the fear of poverty in their declining years, and will restore their independence instead of going into an institution.

THE BENEFITS OF THE DOUBT. Last records show of proof veterans carrying on which are, instead of going to hospital diseases, the origin of which it is difficult to trace are all factors which render it difficult for the veteran to prove his case.

The Government like the people of Canada, want to give the benefit of the doubt where any doubt exists, to the soldier, and Section 70 of the new amendment expresses their sentiments in the words:

The Applicant Shall Be Entitled To The Benefit Of The Doubt

FINAL PAYMENT CASES. Veterans who accepted a final payment in lieu of pension, may now be restored to pension, provided their disability has increased and they are now in receipt of pension and they bring an application within one year after the passing of the Act.

The Federal Appeal Board was created in 1923, giving the veteran or his next of kin the right to appeal against a decision of the Board of Pension Commissioners.

$237,389.00 was expended last fiscal year as a result of awards made by this Board.

The Soldiers' Advisers System was established in 1923 in the principal centres throughout Canada. These officers are maintained by the Government, to assist and advise ex-members of the Forces with reference to treatment, pension, pension appeals, etc.

"SHELL-SHOCK'S CLAIMS" ON THE PENSION ACT. enacted in 1930. This is a provision whereby the Pension Board and the Appeal Board, sitting jointly, may grant, on the approval of the Governor-General in Council, a pension on compassionate grounds, even though the death or disability be not directly traceable to service.

PENSION DEBT'S MADE PERMANENT. An example of this is, that prior to 1930, the local pension for a single man, with a total disability, was $900.00, plus a bonus of $300.00. In 1930 the Pension Act was amended, making this bonus part of the pension as a permanent allowance, thus increasing the pension to $900.00 per annum.

TIME LIMIT. The statutory time limit within which application for pension must be made was abolished by Parliament in 1930. This leaves the door always open.

FREE TREATMENT. In 1930 a change was made making only pensioners, who have a 10 per cent disability, entitled to free treatment in one of the Department's hospitals for a disability or disease not connected with the service. He is also granted an allowance for underwear and clothing, if necessary.

INSURANCE. The Returned Soldiers' Insurance Act was extended in 1925, 1926, 1928 and has just been extended for another three years.

CO-ORDINATION UNDER CANADIAN LEGION. Since 1925, a grant of $50,000.00 per annum has been made to the Canadian Legion for the purpose of maintaining the closest co-operation between it and Ottawa, and thus give better service to the veteran.

LIBERAL INTERPRETATION

CONSISTENT AND SOUND.

That is the interpretation of the Government's Ex-Service Welfare Legislation by all the non-partisanable "turned-out" men; the fertilizing of generous claims through the statute re-organization of the machinery; the benefit of the doubt to the soldier, the consistence of the provision for the widow and dependents of insurance not to returned men; the lightening of the burden upon the soldier settlers—there is the record of the last session. It is one of which Liberals are justly proud. The Liberal Government secures the strongest that the Canadian people desire regarding this but to deal justly with those who fought and bled in the Great War, tempered with a broad spirit of generosity, is but voiced in the hallowed memories of both people and

OATS

Outlook for continuing Soldiers' quoting 2c per lb Offerings light. Demand not heavy.

BARLEY

No interest in market Manitoba barley offered. Nothing doing. Market very small lots. Nothing being offered. Demand limited from country points.

FLAX

There are now 328 contract agents in the new contract as against 146 in the old contract. Growing this Association to have one of the best agencies.

At the night different shipping points, hogs are shipped every two days on the Bynumer as every three weeks. This last year, livestock has been shipped through the Association from Rowley, Bassano, Hanbrid and Byemoor Very large commercial shipments have been made from Gadsby The salesmanager Mr McMillan has been very active at that point Demaids has also increased at Edgerton.

In view of the fact that there has been a great shortage of feed this year and farmers have not been able to increase their stock there is an opening for a decided increase in volume of business but where there is the possibility of feed the members should take every opportunity to increase their live stock as a number of farmers getting points five stock running in gone to be one of the best sides of the farm Money has been lent to members of the Association by not bringing their cattle on the day of shipment as that means light cars and they are not allowed to load. Another thing is a flat rate board on full cars of 22,000 pounds Below that means a loss and over that a saving.

A vote of thanks was extended to Mr Cochrane for his very fully appreciating how much was due to him for the development and success of this Association.

The auditors financial report was read and adopted and the secretary had complimented our secretary Mr E P Johnson, on the efficient manner in which the accounts had been kept.

Mr P. McDonald director of the Provincial Live Stock Prod. addressed the meeting. He gave a brief history of how the Association had, from the earliest time depended on their product. He had not said he never had a selling price, but it was always brought from them, at the price of the buyer The Wheat Pool is running on effort is all wheat as a producer considered the cost of production. He told time in history that such an effort has been made—hashing for a stable—all looking up a price There is a distinction Lease thinkers are certain in their mind the idea of hold up and expansion. In the Live Stock we now have the packers' Market and the price of honey and beans are the same all the year round, but the price the farmer gets for hogs are constantly changing The packer loses the money and our only hope to receive a just return for our capital and labor in a stabilized market is to have a producers' packing plant. He advised the Pool to dispose of much of their live stock by shipping to the Consolidated Packing Plants. This would be to the benefit of the great interest, and a cordial vote of thanks was extended to him

The Board of Directors for the ensuing year were elected.

Firth Fortnightly Crop Report

Issued by the Department of Agriculture, Natural Resources Branch, Edmonton, June 21, 1930.)

Reports received from zonals of Calgary indicate that during the past fortnight several windy days with high temperature have checked growth rather badly up to that time had very satisfactory. Rainfall—however had been standing up well but crops were now showing signs beginning to suffer Little or no rain had fallen during the period but reports of rains over a large area on the night of June 20th are also a main improved prospect. Irrigation has been generally practised throughout the irrigated areas.

In the central and eastern part of the province the rains during the past few days have done much to relieve the serious condition caused by continued dry weather and high winds. Estimates place the damage from wind and dryness as high as 40 per cent March of this land has been re-seeded but in some places this was impossible owing to dryness. Fall wheat and fall rye crops have been generally practised throughout the irrigated areas.

Amy Johnson, London Princess Of The Air

It is no doubt due to some element of mental defect that we are unable to give vent to unbridled enthusiasm about the flights of women aviators. Or so they are called in more refined circles, aviatrices. Speaking personally, we class them with baby carriages, float of them take to flying, not because they want to fly, but because they want notoriety. It is in the same impulse that drives other slightly cockeyed ladies to parade and sympathetic jury-trials. Perhaps the latest fatality to the tribe was caused by that egotistical young lady whose name we don't at the moment remember. We know that she is an Amazon and that she nearly flew to the Azores. Bartter and later she had figured in domestic entanglements. She was originally a musician, and she took to flying because she like Sunday said, she hoped that then she could get her name in the newspapers and perhaps receive an economy. It will be immediately evident how much good it did her getting her name in the newspapers when she is unable to get it in this column because she is only borderline to come to know it. We hope she had better luck with the money.

But these objections to women fliers are immediately overcome when we consider the exploit of Miss Amy Johnson. We have said something about Miss Johnson and what impressed to use his self deprecation to become an efficient pilot, but not least to be a mere courtesy or aviatrix. She felt competent to do in an airplane what men have done and she set out to prove it by flying to Australia, a distance of some 10,000 miles from England. She did not attempt to break the record, but nevertheless she made incomparably the most remarkable flight ever made by a woman and one not surpassed by half a dozen men in the history of aviation. She did it in 20 days less than a month. The lesson she draws was that of demonstrating that science originates. She did find instruments should object to being borne up by a woman pilot. In short she wanted to have proof to assume in a commercial plane, and when she reached the ground again her desire to fly had changed to a determination. She saved her money and took other flights. She joined the London Airplane Club and had a couple of flights with an instructor. Out of her salary she saved up shilling each week in order to be able to afford half an hour's flying before every fortnight. She dating, she wanted to fly in that she also wanted to know why a machine can be made to fly and how to become a mechanic of it. So she became an apprentice to the ground engineer of an airplane company and combined a suit of overalls because a group learner round an aircraft, belong to take engines apart, clean them, repair faulty parts and re-assemble a flight over the city of that Under the personal direction of J. McCrae, Assistant General Superintendent of Air Operations, the Canadian Forestry Reference completed the work at the Fort St-ange Range (Ontario), the first year for the use of the Ontario Board of Education.

The main purpose of the air is to educate people of points where school facilities are not available, and to the value of this educational work. Lectures both children and other persons during the educational educational courses taught make to them. Previously are used to obtain the necessary field and training in camps on the land from, or other children in the similar outlying camps in the best schools, even including

The car is also designed to make a convenient home for the teacher. Sleeping from the living portion of the car is a large folding Indoor travel which is used by the car conductor, and which can be made into a bed. The other end of the car is also fitted up as a bed, and a cooking range is provided for the use of the teacher. Rest will be provided in the kitchen with a seat large enough for two persons, standard model metal and work table covered with the same metal under the work table are the usual cupboards, floor box and cooking utensil. Two large cooper tanks are the water supply of ample supply of water is carried in the cooper tanks, replenished from wells and creeks by the crew hands when travelling.

Adjoining the kitchen is a small living room, which will contain a small which can be converted in a lower and upper berth, and a combined table and can be used for storing various commodities. The floor of the kitchen and living room are covered with linoleum, and the walls are lined with wood. The ceiling is also covered with wood, and the entire car is painted inside and out. The car is heated by a coal stove, and is lighted by electricity, the current being supplied by a generator driven by a gasoline engine.

In time she learned about all there is to know about flying, and her instructor C. S. Humphreys, says of her: "Ordinarily we don't like women fliers. they can be an irritatingly bubbles where machinery is concerned. But 'Jodanny' is different. She can't be more than 24 years old. She did every blessed thing for herself; she never got out of anything because she was a girl. More than that, she used to take her turn with the boating slaves and get knocked all over the hangar. She was physically strong but we toughened her You can tell what she is like now by her flight. You have to have tremendous physical endurance to make such a flight.' Miss Johnson's father is owner of Gledys or Market fisherching—"You see only have to join the machine and read the maps but also to be continually pumping petrol from the manually into the feed tank." After three and a half hours of flying, pumping, however. You have to make 1,000 strokes with the right arm to pump the gallons into the feed tanks. And when you've flown nine or so hours you have to spend half the night overhauling a plane machine. You're lucky if you get three hours' sleep."

Well, Miss Johnson continued and less than a year ago, made her first solo flight. Last June she passed for a private pilot's license and soon afterward won a ground engineer's license, being the first woman in England to do so. She had not flown her second 100 hours before she kicked off for destination. So it might be said she qualified en route. After she had determined that she would make a long flight solo her trouble was to get a machine. She appealed to her father, who was not enthusiastic She appealed to Lord Wakefield, head of a big fabricating concern and a recognized angel of flyers. He was not encouraging Finally she induced her father and Lord Wakefield between them to give her £6,000 with which she bought a second-hand Handley-Page which had already flown 30,000 miles and had not the slightest idea in the world of flying to Australia. Then she went round to the newspaper offices to make an arrangement about publishing the story of her adventures. One and all they turned her down and advised her to forget it. The London incident in connection with her flight is that knowing nobody in Australia she had a lady give her a letter to a friend somewhere there who she landed. Incidentally when she had landed the the Daily Mail had offered £10,000 which is the largest amount ever paid to a woman for a feat of daring.

Choice Recipes

Supplementary to the time-honored source pan slapped used pan there are many delicious desserts or four slices of pineapple, cut in which can be made of gelatin and four pieces and one cupful dates, cut fruits and which can and are frequently preserved to the richer puddings and pies.

Chocolate Pine Pudding

One level tablespoon gelatin, half cup cold water, one cup milk, one square unsweetened chocolate quarter teaspoon vanilla, half cup sugar, cup raisins, quarter cup currants, two egg whites, half tsp white sugar, half cup cream, quarter cup chopped walnut meats, a pinch of salt.

Soak the gelatin in cold water for five minutes; put milk with the fruit in double boiler, when hot, add chocolate, which has been grated, and the cooked gelatin, sugar and salt; mix well. Remove from the fire and when the mixture begins to thicken, add vanilla and nutmeats and fold in the stiffly of the

Chocolate Nut Cream

Soak two tablespoonfuls gelatin in half cup cold water for five minutes then add half cup hot pineapple juice. Cool. Whip two cupfuls of cream and when gelatin begins to thicken, fold in the cream half cup shredded cocoanut, three cut in pieces of pineapple, cut in pieces and one cupful dates, cut fine. Place in a mould until set. Turn out and garnish with pineapple slices and dates and whipped cream.

Whipped Cream Salad

Beat up one-half pint whipping cream—not too stiff, add three bananas, one orange cut in small pieces, about 12 Malaga grapes—with seeds removed, and cut in tiny cubes, a few drops of lemon juice and sugar to taste; add all the fruits to the cream, mix well and set in a very cold place until ready to serve. Serve in shortest glasses, garnished as desired.

Golf Notes

The Herald Competition has not been played off yet in this district, but players from Consolation are signed here soon for the first round. Duckworth and Meeks are the favorites in the betting.

The Club has received an invitation to play at Sedalve in the near future if the Herald Competition can be decided soon.

C. L. Wilde attended the provincial tournament at Edmonton over the week end, and played 36 holes a day for three days.

He qualified in the chem.ssembly flight with an 84, but was put out by Jim Hutcheon of Calgary. Jack Cuthbert of Edmonton is now amateur champion for Alberta.

The local course is in good shape at present, and many ladies are taking advantage of the school holidays to play regularly

Red Deer ladies are holding their ladies' tournament on August 8th and 7th.

HALKIRK NEWS

The schools closed on Friday but which was the last day of examinations. Some of the kids are looking holiday spent in abroad and the kiddies are glad to be free. Picnics

The local school held their annual picnic on Thursday last. The school which held its annual sports on Friday evening. The time was spent in games and cards and the ladies served a delicious lunch at

The Red Willow ball team came down on Friday evening and played the Wimpy. The game was decidedly tame, however, the score being 8 to 1 in Bathe's favor at the end of the first half of the 7th inning. The odds being so overwhelmingly in Bathe's favor, the game was called finished. Red Willow usually puts up a good game and fans went home decidedly disappointed.

Wild Rose School held their closing day picnic on Monday. A number of children from outside the district were invited as well as the parents of children attending the school there. Baseball games and races were features of the day by sides a picnic dinner. The children reported an enjoyable time indeed.

Church service will be held Sunday, July 6th. Rev. Harry McDonald will preach.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet at the home of Mrs. R. Averill on Thursday, July 10th. All the ladies of the community are cordially invited.

Botha News

The weather continues fine and grain is growing rapidly, early wheat is beginning to head. Some farmers have re-seeded oats, the seed oats are a scarce article. Another rain would be welcome.

Mushrooms are very plentiful at present. They are unusually large and those who enjoy this delicacy are living well for one time being.

The chief sport of those who are fond of gardening is a daily hunt for cutworms. They are uncommonly bad, but as the most of them have reached full size, there is hopes that this nuisance will soon be over for this year.

The wedding of Miss Ruth Hollingshead and Mr. Jack Rasmus, came as a surprise in spite of the fact that events had been casting their shadows before for some time past. These young people have grown up in this community and have been identified with the social life of Botha since its earliest days. Their wedding is consequently of more than ordinary interest to us all and we wish them the very best that fate can give the t. They left for Gull Lake immedi ately after the ceremony, but returned to the Rasmus farm at the beginning of the week where they expect to make their home.

Merley Cravens returned from Calgary last week where he had a medical examination.

I. A. Cunningham returned home last Friday in a greatly improved condition.

People were greatly shocked to learn of the death of Mr. F. Barnes on Sunday afternoon. He had been kicked by a horse on Saturday and taken to the hospital. Many had not heard of the accident until they heard of his death.

He leaves a large family, but the two oldest boys are steady, industrious boys, who will be a wonderful help to their mother during this and time and in the future.

Deep sympathy is extended to the entire family. Funeral services were held in Stettler on Tuesday morning and interment was made in the Stettler Cemetery.

Rev. Miller held his final service at Ingleton on Sunday. His farewell service was one of the very best of the many fine ones he has given.

Ingleton people greatly regret the departure of Rev. and Mrs. Miller and our best wishes go with them to their new home at Minburn. It isn't as far away, and we may be hoping to see them from time to time.

Services will be held at Ingleton again next Sunday, when Rev. Clegg will be present and Solemn attending music made.

Mrs. Reg. Armstrong and Basil motored to Calgary last Friday in order to bring Helen home from hospital. Mrs. Armstrong remained on for an Olah.

Arthur Olah is home again after finishing his Normal course.

Miss Eleanor Fuyat left for Blind Mart and Grant Armstrong on here for the holidays.

Botha school closed on Friday. The High School and eighth grade pupils finished their work on Thursday, while Miss Simms's and Mrs. Armstrong's rooms enjoyed a picnic on the hall grounds.

Mr. and Mrs. Blake Church returned from Leduc last week where they had been for ten days visiting with her people. They report rain every day while they were there and they brought back samples of the wheat from 12 to 18 inches high. Prospects there are very favorable

The Zenith people enjoyed a pleasant social evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Thomas last Friday evening. The time was spent in games and cards and the ladies served a delicious lunch at Commencing on Sunday, July 6, be Halkirk and Gadsby pastoral charge will be amalgamated Rev. R.Clegg will preach at Ingleton at 11 a.m., Gadsby at 3 p.m. and Halkirk at 7.30 p.m.

Sunday, July 13th, the plan of services ill be Lauderdale at 11 a.m., Halkirk at 3 p.m. and Gadsby at 7.30 p.m.

The visit of Rev. R. B. Steinhauer, B.A., Indian of Hobbema Lake, Alberta, to this community will be long remembered by those who were privileged to see him and hear him on Sunday and Monday last at the United Church. On Sunday morning Mr Steinhauer spoke at an open session of the Sunday School at which there was a good attendance of adults in addition to the boys and girls In the afternoon he preached and sang at Lauderdale.

Chairs had to be brought in from Turton Hall to accommodate the congregation at the evening service.

People came from 15 miles distant to attend the service, and came back again Monday evening to hear this Indian Missionary give the story of his life and work. Several people came in from Lauderdale to the Monday night meeting.

Mr Steinhauer has a deep bass voice which blended well with the voice of the choir and the singing of duets by the two ministers was an attractive feature at all the services.

Mr. Steinhauer also sang in the Cree language the old familiar hymns "In the Sweet Bye and Bye" and "There Shall be Showers of Blessing" the congregation being asked to join in the chorus in English. Taking as his text "What is the answer of man is this that even the wind and the sea obey him?" (Mark 4: 41.) this Indian missionary created a deep impression upon all who listened and a feeling of awe and reverence manifested itself, as he clear and well expressed English. Mr. Steinhauer brought his inspiring message to a close Sunday at the evening service and Monday evening service and many others came back on Monday evening to hear Mr. Steinhauer tell the story of his life and work.

Although in his 70th year, this veteran of the Cross, who has given 50 years of active service as a missionary among his own people in Alberta, is still full of vigor and enthusiasm and is continuing his work at Saddle Lake, where his homestead is situated. He is a member of the Cree Indian Tribe and is one of the pioneering missionary.

Elks' Kiddies Day

The annual Kiddies' Day under the auspices of Stettler I. O. was held on July 1st, somewhere, with a big parade from the school ground. This parade was the most picturesque yet host here and was participated in by most of the public school pupils as well as many juveniles not of school age. It was led by the Elks Band The prize winners for the parade were Helen Hansman as Fairyola, Billy Oestigan as a Cowboy, Alan Hulme on a bicycle as "Hurrah for the Elks" and Emily Johnson and Gladys MacDonald as Bride and Bridesmaid. The judges were Mrs. Mellis, Mrs. Sandford and Mrs. Costigan.

Each child in the parade and on the grounds was given free candy, pop for ice cream, then came bats, peanuts etc., and they used them to the full. There was also entertained with sports of all kinds during the morning and afternoon.

A baseball tournament was held in the afternoon and evening with teams from Castor, Rumsey, Donalda and Stettler. The final game between Stettler and Castor was one of the best seen here for some time and was tied up several times, with the Stettler team finally succeeding in the victory to Castor Stettler also entered the soft ball tournament the teams being Red Willow, Erskine, Big Valley and Stettler.

A big dance was held in Carder's Hall on Friday evening in charge of the crowd present Some surrounding points.

Taking it all through the day was the best yet held under Elks' auspices.

Red Willow

Mrs. Mary McGhee has returned from a visit at Leduc with her daughter Mrs. Reilly.

Miss Margaret and Ella Peters of Hardisty are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth.

A number of our citizens motored to Wetaskiwin and Stettler on the 1st of July.

Don't forget the Red Willow annual celebration on July 5th. A full days program has been arranged. Five baseball teams are competing. High school and ball and all kinds of amuse and jumor athletic events.

Refreshment booths on grounds. Ball in the evening. Dance at Wimpy. A new community hall. Music by the Hardisty Symphonians.

Everybody welcome. Come and have a good time on our beautiful picnic ground.

A number of Miss Mable Bascomb's friends gathered at the home of of Mrs. Walter Johnson on the eve of her departure for Edmonton, where she intends to her visit a handsome club bag.

Miss Bascomb has managed the Capitol Grocery for some time and by steady manner by many friends. After a social evening and congratulations for the bride-elect, dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.

Mrs. Allen Myers and son Cecil left for the States, near Yakima, Washington, where Mrs. Myrie will join her husband. They will motor on a fruit farm. Cecil expects to return and attend Normal this Fall.

Mr. Paul has taken the management of the Capitol Grocery.

A surprise party by the high school students at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Neil McCorkindale in honor of their son Oernald and Cecil Anderson, on Thursday evening was a most pleasant entertainment, and delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Adjourned at a late hour wishing a grand trip for the boys.

Oernald will spend the summer with relatives in Spokane, Washington, expecting to attend Technical School in Calgary this Fall.

Mr. and Mrs. Rumsey entertained about twenty-five guests at their home on Friday evening, in honor of Mr. Douglas Thorton and their son James.

The evening was spent in games and contests, after which a dainty lunch was served by the hostess and Mrs. Douglas McCorkindale.

Mr. D. Thorton and Mr. Stan Rumsey have returned to their homes at Rumsey and Dubauch.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Anderson and Mr. S. Fellows motored over from Lloydminster on Saturday last.

Mr. James Hilbery went to Calgary on Tuesday.

Sorry to hear of Mr. Malcolm McDonald having to be under the doctor's care.

Mr. Justin Hilker was called to Vancouver to assist in bringing his brother Walter home, who is seriously ill.

Mr. Jim Barrett of Oklahoma, is here visiting his brother Tom.

FENN NEWS

The baseball game between Fenn and Pine Lake arranged for Wednesday evening was again spoilt by the inclement weather The game not and played for a while but the rain eventually drove them from the field A lunch was served by the ladies.

The Fenn Country Club gave a very successful dance at the Assembly School on Friday evening last. The Crawford Orchestra supplied the music and a very large crowd representative of Big Valley and Stettler, as well as the local community, turned out to enjoy a very good time A substantial sum was realized for the funds for the Club.

Russell Legg gave a birthday party to his many young friends in the district on Wednesday, June 25th last, when he celebrated his eighth birthday A large crowd of children were present and a delightful lunch was served by Mrs. Louis Legg.

We regret to report that Mr Norman Burke, storekeeper at Fenn, underwent an operation for hernia at the Stettler hospital on Tuesday last week. Latest reports are that Mr Burke is going along nicely.

The school children's picnic took place at Swing Lake on Saturday afternoon last. A number of children from Rowan Lakeview, Spring Lake and Assiper schools were present. Baseball games and sports were indulged in but the afternoon was somewhat spoiled by the cold wind which prevailed and many of the children from going in swimming The teachers very kindly donated ice cream to the school children.

Miss Lonie Korbes has returned to her home. after spending several weeks in Stettler Municipal Hospital, suffering from rheumatism, and is much improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Alec Reid of Big Valley visited at the home of H.D. L. Savage on Sunday last.

The Rev Mr Scallon of Drumheller took services in this district on Sunday last, and visited Assiper, Mr. P. J. Long was a bridge hostess on Tuesday afternoon.

Services at the United Church will be held at 2 p.m. next Sunday, July 6th, by the Rev J. R. Clegg from Halkirk. The Sunday School will be discontinued during July and August.

THE COMING KINGDOM

SAD, MARY
By John H. Atkins

Had less opulent, it is done.
Thou shalt have a noble mate.
Proud shall be Kingdom he
Yours who wins your heart.

Thou love ye be His throne.
Endless days for His alone
Restless joys, the Saints' delight.
Endless truth, the Kingdom's height.

A Revolutionary new TEXACO is here!

A motor oil that is made for modern motors!

NOW for the first time a motor oil that combines the essential qualities for the complete and perfect protection of motors is offered you.

The new Texaco Motor Oil will absolutely revolutionize lubricating values. With this new oil you are assured:

1. An oil that ensures complete lubrication.
2. An oil that means lower consumption.
3. An oil that ensures cooler, quieter, more responsive operation of the engine under all driving conditions.
4. An oil that ensures freedom from hard carbon.
5. An oil that is free from injurious waxes and other substances.

In this new "crack-proof" motor oil you have combined in perfect ratio the outstanding qualities of all other motor oils. It has a high viscosity (body) at high temperatures, and a low viscosity at low temperatures, which means that it has less tendency to thin out under heat and is more fluid under cold.

The new Texaco Golden Motor Oil is sold in five grades, C, D, E, F and G, which correspond in body to the Society of Automotive Engineers (S.A.E.) viscosity ratings—10, 20, 30, 40 and 50—a range sufficiently wide to allow the manufacturer to effective lubrication for any engine, old or new. Your dealer has the required grade for your car.

Drain and refill today with the new Texaco Golden Motor Oil.

Round the Country

ASK CUTHBERTSON

Canadian industry is following closely the course of commercial and money relief legislation adopted by the Government of the United States as it is stated by Government officials in Ottawa. So far though the unemployment situation in Canada has reached the serious stage, no comprehensive attempt at relief has been made.

Three committees from the United States since the trade revival country is assured to the problem and that determined efforts are being made to remedy it. Large public works and construction schemes have been undertaken in order to provide employment. While the advocates of the measure it is expected that the jobless American will be re-absorbed in his old pursuits and Justice J. Davis, United States Secretary of Labor recently

"It is absolutely necessary to our national prosperity," said Mr Davis, "that we put back on a good regular employment at living wages for all our working population."

COURT ASSUMES RIGHTS OF PARENTS

Canada's attitude toward its delinquent children has undergone a radical change during the past 20 years, government records show. All legislation recently placed on the statutes affecting the treatment of such children has set up a method of procedure which is declared to be distinctly beneficial in its effect.

All delinquent children are now regarded to be in need of the care and protection of a Juvenile Court. This court assumes the rights of parents who are unwilling or unable to discharge their obligation. Social investigations are made by probation officers. Physical and mental examinations are made by experts.

Remedial treatment with regard to education and guidance is held to be more effective than discipline and punishment.

Low wages, blind alley occupations, "bad" environment and emotional training, physical and moral hazards invariably have been all instrumentals to delinquency the records show.

EMPLOYMENT IS MAINS ISSUE

Labor circles here evince great interest in the attitude of United States government as regards unemployment made public by Francis J. Jones director of Federal Employment & prison, Washington, D.C.

Finding employment for persons out at work is a necessary function of the government, says Jones. The burden should no longer be pursuited to rest upon the laborer himself as well as society in general will benefit from this government-al abandoning of the responsibility it is declined.

"The challenge with the human element of industry, the movement of labor and the protection of its rights should not be left to profit-making organizations or free-charging private employment agencies," he asserted.

For the unskilled and semi-skilled workers should be a free service and information.

The whole problem of unemployment will be approached from a radically different angle in the near future and movement of labor both labor and industry are the anticipated result.

EMPLOYMENT IN SEPTEMBER

Employment has made little progress in Canada or the United States it is stated in Labor circles at Ottawa. Organized labor in Canada is unanimously opposed to unemployment with conditions as they are at present. Labor circles are never conversant with conditions in the United States and Canada. Officials of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada.

Organized labor in the United States is of the same opinion as that at present exist. William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, recently returned from a visit to Washington, before a special committee of the senate investigating conditions existing in the anthracite coal fields of Pennsylvania.

Green quoted from publications in the Soviet from Bukharin editorial statements and other officials. These he said strikingly illustrated the purpose of the Soviet to win their desire for world revolution.

"As their activities have been directed to England, China, France, Germany, India, Persia, and other European and Asiatic countries" Green continued "so have they been extended to the United States. Organizations have been formed for the purpose of bringing about the communist party to now disrupt and to accomplish the overthrow of the so-called capitalistic governments of the United States and Canada.

"As a condition precedent to this" he said, "the communists have very sternly felt that American Federation of Labor must first be overthrown. Hence we are constantly set for its workers a 'greener task,' which is to cultivate conditions and bring about a realignment of forces in Canada and the United States which will promote the coming of the revolution on this continent and in the rest of the world."

FISAT INCREASES THE DUTY ON WHEAT

The steady reduction of markets for Canadian wheat was given further impetus this month when Italy increased the duty on wheat from this country to 56.7 cents a bushel. This increase was made despite the existence of a favored nation treaty between Italy and Canada. Then Italian products are admitted to Canada under the intermediate customs rate though Canada enjoys no preference in the Italian wheat market.

Italy is now in line with the majority of European countries, most of which have, in recent months, placed prohibitive import duties on Canadian wheat. The highest rate now effective against Canadian wheat is that imposed by Germany, 97.4 cents a bushel.

Letters to the Editor

Redfang, Alberta,
June 30th, 1926.

Editor, Stettler Independent.
Dear Sir:—

As the season for hailing is at hand, a word of caution and advice would be in order. In reading and hearing of accidents by thunderstorms one is struck by the appalling fact that so few people are able to swim. What that very necessary accomplishment is so easily acquired, then, seems very little excuse for these tragedies. Had the Stella girls been able to swim, or even float, they need not have drowned.

Mr. Leslie Miller wrote last week of accidents by the cutting and thatching of the hailing season. The Stella Lake which I mean would be a very good thing if there would need to be some in every spring lake in the province. Many people during their vacations die in high winds from different causes. Boating accidents are of frequent occurrence. Now it is not to be supposed that the ability to swim, or that art, once acquired, always remains. But it is a great deal to have learned in early years. When a person has once learned to swim, he or she instinctively finds himself in deep water. In most accidents where a person loses his life in water for a second time, the other person is deep enough to drown. In most accidents where a person loses his life in water for a second time, the other person is deep enough to drown. In most accidents where a person loses his life in water for a second time, the other person is deep enough to drown.

Yours sincerely,
H. COLDWELL.

Iceland's Parliament Thousand Years Old

Yesterday it was Malte, today is Iceland and tomorrow we do not know what or where it will be accept that it will be somewhere else. The prominence given to Iceland is due to the fact that from many parts of Canada and the United States at this time former sons of Iceland are hastening to the scenes of their birth and boarding ships for home. Test Tube Babies In Another Century

A politician who tours central Europe manages to cook himself a omelette on times, after he has seen a hen almost orbiting the planet of man, he naturally turned from the change of generations to musing a little sadly on the men he has outlived. One such occasion of Lord Birkenhead, basis as a politician and as a writer, might easily be higher without a monument. A ill fitting but humbling tomb-part. But as a conqueror, whether he is able to hold his own with any men alive. For he is not only a trained debater with great command of vocabulary and lasting humour in his arsenal, but he is a distinguished author. Knowing how he pressed his own axe at a once so he gives the impression that there is no other note to it. It may be remind that the news was thought worth relating from Birkenhead Lord Birkenhead's latest book "The World in 2030 A.D." contained matter which some of his contemporaries privately observed to on the ground that it had been unfashionably lift-ed from their own writings. Poet J. B. B. Skidmore the bloodhound was said to have been particularly ter-ested by Birkenhead's chemical appropriation of some of his favorite ideas. When confronted with the charge Lord Birkenhead blithely refused to make any answer un-til he had arranged with a publisher for who would pay him handsomely for embodying himself. That publisher now emerges as Lord Beaver-brook of the Daily Express.

In a recent issue Birkenhead ad-mires the Haldane charges and proceeds to show that they are unfounded. Not content with this he examines some of Haldane's own books to show that the professor had appropriated ideas and figures of speech from earlier writers. In fact he leaves nothing for Prof Haldane to do but humbly apologize for having written at all and subsequently thank Lord Birkenhead for paying his attention to so somewhat crude ideas. Of course, Prof Haldane may defend himself and the debate, like the memorable tussle between Wells and James, may continue indefinitely. But be-fore a jury a public meeting of the members of the London Hospital, Haldane will have little chance fi-nite a body of his peers his own and general knowledge added to his almost unique gift for expo-sition, might easily confound the former Collegor. We are not, how-ever concerned with that but only merely that the part of the Birken-headians which consists in hav-ing utterly annihilated the reviewers in part in mind: as Birkenhead says with surprising modesty, should have 'anticipated' him. Haldane sportingly has anticipated this. He might almost say in the same sense that both Bowden and Einstein anticipated him.

"Briggenomic"! That is the battle cry! That is the word which will have no doubt, in new to a great many readers even if they are able by reader it into separate parts and discover what it means. For those who short this fatigue no ex-planation that it concerns life con-duct the body. Perhaps an egg might serve as an illustration. Any other genre of life which de-mands evolution a parent organism. Applied to human beings the idea is definitely presented in a figure the "test tube baby" and this is what Lord Birkenhead says about it:

It is possible, however, that by mean the whole question of human breeding and eugenics will be revol-lowed up by the prospect of arti-ficial conception. By this is meant the development of a child from a fer-tilized cell outside its mother's body —in a glass vessel filled with serum or in a laboratory bench flask. A process is neither incredible nor, indeed, impossibly remote The re-sults of such research show that the connection between a mother and her growing child is purely chemical. There is no valid reason why one day scientists should not be able perfectly to imitate that chemical connection in the laborat-ory. The possibility of extensive sale children will naturally create the future enlargement.

Religious bodies of many denomi-nat crowds will rally their adherents to fight such a fundamental blasphe-mous invention. In fact, the mere mention of its possibility have kept it quite many readers as gratuitously affronting. Nevertheless the thing is possible, and since it is possible it is certain that scientists will be deterred by no persecution from attaining after attainment. Should enlargement ever become an estab-lished part of human society, its effects will be shattering. Primarily it will separate reproduction from marriage and the latter institution will become wholly changed. For-tune, the character of the future in-habitants of any state might con-ceivably be determined by the govern-ment which happened temporarily to enjoy power. By regulating the choice of the subsequent parents of the next generation, the content of the future could breed a nation of industrious dullards or brown the population with fiery thousand-re-sponsible, if gifted, moral pygmies. A further possibility is that eugen-

The vessels, 21,500 tons gross, 20,000 tons displacement and 21 knots speed, will be 604 feet 6 inches long and 77 feet wide with a maximum load draft of 31 feet 6 inches. They will carry 304 first class, 70 third class and 1,200 deck passengers. The accommodations will include 20 de luxe rooms with two beds, bath and shower, and 60 rooms with two beds and shower baths.

The ships will be fitted with the most modern equipment, with lead speakers for the enter-tainment of passengers will be placed in each room. There will be ramps space of 45,000 cubic feet for the carriage of 2,000 tons of mixed cargo space, as well as accommodation on the upper deck for 12 automobiles.

Work on the new ships is now proceeding and they will be put in service for the summer season of 1930.

ics of consumption would be to plan that country should be allowed to produce the human types it most needs, instead of being forced to absorb all the unwanted types which are produced by home. It would be possible to breed a race of strong, healthy creatures, both men and stories, in tolerable drudgery yet lacking ambition, what ruling class would resist the temptation?

Another result of eugenesis would be in the opinion of Lord Birkenhead, that the whole status of women in society would be chan-ged. They would no longer be valued for their child bearers. They would be de-prived of their main argument for support in competitive idleness and a salary. They would become more and more like men. Mankind would have also have the benefit of what it is long denied itself almost wholly and that is to look itself to a larger extent of the help women might give to the improvement of society. Lord Birkenhead has the fact that by barring women from many occupa-tions now exercised only by men, a state is putting itself under an unnecessary handicap. This con-templated the old change, regard-ed by Lord Birkenhead, that there has never been a first class woman painter might easily be riddled by the number of exceptions in the course of a single conversation. In fact ev-olutionists would bring about quite a change But as to the originality of the idea, it is not to be credited either to Prof Haldane or Lord Birkenhead for Thomas Browne had at ages expressed the hope that some other means might be found for reproducing the human species than that which at present is re-garded as ethical."

Can Materially Reduce Colds

British landowners of sufferers from a common colds would reduce the number of sufferers from this ail-ment to a considerable extent, accord-ers from Johns Hopkins hospital, Bal-timore, medical Dr. Alan K. Krause specialist in chest diseases, experimented for some years there in an attempt to discover the cause of common cold.

Although it was discovered that the cold came from some bacterial agent it was found impossible to in-oculate the germ as needed, there-fore, he was not been unable to devise a cure

Prevention however is another thing. Colds, to the majority of cases can be prevented, Dr Krause declares. He advises that every sufferer should try to himself and to prevent infection of other peo-ple. Susceptibility to colds can be overcome by gradual and judicious exposure to low temperature For the average person this is the best assurance against catching cold is the avoidance of over-heavy heavy clothing and over-heated dwellings and workrooms. Reinforcing the body to a temperature of not more than 70 degrees while resting or sleeping is most important, Dr Krause declares.

If the number of common colds were materially abated diseases of the respiratory system would tum-ble from the high place they now occupy as causes of death, he says.

COPPER VARIOUS

An old-timer says that a fairly good quality of "bowling liquor" can be made by using the following in-gredients: 1 pint of shellac, 1 wild cat, 2 gallons gin, 1 pint sulphuric acid, 6 rattlesnakes, 1 atomic, 5 pounds cayenne pepper, 2 pounds of salt, 1 pound of nitre, 1 case prune juice, 1 pound rusty nails, and half gallon of Scotch water. Stir well and set in shade to cool.

We would suggest that the flavor might be improved if said liquor were set, by the addition of a small onion. —Editor—Connect Enterprise

Choice Recipes

Egg Salad

Split six hard cooked eggs length-wise blush the yolks with one half cupful grated cheese. 1 tablespoon-ful of prepared mustard, a few grains pepper mace and paprika, and add 1 to 2 drops of olive oil to mashing and salt to taste Roll into oval balls, lay them in the whites of the eggs and garnish with a bit of stuffed olive Serve in nests of lettuce

Chicken Salad

Two cupfuls cold, cooked chicken, 1 cupful chopped cabbage, 1-3 tea-spoonful celery salt, French dress-ing, lettuce mayonnaise hard cook-ed eggs, and cress leaves

Cut the chicken in small cubes and use only the tenderest of the meat. Mix the chicken in the French dressing. Let stand for an hour in a cool place Then serve on a bed of lettuce and garnish with mayonnaise, sliced hard-cook-ed eggs and the halved olives. In-crease quantities according to num-ber to be served.

Fish Salad

Two cupfuls cold, lean cloked pork 1 cupful crisp diced celery, 1 cup-ful tart diced apples white pepper, salt and paprika, lettuce and may-onnaise.

Mix the pork, celery and apple with the mayonnaise. Season with the salt and pepper Place in a mound on crisp lettuce leaves Garnish with mayonnaise and sprinkle over with paprika. If de-sired, the mixture may be rolled in French dressing half an hour be-fore mixing.

Delicious Salad

Remove the bones, skin and oil from a can of salmon. Add one cup-ful of the juice of half a lemon, and place in the refrigerator to chill. When time for meal, add as much celery as fish, a dozen English wal-nuts, broken in pieces, and a pint-ful of cream whole fresh, not Pas-teurized. Mix well with boiled salad dressing

BUSINESS IS DULL

STATISTICS SHOW

Recently issued trade statistics for Canada show business condi-tions to be considerably below the level for the period a year ago. Im-ports decreased, however is largely by autumn. Business in Stett-ler, John, B.R., is satisfactory, but in line with other centres is showing a slight improvement in Edmonton, and also surrounding district is be-ginning.

Retail trade in Stettler, Canada has been retarded for cash, not, how-ever. Government employment Sep-tember 1st, 1929 showed there to have been employed on May 1st than on April 1st. Automobile in-dustry has fallen off 50 per cent. in April, 1930, as compared to April, 1929. Output of tractors, however, have risen by 21 per cent.

Hardware sales are reported to be increasing slowly with new lumps-ual centers on hand. Building mat-erials have declined badly from the figure of a year ago.

Robertson was very fond of hunting of his sporting accom-plishments.

One day he met a friend who asked him how he was getting on in the country.

"What do you think of my lat-est stunt?" asked Robertson. "I saw five miles this morning and I got a five-bar gate."

"And so you jolly well ought to, against the other.

"What do you mean—ought to ?" asked Robertson.

"Well, you had a long enough run," came back his friend's reply.

THEY CARE IN DENMARK

Though now our sales have stead-ily declined since last year, there is a growing demand for cash. As I recently issued bulletin from the Department of Trade Commerce we learn:

In January this year automobile finance companies financed the purchase of motor vehicles to a value during the same month in 1930 al-though the total capital invested in the financing was substantially smaller. The Department of Trade and Commerce says is due to a growing demand for the moderate priced automobile.

Bulbs For Winter

In other places more popular interest is taken in flowers and flower shows during the winter months than there are in Alberta. We seek a more productive and the later months in less than that involved in caring for most hardy annuals. Bulbs, especially hardy forced are tulips, hyacinths, narcissi and crocus.

Bulbs for forcing are available for planting in September and October; these should be supplied for flowering in September and the main supplies in October.

Paperwhite Narcissus are the first to bloom. The varieties Grand Soleil d'Or and Paper White, and the best of these and may be had in flower six weeks from the date of planting.

Roman Hyacinths are the next in order. If planted early October they reach their blossoms period by Christmas. White, fragrant blooms borne on graceful sprays makes them indeed appropriate for floral decorations at the Yule-tide season.

Late single tulips may also be bloomed for Christmas, and the season may be extended for tulips by the use of Early Double and Duc-van varieties, until the Early Single varieties are blooming in the garden which is in late May at the Dominion Experimental Station at Lethbridge, Saskatchewan. It is thus possible to enjoy the bloom of these pictures from Xmas Christmas until late June each year these good varieties for early forcing are Due Van Thol Scarlet, Prosperpine Brilliant Star, Mon Tresor and Five Moore Later varieties which may be kept in a cool place and so retarded to bloom in January or Feb. Flamingo, Cullinan, Prosperity, Prince of Austria, Yellow Prince the White Hawk and Le Reve.

Double tulips should be forced more slowly than the single ones are and may be had at their best in March. The flowers are larger and last longer than those of many of the single varieties. Peach Blossom, Electra, Margaret, Mme. Krelage and Mme. Crousse.

The Darwin tulips must be kept in a cool place and forced very slowly. Treated in this way they will be at their best in April and May. Their long stems and large self-colored flowers make them both rich as cut flowers. Bartigon, Farncombe Sanders, Princess Elizabeth, Wilfred Copeland and Clara Butt are all very fine and forced well.

Dutch Hyacinths may be had in bloom for Christmas by using prepared bulbs and also varieties selected these bloom in spring time. They come in a wide range of colors, but for winter blooming the white are perhaps particularly acceptable at this time. Grand Vainqueur, La Grandesse and L'Innocence are perhaps the best of the whites at present. Queen White Minerva Queen of the Blues and King of the Blues are outstanding for sorts.

Narcissus, miniature ones in particular, also the modern yellow trumpet and large and prominent types and the double (paper white) should, among the hyacinths and tulips. The Roti is probably the best double variety for winter forcing while Glory of Sassenheim, Horsfield, Emperor and Victoria are recommended from the Trumpet Division and for Watkin from the Incomparable varieties.

Perhaps the finest centre-piece of all for the small family table is supplied by a pot of crocuses. The bulbs should be planted in shallow pots pans in which to bear several. The colors are vivid and the texture of the flowers of the finest, while the cosy green grass foliage provides a perfect setting for them pans among flowers, a pot pans Grandiflora, a large bright purple variety Mont Blanc, pure white and rather under a fine odor.

Many good houses have special bulb catalogues containing useful cultural directions which the amateur will find helpful.

FARM PRODUCTS

No Government in history has so met the needs of the agriculturists as the Meighen-King Government. Duties on the necessities of life have been lowered or abolished under British Preference. Duties on implements have been reduced so that the tools of the farmer might be made cheaper. The Dunning Budget, now that we are on an import basis, with many farm commodities provides a tariff protection for the agriculturists on an increased number of farm products.

Conservative candidates are endeavoring to befool the state of agriculture by discussing the above subject. Ask them to explain the following list of live stock prices

Live Stock Prices Before and After the King Government Took Office

TORONTO MARKET PRICES

	1921	1925
Steers, Heavy Finished	$ 7.75	$10.75
Heifers, Good	7.00	9.50	Stockers—600-800 lb. Good	$4.97 to $ 5.90
Cows, Good	5.00	7.85	Stockers—600-800 lb. Fair	4.00 to 4.75
Cows, Common	4.00	4.40	Lambs, Good	9.00 12.00
Canners and Cutters	2.00	2.90	Lambs, Common	7.00 10.25
Calves, Veal	10.00	12.00	Hogs, Selects	9.00 12.50

Conservative canvassers say they want to help the farmer.

1- Do they propose to raise the duty on agricultural implements which the Liberals and Progressives lowered?

2- Do they propose to raise the duties on wearing apparel and necessities of life made cheaper by lower duties from Great Britain?

3- Do they want to have live stock prices go back to where they were when the Government came into power?

BUTTER— 1921 1929

Value of Dairy Products	$295 Million	$397 Million
Butter Production	80 MILLION POUNDS FOR THE CANADIAN FARMER IN 1920 THAN IN 1921
	136 Million Lbs.	262 Million Lbs.
Value	6 Millions	100 Millions

30 MILLION MORE FOR THE CANADIAN FARMER IN 1929 THAN IN 1921

Production of Butter	238 Million Lbs.	262 Million Lbs.
Consumption of Butter	223 Million Lbs.	262 Million Lbs.

CHEESE—10 MILLION LBS.

The total value of the production of all dairy products has increased by over 35 per cent., while the value of butter produced has increased by only 13½ per cent. What of the balance? Canada exported in CHEESE thanks enough cream to make 10,000,000 pounds of butter, 80 more profitable prices than those in which CHEESE is made. CAN THE CANADIAN FARMER BE CONVINCED FOR SELLING HIS MILK PRODUCT IN THE BEST MARKET AVAILABLE?

The consumption of fresh milk in Canada rose from less than 570,000,000 to $340,000,000 during the period CAN THE CANADIAN FARMER BE CONVINCED FOR SELLING HIS PRODUCT IN THIS WAY IF IT GAVE HIM BETTER PRICES?

The manufacture of canned milk in Canada rose from $7,000,000 to $11,000,000, and the value of manufactured dairy products such as condensed milk, powdered milk, etc., rose from $15,000,000 to $30,000,000

Fully realizing the value of the butter of the tremendous home market created through the prosperity of the cost new years our Government decided at the request of the Dairy Council, and of the Milk Producers of Canada, to place the tariff on butter in the last Budget to be a present British Preference, and not a foreign one. Mr. Fielding, the Liberal Finance Minister, would not support the request of New Zealand trade, so refused to withdraw the privilege of the Australian Treaty which had been extended to New Zealand, and asked that a new treaty be discussed at the Imperial Conference being held in September next.

It is being said that the Australian and New Zealand Treaties are for the benefit of industry and at the expense of agriculture. Such a cry is pure and truthful statement. Canada exported to the United States alone $6,000,000 worth of cattle, a value of which practically one-half was produced on the farms of Alberta. This is a basis of $3,000 per worker, the value of which is increased if it is carefully employed, in exportation. With dependable a statement as of $6,000,000 for the consumption of farm products by a community of 10,000 families at $600 per family represents a market for the Canadian food producer of $6 million.

Where the New Zealand Treaty came a cropper Canada was not an importer of butter, but due to reasons stated above Canada became and now is a substantial importer and production increase of butter. The Dunning Budget provides protection needed.

Apparently as to all cases Mr. Stanfield is demanding that which has already been done. In other words, this part of his policy for the benefit of the farmer, is the policy of the Dunning Budget BUT HE VOTED AGAINST IT.

Bank Of Montreal Crop Report

Under will be found a brief synopsis of the crop conditions as at the Chief Office of the Bank of Montreal in Toronto. The reports received from the Branches of the Bank throughout the Dominion are unanimous in the opinion that conditions are not as favorable as they were a month ago.

GENERAL.—In the Prairie Provinces conditions are not as favorable as they were a month ago. Crops have been fairly promising and heavy rain in some areas, have benefitted the crops which were backward and adversely affected by high winds. Generally speaking the crops have not made satisfactory progress during the month. The average in the Maritime Provinces is somewhat better as crops have been good, and recent showers have been beneficial. In British Columbia the present weather conditions are favorable. Rain has retarded the growth, principally on low lying lands. The present warm weather should be beneficial. In Ontario and Quebec rain, followed by ample warmth, have promoted steady growth throughout the Province and crops are in fair shape ahead of the average. In the Maritime Provinces the season is generally speaking about two weeks behind

Dear Old Ireland And How She Stands

It is a long time since anything about Ireland has appeared in this column and the fact that the Labor parties of Eire and Ulster sent fraternal greetings to each other seems to an agreement that may ultimately lay all national disputes suggests a few remarks on the subject. On the invitation of the Labor party of Northern Ireland, Dan Hennessy, Deputy Speaker of the Dail and one of the most influential members of the Labor party in the South, attended a meeting at Belfast. As a result of this meeting it was agreed that a joint council of the two parties should be formed to meet alternately in Belfast and Dublin and discuss problems of common interest. It is possible that this movement may mark the beginning of a change during September of the two countries. It may even be remembered in the future as one of the first definite steps toward a united Ireland. On this point Mr. Edward F. Roberts, an Irishman, writes in the New York Herald Tribune: "The professors on either side do not dare talk aloud of a peaceful union now but it is in the hearts of many men who are discussing the matter in whispers today, but who will proclaim it from the housetops tomorrow."

Mr Roberts, in chronicling the changes that are taking place in Ireland notes that the Free State party has wisely deappointed in the Irish Free State. This was the party of the Protestants in Southern Ireland, the main plank in their platform was the preservation of the bond with England. Some of pale best and most patriotic of Irishmen belong to the Unionist party and they firmly believed that a severing of the Bond with Great Britain would prove disastrous. This conviction was based on both sentimental and economic grounds, and they were convinced that Great England in the very nature of the things must remain Ireland's best customer tariff walls between them would not fail to make Ireland suffer. But now that the separation has taken place, and the first screams of the wounded have been removed by time, they find their worst fears not realized. In any event they find that there is nothing to be done about it, but do their best for the Ireland under whose Government they live. There is no longer a choice between Unionist theory and British connection, and the Home Rule Theory There is only a choice between Cosgrave and De Valera. For the Unionists, of course, De Valera is an bogey, adultity, as indeed, he is regarded by most intelligent citizens of the Irish Free State.

But if the Southern Unionists have to some extent accommodated themselves to the new order it will take much longer for any such reconciliation to take place between North and South. Mr Roberts quotes a remark made a few years ago by a leading Belfast business man who was at the time a member of the Government of Northern Ireland:

"No lasting peace can be set up between the Free State is inevitable but feeling is too bitter now to permit us to say that openly. If I were to make such a statement in Belfast I would be born in two pieces, but it is impossible for a little country like Ireland to remain divided. The North is the manufacturing and wholesale centre and it cannot maintain its prosperity if when artificial walls are erected between it and its natural market in the south." Northern Ireland to her credit, has set a flourishing example to Unionists in Ireland and Unionists in England and indications are heartening. Tourists is rotin as busy as it is in the South. Indeed in the South taxation is remarkably low, which is natural enough in a country which suffered so much from the war How Southern Ireland is preparing to establish its super-taxes on income in the hope that many wealthy Irishmen who left the country when the Free State achieved its independence may be induced to return.

This seems a fitting place to make a handsome acknowledgment of a prediction frequently made many years ago by our friend the Globe. In arguing for Home Rule, which would apply to all Ireland, the Globe said that the South of Ireland could not get along without the special business ability so common in the North and protested that the day would come when a Northern business man would be Minister of Finance. To some extent that has already happened. The Minister of Finance in the present Free State Government is Ernest Blythe, a Presbyterian who is by birth a Northerner. The Government itself is overwhelmingly Roman Catholic, of course, but the most important post in it, after the Presidentship, is held by a Northern Protestant.

Prosperity certainly are indifferent to the form of Government that exists in Ireland and if two Governments are designed by the Irish people they will be administrative in Ontario alone. They will begin, however to see the day when the bitterness produced by religious intolerance will have passed away and when business men will be valued instead of hated and when the cheerful spread of United, will thank first that they are Irishmen and second that they are Protestants and Catholics. All the last Dublin Horse Show an event took place which gives promise that much of the ancient hatred and hostility is evaporating. In the international military competition, teams representing four countries competed. The day before the event it was to be decided that an English rider, a soldier with a brilliant war record, met with a fatal accident in practice. The Irish people expressed deep regret at the incident and the team which took English team rode into the ring the 70,000 spectators rose to their feet and cheered to their feet and saluted the British military riders with a prolonged cheer which was first given tribute to the Irish riders. It was almost as noteworthy an incident as though the Germans had cheered the French dogs, dog from the Ruhr.

CANADA TAKES FIFTH PLACE IN EXPORTS

Twenty per cent. of the United States exports of sporting goods during 1929 came to Canada Custom Officials have declare. Canada thus stands second on the list of buyers of American athletic supplies. The values of the United States' foreign trade in athletic and sporting goods in 1929 was $11,984,000.

TWO BOYS AND GIRLS ARE KILLED IN RAILWAY ACCIDENT

The value of the American tourist traffic to Canada may be gauged by the recent statement of Herbert M. Brutter, of the finance and investment division of the United States Department who says that last year 14,000,000 Americans visited this country.

The American tourist movement to other countries during 1929 began to approach the gigantic scale of the traffic in Canada. "Tourism" is now on with gradual uniformity in Canada.

ALPINE MEMBERS CAMP ON MOST BEAUTIFUL LAKE IN ROCKIES

WHERE year by year increasing thousands are turning to it for rest and recreation, finding there the glorious ranges and by its environment a constant source of joy and health, Jasper National Park, Alberta, is the Mecca of the Alpinists to the 20th Century. Camp of Alpine Club of Canada's camp at Maligne region, July 20th to August 10th. Mountain climbers from all over Canada and the United States, many of whom will have many acres—or hectares—will be in attendance, as will also a number of distinguished visitors attending the British Medical Association Convention in Winnipeg, be on hand to make the "out camp-fires" in-crease in interest.

To reach the main camp, the party will be conveyed from Jasper town or Jasper Park Lodge by motor to Medicine Lake, about 20 miles to the upper end of the lake, where a change is made to motor to Maligne Lake a distance of about 9 miles, on foot, although a limited number of riding ponies will be available between the two lakes.

The main camp will be pitched about to the mouth of Coronet Creek at the south end of Maligne Lake, directly behind the camp, tower the buttressed walls of Mount Warren (12,630 feet). The first ascent of this peak was made by Rev. R. Jermain and Wilson Hainsworth in 1922, who, from their camp at the mouth of Warren Creek, at the southeast corner of the lake, also made the ascent of the Thumb (10,000 feet), also of Mt. Tuzo (10,760 feet). These ascents can be made from the main camp, but with the assistance of a motor boat the peaks can be considerably shortened. Mount Tuzo, which rises from Mary Vaux (10,350 feet) and Mt. Unwin (10,400 feet) on the left will be a popular expedition for beginners. To the southeast there is a great group of mountains will Chief of these are the twin brothers, Mt. Leah and Mt. Rachael, separated by a col, named Mt. Hovelly opposite them rise Mt. Charleston and Utter, forming all other peaks in the region and heavily draped in snow and ice. Mt. Geikie, which is about two months from Amery's Camp, rises from foot August for the first time.

In order that each camper may attend to be protected from the sun, he will be placed at the head of Coronet Creek some six miles away, and from here excursions will be made to Mt. Brazeau (11,056 feet), Mt. Valad, Mt. Henry MacLeod (10,800 feet), Coronet Peak (10,000 feet), and other unnamed peaks. There are many minor expeditions for those whose tastes lean to less strenuous pursuits. Trips to places bearing such fascinating names as Moose Meadows, Fairy Valley and Valley of the Fell of Years are being arranged.

The new Brewster Hut at Poplar Creek Park, in Tonquin Valley, about 7 miles from Jasper Park, will be ready for members shortly in July, who, from her camp at the south of Warren Creek, at the southeast corner of the lake, also made the ascent of the Thumb (10,000 feet), also of Mt. Tuzo (10,760 feet). These ascent can be made from the main camp, but with the assistance of a motor boat the

The drouth seems to be pervasive, only broken in the district, and, while anxiety on that question has been relieved, more trouble in the form of hail has arrived. A heavy storm passed over on Sunday and hail fell in the Mayerthe neighborhood, T. Trusz, H. Mauch, Joseph Stiffe, W. Schumacher and others in that district suffered. Damage was very heavy in places, Mr. Schumacher's crop being practically destroyed. On Monday another storm passed over the north half of the Blue Ridge neighborhood. When hail and torrential rain did most damage, but the heaviest damage was on further south, nearer Red Willow. Few many farmers were carrying hail insurance as the crop had not been worth insuring until very recently, and many men just waiting to see if the rains would continue long enough to provide moisture to carry on the crop. Another peculiar feature of Monday's storm was seeing clouds of dirt blowing just south of the places where heavy rain fell.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hunter are rejoicing in U r birth of a daughter at the Munin pal Hospital on July 6th.

Miss Winnie Carder spent last week in town, but left on Monday for Edmonton, where she will attend summer school.

At 10 o'clock last Thursday evening cars began gathering at Busbey's corner, at 10.30 practically the whole community was present and they proceeded to the home of Mr. and Mrs Jack Busbey, where they was complete but the noise from several dozen noise horns soon warned them and they hastily welcomed the unexpected crowd. Prizes were immediately started for dancing and Mr. Dewey Ball furnished the music on his accordion. Dancing continued until nearly one o'clock when the ladies served a most bountiful meal, after which it was resumed and continued until three hours in the east.

Heavy showers fell during the night and roads were very sloppy for returning home, but daylight made matters much better. If the good wishes of an entire community fly count for anything, Mr. and Mrs. Busbey will enjoy a long and happy married life.

Mr. E. J. Davis and Mary spent last week in Edmonton as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis.

Miss Elsie Shenkegale left for Edmonton last Friday. She expects to attend summer school.

The Institute ladies held their July meeting in the hall on Thursday afternoon. A good crowd was present and a tasty meeting served. Owing to the drouth the ladies voted to lay aside plans for erecting a memorial to Mr. Busbey who fell overcome but plans will be resumed as soon as conditions improve.

The Stettler Consistorory will hold their annual meeting there on Sunday on July 20th. Mrs. Mauch will go as Busbey's delegate.

A baby clinic will be held in the hall on July 24th. This will be in charge of a graduate nurse and all children under school age can be examined. All mothers are welcome to bring their babies for an examination.

Quite a number from Botha attended the dance in the Valley last Friday. The ball team went down and succeeded in bringing home the bacon. The fund ball game was very exciting and aroused much interest. At the beginning of the ninth inning the score was 11 to 7 in favor of Big Valley but Botha boys began hitting them and they ran in 7 scores thus winning the game.

Mr. Clegg opened his ministry at Ingimar on Sunday, with a very good crowd in attendance. The people are very glad to welcome friends from Prairie Grove and hope to see many more from there as well as from Westwood.

Rev. Clegg tried to induce a sympathetic frame of mind by carefully explaining the necessity for these changes and he is hoping that everyone will continue to work just as earnestly as before. We not only need the church but the church need us. Services will be held again on Sunday, July 20th at 11 o'clock.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Gibson and the family left for Calgary on Monday to spend several days at the city.

Messrs. W. F. Spalding, Chas. Hislop, John Garrels and Wesley Bright went to Calgary with the Stettler Band. They returned home on Tuesday evening.

Mr. Murray is in Edmonton at present undergoing examination papers. We understand that his subject is agriculture.

A farewell social of Messrs. preached at Botha on Sunday morning to a fairly large crowd, and held services at Zenith in the afternoon, where he always received a welcome and a good crowd.

The girls of the community met at the home of Miss Vera Frederick on Tuesday afternoon and held a shower for Miss Jack Hannon. In stead of many small gifts they combined their resources and got her a silver sandwich plate.

The afternoon was passed playing games and with music. The hostess served a delicious lunch and the girls all seemed to have a very nice time.

Warden U. F. W. A.

A large attendance of ladies were present at the home of Mrs. Bentley for the June meeting of the Women of U. F. W. A.

Mrs. Bentley opened the meeting and the usual routine business followed.

Delegates were appointed to the Provincial Convention to be held in Camrose on June 30th and Mrs. Thompson was appointed to attend the Women's Conference and Rest Week at Olds School of Agriculture.

As a discussion of various matters of interest to the ladies was available time there was only one paper read, a very interesting one on legislation by Mrs. Lambert.

Mrs. Carder and Mrs. Bentley had the social hour in their care.

A motion that the next meeting be held with Mrs. Lambert, Mrs. Bentley, Mrs. Hewitt, Mrs. Hislop and Mrs. Bentley as assistant hostesses.

The meeting adjourned to meet at Mrs. Harley Carder's home the third Thursday in July.

Southminster Presbyterian of St. John And Jean Sampson Fairfax

Winning a cash prize of $500.00 and the T Eaton Company, Limited championship trophy for the second year in succession, the Stettler Band again showed its superiority by a narrow margin over its Vulcan rival at the band contest in the Toronto arena at the Stampede grounds on Monday afternoon.

Under the conditions of the competition, if Stettler were the contest the band would be awarded a permanent possession the permanent possession of the band.

It was a difficult task which confronted the adjudicators in determining the winner of the contest, as needed some good home-cooking.

Miss Ivy Mains is taking a short course in Beauty Culture in Stettler.

The Nevis ball team were the winners of a game played against Warden on the 29th and at the end of a nine inning game were tied with Rippley on the 6th. Rippley winning the game with the score of 16 to 8.

The next between Nevis and Stanton, played in Alix, on Sunday was 20 to 9 in favor of Nevis.

It is very to regret that Mrs. Malin was obliged to go to Edmonton hospital on Tuesday last. Her many friends wish her a speedy recovery.

Mr. H. Patrick has returned to his home at Stettler, where he will spend his summer holidays.

The Nevis Sunday School, held the usual picnic in the grove on Wednesday last. The picnic was a very successful affair, and was attended by about 150 people.

Things we would like to know:—

Did any of the Nevis gang visit Uncle Tom's cabin during the past few weeks?

Waverly W. I. Notes

The July meeting of the Waverly Women's Institute, which was held at the home of Mrs. James Clark, was one of the most largely attended of the year, with twenty members, seven visitors and six others, including the little folks and a few of the starter sex, making a total of sixty-two in attendance.

We were so happy to welcome Mrs. E. Rosenbaum, a former member of Davies's band and Waverly Institute, who has been residing in the district of the efforts made by all the bands and wish that the contest had proven a splendid success.

Stettler won the contest last year, and a cup was presented to the Stettler band by the Calgary Herald that the test piece for the present contest was the same difficult piece. The Talisman' rendered during last year's contest for it was one of the best Stettler bandsman said. This year's test piece is a very good one also, consisting of a gold Cornet trombone or a trumpet, donated by Stettleman & Co.

Where America Gets Its Booze

Bootlegging now has many persons in a number of countries, and more especially in prohibitionist North America, with a constant tendency to increase. Prohibition drunk is now a well organized business with an income estimated at over three billion dollars a year. It has its executives its salesmen, its mechanical experts and traffic specialists, its lawyers, its financiers. It is illicit, but its existence is an enormous fact to be reckoned with.

When prohibition went into effect Dr. Doran said there was much liquor in bonded warehouses. Owners were allowed to release this liquor for medicinal sale or for any other legal sale. At that time, the illicit manufacturer of alcoholic liquor was not an organized [illegible] ... went so far as to buy whole warehouses full of other people's whisky, and then steal the property for which they were responsible, thereby paying damages when they felt like so, as the profit on illicit sale was greater than any possible legitimate damages.

By 1922 or 1923 most of this storage of liquor was gone and the bedding illicit industry turned to denatured alcohol as the new source of supply. Alcohol is one of the world's most important industrial chemicals, quite aside from its use in beverages. Even before prohibition, the production of alcohol for industrial uses far exceeded its use in whiskey. It was not difficult for the bootleg industry to remove the added materials from the denaturing formulas that in no way leaving reasonably pure alcohol. This alcohol began to replace in the bootleg market, the materials stolen from the warehouses. It is not necessary, the uninitiated should be informed, for a bootlegger to have whiskey gin, brandy and all the rest in order to supply his customers with what they want. Any liquor and many wines can come [illegible]. The same applies [illegible].

There is a great outcry at present about synthetic gin" yet scarcely an American even anything else. Pure gin is generally supposed to be made by fermenting juniper berries and distilling the product. But before prohibition as now, virtually all the gin drunk in America, no matter how foreign and pretentious the label, was made synthetically out of juniper oil, other flavoring matters and alcohol.

Then, not only the gin, but the whisky, brandy liquors and other drinks are made from raw alcohol "cut" with water which newly compounded and then flavored with special materials to make the final liquid taste like Scotch, rye, absinthe, or whatever the trade demands. There is nothing new about this. Liquors have been made that way for years.

Great store used to be set on "aging" and it is true that to keep a raw distilled liquor in a wooden barrel charred to charcoal on its inside does destroy, in the course of time certain chemicals, like fusel oil, which may exist in natural whiskies distilled from fermented grain. But if the maker starts with pure alcohol and adds nothing that is harmful, aging will not make the resulting whiskey, gin or brandy, a better or a less harmful drink.

Anyway the present bootlegging industry makes and distributes a very fair quality of booze. Virtually all made synthetically out of raw alcohol. One thing that the country has learned is that it is no good business to poison one's customers. Probably there were a-

Miss Joan Todd of Stettler, has been visiting her sister Miss M Todd at the Ferguson home last week.

Mrs Le Roy Reid entertained her schoolmates to a picnic party on Friday afternoon, the closing day of the school. The children all report a good time and lots of ice cream, the latter being donated by Mr Wilson, one of the farmers.

The football game on Sunday, between Halkirk and Stensore was a good fast game and resulted in a tie. This was followed by a baseball game between the same teams and The score ended at 16 to 6 in favor of Stensore. The latter team is a very good line-up.

A social evening at the Stensore Women's rooms, held on July 1st, was a great success, over three hundred people out to a most delicious supper provided by the ladies.

The evening opened with the singing of "O, Canada," by the school children of the various schools.

Mrs. Lloyd Gordon, convener of sports, placed the program in the hands of Mr J McDougal and Mr W Lees who handled it in their usual efficient manner. After the singing Mrs. Jamieson and Mr McDougal gave the children their tickets for the free ice cream, provided by the Stensore after which a pound cake and candy place for all children under fifteen.

The running races came next, all children under five years were in the race being given an ice cream cone

Boys and Girls' three-legged races and potato races caused much amusement

The hit of the day was the ball fight on the pole for the larger boys who also challenged some of the men. This created a good deal of merriment.

The baseball game between the married and single men was very good and caused a good deal of rooting. The score was in favor of the single men but they had to play hard to get it as the married men played a real game

Supper was served by the ladies with Miss in charge of Mrs. D Pegmore and Mrs. H Bent. This kept everyone busy for about an hour and a half as the tables were re-set three times to accommodate the hungry ones. The children were next on the ground After supper a very exciting game of ball ball was played by the girls of Leo and Stensore resulting in the Stensore girls Number 26 to quite a majority

The booth was in charge of Mrs. Christensen, Mrs. Keith, Mrs. Wood and Mrs. McDougal and the ladies sure kept very busy until night.

After the picnic the crowd repaired in town to see the picture show put on by the members of the Ladies' Branch of the Canadian Legion. This was followed by a dance under the auspices of the Legion and much more and dance were enjoyed by the visitors. Music was supplied by the Stettler Orchestra. Mr. McDougal acted as floor master. A happy time was had all night and a closing and to a perfect day ended everyone homed.

Neglect Women in Choosing Candidates

Women have enjoyed the franchise for the past eight years, and in 1921, though it was not until 1925 that they succeeded in getting a place there, until that is chosen page.

Add to that fact another, which is that women are not voting strength of Canada at the polls on July 20th.

Then consider that to all the intelligent electorate of Canada not a single woman, has been given a nomination by either of the chief parties in a "safe seat."

Miss Mallock, who has sat in the House since 1921, is Progressive and even she—whose nominee drops out before nomination days—is up against an uncertain three-cornered fight.

Half the seats in Canada are reasonably safe for one part or the other That is, nominations is a least instancements to election Both parties are pleading strongly for the votes of women, but obviously there has been no real concern on the part of the constituency organizations to see them in Parliament either.

THE GREAT BET

By Samuel De Land

Sunshine is the key to health,
Merry Go!
Courage is the key to wealth,
Carry On!
Smiles will smash life's every care,
And sparkle there, like stars above,
Where friends are made. there's Love!
So Carry On!

Smiles are born from happiness,
Love!
Love is born from nature's curse,
Love On!
Life is ruled by old Nature's hand;
Her laws are old as stomach and
The supreme king of all the land.
Love On!

WHEN A KISS MAY

A little girl was asking the brides maid in a wedding. When the bride came down the stairs after the bride if she felt very tired.

"No," was the reply "Why do you ask?"

"Well," answered the small girl, "Mother said the day she got her head turned rather by John I would be left for two years."

Professional was giving a private concert at the home of a young man, when she had recently acquired a great wealth, but whose knowledge of him was not equal to her money.

"May I ask, Mr Podsworth," said the young woman, "who is the composer of that interesting piece you played last? It is indeed wonderful."

"Heaven, bless me," replied the pianist.

"Ah, yes," she replied, "Wonderful. Is he composing now?"

"Yes, madam," replied Podsworth, gravely, "he is decomposing."—The Ladies' Home Journal

It is reported of Will Rogers that when he was a cow puncher in Texas a neighbor said "Will, your cows have gotten loose."

"Yes," said Will, "I planned the fellow kind."

This made the neighbor angry, and he said "You are not far from a fool, are you?"

"No," said Will, "just the three between us."

TRAIN TELEPHONE NOW A FACT

The Canadian National railways, which first made possible the reception of radio entertainment aboard a moving train, an invention which made first class conversation a reality for the first time, have achieved another notable triumph by perfecting the first two-way system of telephone communication on a moving train. The invention has been put into operation over the transcontinental "The Continental Limited," which is now equipped with the new telephone system.

The first conversation was between Henry Thornton, the transcontinental President of the railway, and Premier Mackenzie King, of Canada. The Premier was in his private car near Toronto, while Mr. Thornton was in the private car of the Canadian National Telegraphs, which he owned and personally conducted.

Andrews, M L A for Bedgewick Hon V W Smith M L A for Camrose was called on for a few words, but was not present.

A Spearman, M P for Red Deer was for almost an hour reviewing the work of the U F A Federal Group. He covered the adoption of the American treaty, immigration, unemployment, etc He claimed that Fed eralism was the type of A group for all legislation passed which benefits the masses. In dealing with unemployment he believed that if mechanization of industry continued at the present rate unemployment the world over would be a thing of the past. Many of us today and that the only remedy was some form of co-operation on all the leading industries so that the workers instead of the capitalists would benefit from the profits. He called a resolution because he believed that the time was ripe for a socialist.

Nominations for a candidate to carry the U F A banner in the coming election were then called for. The following names were put in for the convention for nomination W T Lucas, M.P., Professor C A Dunning and W J Brady Each nominee was given ten minutes in which to address the delegates in his own behalf and at the conclusion of these speeches the ballots were distributed by three scrutineers appointed by the chairman.

While the ballots were being counted numerous resolutions were dealt with as presented by the resolutions committee.

Shortly after 6 p.m. the chairman announced W T Lucas chosen as the party's candidate, he having a majority over the other on the first issue on the first ballot

Mr Lucas, who is the present member for Camrose Federal Constituency, has served nine consecutive years in the legislature, being the owner of a farm near Lougheed, but this he has rented out for a number of years, since which time he has made his home in Edmon-

FOREMAN NEWS

A very enjoyable evening was spent in the home of Mr and Mrs W Boyd, of Foreman, on Saturday, July 5th. Some sixty persons were in a body from the school to the house Mr and Mrs. Boyd and the children were the surprised but pleased to have so many friends and come to wish them a pleasant trip and a long, happy stay in their new home at New Market, Ontario, about twenty miles east from Toronto.

Mr Sanders, M.P.P., gave a very touching address, which so truly expressed the feelings, that no publish it here for those who were unable to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyd, Billy and Cuddington:

Having learned some time ago that you intend moving from this community to New Ontario, we do not like it would be fitting for us to entertain you here as much as we think we might collectively express the regret at your leaving us, but wish you well in your new home.

You have spent over ten years of your married life here, and in the friends and neighbors, and their social meeting every so great loss to the community as you are to us. We feel sure that we will ever look back over the years spent here with pleasure.

To Mr Boyd we wish to give voice to our appreciation of the consistent manner you have made to conduct yourself as a citizen, a neighbor and a member. Your service as member in the Foreman school has been a credit to the city of the highest municipality. We are also sure that the school has lost one of the principal supporters, and community, not only the Foreman district, but that also of Stettler. Indeed we can safely say that the district has lost a man who will be hard to replace. Also to your good wife we extend our best wishes for your future welfare.

In this, Boyd we have found a good friend and friend and a

THE LAST CHAIN OF GOLD

(By Ida, Dot and Doris)

AN ARMY

The allied hell hells the hound of peaceful town,
The students harnessed glad them every way,
To drown their fears in gladness till they learn;
Bombs of old cannot pass today
How laden the dusty school house from their night!
No more bow-thirty classes will be held
Except on Fireworks on moonlight nights,—
But hush! Such things are better never told
Beware lest rugged rod no more to cram
For one month or half short early call.
No pier of homework shall be given ruling rain,
Or teachers rostra board in every hall
Base knowledge to their eyes her sight for Such with the spot of time, did ever unroll,
Chill discipline repressed their noble rage
And forced them ever cowed to their goal.

He now the strife is over will reports
Cease parents all to praise, to chide or rave,
And those who flunk, ostensibly retard,
The paths of glory lead but to the grave

EPITAPH

Here rests their efforts in the School Rhubarb
Three rounds to fortune and to fame unknown,
And though they sometimes dun a saintly garb,
For most part Satan claims them as his own.

Great was their joy and always great their fear
To publish notes on students, for or friend,
And if the Rhubarb has caused any tears,
Remember Time is always known to mend.

No further seek their persons to disclose,
But let them list in memory to the lay
From Dis and Dot and Dora, to "A wish for endless luck, we thus extend."

"THE MARRIAGE" OF WHITE HORSE WHISKY

MARRIAGE is a term used by Scotch Whisky blenders when pure grain whisky which has matured in wood is mixed with pure malt whisky.

White Horse Scotch Whisky is the result of the blending of matured pure grain whisky with pure malt whisky—the "marriage" of Scotch Whisky. It is the "marriage" that makes White Horse Scotch Whisky so mellow and smooth—so full bodied and aged.

Every drop of "White Horse" whisky you purchase has been matured in sherry casks for years.

Bank Of Montreal Crop Report

Below will be found a brief synopsis of telegraphic reports received at the Bank of Montreal at the close of the week from the Bank's Branch Managers throughout the Dominion and are in reference to the crop conditions in all sections of the Canada mentioned.

GENERAL—General rains have improved crops in the Prairie Provinces and Ontario, though there are some sections of Southern Saskatchewan and Alberta, where the moisture is deficient. Pastures generally have registered to some extent the heavy damage from wind and cool and drifting in Southwestern and Central Alberta, where the feed is short and cattle is heading out. In Quebec, rains have been frequent, and crops generally are now reported. At present crops are in a satisfactory condition except on low lying lands. In Ontario spring and fall wheat, oats, barley, pastures, hay seed and the season is a week ahead of the average. In the Maritime Provinces weather conditions in general continue to be good, though in some districts rains are needed. From Southern Saskatchewan have been received favorable reports, while are fairly satisfactory although rains are needed more than over all. Western Area —Crops are doing well following heavy rain mail warm weather is now needed. The sugar beet crop is in good condition. SASKATCHEWAN—Southern Area —Crops are in good average condition, with ample moisture. Wheat is 75 per cent. Short heads and some is heading out. The average height is eight to ten inches. Rust is reported. Oats are 70 per cent. Barley is fairly satisfactory although rain is still needed in some sections. The average height of wheat is ten to twelve inches. Recent extensive damage has been eliminated in most sections by a heavy rain fall. MANITOBA—All crops are looking satisfactory progress under favorable conditions. Pastures and ranges are promising. Wheat is now heading out. Damage from any source is light.

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC

The prospects are for a heavy yield of high quality, cutting is about to commence. Pastures continue to be in excellent condition. Root crops, though damaged to some areas by rain, are generally promising. Harvesting now need warm dry weather. Oats and barley still show a healthy appearance in most sections. Hot weather is now necessary for the cultivation of corn.

PROVINCE OF ONTARIO

Warm weather continues to have the reduced acreage foreshadows a light crop. Oats and barley are heading out and are above average. Haying is general. On old meadows the crop is average, but below the average on new meadows Late May frosts have resulted in strawberries being below average. Cherries, peaches and grapes are up to a average, but apples, particularly the late varieties are below average There is an increased acreage of peas, corn and tomatoes for canning purposes and of beans and onions, all of which are above average Tobacco was planted under favorable conditions and the growth has been rapid.

DAIRYING PROVINCES

May promises a good average yield, except in sections of Eastern Ontario, where the crop will be light. Pastures generally are in good condition. Potatoes continue to make satisfactory progress. Orchards in the Annapolis Valley are in good condition.

PROVINCE BRITISH COLUMBIA

Cherries have been especially affected by the cool weather and the crop is only 60 per cent. of average. Other small fruits are promising and light crops. Haying is well under way, but rotting has been delayed by wet weather. Grains are showing good growth. Digging of early potatoes has begun, the crop is average and quality good. The estimated yield of apples is 20 per cent. of average, pears 60 per cent., peaches, 70 per cent. Prospects in all districts are promising.

The Value Of Home Grown Grains In Poultry Feeding

The value of imported foods used in poultry rations runs into millions of dollars annually Of these foods corn and meat products make up a large proportion and represent the bulk of the imports. Owing to the higher priced grains used in poultry feeding west.

The saving in transport and time which could be attained should this importation be greatly reduced by the use of barley a grain grown in large quantities in Canada, in place of the more expensive corn product usually so obtainable.

At the present time corn products make up from twenty to thirty per cent. of the scratch grain and mash combinations commonly used with as high as 70 per cent in certain types of all mash rations which are used considerably in the United States and Canada. In some cases the recommended for use in this country surpassed for use in this country.

In view of these facts, the poultry departments of several Dominion Experimental Stations have undertaken experiments for a few years past in this endeavor to ascertain the comparative value of barley and corn in poultry rations.

The barley product more efficient than corn for egg production proved during almost as many years a greater number of eggs, and on account of the low cost of the home grown grain, at a greater profit per bird per the cost of feed. In one instance a pen of birds in closed fed barley and a friend of mine recently roasted in one of the experience with his hankers when they were discussing the gaping the gaps as they knew the rules

And here, to absolve my friend, I would explain that the banker was playing the game of banking and that was his task to purchase a loan as he would go into a store to buy a hat. He was looking for any bankmonkey for it. And they knew that he would repay the principal As he had no wish to put into business to make money by lending it to his customers. But my friend cannot see why the banker simply because he can lend money is therefore, any more virtuous than himself.

Yet it is logical that the philosophies should produce different standards of value. I know a man who started out to make money and has made two million dollars. But in order to do so he has been so interested to rush the importance and care of money that now he would not exchange it for gold. To be will to be generous the idea of profit will intrude Endeavor as he may he feels a sense of guilt that time is being wasted Even when he is enjoying the pastimes of things their finer points are lost in the commercial value The philosophy of saving has brought him to this.

Likewise philosophy of wealth getting offers faithful severe every-day. What the philosophy of the spender offers him is not, apparently, so well known. But he has revealed and not absent in the pleasures he derives from a gay-hearty removal of furniture in a house and his library But in the thoughts, qualities, the emotions it allows

DECLINE IN TRADE
ITEMS CONTINUED

The decline in Canadian trade, exports and imports, which began during the later months of 1929, continued unabated in April and May, the first two months of current fiscal year

Trade reports for this period are lacking of anything in the nature of figures that augur well for the immediate future A comparison of the last twelve months shows that the total value of these trade items has fallen off to $135,884,484, a loss of $66 135 720

The value of wheat exports for April and May has declined by $23,000,000 as compared for the same period this year only $1,703,-703 Fuels and petroleum products declined seriously

Exports of manufactured materials semi-manufactured copper wood pulp and newsprint have not declined

In Defence Of The Spendthrift

In his autobiography Calvin Coolidge pays his respects to those who have criticized his habit of a friend of mine recently roasted in one of the experience with his bankers when they were discussing the gaping the gaps as they knew the rules

It must be borne in mind that where barley was used in place of corn, care was taken to supply the necessary amount of mineral matter, such as shells or clover or dried leaves and blossoms of these plants while vitamin A was supplied by the cod liver oil. The latter was mentioned fed usually at the level of one per cent of the mash consumed.

Although considerably more experimental work along line is required before the value of this grain as a substitute for corn can be accurately determined, it would appear from the results so far obtained that barley may substitute for corn in poultry feeds for egg production to a considerable extent, when cod liver oil is used and provided that the mash contains milk in some form or other necessary for the calcification of bones.

"What now do you spend it?" he was asked.

"Oh—my family lives well, very well. They enjoy many things. We certain We travel. We subscribe to many things you would probably not think worth while We give our children every opportunity some of which might have been denied to you. But we prefer giving them those opportunities to having them money. And then, lest they think him entirely shiftless he added "Of course we keep up a few investments. We can take care of our old age We have our own cash in our house and furniture and objects d'art if necessary."

The bankers looked at the evil. In At last one spoke: "Books and bonds are collateral You could get money on them. You have no collateral."

"But why should I need collateral?" he added "I have a good and healthy reserved income for the next many years. I have insurance in case of sickness or death. And you know I pay my bills."

"Oh, your moral credit is unimpeachable It is your financial credit that is shaky. You don't serve."

For a moment he held me, he saw himself the privileged one. Then sanity returned. He said to himself —"Everything I buy is bought for a worthy purpose I eat no more than is necessary. I work hard I play less than most of my friends. I contribute to the public weal. I give to those who need it. Sir, I am not prodigal. I will not

Mackie "What do you think of a man who is consciously deceiving his wife?"

Jack: "Sir is a marvel!"

Judge "You corroborate your husband's evidence?"

Witness: "Certainly not, it is all lies."

"The gentlemen has strong with a conscience and now we seem to be in for a fuel that is so full that the gentlemen has to be put in the wearer's shoulders. One wonders what the gentlemen will do! next."—Fredrick Pedagogue.

Stock market rumors appear to prove that instead of breeding like rabbits, the animal exhibit just can't believe that he was created.

When wearing gems, the more it too pale, may be touched up with a coral pencil of the rather expensive indelible variety.

A simpler, and less expensive method would be not to let the nose wear gems.

WHEN A SUBSTITUTE WON THE KENTUCKY DERBY

Sickly by petulant and colicky baby pampered on the Bromley estate, which was run recently by Commander J. Bromley Eustis, U.S.N., retired, and Mrs. Eustis, who was held up by many the most impatient spectator at the Kentucky Derby, as it did not steal the crowds of a trainer's notice in haunted, but had a interest such a wide public, had a business the size of Assistant Secretary and considerably different many people in Louisville than my since entering Harvard almost ten year ago when my other count in the Derby calendar is being decided. It is not the oldest race in the United States. It is not the most valuable. It is not the most valuable. The horses that have won it are not, generally speaking, the best thoroughbreds that the United States has ever produced. It is not the most exciting race, and it never can receive. It is not in the Derby category. It is not run at the best time of the year. It has been run by several horses that were little better than ordinary and by comparatively few which have remained sound for themselves or sires. Yet there has been established about it a legend of southern chivalry and Old Kentucky, some reason for its very name, its fame and its lovely women and true fantasy for its time years, being while the race is run, would be it may have felt of national resonance in the Civil War.

Some remember of other Derbies are remembered in the New York Herald-Tribune's Fair Grounds by McDonald, the well known turfman, who established a home for the aged and sick. Of special interest to find his account of that memorable Derby won by Zev, a horse owned by Commander J. Bromley Eustis, U.S.N., retired, and Mrs. Eustis, who was held up by many as the most impatient spectator at the Kentucky Derby, as it did not steal the crowds of a trainer's notice in haunted, but had a interest such a wide public, had a business the size of Assistant Secretary and considerably different many people in Louisville than my since entering Harvard almost ten year ago when my other count in the Derby calendar is being decided. But like the town "Tin Can Commander" is assuming a form of affection and respect, for there must be a reason behind those that Mrs. Eustis has been over very kind of mark, and that she could only be stopped by the weight

The fact that this animal was also in the Derby contributed to the value, but Milner, after some hesitation, paid that much for him and three to one Hilarious worth more each. Commander, at this time, was very unwilling to buy more horses for Derby which was only a few days distant, and he was not in the habit of betting. The colt beat him, but still Commander was in a way that was at least promising. Moreover, he seemed to be of the kind that would come better in an extra mile than a mile and a sixteenth. Bet Sun Beau seemed to be a horse that would strongly against the idea of withdrawing his favorite and substituting the ugly duckling. Three days after the colt had run so badly in his trial, Commander Eustis went to his stable. He said that he was the colt did not do as well, and strongly against his will, Milner was induced to scratch him and start Determinator. The public rag was with Hilarious betting on him for straight place and show and winning some $400. It might be said that later Sun Beau showed that he was a real good horse, but he never was the stayer that old Determinator was. Old Bones record of 1.32 2-5 for two miles made at Belmont Park, stands to this day

Botha News

The feature of the weather this week is the intense heat. Grain and gardens are making a very fine growth where there is plenty of moisture, but where there is shortage gain is growing badly. Rain is badly needed south of Botha as crops are suffering.

The Zenith picnic was a decided success. A number of people from Botha went down and report a very hearty dinner and a fine time generally.

Miss Sofia Tigman is in Edmonton at present, attending summer school.

The last issue of the Bow West Farmer contained a short article and a very good photograph of C. H. Shook, poly's brush cutter which it said at work in the Lacombe district. Mr. Shookpoke owns one of the largest brush cutters made.

A community picnic will be held on July 23rd on Mr. Hinkle's land near the old Merchant place. This picnic is held under the auspices of the Sunday School and the Inistatia has everyone is welcome and no charge will be made.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond TLomas of Zenith, are receiving congratulations on the birth of a son, born on July 9th at the Municipal Hospital.

Miss Grace Rodgers of Alix spent several days at the beginning of the week with her friend Mrs. Frank Townsend.

Work on the new fence at the cemetery is progressing in a very satisfactory way. The fence posts are finished and enough rock is on hand to build the wall north of the gate. Mr. Pradden is still undecided as to whether or not the south side will be built this year.

The Ladies' Aid met at the home of Mrs Kowl Averill last Thursday afternoon with about 40 ladies present, and a very interesting meeting was held. Owing to the heat everything was laid aside. A delicious lunch was served at the close of the meeting. Mrs. Averill was assisted by Mrs. James Peasley, Mrs. Hutton and Mrs. Ray Ball.

BIG PLACE FOR A LAMB

At a small country station a freight train pulled in and abbreviated for a passenger train. The freight stopped to fix its switches as a placid, well-dressed woman, who had alighted from the passenger train, was walking near it. Just then one of the freight brakemen called to her:

"Jump on her when she comes by, Bill. Hen has down by the elevator, put her in two and bring the head end up by the depot."

The lady picked up her skirts and ran for the station, shrieking at every step.—Flying Hoss.

WET FEATHERS HOT

In addition to the turkey, the Blaine charges will feast upon 15,000 pounds of sweet potatoes, 5,000 pounds of bananas, 1000 pounds of almonds, 500 pounds of candy and nackties, sweaters, stockings and other gifts.—San Francisco Chronicle.

FENN NEWS

Mrs. Bob Wallace returned from a visit to Calgary on Wednesday last.

Mr Norman Burke returned from the Hospital, where he recently underwent an operation and is progressing nicely.

Mr. Harmon Vernal is confined to the Stettler Hospital for a few days on account of a painful burn on his hand. He is progressing nicely.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Legg drove down to Calgary on Friday last, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lashwood, where they took in the Stampede.

Mr H. O.L. Strange returned from a trip to Eastern Canada on Saturday last.

Crops in this district are looking fine, but are beginning to show the need of relief from the hot temperatures suffered during the past few days. At the moment conditions look like three-quarters of an average crop.

The ladies of the community held their last U.F.W.A. meeting at the tabs and spent a very enjoyable afternoon there.

Mrs. A. Dupont is confined to the Stettler hospital, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis, and is progressing favorably.

Miss Hilda Crawford has visitors from the East.

Mrs. Dan Wallace and Betty have gone to Edmonton for a short holiday, where they will visit an old resident of Penn, Mrs. A. Schmaltz.

Red Willow

Mr Cam Findall of Mackaburg, Sask., is visiting his son J. G. Findall.

Mr. and Mrs. Plank of Chester, Montana, and Mrs. Miller, were visiting friends in Red Willow district last week. They lived here in the early days and they had many friends to greet them on the occasion of the government and some not.

Beneficial legislation to the farmers such as the technical and scientific work being carried on by the department of agriculture was brought to the attention of the audience.

Mr. Lucas touched on the matter of the tariff and stated that it had not varied by more than 3 per cent. since Confederation. Both parties have been in power and the tariff still goes on. It is higher today than it was when the Conservatives went out of power in 1921. The manufacturers were out for free trade in raw materials but for protection in manufactured goods. The manufacturers were getting more protection but when they went out, while there was a 42 cent tariff against Canadian Wheat in the United States.

The present budget was brought down as a vote catching and cleverly devised, and the speaker could not support it for that reason. The Social Credit measure had been opposed by the U.F.A. members as far back as 1921. The matter of Old Age pensions had been brought up the Labor party in 1935, supported by the U.F.A. members. It is true that the government put it through, but those who introduced it in the time place should get some credit.

Before the election the Government refused to have anything to do with unemployment, but now, with the election in sight they have had a change of heart and will go fifty-fifty with the provinces and municipalities to ; lp unemployment.

When the 69 Progressives went down to Ottawa in 1926, the parliament of that year was going to put on the Crows Nest Pass agreement for reduced freight rates But the Progressives fought the matter and parliament finally agreed to let the agreement stand. The government has raved $80,000,000 for the farmers of Alberta during the past few years

The social legislation and soldiers' settlement passed by the present government, would have been brought almost no matter what government was in power And much who tried to take credit for this for his party, should be put where he belongs.

The soldiers' pensions should not be dragged in the matter of party politics.

The women could not sit in the Senate because the supreme court said that they were not persons. The Alberta women took the matter in the Privy Council and won their battle. The Dominion Government would not nominate a western woman for the Senate, but chose from Eastern Canada—which was a slight on the women of Western Canada.

Mr Lucas stated that he represented the constituency for nine years, and he was proud to let his record stand He had told them at the convention, how he had voted on each question as it came up. In this constituency there were rumours afloat—One that he was a Conservative and another that he had lived in the East, and had not ever property in the West. He had been nominated as a U.F.A. candidate and was still a U.F.A. candidate and when he could not carry on under that banner he was prepared to quit. He had a free half section of land at Longheed, and it did not matter to him who either He had come to Longheed some years ago and he had never been back East except when he he cited several instances to illustrate his point.

Mr Lucas reviewed some of the important legislation passed, such as war veterans' benefits, divorce bill, return of natural resources to the province, the budget, New Zealand treaty and its abrogation, appointment of new grain commission, unemployment, Crow's Nest Pass agreement, coal mine, the budget, old age pension act, immigration and work of special committees and commissions.

Unemployment was a world problem and in countries were feeling the effects of this mechanical age when machinery was displacing men in all lines of industry.

He also told of the efforts of the Progressives in bringing in recommendations for legislation such as a national highway, government support of technical education, a bill to bring all estimates before a special committee before being adopted by the House, increased health measures, intermediate credits for farmers, and the establishing of an international chair for peace in each university, a motion to appeal at least $1.00 for a movement towards peace for every $100.00 spent for war. some of which had received the approbation of the government and some not.

Ruined Fields For Alberta Is Grove Threat

Methodist Hour Calamity Seeker Sees Dust Storm Coming

MOST TREE OWN

Rev. Thomas Woodall Declares Liberty is Death To Enemy

Because of a severe and devastating drought in Alberta during the past seven years, and a repetition of the calamity which threatens this year, the Province of Alberta is confronted with the most serious problem in its history. It is represented by the Free Army which is marching through the Province, and which will be in Stettler on Monday, July 21st, 1930. Words are inadequate to describe the situation. The services in the evening in the Methodist Church will be in charge of one of the officers of the Army, and he says it is a duty for all to attend even in the most vague personal interest, to hear something about the early history of Canada.

It is in order and to display the Maple Leaf once more that hundreds of men, and the expression on their faces show whether they are friends or foes, are marching to the front. Others are enlisted for the duration of the war, and are not found until after the armistice is signed. Then they are found in Paris. At the time only 50 regular troops marched at the Parade—the others were left behind to guard the colors. Out of the 50 there were but three up to 40 by 10 dollars and a of colonels came to the most vague personal interest, to hear something about the early history of Canada.

Fascinating Links In Canadian History

Jean de la Cave, who accompanied Champlain on his exploration of the Ottawa River, refused to speak in 1615 and shortly after gave a display of the country which many years later was to be known as the Province of Alberta. It is recorded that Jean was given leave to go by Champlain and that he returned in the autumn. It is supposed that Jean was killed by the Indians, but there is no record of his death. Perhaps it is hoped that he found a wife and lived happily ever after. Perhaps he died of old age in the Indian village.

Perhaps it is a happier fate, interesting fate it is said regarding the life of Jean, but it is unfortunate that we do not know more about him. Perhaps he found a wife and lived happily ever after. Perhaps he died of old age in the Indian village.

Round the Country

The election of Alberta placed Mr. Bronsone in power again on June 18th. They were not expecting him the best step to take at the present time, when the Natural Resources were about to be administered by the province Mr Bronsone had also handled the difficult railways question in a manner that relieved the province of the burden of conducting those railways itself.

Mr King, on the other hand, is asking for a new issue of power on July 28th. He is appealing to the people of Canada on his record, just as Mr Bronsone appealed to the people of Alberta on his record.

The financial record of the province of Alberta shows that the bonded debt of the province has increased from 37 million dollars in 1921 to 101 million dollars up to March 31st, 1929. The province of Ontario had an increase in debt of 180 millions during the same period and every other province in Canada had a substantial increase in public debt.

Let us look at Dominion finances for a moment. Just before the war started the debt was 336 million dollars. In 1922, when Mr King came into power the public debt had increased to the enormous sum of 2,225,000,000 dollars, a seven times increase in the period from 1922 to March 31st 1930, the public debt of Canada has decreased by 211 million dollars, a decrease which is almost as much as the entire public debt of Canada from Confederation to 1914.

There is another point to be noted in regard to the decrease in public debt during the past eight years. It has done not by increasing the taxes but by decreasing them.

During the last five years the Dominion Government has decreased taxes by 118 million dollars, made up of an every a decrease per year of around 23 million dollars.

There is also another point to be noted in regard to the decrease in taxes and of the public debt.

Both decreases were carried out in spite of the fact that 65 cents out of every dollar paid out by the Government is expenses goes into war debts. The Government has only 35 cents to spend out of every dollar in running the country, but, notwithstanding that comparatively small appropriation of the money available they have continuously and persistently reduced both the public debt and the taxes paid by the people of the country.

If Mr Bronsone was elected on his financial policy, why should the farmers of Alberta turn down Mr. King on his handling of the finances of the Dominion?

Mr Bronsone was also re-elected on account of his handling of the Northern Railway question. But Mr. King had a similar problem in regard to the National railways, only that problem was a good deal more of a nightmare than that of the Northern railways by their egg duration. The eggs are always bad in sort, dusty and sad and any Dicks which have the sad misfortune slightly crushed will be largely crushed by the moths. In most cases a light coat is sufficient to form this protection crust and if the last cultivation is followed by such a rain the crust that is formed should not be broken in any way.

Fields which are in crop that must be harvested during August will have the surface crust destroyed by these operations and the cutworms will be present there next year. If the crop is such that it can be left until the middle of September or can be cut and stooked before the first of August nothing should be allowed to disturb the soil crust between the rains.

The entire problem during a dusty western autumn without rain can be simply expressed as follows:—

"1—Any fields in which the soil surface is crusted and undisturbed from the first of August to the middle of September will be reasonably free of cutworms the following spring.

"2—Any fields in which the soil surface crust is broken or disturbed from between the first of August and the middle of September are reasonably sure to be infested with cutworms the following spring. If such fields are seeded the crop will probably be destroyed.

Is There Any Hope In 1931?

"The only hope of growing crops successfully over the outbreak area in 1931 if the foregoing recommendations are not followed, depends entirely on the spring rainfall. A wet season during next May and June with frequent heavy rains may reduce the amount of damage. When the soil is wet the pale western cutworm does not feed as heavily or destroy as many plants as it does when the soil is dry.

"More detailed information can be secured by writing to the Dominion Entomological Laboratory at Lethbridge, Alberta, Saskatoon, Alberta, Indian Head, Sask. or Treesbank, Man.'

Canada And The United States Tariff

THE PLEDGE

From the moment the United States Congress first began its revision of the tariff, the Mackenzie King Government has been fully alive to the situation, and has made it clear both in Parliament and throughout the country that at the proper time it would take such measures in reply to the American tariff as would effectively safeguard the interests of Canada.

On June 19th, 1929, Hon. Ernest Lapointe made this declaration: "We will continue to shape our financial policies on a national basis, in the interests of all sections in Canada. We will legislate not for one class but for all classes and groups of the Canadian people."

In the Budget debate of the session of 1929, the Prime Minister (Mackenzie King) spoke as follows:

"But I repeat—and I do not think this can be made too clear—that so far as the United States tariff is concerned that is a matter which the Government of that country must settle for itself in accordance with its own interest. And the United States will be the first to recognize, if in any action they take our trade is adversely affected, that it is our duty and our right, and should be a and will be our policy to see to it that we make such arrangements with respect to our tariff as will further our interests in our own way."

THE PERFORMANCES

On May 1st, 1930, the Hon. Chas. Dunning delivered his Budget speech in the House of Commons and announced the most far-reaching revision of the Canadian tariff which has been made in many years. Conservative speakers have tried in vain to minimize the effect of the Budget of 1930 on American imports to this country.

Here is a statement from the official report of the Commercial Attache of the United States Legation in Ottawa:—"The budget speech in the Canadian Parliament on May 1st, 1930, included tariff proposals by the Minister of Finance which represent the most extensive revision of the tariff since 1897. American trade aggregating between $175,000,000 and $225,000,000 is affected, adversely in most instances."

WHEAT BOARD PAYMENT

Dissemination of propaganda on an international basis by broadcasting stations operating with power sufficient to blanket large portions of the globe could be effected without violation of existing radio laws, other international or national, according to Federal Radio Commissioner Harold LaJount. It is conceivable, says the Commissioner that a station could be set up in Manitoba and broadcast the entire continent without contravening the International Radio Telegraph convention. Similarly, in Canada, the vast Russia might erect a station of tremendous power to broadcast to the world the precepts of communism.

"Military administrations of all large nations, I understand, are giving thought to the problem presented by radio broadcasting as a means of propaganda in wartime" he points out. "Censorship," which is generally invoked on all modes of communication to national emergency, would have little effect on broadcasting, since radio knows no barriers, and booming power will carry the voice over vast expanses of territory.

He probably far-fetched from the technical standpoint, that a station even with 50,000,000 watts of power, located in Russia, could reach the millions of listeners on the American continent, says the Commissioner. With far less power, however, a broadcasting station in the Soviet union could cover the entire European Continent.

"The question of censorship of international programs has never arisen," he declares. "Consequently as the law is written, there is nothing to prevent the broadcast of dissemination of propaganda anywhere unless it is contrary to the general tenor of friendliness and negations. Commissioner LaJount points out that the international regulations adopted by the Washington conference have become every widespread since last year. It is one of the most important radio innovations of recent years. Europe has been quick to the advance that it is now possible to send programs from the United States by relay waves to be picked up by other nations and rebroadcast all over again.

FARM BOARD HOLDS

U. S. WHEAT

Sixty-six million bushels wh it have been withdrawn from m ket by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, agent for the Federal Farm Board of the United States. It is learned here from authoritative sources

As a result the total visible marketing supply of wheat in the United States is substantially less than last year at this time

This year's visible supply of wheat is 23,000,000 bushels greater than at this time a year ago, it is declared. But by the withdrawal of 66,000,000 bushels from the market by the Grain Stabilization Corporation, the visible supply is, insofar as it will affect markets, 44,000,000 bushels less

The wheat now held by the Grain Stabilization Corporation will not be thrown back on the market in such a way that depression of prices will result, the Farm Board has promised. In fact, it is definitely stated that until wheat prices exceed again to $1.25 per bushel not a dollar's worth will be released. The Grain Stabilization Board was brought into being as a relief measure for the United States farmer who operates on capital supplied by the U. S. Government.

CANADA LEADS U. S. IN NEW LABOR LAW

Once again the United States has followed Canada's lead in the march towards perfect labor legislation. Just a few days ago the United States government adopted labor legislation that was framed in this country more than ten years ago by the Borden government.

This legislation has to do with the establishment of national employment agencies and co-operation by the government employments agencies with local organizations.

Immediately following the war representation was made to the Borden government that fake employment agencies were victimizing Canadian labor throughout the country and that even those that operated honestly were grossly inefficient in method.

Resultantly the Government established the Employment Service of Canada during 1919. During 1929 Canadian tourists spent $60,000,000 across the border as

W.C.T.U. Notes

(Contributed article. The opinions expressed herein do not necessarily represent those of the editor.)

The last year in Canadian History has been its greatest in the matter of drinking. Canada's drink bill for the one year being $550,000,000. It cost more to eat as with everything truth that the drink bill is $450,000,000 more than the profits of all the Canadian banks for the year. It is time chemists and some people were awake to how utter Governmental Control or Liquor Control is doing in our Dominion. Is it any wonder we have hard times?

IF DRINK DOES NOT PAY A HALF OR PROFIT TO SOCIETY

The May British Columbia "Liberator" has just read on its menu a financial liquor statement of the people of its eight years of government-ship and has issued order for 1929-30 which some may not yet proceed. With this exception, but, with the addition of at $16,500.00 paid for permits British Columbia, a province of less than 500,000 of a population, has spent for drink during those years $60,681,689.39

Under these two circumstances it is practical to inquire What about the provincial debt? The last year of prohibition, 1920. this was reported to be $24,471,000.00, but on January 1st, 1930, the Minister of Finance reported a net debt of 930 ... $85,172.66

British Columbia has "Beer Parlors and they are growing to be just what The Trade intended they should be and that is nothing for the beguiling of an appetite for something stronger

The Lists of Jobs points out that while an investment of $226,481 in the manufacture of butter emptied 100 men, the same amount invested in a distillery or brewery employs but 16 men.

Among the many distinctions that have come to the voter dwelling in the fair province of British Columbia is the fact of the alarming increase in the Mental Hospital population that is keeping pace with the increasing liquor consumption.

Another feature of the present wet situation is the ever-increasing percentage of automobile accidents.

In this day of enlightened advance into a hitherto unknown's subjection of forces demanding concessions of human and mammon the question for spirituous liquor has no place. And if our civilization has been brought to a standstill and never it must be prepared to be a slave to these passions and take the consequences.

TODAY

(By E. Gray Talbot)

Tomorrow I may reach the goal I failed to find today.
So I'll press on. I'll persevere,
And watch and work and pray.

Tomorrow I may clear the way
I failed to clear today.
I'll bring my labor to bruise to hearth,
And make home and heart gay.

Tomorrow I'll do many things
I meant to do today.
I'll then retrieve the golden hours
I still now have passed away.

Tomorrow? It may never come!
For me there's but Today.

Driven To Death By School Fagging

There is always a peculiar sadness in the death of a little child or a boy or girl just entering manhood. With their lives are bound up the hopes of their parents and when death strikes, it strikes not only the individual, but the family whose happiness is wrecked. Then the suicide of a youth is doubly poignant particularly when the life destroyed, by every reasonable expectation might have been useful, happy and prosperous.

The recent death in Barrowford, Lancashire, of Geoffrey Smith, a fine 16-year-old son of Rev. F W Fairhurst, vicar of Barrowford, attracted as much sympathy interest in England as if the lad had been the victim of a mysterious murder or the son of one of the greatest men in the country Geoffrey committed suicide He took his own life because he could not bear the thought of returning to the school dormitory, one of the best famous in the North of England, and there resuming the fagging to which he had been subjected in earlier terms. So impressed was the coroner's jury with the story of the boy's death that it expressed the opinion that the system of fagging in public schools should be abolished.

The testimony showed Geoffrey to have been a cheerful and gentle boy, but he was a bright scholar and deservedly popular. He had confided to his father that the fagging he was expected to do at school repulsed his spirit but the father had no idea that his distaste for the practice amounted to a positive loathing and terror until his suicide proved it. The night before he was to return to school his mother saw a light burning in his room late She entered and saw the boy standing apparently in the window with his arms stretched out. She went to him and kissed him, but he did not speak. Then she put her arms around him and found that there was a cord around his neck, and that he was either dead or unconscious She rushed down stairs and got a knife with which the cord was cut and she cried with which he had bound his legs so that he could not struggle Artificial respiration was tried, but when the doctor arrived the boy was found to be dead

According to Mr Graham B. Smith head master of the school, the only fagging done was the running of messages for head prefects and other older boys. There was also such trifling services as making cocoa and brewing a cup of tea. The service was never insolent and he could not be induced to it. But Mr. Fairhurst testified that, in his opinion, the practice bent ill-will to bullying and it seems clear now that it was bullying and not fear of having to make a fresh cup of tea or burning a piece of toast that made the wretched lad do away with himself The head master said that he knew of no school fagging system into which there was not such evil sides that any of the pupils would abuse their privileges in this respect. He admitted that Geoffrey was in every way a cheerful, normal lad, and was obviously distressed that he should have hidden in his heart a terror which to his family would be unbearable.

Mr Smith then explained the theory underlying fagging and we note that like everything else which here and then flames into horror it is an admirable one The idea is that the younger boys should be recruited almost exclusively from the homes of the leisure or wealthy classes boys should be taught to set their hands and their feet for when the system will be abolished forever.

Do You Know Marquis Wheat?

In bloody a century of wheat from its emergence on paper in climax an impossibility to-day and has made an exhaustive study of wheat variation. In spite of this statement there is a demand for a description of certain characters that will assist in identifying the kinds of Marquis wheat. Without entering into minute detail, certain distinguishing characters are outlined below

Features describing the shape of a head of Marquis when in a front view A fusiform head is a head which is more or less spindle-shaped and tapers like the rest of a carrot gradually from the base to the tip. Under normal conditions an intermediate amongst a space of 10 to 30 millimeters. A few short awns are found at the tip of the head, but these are somewhat variable in length.

Glumes are an important consideration in examining for Marquis It is here that the average grower fails as his selection work In examining the glumes of samples of Marquis grown at the Dominion Experimental Station at Brandon, Manitoba this conclusion was reached

When ripe the glumes of Marquis are chaffy and tend to be relatively smooth Usually the glumes are three as long as wide The shape of Marquis glumes is an extremely important For this reason the frames of the several kinds of wheat are used for this purpose Some kinds, commonly referred to as square shouldered and others as sloping shouldered. In Marquis the shoulders are usually sloping. The beak is usually well developed and of medium length.

Grain characters The kernels of Marquis are usually large and plump. They are of a bright red colour and have a translucent appearance. The brush hairs are usually short and sparse.

For a detailed description and illustrations of Marquis, the reader is referred to pamphlet No. 95 "Marquis Wheat" by Newman and Fraser Dominion of Agriculture, Ottawa.

A Gallant Sportsman Is Earl Of Lonsdale

Lord Lonsdale, who has been [illegible] Derby winner, is a sportsman in the best sense of the word. He is that is so essentially British—the noble art of self-defence Once upon a time he revelled in a set-to with the gloves and still enthusiastic people witness the performances of the art as witness his presidency of the National Sporting Club.

Lord Lonsdale in his 73rd year is the doyen and best-beloved sportsman in Britain. His interest in horses is as keen as ever and it is almost entirely through his influence and example that one of the outstanding attractions this year at the Olympia exhibition is a display by a detachment of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. This is the first time in the history of the force that the men have appeared outside the Dominion, although a detachment of the old Northwest Mounted Police took part in the Coronation procession of King George and Queen Mary The Prince of Wales is honorary commodore

BLOOD ON OUR HANDS

(By Bob Adams)

Why should our race of culture boast? As yet we but approach the coast But put our hand in part we touch Blood on our hands.

Our boasted fair up a battle for The struggle and the next ending up Stalwart with attendants whose job Is to keep the other fellow down Warrior commander-in-chief drove At black from rest with hell fire And left-trapped men and the long cigar of which he seldom removes more than half Lord Lonsdale is always Lord Lonsdale Whether in the retail business or in the game There is nobody else quite like him.

WORDS OF WISDOM — J. S. LOGAN

It seemed almost poetic justice that Miss Constance Harvey should come in Buffalo, and who is the first woman who seemed to like American legions, and the first woman to have such a place in Canada, should make her first public appearance and her first address at a meeting of the Kiwanis Club in Winnipeg. The Kiwanis Club is composed of business and professional women of outstanding ability in their respective work, and they are pleased to have Miss Harvey with them.

Women in diplomatic fields are few to Canada but not exactly new to the United States. Miss Harvey is [illegible] business who has been chosen for a foreign post, and at the present time there is one of the service She received her education in France and Italy and took her course in international law in the Sorbonne.

In her address Miss Harvey stated that she thought it was her essential duty to make all possible contacts with women and she said that she had a "lively interest in Canadian women and what they are doing and what they are thinking" in establishing these contacts she considered she would have the best type of advancing national and international work.

CHICAGO MURDERS DUE TO POWER OF CAPONE

No some party came to make a clean sweep in the matter with Chicago if to believe the statement made by Kenneth Ostrolin, a staff writer of the New York World, who on a journey to Chicago to expose a gang war, but yesterday said it was impossible.

Ostrolin, a fearless lady which has been trying to make it in Chicago journalism though I cannot think why, has published figure on gang murders in the city. They only credit its reporters to the various courts and police department of their discoveries. But the estimates seem to peg their accuracy, in fact it appears that the machinery handles exists whereby the wishes of the gangsters if they were small enough to interest about a thorough job of cleaning could be given effect so long as there are corrupt officials in strategic positions who could be removed by the direct or indirect pressure of law.

There are two specific reports on the Crimes Commission which has a federal burglar who was paroled by the fifth term on July 1924 and was still on parole when he committed the last burglary. I am told the above record is quoted in full. It is a defendant in the case

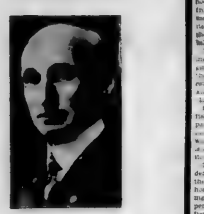
U. F. A. Candidate



W. T. LUCAS

To the Electors of the Camrose Federal Constituency:

We appeal to the electors of the Constituency for support for our Candidate, W. T. Lucas, who has been again selected by the Convention of the U. F. A. of the Federal Riding Association, and assured at that Convention of the united support of the organization.

We ask for the support of all Voters because our association in the past has shown that it requires our united strength to combat the evils of the party system; also to effect much needed political reform and secure legislation by the people of Alberta.

The excellence of the Alberta Provincial Government is well known, and the popular appreciation of that administration during ten years of office has been amply demonstrated recently at the polls. The work accomplished by the Federal contingent of the U. F. A. at Ottawa from 1921 until 1930 may not be as clear to the general public as the achievements by the Alberta U. F. A. Government. The one was a victorious army, the other an advance guard; the one performed its will at close range, the other endeavored to prevail against the will of a force superior to itself in power, on a field more remote.

The farmer has always been, and is now, at an economic disadvantage as compared with other classes in the nation. He must accept for his produce the prices which others offer, and pay the prices which others demand; he pays all expenses of shipping his goods to others, and pays all the freight on goods shipped to him; he is discriminated against in flood policy, paying high protective duties on what he buys when obtaining a corresponding consideration; and he pays 2½ to 3½ more for his credit accommodation than those engaged in commercial enterprise have to pay. To remove these economic inequalities is the chief concern of those representing the agricultural interests in Parliament. Some important readjustment will be necessary, either reduction in freight, and interest charges, and every reduction adjustment made with a view of relieving the farmers' unfair burden, helps towards the ultimate goal of economic equality with other industries.

We are working on a system based on co-operation, designed to bring social elements in co-operation with each other and to take the place of the present hapless political system that is based on the principle of dividing citizenship against itself in other conclude.

Let us stand firm for success.

Signed on behalf of the Board of Directors,

Chas. F. Stone, President

Frank Grainger, Secretary.

contradicted it at all his public meetings. Mr. McIver was merely not to make these statements when he spoke at Lougheed or Mr. Lucas has lived for so many years.

W. T. Lucas was born and raised on a farm in Ontario and graduated at the Agricultural College, Guelph, Ontario. He came West in 1907, first taking up farming in B. C., but later moved to Lougheed, Alberta, where he owned and leased 320 acres. In the spring of 1929 he sold this farm, but still owns the North half of Section 17-46-14, W. 4.

Mr. Lucas owns no property in the East and has no interest or profession other than farming. Those facts are well known or can be established without a doubt. Why, then, does your paper say that half of Mr. McIver visit to make a report otherwise

Mr. Lucas is conducting his campaign by discussing the issues of the day, and not on whether the Liberal Cabinet has pitched more hay on the farm.

I regret said that your paper and Mr. McIver together with a half a dozen imported politicians will not make all your time trying to explain to the farmers why the Liberal Party should return the country to its fondest with New Zealand butter and cheaper farm products, so that today our farmer cannot get the least of production for what he has to sell.

Trusting you will give this letter the space it deserves,

Yours truly,

F. W. CORNER.

Henry Catches Of The Finny Tribes At Fish Lake

(By L. J. Wood.)

I have fished many of Bronah Columbia's lakes, east and west, and oceans, but now I think how I be thoroughly enjoyed a day's sport much as that which had to my lot a short time ago at Fish Lake nestling among the hills bordering the lower end of Okanagan Valley.

To be more exact as to the location of this fisherman's paradise it is about 1½ miles west of the town of West Summerland or about an hour and a half's motor drive from Penticton. It is reached by branch of an auto road which South Ita was just prospering on hands. Here spend among the tree clad hills.

For those who prefer angling for the Kamloops trout there are the upper lakes, but the lure of these Rocky Lakes. At the "Longer Leagues" Brown Harris can switch the anglers within sight and hail boats for an excursion to those lakes which are about seven miles further up the mountains and inaccessible by motor car. Fishing is fairly teem with Kamloops trout, which may be taken out on the fly or by trolling. Boats are kept on all these waters and practically no fisherman visits them without taking away with him his day's limit of twenty-five fish.

In the fall this district is noted for the best of deer and grouse hunting and parties south as Fish Lake for excursions further back into the hills. Guides required in all these are also available for parties from outside the province of British Columbia. A visit to Fish Lake, no matter what time of year, is sure to bring its reward.

Bronah's Last Wolf Killed By Woman

When the pioneers first invaded British it was a very different country from the bustle and activity of today. The country was practically one vast forest and vast areas covered the valley of the Fraser. The home of the mighty elk had their home here and the meadow was found on the northern mountains. The wild beast lived in the dense forests on the rivers and the beaver built its dams, and in all parts of the country the wolf lived and flourished.

Then came civilization. It crept into every one country, each with its advance the wolf retreated, but we can imagine how the inhabitants must have been worried in early days. Cattle, sheep, horses were the Forest packs would return to their old haunts to search for food for the carcasses, the ranger, the wolf was particularly active in the unsettled regions of the British Columbia and in the remote parts of Alberta.

Much Caress had his hapless fellow England must have been harassed by the dread wolf. In later times when the English colonies began to spread to the mountains, Wales was so overrun that rewards were offered for their capture. A part of the tribute to the King of Wales took the form of 300 wolf skins to be paid annually. Rewards were also given to the inhabitants of Ireland.

A law passed in the days of King James I. ordered that in 1607 in every parish in the kingdom a pit containing the following sentence. —"In heaven all things and and quadrupeds are put any thing them and give to the man who days the wolves two shillings." In the time of James II the reward was changed to: "Whatsoever he bee that slays a wolf shall have a pumpkin."

About 1660 wolves were so destructive that in parts of Scotland refuges were erected along the roads for the protection of travellers. These were called aplitads, hence "Spittal of Glenshee," and similar names which still exist. We are told in one ancient document that the reward paid in 1671 for the destruction of a wolf in the great Caledonian forest was £50.56. Wolves were then numerous.

The Canadian forests have undergone great changes. It is thought that at one time they consisted of oak, to be supplanted by fir. One well-known authority says that birch will follow the fir, and later oak will again appear. Nowadays there are only a few remnants of the vast forests and there are little doubt that large tracts were burnt to get rid of the wolves.

There are many stories of how the last wolf met its doom, many of which has no foundation in fact, but the following claim the honor of being the scene of the kill. Glen Morrison may be the one, and here is the story as told from the shops:

On her return home from taking food to her men-folk she was attacked by an angry and famished wolf. She wound a cloth around her wrist, then, gripping a knife, thrust it down the animal's throat and thus dispatched it without receiving a wound.

Safety on Highways

Records of accidents, deaths and injuries caused each year on the highways of Canada are kept by the Canadian Highway Association, a Canadian organization which has its headquarters in the North Pole and various committees in the United States and other parts of the world. The aim is to collect all information possible and to make it available for the use of all interested. The following is a summary of the "efficiency" method of safety on the highways.

Speed is the greatest factor in the number of accidents. The greater the speed the greater the danger. Therefore, a speed limit is necessary. The safe speed will be determined by the conditions of the road, the weather, the traffic, and the driver's ability. Generally speaking, the speed limit should be lower in the country than in the city, and lower in the city than in the suburbs.

Fast and careless driving is responsible for very many accidents. The first essential is hygienic safety, something which should be observed with greater emphasis as traffic volume makes reckless operation more dangerous to others.

The warnings issued from time to time concerning dangerous practices of motorists at level railway crossings should also be heeded. When one considers the number of fatal accidents reported during the last twelve months it is desirable to take precaution.

Negligence is the cause of a great many of these accidents. People driving automobiles and other vehicles, and even pedestrians, were found to have not exercised proper care in a large percentage of cases, according to a report recently issued by the Board of Railway Commissioners for Canada.

All unprotected or protected crossings this negligence was shown when the facts were recorded. Satisfactory safety devices and cautionary signals, people took chances and disregarded measures to ensure safety.

Motor accidents are becoming more frequent, which is something all should deplore. If accidents are to be prevented or even not made more reasonable by safeguarding the following sentence. —In heaven all things and and quadrupeds are put any thou and all give to the man who days the wolves two shillings." In the time of James II the reward was changed to: "Whatsoever he bee that slays a wolf shall have a pumpkin."

Instances of stop signals being disregarded and lowered gates being crashed by motorists, are given in the report. Here are a few of the cases mentioned:

Typical was the motor the gates while being lowered, going at high rate of speed and running into the train; refusing to stop when signal given by the flagman, stalled on the crossing and struck by engine, trying to cross ahead of train.

Most cases when starting on their 1929 tours should adopt "Safety First" as their slogan to wipe out the accident toll in this country.

A CHANGE OF PROPRIETOR

Grandpa was having his afternoon sleep in the armchair and Johnnie was playing with his mother's watch. Suddenly there was a scream from a cross-cut saw.

An hour later Grandpa had to see little Baby Dowling one of grandpa's vast kindness.

"What are you doing?" he whispered "You mustn't disturb grandpa, Baby."

"I'm not disturbing him, Baby," explained the child, "I was trying to take him in an ambulance, different to what he's going in."

FINE JAPANESE MANNERS ARE BEING UNDERMINED

Among the various things to note in Japan is the politeness of the people, considered to amount profound courtesy of one sort or another to the half from bow-fort to deference. The American movies are responsible for it rather than the Japanese mentalities. Courtesy is immense hobby, relation in Japan is not all greater than in many other countries. The suicide rate in Japan is very high. Seventy-five to 100 and in Switzerland 17. With most Japanese do not do away with themselves is a problem that has often puzzled sociologists and others. The usual explanation is that Instead of a Roman Catholic country and the Roman Catholic Church encourages its subservients to bear those ills they have rather than to flit to others that they know not of. But Belgium whose rate is six times as great as Ireland's is also a Roman Catholic country. The answer would appear to be that after all Belgians are Belgians and Irishmen are Irishmen. The Japanese rate nevertheless is shocking enough. The popular is that it is not higher seeing the tendency in Japan is to put honor to the suicide, especially to the suicide who chooses hara-kiri, and thus gives his life to vindicate his honor. Between the ordinary suicide and the ceremonial hara-kiri a vast gulf is set.

The origin and development of this custom is traced by Grand D. Hissaki in The American Mercury which the word Seppuku is more politely translated as "the happy despatch." It comes from the Chinese and means literally "belly cutting." The true Japanese prefer to speak of it in the synonym "seppuku" just as the Englishman prefers the Latin "suicide" to the Saxon "belly." It was in the twelfth century that hari-kiri came into existence and then was merely the means sensed by vanquished warriors on the field of battle to save themselves from falling into the hands of the enemy. It spread through the military and samurai classes and gradually became thoroughly established and took on new associations.

As time passed a ceremonial developed with it, and now hari-kiri has become a ritual as exact as that of marriage or a funeral. It is no impulsive act like the ordinary suicide, but a carefully considered one to achieve a certain definite end apart from the mere ending of a life that has become insupportable. It is invariably the vindication of honor, a final proof that the victim or compulsor chooses to sacrifice life rather than to admit a jot or scruple of what Burke called "that chastity of honor which felt a stain like a wound" Incidentally, if one were searching for some human escape in prose this is a good example of the pains he might come across.

In course of time, hari-kiri became divided into two classes, that which was voluntary and that which was in effect an alternative to a more shameful death. Members of the samurai class who had got into serious trouble were permitted to be themselves rather than survive the ministrations of the public executioner. The same principle held good in China until recently, when high officials, suspected of treason, were sent a silken cord with which they were expected to strangle themselves. The true hari-kari is preceded by a specially prepared meal, ablutions, and a gathering of the victim in ceremonial fashion. He chooses a position in the best room in the house with his posts auspiciously looking on, and usually reinforced by a photograph of the emperor. He squats on the floor with his back under him in such a manner that he cannot fall back. Then he bares the upper part of his body and takes in his hand a short, sharp knife with the handle wrapped in a towel. The

Toronto's Boldest Stock Speculator

It was not until his ordinary action of the late Arthur Cannon was published that the world learned that he had a first name. My had never heard him called anything but Cannon and my friends are knew him and should be acquainted with him better than any of the members of the family called him Arthur or Percival. We considered Cannon a name for a most unusual person so we never came in contact with him. Indeed, we never knew any other person who knew him before he came to Toronto and later had business relations with him refused to say anything about him, acting on the principle that one should not say anything but good of the dead. This has always seemed a particularly silly convention to us. If it is to be said of a man only the Lord can say it when he dies, for he alone cannot be biased by it. Moreover, if it is said when he is in any way able to hear it, it may serve as a spur to him to do better things.

Arthur Percival Cannon was born in Chesley when financial editor of the Mail and Empire in receipt of a salary of $25 a week, plied up a fortune of perhaps a million dollars. It is perhaps true to say that up to that time nobody in the history of that city had ever made so much money so fast. This is evidence enough of the brain power of Cannon. He was a financial speculator ever to appear on the local market, and no man before or since has ever made a fortune in which he invested. The name of his operations was legion. Even after the fall from grace in the Standard Exchange, where there was many play on the New York financial lines, in any other market he was able to make money. He would stride into the room, glance at the quotations on the board, and, without consulting others, either buying or selling, but generally buying for it was in the troubled times of bear raids that he remembered hardly for the credit he got. A. E. Ames first in 1929 that piled up his fortune.

Cannon's methods were unlike those of most successful speculators. He was not a statistician, Moreover he was not a student of the market. He was not a student of anything. He was not a student of anything. He was not a student of anything

Tourist Business Over $300,000,000

The Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa has issued its report on Tourist Traffic to Canada for the year 1929.

Tourists who entered Canada by the Ocean Ports were some 4,597 more than passengers and the Railroad and Cabin passenger declined from 1,522 and 6,760 to 1,522 and 6,263 respectively but the automobile tourists on the same ports increased from 1,522

U.S.-Canada Border Go Airways Plans

The Government has agreed to accept the recommendations presently made after a conference between United States and Canadian officials representing co-ordination of the airways and radio aids to air navigation, it is announced here. The recommendations are as follows:

"1.—The international air routing frequency 333 kilocycles be used exclusively for planned air transport operations in Canada or the United States.

"2.—It be recognized that a frequency separation of 6 kilocycles is sufficiently sufficient between stations operating these range beacons and radio beacons previous.

"3.—A minimum distance of 150 miles between radio beacons simultaneously operating on the same frequency is desirable. It is recommended that this separation be maximized between nations. Although it is more desirable, it is necessary to reduce the separation within the limitation of other beacons.

"4.—The following frequencies—297.5 kilocycles and 278 kilocycles are allocated 256-285 kilocycles be reserved exclusively for air services.

"5.—The following frequencies shall remain free from assignments in the United States within 100 miles of the United States airways radio stations—284, 288, 293, 302, 305, 309, 333 and 344.

"6.—The frequency 278 kilocycles should be reserved primarily for low power ranges."

Editor Stettler Independent,
Stettler, Alta.

Dear Sir:—

I am writing a few sheet our correction to some of our opponents—one-half of public highway that had never been opened up to use. In 1909 he opened another half-mile of road and made a first class road out of it.

This is the market road to Stettler. I consider Mr. Fisher one of the best Councillors we ever had in our district.

GET NEW SUBJECT

A national bureau of education has been formally established in connection with the union departmental education of the Union of South Africa. Miss Fairbairn, in its conduction and work, will labor in some extent, the plan of the Office of Special Enquiries and Reports in London, the Dan Beard-Hamlet Fai Reindeer and Friendship in Maine and the United States Office of Education.

Its function will be the collection evaluation and dissemination of information concerning other educational needs and actual progress in various directions." It plans to deal with educational questions on the broad lines from a South African point of view, making available the experience gained in other countries.

Stock Fortnightly Crop Report

Rains have been general throughout the province during the past fortnight and have created a most favorable outlook for agriculture. In the southern area where hot, dry weather has caused damage to dry land crops. On summerfallow and on irrigated land to the south the crops are good; there are going prospered land will be light.

In the central western part of the province fields which escaped damage from blowing and cutworms are making remarkable progress. In many fields the stand is thin and patchy and considerable grain is late. Those in, however, increases of crops land for Beverage.

Along the eastern half of the main line of the C. N. R. crops are good. North of this line, west of the C. P. R. from Edmonton to Calgary and in the Peace River district excellent conditions prevail. Plenty of early weather to hasten maturity is all that is required. Grains in his area will mature about per-on days later than last year, while south of Calgary harvest will probably commence slightly in advance of the usual season.

Oats and barley are growing rapidly and many heavy stands are reported. About 20 per cent. of oats are headed and practically all of the barley.

Hail has been reported at a number of points, but does not exceed 10 per cent.

Haying is in progress. Alfalfa is making very heavy second growth. Timothy are in good condition. The sugar beets are doing well.

A RACKER

He is tired the moment he was born,
In sadness, hasty cry.
He clothed and fretted in his baby-hood.
Till the neighbors thought they'd die.

He lashed when he first went to school,
And he contested the supremacist, too,
He lashed on his college football team,
Yes, he lashed his whole life through.

He lashed right hand in politics,
Though he didn't always win,
And he lashed till the day he died,
Though he couldn't sing a note.

He lashed at the judge's electric—
At those who gave their decision—
And he practiced at the faithful partisans,
Because they could give no more.

He lashed the hardest finally,
And nobody mourned, you bet!
But, unless his legs have been buried off,
He is probably kicking yet!

Household Hints

This spring I have committed a number of pieces of furniture—and have used several cakes/cans for removing the paint. I finally decided to try kerosene but yet under I intended that it required a lot of the quarts of boiling water. Then I went to my furniture while the liquid was still very hot. I used a long-handled wire brush and went over the surface of the paint. Some coats paid full of hot soapy water and scrubbed the pieces well. Before scrubbing with the soap I turned the hose on each piece of furniture to make sure that the lye water was rinsed off. The result was surprising and how that the furniture is refinished is less than new.

OLD WINDOW BLINDS

Old linen window blinds may be used for making excellent aprons. I wash them thoroughly, then cut to fit and bind the aprons with pretty cloth. I using the same material for pockets. Old blinds may be used for making old-fashioned picture books for children, too. This spring I intend to make my old Summerhead day and and enjoyed my mind.

Out the almighty dollar.
An' all there is to stack for it.
An' I'm sick of hearin' an' repeatin'
A wife and kids in a painted shack,
An' a stinkin' old automobile.

I want to go back to London town,
Thank God for days gone by.
When a man could reach for a foaming mug,
An' drink when he was dry;
When a Flutter on a house, if only a "bob."
Meant ready-money galore.
An' we trusted in the "straight race."
Were the tips and the cinker sure.

I want to go back to London town,
Give pain I've left behind,
The hassle and pieces of bygone days;
Mix with my own kind.
Back to the days when/and the heart of the world
Beats and its life is song.
But I'm tied down here like a sticking stout,
An' a place I don't belong.

When I go West, further West,
Further West than old B.C.
Forge no Sevens or "pales nine,"
No clinched stones for me.
But let me sleep where the chaparral sweep,
An' when you lay me down,
Beside this prayer for an grey hair:
"May his spirit find London Town."

FUNS AND FUNS

In an attempt to increase the attendance of our local in Prague the Skoda Railway Company has recently undertaken a campaign of propaganda, in order to counteract the consuming palate of the high food value of fish.

An exposition train, including a cars, was shown at the Carn-Stadt-Lenzo by the president of the administrative council of the railroad. The official gathering at the station included several secretaries of the railroad, representatives of the cold storage and canning industries, municipal councilors of Paris and delegates from the ministries of commerce.

A special feature of the exposition was the restaurant car in which visitors can watch the preparation of the different dishes of fish and then partake of the delicacies.

Pope Lindsay, W.C., tells of a man whose asthma was cured by his hearing during the jolting of a baggage. I prefer asthma.

Are Spanish castles built where all your wishes are fulfilled? And are your feelings quickly hurt? Well, then, you're a Spanish castle. Ah, sir, cord leather shoes. Old Timer: you're in the class with the rich and famous. Just send us the hide and we'll do the rest. Simple, isn't it? Our world has most of all the famous, but we must make them famous ourselves, so that the enterprising Swede, Sam, can trade and carry on trade. Ya, ya—sweet, you know Ida, eh. Ay'm the fellow or the girl, whom all the world calls proudest. He has a brain that's just as good, but uses his for moving wood. He is the kid who should not be made to study but build our Spanish castles. He is an energetic man, and yeah, how need no pain eh sir.

CANADIAN SUMMER
BEING LAUDED

Editors all over the United States seem to get a great kick out of the way Canadians endure the punishment meted out to criminals on their side of the line and that handed grimly by Canadian settlers of the law

Two youngsters from Detroit who delighted in thinks of themselves as summer recently paid a visit to a branch of Canadian filling stations where they are said to have left short of change

Canadian police followed them to Detroit and then returned to Canada for trial, and had the satisfaction of seeing them sentenced to 2 years at hard labor with the good old Delaware addition of thirty strokes of the lash.

And right here may I say editorially, that the average headline, no matter where he may have been born, would far rather serve a brick or two in a nice homey American jail than stand up and take the smarting end from a new-breed Canadian "hoosy." It may be harsh but if we remember correctly, we usually learned our lessons more thoroughly in the wood-shed than we did when locked in the jam closet.

COMING EVENTS

DIARIES MAY REVEAL PROFOUND POLAR MYSTERY

With the publication of Scott's diary describing the greatest epic in the history of exploration, mainly his trip to the South Pole in 1912, it may be that some of the mysteries concerning that tragic return homeward civilization will be cleared up. Contrary to general opinion, only a part of the contents of the diaries of Scott and his companions has ever been made public. What remained at the time to at the essential entries are known, and some of the passages have entered themselves imperishably in the honor literature of the race. But it is evident that the world may yet to know all the details of that beautiful journey back over the Antarctic ice and snow, a chapter evidently documented. It was learned from some mysterious source, unrevealed, that there had been some startling wondering, and that, in fact, Scott and his companions might have perished through no report of some members of their own party who had failed to provide the necessary means for food or had indeed, devoured the food themselves, so that Scott and his men on their return found the cupboard depleted. Indeed, Scott spoke of the unaccountable depletion of a link of the stores. If there were such something rather ghastly to be disclosed, it was bad judgment for the surviving members of the expedition to fail summarily silent when they did.

The question which has arisen in the mind of a gentleman who has read every scrap of information published about the Scott expedition is this: Were Scott's supplies taken by Amundsen? As he passed out, it is an assertion in of extreme that the caches of more are available to say other who may be in distress. If one starving party in that able to save itself by breaking into the stores of another party acknowledges the debt, and the fact of the fatal ending of the retreat from the pole was escape. Moderate examination of the bodies of Scott and his companion showed there to be free from scurvy. A that some of it might have especially seems untenable.

Another thing worth noting is that two members of the party on the way back gathered some 35 pounds of fossil remains and these they continued to carry with them. Here another question arises—if the two were in a race against death would they have continued to burden themselves with fossils? The implication is that they continued to hope to the last possible moment that the next camp they reached might provide them with all the food and fuel they required. They died at last within miles from One Ton camp where supplies of all kinds awaited them. Reduced though they were by cramps and the illness from at least one of their number, it seems possible that if they had had sufficient supplies they might have succeeded in negotiating the last few miles, and even temporarily relieved on their return?

"LAKE SERIC" TREES GIVEN CHURCH TEAM

One of the great natural beauty spots of northern Alberta is Wilgenbourne Lake. "Lake Mere," some 10 miles northeast of Edmonton, and only a few miles south of Beaverhill Lake. Here it is that the lake is sixty-five feet deep in its central parts.

Mr. Winters, who owns the land adjoining the lake, has spotted the facilities for campers and a lot of boats, as all may take advantage of fishing, boating or bathing.

Leaving Edmonton, the new road proceeds to the Stony Plain Road, which is graveled, and which he follows to the point where it turns south to the town of Stony Plain. Instead of going to the south, however, turn directly north, and travels for four miles, then turn to the right and neglect for two miles in a northerly direction after which he bypass for five miles one west along the best beach on the road to the lake. This is a most attractive spot for tenting, and one should undertake the trip preferably in dry weather.

CHURCH BANNER WON BY PRESBYTERIANS

A Candelabra undergraduate who was invited to sit at the high table was awed by the immediate proximity of Dr. Edgelock and Prof. Mc-Taggart, psychologists and noted philosophers both. He kept a well-behaved ear in their direction, ready for crumbs of great utterance and profound thinking.

But the fish passed and then the meat, and two learned gentlemen engaged in a gloomy ingemination hush. When the coffee came, however, and the college port began to circulate, he observed with joy a sudden brisk of tongue, and quick ears over as if to speak.

"McTaggart," said he, "I like your steak."

"I'm p-p-p-glad," replied McTaggart with a diffident stutter. "In a p-p-p-p-perfect city."—Toronto Cosmos.

WEDDINGS

GARTH—TOMLINSON

A very quiet wedding was solemnized on Monday morning, July 21, at the Baptist Church parsonage by the Rev Mr. Carruth when Laura Eleanor Tomlinson and Myron Arthur Sorum were united in matrimony.

The bride was gowned in a navy blue serge and hats with hat to match.

Mrs. I. Marshall of Cadzor and Mrs. A. E. Tomlinson were present as the wedding.

The happy young couple left immediately after the ceremony for Calgary, Banff and Waterton Lakes.

HOGBEN—CLARK

The residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Clark, of Erskine, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday morning, August 2nd at 11 o'clock, when their daughter Miss Bessie, became the bride of Mr. Archie Morris of Clive, Alberta. The Rev. J. G. Goddard officiated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and was charmingly gowned in white satin with bridal veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of white carnations.

Zanie Clark, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, and wore a pink georgette crepe de chene of coral shade. Mr. Jas. Hogben of Clive, supported the groom.

The guests present were Mr. Mrs. Jas. Hogben of Clive; Mrs. Paterson and Mrs. Kitchen of Big Valley; Mrs. Wilma Smith, Misses Mabel and Clark of Erskine; and Norman and Clarence Clark of Erskine.

The happy couple left after a short honeymoon spent at Haines, Alberta, will reside at Clive.

May Bore for Oil in Meeting Creek Valley

(Camrose Canadian)

According to a story in the Pittsburg Herald last week it would appear that the district around the Meeting Creek valley is shortly to be investigated by a party of Pacific coast people interested in oil development with a view to determining whether there is sufficient gas and oil there to justify an extensive program of oil-burning Quoting the Herald:

"Dunsdale readers, especially will be interested in a very recent move in connection with plans by which are now under way to investigate the quantity and quality of gas in the Meeting Creek territory between Forestburg and Dunsdale.

"The Herald is in a position to state that some Pacific Coast people interested in oil development have been gotten in touch with for the purpose of having them to thoroughly investigate the field and determine whether there is sufficient gas and oil in the ground to justify erecting derricks and to conduct on an extensive scale oil-boring operations.

"That gas is there in abundance is not doubted by Dunsdale people or others in that vicinity Well boring of most any excavation work usually opens numerous gas pockets The little town of Meeting Creek has Pacific Railway is tighted to a considerable extent by gas from the vicinity in which it is planned to have the Coast company carry on operations. In many of the residences and store buildings in this same town, natural gas is also used for cooking and heating purposes.

"Future developments cannot be held back in this field merely because of the fact that oil has already tested The lease holders will be forced to relinquish their present "rights" unless they have the expenditure on the property required by law It is not at all unlikely that within another year the Meeting Creek valley will become nearly as famous and perhaps even more successful as a field for oil than the Turner Valley has proven to be."

ERSKINE NEWS

Fred Laing and family are leaving Erskine today (Thursday, August 7th) for Vegreville and we wish them health and prosperity in their new home.

Mr Laing has lived in Erskine since 1914, and has been very active in the affairs of the town, having been Secretary of the Board of Trade for ten years and president for one year.

Mrs. Laing and Mrs. Owen, (Mrs. Laing's sister) have been great workers in the Union Church, Ladies' Aid and Women's Institute

As proof of the high esteem in which they are held by town and district, there have been three parties and valuable gifts given to them.

We will miss them, but we are glad to have our friends step up higher in the line of work in which they are engaged. On Wednesday evening they were entertained at "Duck Castle," the home of the Bergman's.

ANNUAL CONFERENCE STETTLER CONSTITUENCY ALBERTA W. I. IS HELD

An annual conference of Stettler Constituency A. W. I. was held in the Masonic Hall, at Gadsby, on Wednesday July 30th, when the annual attendance of 107 delegates and visitors assembled.

There were nine Institutes represented —

Erskine, Kansas, Stettler, Wheatland, Big Spruce, Spencer, Halkirk and Gadsby

It was generally regretted that the Scollard Institute were unable to be present as they were attending the funeral of one of their members Mrs. Marion Hays of Rumsey, Alberta, whose sudden passing on Saturday July 27th was a great sorrow for all.

Mrs. W. Dona, the Constituency Convenor, presided at this Conference. With her on the platform were Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, Dominion Director, and Mrs. John Bradley, Constituency Secretary

The Conference opened at 10 a.m with the singing of O Canada, followed by the Invocation and the Creed, led by Mrs. R. R. Menzies, of Gadsby. Mrs Dona then welcomed the ladies to the Conference, expressing her pleasure at seeing so many present, and wishing them all a pleasant and profitable day Greetings from Mr. W. L. — Dominion Town Planning Commissioner, Edmonton, he had the pleasure of having Mrs. W Huyck of Bicrose to address us. Mrs. Dona then asked Mrs. Huyck to join the ladies on the platform.

Mr C. Cockroft, Reeve of Gadsby was then called upon, and in a few well-chosen words he extended very hearty greetings from the Town of Gadsby, and also from the members of Rising Sun Lodge A.F. & A.M wishing us all success in our work Mrs. S Steele, president of the Gadsby Women's Institute, then welcomed the delegates and visitors on behalf of the Gadsby and Halkirk W. I. ladies who were hostesses for the day We then had greetings from the Omega Home Circle, given by Mrs. B. Collins, who also gave an an interesting outline of their work in connection with the upkeep of the Gadsby Cemetery, showing splendid results accomplished by these ladies. Mrs. J. W Bradley of Erskine, made a thrilling reply to these addresses on behalf of the visitors.

The minutes of the last conference were then read and adopted. Discussion arose in regard to the holding of our annual conferences and it was decided to hold our conference as usual, but in future delegates and visitors pay the sum of 25c for lunch.

The treasurer's report was then read and adopted In regard to the Constituency fee, it was agreed to raise this to $5.00 per Institute.

The Resolutions Committee was then appointed as follows —

Mrs Ford, Convenor
Mrs Stonnell and Mrs. Kirkwood

Resolutions to be handed in to these ladies during the noon hour.

Mrs A. Derr, Halkirk, then gave her report on Canadian Industries, stating that several Institutes were studying this work, but had not been given money for the purpose.

The report of Stettler W. I. was given by Mrs. George Mangholm, stating that although keeping membership in the old name of this Institute, they came in all community work Their membership is 31 and they have raised during the year $262.00.

A short talk on Household Economics was then given by Mrs. A. Robinson of Stettler, who said that very little activity along these lines had been reported to her, and she would pay for the care of their Rest Room, providing flowers for the sick and equipping the kitchen of their hall

The report of Stettler W. I. given by Mrs J Clark showed the Institute doing splendid work for the sick and bereaved They have a membership of 47, and have raised $184.

During the morning session we were favored by two readings by Miss Bleen McVeggar of Bentinck a piano solo by Miss Margery Dean of Gadsby a violin duet by the Misses Mildred and Phyllis Hart of Gadsby also several community singings, which were enjoyed by all.

The meeting then adjourned for lunch.

The afternoon session opened at 1.45 p.m.

Mrs. A. B. Clark, Convenor of Education and Better Schools gave her report, showing all Institutes interested in this work. She mentioned especially the address given by Dr Staples of Stettler, at the Scollard Institutes on Practical Education and said that Dr Staples would be pleased to address any Institute on this subject.

The report of Bywaters W. I. read by Mrs. J. Jameson, showed splendid activity along the lines of community help, providing clothing and Christmas cheer for the needy, flowers for the sick and donations to all worthy causes. Their membership is 39 and they have raised $60 for the year.

In the absence of their delegate Mrs. Ford, Mrs. George Hampshire kindly consented to read the report of Scollard W. I. They have also done good work in community welfare, and have collected $124 which has been spent generously for the benefit of all in their neighborhood

Mrs. J. P. Ferguson, our District Director, was then called upon and gave us a splendid address next.

Precautions For The Picnickers

By Barbara Brooke

Vacation days are picnic days. Many mothers pack their families lunch food and their cars with the children and go to the lake or the woods for a day out—if not for a week-end. Many of them, when calling to a man—and or lacking the time and inclination to cook themselves, and many of such occasions. Children have no tendency to eat—at least not much—on picnic days, and if their meals are not carefully planned they are the disorders upset. Many are the disorders upset. Many are the disorders upset. Many

Annual Conference Stettler W. I. Held

held "High Ideals," which was received with great enchantment. He urged us to encourage all young people to have the highest ideals in their youth and then strive diligently towards attaining them in deed. We should try to heavenly our homes in every way, by having thereon some of the best pictures, also good books, and then instill in the minds of the young the highest thoughts of all that is best in life.

The report of Waverly W. I. was then read by Mrs. Gregory. Waverly celebrated their 10th anniversary in October, and report their bank balance $104. Their funds are used for general community welfare and they are always ready to help wherever needed in their locality.

The report of Sunnith W. I. given by Mrs Hutchison showed that they raised $138 this year, and have helped Bullen Cemetery, sponsored a Christmas party and assisted generally in their community.

A splendid paper on "Legislation" was given by Mrs. J. Christensen, the Sycamore Convener. She urged all women to take a definite interest in the legislation of our country now that we are recognized as "persons," stating that when the women of Canada develop a real political consciousness they will soon have everything they want in the way of social reform.

Mrs. A. Robinson of Stettler then read the report of the Child Welfare and Public Health department by Mrs. W. McDonald of Stettler, who stressed the activities of the various centres where along the lines of this subject. She said that women everywhere have heard themselves, perhaps in the great truth of motherhood, and the better world for mothers and the babies.

At this time Mrs. Dean called attention to the fact that this was the final conference in Dos years that Mrs. Montgomery had and been with us, and the Secretary was requested to write Mrs. Montgomery expressing our regret at her absence and wishing her every success in her visits in the southern district, and hoping that she may be with us again at some future time.

Letters of condolence were then asked to be written to Mrs. Hall of Stettler on the big loss [illegible] suffered by the death of her husband, also to the Hanna Institute in the passing of one of their valued members, Mrs. Jessie Clark.

It was also requested that a letter be written Mrs. Hazel B. Brodhurst, of Stettler, whose personal was very much missed at the conference. Mrs. Brodhurst formerly secretary of the district and has been with us this year.

The report of Kinsella W. I. given by Mrs J. Wyatt showed they have a membership of 13, and a personal hand donation of $20. They hold six meetings during the year, and one open for remembering the sick. Christmas gifts to the needy and presented a layette for an expectant mother.

Mrs. Williamson Bryck, a member of the Town Planning Commission, then gave us a very interesting address on this subject, dealing principally with the rural planning of buildings, farms and gardens, especially the planting of suitable shrubs, and told us of the proper

Surgeon Rapidly Becomes Known Over Continent

If you found a combination that was of such great benefit to you that you could go to the middle of nowhere and in a few days find it in regular use and known, in distant countries, you would have to be convinced in your own mind that it possessed real merit, wouldn't you?

That's just what hundreds of people throughout the United States are now doing with Adlerika, the new kidney remedy recently introduced in Canada.

From all over America and wherever Rectum has been known for about thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the relief they have obtained by this Doctor's prescription.

Thousands Express Gratitude

A typical letter is that received from Mr. [illegible] of [illegible] Ave., Detroit, Mich., who writes: "I suffered intensely from gas on the stomach and constipation for many years. I had no appetite, was always tired and run down. Adlerika relieved me of all these troubles in a few days. I feel like a new man."

Another user writes: "Adlerika relieved me of gas in 10 minutes. I have taken 3 bottles and my stomach is in fine condition. I have gained 15 pounds in weight."

Adlerika acts on both upper and lower bowel to relieve constipation and gas in a few minutes. Also relieves sour stomach, nausea, indigestion, bloating, belching, headaches and dizziness. Removes poisons that cause appendicitis. Prevents auto-intoxication. Checks intestinal infection. Guards against pneumonia. Adlerika is a carminative, a germicide and a mild intestinal sedative. Get Adlerika today at Dr. Hartz Drug Store.

Lonely Island in Mid-Pacific Will Be Centre From which Astronomers Will Watch for the 16 seconds of Extreme Darkness.

By Thomas H Henry.

A queer lonely little island in mid-Pacific will be a centre of much interest for 16 seconds next [illegible] when a group of astronomers [illegible] will watch for the obscuration of the sun's face by the moon. The island is [illegible] Island, a dot in the vast [illegible] of the Pacific Ocean, [illegible] miles from the nearest land. Ways And Means In Public Health

Right: A. J. Douglas, M.O.H.:

Part of the presidential address delivered by Dr. Douglas at Winnipeg at the Toronto annual meeting of the Canadian Public Health Association, and published in the June issue of the Canadian Public Health Journal:

From the earliest times science has had to fight for its existence. The powers of the earth have endeavored to strangle it, and its devotees are entitled to the glory of having gone forward in spite of tempestuous opposition and had the foundations upon which we to-day are lodged to build.

It is not necessary for me to go into detail because there are many instances on record where public policies, usually resulting in the confirmation of the ignorance and the cleanness of the superstitious, has morphed against scientific achievements and truth.

I have not the least doubt in my mind that each of you can recall instances which have occurred in your personal experiences where it was difficult to gain support for something, which after it was understood because an accepted measure having the approval, faith and confidence of nearly all. I say nearly all, for why any new idea or discovery, especially in the realm of preventive medicine, it is most expect to encounter a measure of opposition to convince, either through ignorance inseparably to form a judgment, or from personal jealousy or expected profit. Right now there are a number of matters connected with our profession but not which it is difficult to obtain a sympathetic and encouraging hearing from the public.

It is not, I think, because the simple is a whole new measure, maintenance new and sometimes rather revolutionary change, but is due to ignorance to be expected something which they do not understand. That they are not understood is often because they have had nobody to instruct them or even the instructions they have received have not been given in a convincing manner with argumentation driven home by incontrovertible facts and demonstrations. Results improves the idea in the following words. The truth of science is to substitute facts for opinions, and demonstrations for impressions.

To attain the greatest success in our work there must be an appealing public sentiment. Public health reforms, laws and regulations cannot run far ahead of public opinion and knowledge without encountering spasmodic or inertia which will delay progress. Any health regulation in which the public does not have confidence of which a large majority of the people are dubious is doomed to be a dead letter without enforcement. Disease and quiet. No sanitary improvement which the writer will be effective wherever the laws you pass or what ever powers you confer on public officers, unless you create an intelligent interest in the public mind.

The importance of gaining the sympathy and support of the public for the efforts we hope to attain is a point I should like to emphasize today. People should be told in language as little technical as possible, what we are trying to do, and why we want to do it. We should disseminate information through the medium of public addresses, the radio the press and by any other means that offer. The press has been generous in allowing space for health news. No part of our educational campaign is more vital than that described by Winterstein to members of governing bodies the necessity of adequate appropriations for health purposes, appropriations sufficient not only to hold ground already gained, but to widen the area of usefulness and influence.

It is sometimes difficult to convince those holding the strings of the public purse that money spent for health purposes is necessary and as promising in dollar for dollar returns as the great change taken place in husbandry. To prevent epidemics is not so spectacular as to stop them. To keep people from becoming ill is not so conspicuous as curing them. Legislators must be convinced that should be done well in advance of the time that budgets are to be considered. It has been well said that a community can have as much health as it is able to pay for.

It is important that an information we give out or any measures we may advocate shall be of proven efficiency and no unsound within short procedure which are still in the experimental stage be encouraged for general adoption. There is so much misinformation about health subjects current to day that we should be careful not to sponsor anything that is not as certain as anything can be in this all too uncertain world.

We have reached the stage now when the lives of people are well protected through the provision of friendly disease of water, milk and food, through efficient welfare, through sanitary disposal of human and other wastes, and through better control of preventable diseases.

The problems of the future should take place by benefiting individuals to protect themselves by knowing where danger lies and how to avoid it by trying to make every person a health officer for himself and his family.

Private organizations can much in accordance with their resources in public health. They give freely, not only of their time, but contribute large sums of money in connection with and encouragement to their efforts. It is my opinion that we should encourage these people to their efforts as it is by giving their services and money that they can best be interested in our work. Many of the most progressive movements in public health have been initiated by private organizations and then taken over by governments when they have proved their worth.

STETTLER EXHIBITION DRAWS LARGE CROWDS

The 25th Annual Exhibition was held at the Fair Grounds on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday August 7th, 8th and 9th. This was the first time that the Fair had been held for a good four years, and in the meantime the Fair had been re-organized and placed on the "B" class circuit, making it a three-day event, with a wider range of attractions.

The Exhibition this year was the best yet held for the long series of twenty Fairs, and the management were favored with splendid weather, and fine exhibits. During the three days over 12,000 cars were taken in at the gate and this means that the total attendance was over 2000. Not counting the children there was many have been over 6000 people in attendance. The Fair had been particularly well advertised, both by newspaper advertising and by posters and handbills throughout the district. Every prominent corner on the roads in this part of Alberta had a billboard or placard announcing the Fair, and the management realized that advertising pays when the class of exhibition warrants having the people know about it. The roads leading to town were in first class shape and the recent overcurred before harvest, the country people had the time to take in the days off and spend them in town. While the weather was particularly warm the first two days, it cooled off on Saturday and made the last day almost as good as the previous two. The management are able to declare a surplus and this is a most gratifying result as it indicates that the people are willing to patronize a three-day event, and it points the way to an even better one next year.

The Horse Show was a splendid one, and the entertainment throughout the three days, and the management for the juveniles, while the merry-go-round, and other exciting means of transport kept them interested throughout the three days. Another striking feature was the fact that the Fair Board had secured particularly attractive as the diver and contortionist in Haines. As the applause of the crowd proved he got the breaks in their but he made the most that had been given him and he was sought by many of the exhibitors. The most

Baseball Tournament

This tournament ran for the three days of the Fair and the entries included the following teams: Botha, Bentley, Cove, Castor, Stettler A, Trochu, and Stettler B.

The tournament got away to a good start on Thursday morning when Botha met Bentley and Botha, Botha won the Buffalo Hats by the score of 11 to 10 after a hard game. Stettler also had a first game on Thursday morning. The championship was finally won by Stettler, who defeated Coalspur in the final game.

FENN NEWS

Rat smallpox has prevailed during the past week and grain is the chief topic of conversation among farmers and it is reported that harvesting will commence next week.

A good many people from Penn attended the Stettler Agricultural and Industrial Exhibition held on the Fair Grounds last week and report a good time.

Mr. Gould of Big Valley, with his two children, have been visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Penn during the week.

Mrs. Wm. Penn, of Stettler, left on the Penn delivery truck on Tuesday for a visit with friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gould of Big Valley.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Penn motored to Stettler on Wednesday to attend the Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Holyoak and Family

ADDRESS BY MAJOR H. G. L. STRANGE IN OPENING STETTLER EXHIBITION

LADIES AND GENTLEMEN:

I am very pleased indeed to have the privilege of opening the Stettler Agricultural Fair, for the particular reason that I am a firm believer in Agricultural Fairs and in all those institutions that help to better the prosperity and well-being of the Canadian people.

In recent years, in an attempt to better their prosperity, Canadian farmers have spent a good deal of their thoughts and energies in combining together to interest themselves in legislative, transportation and marketing problems. I most emphatically believe that the time has now come when the Canadian farmer does not necessarily devote a good deal more of his time and energies to a study of matters of production, in an attempt to increase the quality of his farm products so as to present them to the market at a lower cost, so that he may effectively and well meet the keen competition of his fellow countrymen of the world who are producing the same class of products on the same markets as the Canadian farmer.

Statistics of the Canadian Farmer's position from products of farm kinds of a very high degree of excellence and quality, and the further improvement of which is to be urged in Canada, a system of Governmental inspection and encouragement has been established to secure the quality of the products of the Canadian farmer, and to place them on the world's markets. Its success in the world has contributed largely to the splendid service of inspection and grading which is the pride of the farmer of the Dominion enjoyed by the products of the farm.

Again in favour of the Canadian farmer is the fact that he has all the conditions and advice of skilled Agricultural Experts, established in the Provinces and Provincial Universities, and not the least valuable are the Public Schools and services of institutions in agricultural districts, where the children are being educated and encouraged by selected teachers who devote their time and energies to the study of the conditions of production of the Canadian farmer.

Canadian institutions of the kind and the success you have had in the past, are being carried on in other countries of the world.

Industries are not standing still and the best farmers in the world leads and commerce in Canada are beginning to realize that the farmer certainly is their real partner. Indeed, one or two of the most progressive Canadian enterprises are taking a very keen interest in the welfare of the farmer and are endeavoring to assist him in his problems in every way that they possibly can.

I dare to prophesy that it will not be long before these splendid examples of practical co-operation between business men and farmers will encourage others to offer a service of co-operation and assistance to agriculture in a more practical degree than exists at the present time.

In view of all the above, it seems to me that the Canadian farmer does not need to take a pessimistic view of the appearance present his prices of his commodities on the world's markets.

As in all other businesses and professions, the most efficient and able always men who most successfully study their own interests and who are the most efficient competitors.

I have no hesitation whatever in stating my own personal view that if the Canadian farmer will master the opportunities every opportunity of taking full advantage of the many services offered to him, to the end that he may produce a high quality of farm products and at a reasonable cost, I have confidence that he will not only be able to meet the competition of the farmers of other countries in the world but will also be able to expand the profitable sale of his commodities.

I have much pleasure in declaring the Exhibition open, and in doing so desire heartily to commend the energy and the courage of the President and the officers of the Stettler Agricultural Society in undertaking the means of affording these three days of interesting and instructive display to people of the district. Despite the difficulties of the times, the energy displayed by the officials of the Society in connection with the Exhibition and I am sure it is very possible to say that it has been a most successful one, and I am sure it will be a matter of the greatest pleasure to the members of the Society to know that the Exhibition is a success.

Order of Business

Golf Notes

Jim Duckworth, W Findlater, C. C. L. Wills attended the golf tournament at Wetaskiwin over the week-end. There were 48 entries, including Jack Dodds, the provincial amateur champion, and a number of other prominent golfers from Edmonton, Wills and Duckworth of Edmonton tied for the low qualifying score, each making a 76. They went on playing and Stewart Duckworth won the Birch bole in the championship flight. Wills was again drawn against Stewart in the first round of the match play and won the 19th hole. Duckworth was drawn against Dodds in the semi-finals and he met out on the 17th after a hard contest. Findlater also lost his first game in the championship flight to Dodds after having put in a very creditable performance.

The golf tournament held on Tuesday and Wednesday of last week was a most successful affair. Over 50 entries were received and the golfers were treated to some fine golf. The weather was ideal for golf and the course was in splendid shape. The tournament was run off in two flights, the championship flight and the consolation flight. The championship flight was won by Jim Duckworth, who defeated Coalspur in the final heat.

Botha News

The weather continues fair and hot, the very thing we need for Only a few more days remain for the harvest and rain between and cut worth while. Many fields since the rains and grain is now in all stages from green just heading to some already ready for the binder. This means a lot of low grade stuff, but it also means an abundance of feed. Potatoes and gardens are doing exceedingly well.

Repair work is pretty well completed on the Botha-Bentley road. Windsor pumps are replaced and new roads put on a number of hills. The road between Botha and Bentley is now in splendid shape.

Mr. Bellamy, of the Royal Bank, Bentley, is relieving Mr Clark, the bank manager at Botha, while Mr. Clark, left on Saturday for a vacation.

Several people attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Boyd Belgrad on Sunday last from Bentley. Mrs. Belgrad was a resident of Botha for a long time and was well known here. Interment was made in the Bentley cemetery.

Mrs. Updike and her sister spent a few days in Stettler as the guests of friends.

Farmers, whose crops were not destroyed by hail, are happy at the prospect of a bumper crop. During the last few days has helped to ripen the grain and farmers are hoping for good weather. Those having stooked grain will have to hurry to get it threshed before the rains come. Threshing machines are busy in the district.

Mrs. Jos Hupe and Jack are spending a few days in Edmonton visiting friends and relatives.

Gadsby News

Mrs. C. Gadsbi and Mrs. P. Rogers motored on Sunday to Coronation, where they will spend a week with Mrs. Rogers' son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Rogers.

Mrs. J. Hamilton is very ill at the home of Mrs. Wm. Rogers.

Mr. W. Bauer and family are enjoying a holiday in the Cadboro Bay district.

Misses Ethel Bennett, Edith Peck, Annie Sandilands and Mabel Gadsby are spending at the lake this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Berry returned from the southern country visited by Mr. and Mrs. Ritter.

The last service between Gadsby Siding and Lacombe is being much appreciated and well patronized by the people in the immediate vicinity. The bus calls at the Oxford Hotel, Gadsby, one car in which Mert was riding having to turn out quickly amongst the loose gravel, in order to pass another car travelling at a high rate of speed. In his attempts at the manoeuvre Mert Mr Ritters and all young people to beware at all times of any carelessness that might result in injury or death. Remember the fact that it is not only their own lives to be thought of but those that are near and dear who are exposed grave danger as well, when motorists care might often avoid a great deal of sorrow and loss of life.

Many friends of W. D. Rath will regret to hear he is at present a patient in hospital in Calgary. He had an appendicitis on his way on Monday and his bowels removed on Wednesday. He is progressing favourably and hopes to be home in a week's time.

Miss Helen Monson is visiting in Lacombe this week.

Mrs. John Harrison had as her guests this week Mrs. H. Kelly from Edmonton and Mrs. A. Simpson from Stettler.

Mrs. Harrison met with a painful accident on Tuesday when in trying to start an horse runaway, cutting both hands quite badly.

Gordon Brookbank of the Regina band staff, is leaving on Saturday for his vacation.

Mrs. W. Stewart, Lily Rich, Ruby and Dorothy Stewart motored to Lacombe on Sunday for Buffalo Lake to spend a week's holiday.

Ernest Stewart and Charlie Bender have left for Alberta, where they have secured harvest employment.

OBITUARY

The sudden passing of Herbert Thomas, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Mr. and Mrs. T. Malpass, on Wednesday, August 6th, cast a gloom over the entire community when the deceased was well known and very popular child and his friends. He was a native of Alberta, having been born at Berlin on April 9th, 1924, and at the time of his death was on the staff of the Royal Bank at Stettler and Bellevue, where the accident causing his death occurred.

In company with four companions, he had driven a distance of eight miles for a swim in the morning, within three miles of home, the car in which they were riding overturned in the water, several rolling Herbert almost immediately, the others escaped in minor injuries.

Besides his sorrowing parents, he leaves to mourn his loss four sisters and one brother. The funeral took place on Friday, August 8th, from the United Church to Gadsby cemetery, Rev. J. Milton of Camrose and Rev. R. Clegg of Stettler officiating. The pall-bearers were Grant Foster, Charlie Bender, Kenneth Gibb, Arthur Long, Richard Payne and Charlie Hudson.

A FRAGMENT

(From the French)

Dear Fields filled now with quiet,
Where Childhood ears ran riot,
Where the days, in days of old,
Were all of gold!

O loved and sainted vale,
Wherein the nightingale
And crimson-throated linnet
Carolled their sweet song!

While sabbage where the sun
Lifted its twisted fire
To catch what tears the eves
Wept on its leaves!

Dear to my childhood, O rush
Of summer, O hazel, O bush
Of thickets! Yet less dear
The spell you bear.

Than that dark garden-close,
Those grasses, those roses,
Those colours that the dusk
In you once soaked!

And sweet and poor and small
Those days, as the days of God,
Yet were they best my art,
Since all pass dark.

Mutual Advantages

When the war began amended in 1914 the old Canadian Law and Order Council sprang into action. There was a common danger. They stood side by side fought side by side won together. There was no question as to the part either of them or each. The Fights or wrongs of the Mother Country hardly concerned each man concerned. The Mother-land knew what she demanded sacred obligations as well as the necessity of self-preservation. Her children answered rather no questions except "What can we do to help?"

Then there's no reason why. There but to do or die

The Motherland is facing another crisis today. It is not war against another country, but war against the common unemployment, which affects all of war has brought with it. It is war's inevitable consequences. The bills for war have to be paid. Humanity paying has our obligations to be. To United States, taking over to the aftermath fulfilling to do to and at the same time collecting little or nothing from the Motherland, she also financed during the war, the Motherland is in a desperate condition. A few years terrible than any she has ever faced is at her gates. The Motherland faces economic defeat.

In there any question as to what should be the attitude of Canada in face of such a condition? There should not be. The Cubs should stand by the Mother as they did in 1914. They should not be disloyal to secure economic advantages. What a thought of ourselves, what would our children think of us if, in 1914 we had clickered for terms before we came to the aid of the Motherland? Suppose we had then said, "We'll send our sons to fight for you if you'll pay the expenses, and so much per day for each man, with something over for our profit on the transaction."

In 1914 we did not talk about material advantages, we simply jumped into the fight, paid our own expenses and delivered as being safe to the great cause of our love for the Motherland. It was not merely a business quote, it was doing our simple duty.

CANADIAN HOSPITAL SHIP FOR THE ARCTIC

Canada has again blazed the trail in the Arctic by providing a fully equipped immature hospital ship for the Canadian Arctic expedition. The ship called the Medico is a 30 foot cabin cruiser type. At present she is on the way to Aklavik, Northern Territories, which will be the home of operations. On operating base will make the Medico the most northerly situated hospital ship in the world. The ship will be used to convey patients from any place that can be reached by boat to the hospital at Aklavik. Dr. J. A. Urquhart, R.C.M.P. doctor at Aklavik will be in charge of the ship's operations.

The craft which was built in Edmonton for the R.C.M.P. branch of the Department of the Interior, left Fort Simpson on the Mackenzie river bound for Aklavik a few days ago.

GOOD ADVICE

"Pa, what is the meaning of the word 'Bachelor'?"

"Well, sonny," replied the man, "I don't always agree with your mother, but if a bachelor had good common sense, but if the people of this country had more sense, we'd have a better country to live in."

Also one silver of a mule and 3 cases of orange an lemonade, plain and carbonated, several dozen loads on top. Groceries with grapes of green pepper cut in fancy shapes in fancy boxes. Serve with any desired dressing.

—Oo—

SCOTT'S TUESDAY SALAD

2 pounds cabbage.

2 pounds apples.

1-2 pound fancy cut fresh green spinach.

6 heads lettuce.

Freshen the cabbage in cold salted water 1 hour, chop finely. Wash and wipe apples but do not pare. Cut apples into 1-4 inch cubes and mix at once with cabbage. Combine with cabbage and spinach and serve on crisp lettuce leaves.

—Oo—

SPINACH SALAD WITH APPLE-ASCO DRESSING

Serves six:

2 cups cooked spinach.

1 cup cooked beets.

1 1-2 tablespoons onion juice.

1-4 teaspoon salt.

1-4 teaspoon pepper.

Chill spinach, beets.

Lettuce

Asparagus tips.

Mayonnaise

Chop spinach very fine and press out all excess moisture. Add lemon juice, onion juice, salt and pepper. Mix thoroughly. Pack into custard cups with salted oil and chill. Unmould on crisp lettuce and serve several asparagus tips around each mould. Serve with mayonnaise

1-2 cup salad oil.

1 tablespoon lemon juice.

1-4 teaspoon salt.

1-8 teaspoon pepper.

1-4 teaspoon paprika.

Lettuce.

Cut the duck into small dice. Peel the oranges, remove every bit of white skin, remove juice, and seedlings and until blended. Pour this dressing over the duck and oranges and allow to stand for a few minutes. Serve on lettuce with mayonnaise dressing of any desired kind, if necessary.

—Oo—

CHEESE SALAD DRESSING

Many housewives know how to improve the taste of a variety of salads but find themselves at a loss when deciding upon a fitting dressing for each one. Here is a delicious one, for a good dressing adds to the appearance of a salad as well as to the flavor of the dish. Whenever possible use a dressing that calls for a small amount of sugar for, in addition to hiding acid and bringing out the full flavors of the ingredients added to the salad per, it is an excellent quick energy food. Here are the recipes for two dressings that you will find particularly pleasing.

—Oo—

PEANUT DRESSING

Mix together the yolks of four eggs, one teaspoon mustard, one teaspoon salt, one tablespoon sugar, one teaspoon butter, four tablespoons vinegar and a dash of red pepper. Cook in a double boiler until thick. Cool and then beat in one cup chopped nut meats. This is a delicious salad dressing for fruit salad and also for those containing apples a touch of quick-energy fuel to the mind runner.

—Oo—

CREAM DRESSING

A cooked dressing made with cream will be found economical when serving with vegetables, meat or fish salads. Mix together one-half tablespoon salt, one-half tablespoon mustard, three quarters tablespoon sugar and one tablespoon flour. Then add the yolks of two eggs, one tablespoon melted butter, three quarter cup of cream or rich milk and one-quarter cup vinegar. Cook over hot water, stirring constantly in double boiler, cooking until the mixture becomes thickened and cool.

—Oo—

CUSTOMER CAN HOSTESS

Customer gas machine such as are used in portable gasoline burners are economical when allowed to remain unused for several years.

"Sure a man never have to handle a lady's fortune, it is especially handy on how old she is.

TOLERANCE

Tolerance is not a matter of the nation we take as meant as it is an capable feature of school conduct and work. Tolerance is instead of evasion. A few months ago whose author is not known, but which is worth repeating, appeared in print.

"When the other fellow says that sorry, he is sorry. When you say that, you are broad-minded.

"When the other fellow is not in his right, he's obstinate. When you are right, it's just fortunate.

"When the other fellow doesn't like our friend he's prejudiced. When you don't like his, you are simply showing that you are loyal to your friends.

"When the other fellow tries to steal something, he's a thief. When you do it, you're only trying to get your own.

"When the other fellow takes time to do things, he is dead slow. When you do it you are efficient.

"When the other fellow puts things in things, he's sneaky. When you do you are discriminating.

"When the other fellow runs down his friends, he's a traitor. When you do you are a good friend.

"When the other fellow says what he thinks, he's spiteful; when you do you are candid.

"When the other fellow won't get down to a new version, he's touchy. When you don't you are conservative.

We had add to the foregoing observations, the adage that only the person positive of more importance is one to be more likely to be to be tolerant. It is hard to give a working rule for tolerant conduct, but we offer as a starting suggestion that judging by such policy as mentioned this do not personally or remotely affect the interests the prefer of advise until asked for it, and letting the other fellow do his own thinking as far as he can—if he doesn't insist on mercy.

THE BURGLAR

An old man going a lone highway
Came at evening cold and gray
To a chasm vast and deep and wide
The old man crossed the twilight dim
The sullen stream had no fears for him
But he had crossed by turning back
Of midnight a bridge to span the side.
And built a bridge to span the tide.

"Old man," said a fellow pilgrim near,
"You are wasting your time with building here,
Your journey will be done today,
You never again will pass this way,
You've crossed the chasm wide and deep,
Why build you this bridge at eventide?"

The builder lifted his old gray head,
"Good friend, in the way that I have come," he said,
"There followeth after me today,
A youth whose feet must pass this way,
The stream that has been as nought to me,
May, to that fair-haired youth, a pitfall be
So, man must cross in the twilight dim,
Good friend, I am building the bridge for him."

Thru are so good nowadays that they cannot be punctured by a fork in the road!

The Director, Mrs. Hopper, of Longlaval, took the chair and the Conference opened with the singing of "O Canada," after which the Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Richard Price.

Mrs. A. Sim extended a cordial welcome to all present and also hoped that everyone present would enjoy themselves while they

Mrs. Hopper spoke on "Organization", and discussions pertaining to U.F.A work ensued.

The Institute also was honored by the ladies of the following Locals: Bellevue, Warden, Vimy Ridge, and Ingleton

During the afternoon the Conference was favored by an address from Mrs R. C. Fraser of Rosa on "Health."

An address by Mrs. Fraser is always looked forward to with much pleasure by the Farm Women, for she has a clear, concise manner and knowledge of her subject.

Dr. Fitzpatrick superintendent of the Mental Hospital at Ogden, was the next speaker and his address was also most interesting.

He stressed the value of the Medical Health Service now in Edmonton and Calgary where the source of insanity and its prevention is studied. The New Mental Hospitals do not touch them this year.

In conclusion he expressed the hope that in time the mental health service would be extended to such districts as the present Conference.

Songs by Mrs J. K Brennan and Mrs G Cain were much appreciated and the Conference closed with singing in which everyone joined, added a pleasant variety

Mrs. Price moved a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers, singers, and to the ladies of the United Church for their generosity in loaning the use of their church. Lunch was served and silverware and to all who had assisted in making the Conference a success.

The day was brought to a close by singing "God Save the King" and benediction, and afternoon tea was served.

Waverly W. I. Notes

The August meeting was held at the home of Mrs Birdsell with her sister, Mrs Rita Amundsen and Mrs. Ulmann, joint hostesses

There was an attendance of seventeen members, visitors and several men and children

Reports of meeting of correspondence were many notes of thanks and appreciation from those who had been remembered by the Branch while sick also from the Warden hospital in town.

A very excellent paper on "Bolshevism" was given by our Secretary-Treasurer Mrs Rita Amundsen

At our next meeting Mrs B Clark will give a paper the subject being "Home Economics."

Mrs E Dempsey our delegate to the Gadsby Conference, gave a very full report of this affair

Mrs T V Buchanan delegate to the first Farm Women's Week held at Olds Agricultural School brought us a very commendable and amusing report. She would also like all rural organizations represented to send at least one woman to the Short Course next year

Miss J Lofts favoured the entertaining period by Miss Mossey by singing a pretty solo which was accompanied by Mrs Buffett

Mrs Ulmann Jr is to have this period in charge for the September meeting

The meeting unanimously passed a vote of thanks to the retiring executive for their splendid work during the year. Mrs Birdsell also responded in a few suitable words.

Mrs Mamie Clark very kindly consented to fill the unexpired term as Secretary-Treasurer

Lunch was assisted in serving by Mrs Tabeth

The next meeting is to be with Mrs Ulmann Jr on the 2nd Wednesday, September

OBITUARY

Ellen M. Ring Chapman, the wife of William Chapman, was born November 11, 1864 and died August 6th, 1930, at Nanton, Washington, at the age of sixty-six years and nine months and six days.

Mrs. M. Ring lived in Van Buren County Iowa, until she was united in marriage to Mr. William Chapman on December 10, 1885, at which time they moved on a farm at Jasper, Washington. In 1917 they moved to Red Willow, Alberta, where they lived until March 1921, when Mr. Chapman left the farm and went to Nanton, Alberta, where he has been employed by the Canadian Pacific Railway Company. Mrs. Chapman and family moved there also and she was united with her husband.

She leaves to mourn her loss her husband, four daughters and one son—Mrs. Ralph Argyle of Nanton, Mrs. Chapman of Rochon, Washington, Mrs O. A Anderson of Red Willow Alberta, two brothers and four sisters, Mrs. Randal Jewell County, Kansas, eight grand-children and three great grand-children and one great circle of friends in the Red Willow district.

Mrs Chapman always took an active part in church work until illness confined her to bed until death. Her parting words were full of hope and the assurance that her peace was made with God.

When Is The Time To Marry?

I once did my very best to publish a roadmap.

It was immediately after the war. My people were sorely out of the army without a job. So one of them suggested that I publish a roadmap. I would surely have succeeded, but I made the mistake of asking my friends if they thought it would be a good idea. Some of them thought it would be a good idea, and they said so. Others thought it would be a bad idea, and they said so. Others thought it would be a good idea, but they said they wouldn't buy it. Girl's Work Board Of Alberta

With the closing of the Red Deer district C.G.I.T. camp at Sylvan Lake on Saturday, August 19th, the Provincial Camping season came to an end in Training of the province came to an end.

It has been an unusually successful season. Over 700 girls and about 70 leaders have enjoyed the fellowship of camp life. Three provincial, one district, and three local camps have brought the opportunities afforded by camp life within reach of every Canadian Girl in Training from the Peace River in the north to the most southern points in the province. District camps were held at Peace River, Grande Prairie, Canmore, Lake, Buffalo Lake, Gull Lake, Sylvan Lake, Dreamland Lake Chinook, Arrowwood, Turner Valley, Lomond, and near Lethbridge, as well as the provincial camps at Lake Wabamun and the Camp Council and Leadership Camps at Sylvan Lake.

To improve leadership in the program a Leaders' Training Course is promoted each year in conjunction with the Boys' Children s, and Young People's Boards. About eight leaders availed themselves of the opportunity afforded for personal enrichment that they might do their work more efficiently.

All provincial and district camps were supervised by directors and paid by the Provincial Girls' Work Board It is interesting to note that with the exception of two all directors had been outstanding Canadian Girls in Training who have grown up with the work Each director was assisted by a nurse, swimming instructor camp mother, camp cook and local leader.

The program for all camps which includes the three elements—play study, and worship—is based on materials supplied by the National and Provincial Girls' Work Boards. These programs have been developed through ten years of experience and provide for a week or ten days of well balanced purposeful activity. The camps are run as cheaply as possible to put them within financial reach of every girl.

The policy of the Girls' Work Board is to encourage the procuring of permanent sites. About eight of the present camps are now held on such sites with permanent buildings. District camp committees are composed by Miss Winnifred Chidley, Girls' Work Secretary for the province. Who also programs the program and outlines. Arrangements for the northern provincial camp and the Calgary local camp are made by the Edmonton and Calgary committees respectively. A great deal of the credit for the splendid development of C.G.I.T. camps in the province is due to the

KAISER'S FATE BEMOANED BY AMERICAN VISITOR

Previously known for his colorful domestic comforter, author and diplomatic career, Col. House, who recently returned to the New York Times Tribune, has now added to his record that he is a master in another line—that of interpreting the character, motives and life figures of others in his personal contacts with them. The following extract from the memoirs of Col. House, recently published, is a good example of this ability. It is a description of the Kaiser, whom he met on a number of occasions, and is interesting in the light of present events.

E. M. HOUSE
(Author, Diplomatist, Statesman)
Lavender, Alberta.
(Not related to any house)

The Kaiser is a man of many moods and many personalities. He is highly nervous and excitable, and he is also highly intelligent. He is a man of great personal charm when he wishes to be, and he can be very cruel when he wishes to be. He is a man of great energy, and he is a man of great indolence. He is a man of great generosity, and he is a man of great meanness. He is a man of great courage, and he is a man of great cowardice. He is a man of great wisdom, and he is a man of great folly. He is a man of great power, and he is a man of great weakness. He is a man of great success, and he is a man of great failure. He is a man of great fame, and he is a man of great infamy. He is a man of great glory, and he is a man of great shame. He is a man of great life, and he is a man of great death. He is a man of great love, and he is a man of great hate. He is a man of great peace, and he is a man of great war. He is a man of great God, and he is a man of great devil. He is a man of great heaven, and he is a man of great hell. He is a man of great earth, and he is a man of great sky. He is a man of great sea, and he is a man of great land. He is a man of great air, and he is a man of great fire. He is a man of great water, and he is a man of great earth. He is a man of great life, and he is a man of great death. He is a man of great love, and he is a man of great hate. He is a man of great peace, and he is a man of great war. He is a man of great God, and he is a man of great devil. He is a man of great heaven, and he is a man of great hell. He is a man of great earth, and he is a man of great sky. He is a man of great sea, and he is a man of great land. He is a man of great air, and he is a man of great fire. He is a man of great water, and he is a man of great earth.

Acidity

The common cause of discomfort and pain in the stomach is acidity. Relief from this condition, and it leaves the stomach sweet, is obtained by taking a teaspoonful or so of the wonderful magnesia tablets. This is the recommendation of Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

The quantity of these delightful, pleasant tablets one remembers having taken to relieve acidity is amazing. Only one dose is necessary. Get the genuine.

Any druggist has the genuine, prescribed tablets.

Sales For The Week

The sale is a valuable means for cattle breeders to get their stock before the public, and the Creston sale has been well patronized by buyers from all parts.

It is true that there is no shortage of feed in the country and that most people would rather feed than sell, but there is a time to sell and many of the consignments offered were good enough for the farmers' own herds. Many of the animals sold would be better for another year's growth, while others were getting old and should be disposed of. Only one bull was sold for breeding purposes, and that was a yearling.

Quality of breeding stock was the keynote.

Many of the animals sold were a credit to their owners.

The sale was conducted by Auctioneer Hutton of Lethbridge, and the terms cash in a good spirit.

The following is a list of the animals sold:

Flowers To Plant In August, September

(Experimental Farms Note)

If they have not already been planted, the Dwarf Iris should be put in cultivated and prepared soil this month. All the specimens which are crowded should be taken up and divided, and the young and healthy rhizomes replanted in the old central portion should be discarded. In planting an Iris the rhizome should not be covered with earth, but left at the surface of the soil, but the roots should be covered firm in the ground.

In September 1928 at the Central Experimental Farm, part of the new Rock Garden was ready for planting and many seedling plants had been grown in cold frames were transplanted. It is quite noticeable how much better these plants have grown than those that were not planted until October. The need should be sown in pots in May and the seedlings pricked out into cold frames when large enough to handle.

Pansies also should be divided and replanted in September. The old stems should be dug up, the soil washed off and the roots divided. For garden purposes each division should have three or four eyes. The soil should be deeply dug and if it is not very rich some bone meal or other sheep manure should be added. The pansies should be about four feet apart and just deep enough that the crowns are covered with the inches of soil and no more. The deep planting is considered to be one of the chief causes of the non-blooming of pansies.

At the Central Experimental Farm the spring flowering bulbs are planted at the end of September. Besides the well known Crocus and Narcissus some of the other beautiful bulbous plants should be grown such as

Chionodoxa—Glory of the Snow—blue
Crocus in variety—Yellow, white and purple
Leucojum—Snowflake—white
Scilla campanulata — Spanish Squill—blue
Scilla Sibirica—Siberian Squill—blue

The Siberian Squill grows very well under deciduous trees and soon spreads and makes a blue carpet each spring.

HOME DOCTOR THERAPY

A Kentuckian who had agreed to allow Tennessee to build a dam on his land, brought only resistance.

"Man, you're the only man that ever has," remonstrated the dealer, when the farmer brought it late in the afternoon.

"Aye, aye, sir," agreed the Scotchman, "but she didna ha' all the afternoon!"

A GREAT DISCOVERY
Relieves Rheumatism
Rheumatism has been a terrible scourge for centuries. Many have suffered untold agony and misery. Many have died. Now comes a great discovery that relieves Rheumatism. Not a mere relief, but a real remedy. Not a mere temporary relief, but a permanent relief. Not a mere relief for a few days, but a relief that lasts. Not a relief that costs a lot of money, but a relief that costs little. Not a relief that is hard to get, but a relief that is easy to get. Not a relief that is hard to take, but a relief that is easy to take. Not a relief that is hard to use, but a relief that is easy to use. Not a relief that is hard to find, but a relief that is easy to find. Not a relief that is hard to get, but a relief that is easy to get. Not a relief that is hard to take, but a relief that is easy to take. Not a relief that is hard to use, but a relief that is easy to use. Not a relief that is hard to find, but a relief that is easy to find.
SCOTT'S EMULSION

"If your doctor is round the neighbourhood—Avoid it."
Many people think that the only thing to do with a cold is to get rid of it. But the cold itself is not the disease. It is the symptom of the disease. The disease is the weakness that allows the cold to get a foothold.

"Anyone ever comment on the way you drive?"

"Yes, one time and briefly—'Twenty dollars and costs.'"

PERFECTLY PUZZLING

Miss Pfaff: Lightly one in bottom. She was playing hard in that important revue. "Double-ah!", said, while she was on the stage somewhere had entered her dressing room and before her poor! nowhere At least, that was what she told the manager

At last that gentleman manager in some time his manner

"Where did you keep late hours, dearie?"

"In the box with the rest of my party. It was a colonel and a lady."

"What is it worth?"

"Oh, was the most cheerful report. At least a colonel and a lady!"

FOOD PRICES DOWN SLIGHTLY

Retail food prices in the United States on June 15th were one and a half per cent. lower than on the middle day during the previous month and four and a half per cent. lower than on the same day a year ago the Bureau of Statistics announces. It is expected that Canadian food prices will show a similar decline when the Department has completed a survey now under way.

From May 15th until June 15th, they rose in the United States 31 separate, as of 41 showed increases in prices. Only 3 showed decreases while the remaining 16 were unchanged.

OH, WHAT JOY!

OUT AT FIRST!—She "Where'd you get the black eye?"

He "Oh, I got into an argument with a man guy about driving in traffic."

She: "Why didn't you call a traffic cop?"

He "No use!"

A motorist had just crashed a telephone pole. Wire, pole and everything came down about his ears. They found him unconscious in the wreckage. As they were unloading him he reached out feebly, fingered the wires and murmured "Thank heaven, I lived close——they've given me a lamp!"

NOTHING BUT CLASS—A bricklayer said to a foreman on a job. "I'd like to work here, but I can't find a place to park my car."

The foreman "I guess you won't do. There is a high class job, and we want only bricklayers who have chauffeurs."

She—What has become of all the rich bosses since trade came on.

"Yes, I was going to turn the old one in anyway."

THE PUNS

—By C. L. Kendo

Playful puppy—come!
The ball is ready here,
See the top is all a-buzz,
Pup—dare you fear?
Dust in and dash it down
Ah! you scored me
But your bright eyes boom
Say—"Sorry! Have that whine"

"When in still, sir
Then I'll go and not at up
Stop that humming, Gerr!"
Here we another bee!

I mean—the end.
Turns it up, smooth planet
By the time it's through the hall
Proper playthings there

"Here's a slipper, Shall I shoe it?"
"Gerr, you slipper."
"Ah! I have it!"
"When I get a proper toy,
Then they stop me in a hurry"
"Get doing, you naughty boy!"
Others are not for pups to worry."

Ah, it said the shoe!
You ain't for, indeed its true
And I think it I'd a choice, sir,
I'd change lives with you!
Puppies could have such a time,
If you'd only let them be,
Do I think you're very wise sir!
But to want to change with me!"

Then it be now sorry, grey friar,
Yet I was once a baby young might
The cry of my days was the only shoe
In which my spirit did take delight.

Little I rocked of the matin bell,
But discovered in ball with my clanging horn,
And the only bonds I loved to tell
Were the bonds of dew on the spangled thorn

An archer been I was withal
As ever did bend a gnarled
bow,
And could make the fleetest rabbit
bush fall,
A good three hundreds yards or so.

Through changeful time, with head severe,
Had made me now these joys forego,
Yet my heart beside whence'er I hear
Yonder heart aswirl and ballyhoo!

The Town Council has placed some [illegible] on Main Street, giving the direction of Camrose Dunsdale to the north, Castor and Consecon to the east, Lacombe to the west and Dunsmuir and Big Valley to the south.

Severe hail storms at Bittern Lake last week destroyed a number of [illegible] crops and injured much [illegible] such as chickens, turkeys, ducks, geese and even young pigs. Also many windows were also broken. Many farmers had part of their crops [illegible] but [illegible] Insurance Co. has [illegible] the claims and stopped the leaves from the town. There was not much insurance carried owing to the high rates

Stettler school re-opens on Tuesday September 2nd, and an increased attendance is expected this year. The high school [illegible] and remodelled during the summer months, and [illegible] the [illegible] for the [illegible] year. The [illegible] Mr. Gish has been [illegible] the last week repairing [illegible] for the fall term. The Town Council have done particularly good work during the past month. Mr. Alberta Avenue graveled from the west town limit up to the National Hotel. This work was started on Friday morning and finished Monday evening by two working late every evening except Sunday. The Council have the satisfaction of knowing that this street will now be in good repair for the winter traffic and the difference was marked after the heavy rains of Monday night, when the street would otherwise have been almost impassable. The distance graveled in town is over one mile in length and no doubt further work will be done next season towards the east. The Council have also made considerable progress in the erection of the 300,000 gallon reservoir for additional water supply and fire protection, and they expect to have the tower and [illegible] completed by the time they are ready to work at this kind

A drive to financial over the week end showed the value of the graveled roads in all kinds of weather. Where [illegible] machine is [illegible] Road machines are [illegible] constantly at work on the Calgary-Edmonton highway which is kept clear with very little loose gravel on the surface. Many [illegible] and [illegible] have been [illegible] for all kinds of traffic These machines will also work from Lacombe to Stettler The worst piece of road in the journey was that [illegible] in Big Valley and even this might well be described as exceedingly rough and not in harmony with the [illegible] which is kept up in other directions. Other towns, such as Red Deer, Innisfail and Innisfail have good town roads, but the concrete sidewalk on Main St., Innisfail, is the nearest for the traffic being only eight feet wide. For the reason the latter is almost impossible for fortunately night traffic.

THE BOOK REVIEW

—By Miss Jacques)

I wonder when the angels write
Our many deeds of good and bad,
A little bit of everything,
A column for the fun we've had.
The debit side may sag and swell
With [illegible] our hands make us tell.

We glean these ways to help us [illegible] and the blessings of [illegible] which

We build a hundred Aisles.
We straighten out a crooked path,

Scores Not Covered In The Golf Ballot

Held in the Canadian Section in various annual tournaments which formation is supplied by holding in the Province of St. Andrews, a short while ago, Miss Betty Reid, of Toronto, had her game tested against Miss Jean Stewart, of Montreal, who had her game tested for the first leg of the Ladies' Golf League course. First let a penalty, deeply pitted with bunkers on the left. In her second the green is 9 feet at the end of her drive she continued her game with a run ball.

Playing a match game on the same course late in the evening A B C Proctor and W Ross Gooderham both of Toronto, were among the Bench of their 17th hole The light was beginning to fade as Mr. Proctor drove down the hot fairway, bringing the boys down and the commander Mr. Gooderham's drive was a little shorter, but proved more accurate, and he was left with a comfortable lie. Mr. Proctor, however, was a little nervous and his approach was not quite up to standard, and he was left with a very difficult putt. Mr. Gooderham, after looking up on the edge of the course made his approach and a nice putt bordering on the green, and then holed out for a 4. Mr. Proctor, after studying the line carefully, made his putt, but it was not quite strong enough, and he was left with a 5. Mr. Gooderham thus won the hole.

The last played yesterday between Miss Jean Stewart, of Montreal, and Miss Betty Reid, of Toronto, was a very interesting one. Miss Stewart, who is a member of the Canadian Ladies' Golf Team, which is now touring Great Britain, is a player of considerable experience, and has won many prizes in competitions in which she has competed. Miss Reid, who is a member of the Toronto Ladies' Golf Club, is also a player of considerable experience, and has won many prizes in competitions in which she has competed.

The match was very interesting, and was played in a very sportsmanlike manner. Miss Stewart won the first hole in 5, Miss Reid won the second in 4, Miss Stewart won the third in 5, Miss Reid won the fourth in 4, Miss Stewart won the fifth in 5, Miss Reid won the sixth in 4, Miss Stewart won the seventh in 5, Miss Reid won the eighth in 4, Miss Stewart won the ninth in 5, Miss Reid won the tenth in 4, Miss Stewart won the eleventh in 5, Miss Reid won the twelfth in 4, Miss Stewart won the thirteenth in 5, Miss Reid won the fourteenth in 4, Miss Stewart won the fifteenth in 5, Miss Reid won the sixteenth in 4, Miss Stewart won the seventeenth in 5, Miss Reid won the eighteenth in 4. The match was thus won by Miss Stewart by 1 up.

Modernizing Alphabet

Mr. Gordon Phillips, who writes light verse in the Globe-Union man-ual, has taken the matter of Uncle has found inspiration for his muse in the long-remembered ABC which he preached toward his 10th and said "Good by" Mr. Gooderham, if ever by on the edge of the course made paces and a note like a park warden with a "Fore" and Solomon Isaacs. The lost-found caterpillar held his place and a moment, gazing with his quiet eye upon Pyramid Mountain, where the lost golden rays of the sun were resting. The game was called off in the deep twilight, the hour and the light vanished. The players, who had settled upon this game to decide their golfing differences, did not know whether the game should go to Mr Gooderham, Senator Mr Proctor failed to settle this point, whether the hit-or-miss should have an opportunity to make the play again with a new ball The regulations of the Jasper Park Lodge course do not cover the contingency.

A Grave Warning Is Issued To Farmers

(By H. G. L. Strange)

The Dominion Entomologists of Lethbridge and Saskatoon, H. L. Seamans and H. M. Kaye, have issued a very grave warning to all farmers in Alberta and Saskatchewan respecting the great damage to crops that may occur next year because of the extremely

The dry May and part of June has has been experienced in most parts of Alberta and Saskatchewan this year has tended enormously to increase the insect pest, and it is to be expected that unless May and June of 1931 are much wetter than is usually the case, that the greatest and most widespread damage that has ever been experienced will result from cutworms. Most of the backbone country south of Saskatoon, it is expected, will be badly affected, while the worst damage within a hundred and twelve of Regina in Alberta the damage will probably be very general east of a line from Edmonton to Macleod and so far south as that. Lethbridge-Medicine Hat line of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

The damage to the 1931 crop will depend absolutely upon the way fields are handled this present August and September The moth of the cutworm flies across the fields and lays its eggs, starting in the first few days of August. Starting in numerous small moth like flies, and continuing to fly and lay eggs until about the middle of September This moth will avoid all land that has had even a very slight cover formed over it by Nature, but will lay its eggs upon any soil where the crops have been broken, however slightly Its worst cutworm damage on a field, therefore, it is summary fallow or summer-fallowed fields all work should stop by the first of August or a very few days afterwards. Then a very slight rain will form a mulch in these fields, which will render the moth unable to oviposit upon the ground. Following your fren cutworm damage It is important that as little or such as possible or weeds shall be allowed to cross any summer-fallow prepared in this fashion, because wherever the crust is broken by animals or implements, there the moth will lay its eggs and cutworms will be required to control the following year on fields in crop, when summer-fallowing operations are not carried out during September 1st, then damage the following summer will be certain to be considerable, and control measures are unsatisfactory.

It is apparent, therefore, that all those efforts are wrapped into year-round operations, and that they are merchandised in the year 1931, and that in addition all work on summer-fallow from this year should be completed not later than September 1st, and that in addition all work on summer-fallow from this year should be finished not later than September 1st, 1931

Man Of Talent Was A Son Of Genius

By prompt telephoned conference Calgary is made a speller of quality among citizens can inhibit a then of talents there to be the son of a genius. Inevitably everything he does is compared with what his father has done, and this is tragic, for few if further and can have the same possibilities or are sustained by the same field of activity. Talent suffers more perhaps, in comparison with than with genius, if only in quality with talent. For the talented have their imaginations that makes suffering here, whereas the mediocre have personality that can endure unimpeded out-comment to defend them. Such musings came naturally to mind on hearing of the death of Siegfried Wagner at the very height of the Bayreuth festival, one of the great annual events for lovers of Wagnerian opera. His brother, the celebrated Cosima, died a few months ago. Between them the mantle and aim had been cast of the Wagnerian tradition, though the brain of the last fell far short of the splendors of the son. They acquitted the festivals and after the war had dropped them, reopened each of them and had them restored to over the world congregated. At all of their original interest. Important in the eyes of music lovers it is announced that the season's programs will be completed just one wonders what will happen in summer next year.

It may be that discussion concerning the rank of Wagner among musicians has not vitally died a way and there are probably more people than ever who do not like Wagnerian music since there are more people than ever so hear it. But we presume that the last critic acknowledge Richard Wagner's genius into the world of music, he at least brought some new ideas, and because the music of a lessons more enduring. That he had overpowering originality is now everywhere admitted. But one who acted in his task he found a musician who had his own original work and had failed to give him.

But no there will always be Cosima, the Bayreuth Exhibit than the Pope, so there were some who insisted that Siegfried did not really understand what his father was aiming at. Siegfried was not Lib Lehmann who clashed with him and Cosima in rather a scandalous way which threatened for a time to wreck the Bayreuth festivals. Siegfried had a sense of humor which lodged him in the midst the best of the difficult position in which he seems more found himself. "I certainly don't think of myself as a tragic figure," he said. "I mainly daily at the fortune of having had such a father I am not happy to end such a mother and that he did not try to write music my own." This Current rumor has it that there will be another bunch of "bees" in our village on Friday.

We wonder if passers-through by car—when they run off the gravel at either one of the villages—ever see or sense when they are up the "Speed Limit 15 Miles."

We understand that Mr "Whitey" Lockhart of Quebec and Mr. "Whitey" Lockhart of Calgary, a match needed not a neighboring resort after their strenuous labors in "Haying" in the Erskine district.

Mondeline Chapman will succeed Miss Hazel School, Calgary. Mary Featherstonhaugh will attend St. Hilda's School, Calgary; and Miss Williams of Erskine, Donald Stevens of Union Bank, and Dorothy Clark of Erskine district will attend Normal School at Camrose this term.

Regular church services are being held in the Christian Church every Sunday morning and evening, Rev. O. P. Brown of Calgary Minister.

Golf Notes

The annual club championship competition will be held at the local links starting this week-end, about Labor Day. Numerous prizes will be played. The members will be divided into three flights according to their qualifying scores as that they will be a championship trophy for each flight. All members are asked to play their qualifying rounds this week and to select their partners for the 18 holes round Saturday, Sept. 6th.

Duckworth and Willis attended Chairmen golf tournaments over half week-end. There were 32 golfers from other parts of the province qualified for the championship flight the low qualifier being Leyes of Camrose who scored a 73. Duckworth qualified for the 1st flight in the match games Willis defeated Lewis of Camrose and Matthews of Edmonton and won third place being put out by Richards of Wetaskiwin who won the championship Duckworth won first place in the flight winning a very sate golf bag defeating Roberts of Edmonton in the finals. The players did not have time to play the two-ball foursome owing to the short week-end.

DANCE TODAY

Mr Bulmer had taken two White to the theatre and, in his eagerness to get a best seat in the gallery, was White fell over into the pit.

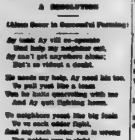
Mr Bulmer leaned over the gallery rail and called out:

"Come back here White, for goodness sake! It's half a crown each down there!"

The amateur gardener was showing the beauties of his prize vegetables. "This," he said, pointing to a fine ox, "belongs to the present family."

"Some kid!" commented the small young thing. "I suppose you're holding other to while they're away!"

Save all the discarded small pieces of toilet soap. Boil with water, strained to make a jellied substance, and put in jar ready to use when washing your hair.



The "MARRIAGE" OF WHITE HORSE WHISKY

MATURITY is a term used by connoisseurs to describe the perfect blending of whiskies which have matured for many years.

Dewar's Wonderful is the blending of mellow and pungent whiskies. The "Marriage" of these whiskies is effected by Dewar's Blenders in the Vatting Room, and is a task entrusted to Master Blenders only.

Every drop of "White Horse" is aged in Sherry Wood, which greatly improves the whisky.

ACCURATE OBSERVERS ARE FEW AND FAR BETWEEN

Many years ago I was a member of the police force in another township of this province. One day I was standing in front of the police station when I noticed a man coming down the street. He was walking in the middle of the road and was driving a horse and buggy. I thought that he would be a fit subject for a charge of driving on the wrong side of the road, so I stepped out and held up my hand. He drew up his horse and I asked him why he was driving on the wrong side of the road. He replied that he was driving on the side of the road that he thought was the right side. I then told him that he was driving on the wrong side of the road according to the law of the province, and that he would have to appear before the police magistrate on the following day. He said that he would be there, and I let him go.

The next day he appeared before the magistrate and I told my story. The magistrate asked him what he had to say in his defence. He said that he thought he was driving on the right side of the road. The magistrate asked him if he knew that the law of the province was that all vehicles must keep to the right side of the road when meeting other vehicles. He said that he knew that was the law, but still he thought he was driving on the right side of the road. The magistrate asked him if he knew that the law of the province was that all vehicles must keep to the right side of the road when overtaking other vehicles. CHILD'S CORNER

By Aunt Helen

Glenn.—A picture which has been found in front of great value is that of one of the heavens making them visible by starting to turn the screw. Mrs. Hugues Pulis and Jessie is late. Very few people know that the original drawing was done by Mrs. Pulis, a resident, who had drawn a map of the New England States and Newfoundland, and the picture accompanies it. A copy of it may be seen in the map room of the Dominion Archives.

The inscription reads "A View of 2 miles in length of Newfoundland making a dam to stop 7 course of water (Niagara Falls). In order to form a great lake about which they built their habitations. They are supplied with their wants in such a manner as to make them happy. Come to lay 7 foundation for 7 dam. They make mortar of wood up and finish 7 which with 7 great and wonderful dexterity. The beavers have two doors to their houses, one to the water and one to the land side."

The map and picture are declared, at to Hon. Walter Woodyer, one, constitutional capable present and chief governor of all 7 Leonard islands in America, by her late majesty Queen Anne in 7 year 1711.

Expect To Finish Special Session In Two Weeks

Ottawa.—A session of Parliament which will not last much longer than two weeks is expected by the Government to be the result of the Government's decision to limit business with the session.

While a date for terminating the session cannot be fixed until it is known whether the remaining estimates will be passed, it is the intention to bring the session to a close as soon as possible after the Throne Speech debate is disposed of. This decision, it is understood, has been reached in favor of the view that the session should not drag over into the autumn when the opening of the fall fairs will make it difficult to get a full attendance.

While a date for terminating the session cannot be fixed until it is known whether the remaining estimates will be passed, it is the intention to bring the session to a close as soon as possible after the Throne Speech debate is disposed of. This decision, it is understood, has been reached in favor of the view that the session should not drag over into the autumn when the opening of the fall fairs will make it difficult to get a full attendance.

The legislation to be presented during the remainder of the session will be confined to measures considered necessary to implement pledges made by the Government during the campaign and to measures required to meet the financial situation now existing. Only such legislation will come under consideration as is necessary for the completion of the session, which is contemplated will not exceed two weeks in length.

Among the measures that the Government has decided to introduce are the following:

Amendments to the Dominion Elections Act, which is considered necessary before the next general election is held. This legislation is to be presented during the remainder of the session with the Premiers' Conference in order to forward possible amendments to the Act.

Legislation to provide for the completion of the Hudson Bay Railway, which will be proceeded with as soon as possible.

Legislation to be presented during the remainder of the session will be confined to measures considered necessary to implement pledges made by the Government during the campaign and to measures required to meet the financial situation now existing. Only such legislation will come under consideration as is necessary for the completion of the session, which is contemplated will not exceed two weeks in length.

These courses are aimed at the temporary relief of unemployment. The bread queues in Berlin, reported by Mr. Bennett in his campaign airings to south basis conditions through unemployment, are a disappointing agreement. The bread queues found in Berlin are a permanent institutional character and quantity action will depend largely upon the success of the measures of constructing duties will not be taken up by the emergency session of the House.

Advance reports do not indicate that the session will be called upon to supplement in the way of special legislation contained in months Mr. Bennett to go to the Empire Conferences. In fact Mr. King has intimated that the session will be limited matters except where his party pledges in the campaign will call for the administration on vital principles of government.

150 Historic Sites Marked In Canada

Ottawa.—The Department of the Interior announces that since the year 1919 when the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada was instituted, the Department of the Interior, through its National Parks Service, has carried out the erection of suitable memorials 150 sites appertaining to the history of the Dominion. Positions in the list among the various sites acquired are those of Fort Wellington and Prescott, Ontario, Fort Chambly at Chambly, P. Q. and Fort, Lennox near St. Johns, P. Q. All of these are situated interesting structures even to-day by the Government as the defensive purposes along the Richelieu and St. Lawrence Rivers. Considerable restoration and improvement work has been carried out at these sites and today they are visited by streams of tourists. It is the intention of the Department of the Interior ultimately to mark throughout Canada all those sites that have a historic bearing on the history of the Dominion.

During the last year among the number of monuments unveiled was one erected on the site of Fort Port near Port Arthur, Alberta, from which Sir Alexander Mackenzie set out on his trip to the Pacific coast for the western sea, which resulted in the first crossing of the continent of North America.

The following are among the most outstanding sites or events commemorated at the annual meeting for the consideration of recommendations of the Board:

St. Peter's Canal, N. S.—This canal connects St. Peter's Bay with Lake Of'or Lake, thereby shortening the distance to the eastern coast of Cape Breton. It was first constructed in 1826 and completed in 1869.

At Bridgetown, N. S.—Site of the engagements at Bloody Creek in 1707 during the Seven Years' War.

Tracadie, Pictou, N. S.—Site of the Acadian Church founded by Abbe Le Loutre in the overland route between Canada and Quebec. Over it the Acadian Deputation made its famous march in the winter of 1855 to aid in the defence of the Canadas.

Beechwood Northwards, near St. Stephen, N. B.—Site of the Indian Mission Church.

Chamcook, N. B.—Site of the Indian Mission to the British Empire in the Seven Years' War.

The War of the American Revolution and in the defence of Upper Canada in 1812-14.

Fort Mississaga, Niagara-on-the-Lake, Ont.—A ruined mill is present on the fort which was built by soldiers of Navy labor in 1814 for the defence of the Niagara frontier. It was in use as a military post until the year 1825.

Sterling Point of the First Duke, Queen Lands Epoxy, near Wesleyan. —To mark the site of the first settlement of the Epoxy Arctic Company in connection with the celebrations of the opening of the Canadian Epoxy.

Churchill, Manitoba.—To mark the site of the first built in 1929, the most southerly part of the Hudson's Bay Company and the starting point of numerous Arctic explorations organized by the company.

Fort Chipewyan, Alberta.—To commemorate the voyage of Sir Alexander Mackenzie in 1789, from Fort Chipewyan on lake Athabasca northward to the Arctic Ocean and the discovery of the Mackenzie river.

Yukon Gold Discovery, Bonanza Creek.—To commemorate the discovery of the industrials prospectors who paved the way to the discovery in 1896 of the rich gold fields of the Yukon.

It may be of general interest to give the exact amount of material used in the construction of the Stettler Arena, which was 100 feet in length by 60 feet in width, and 24 feet in height at the centre. The following is an exact account of the material used in the building, as furnished by the contractors:

Plans Are Laid To Develop Citizenship

Plans which seek to promote a substantial consolidation to the awakened interest of community progress and development and the stimulation of the highest possible standards of Canadian citizenship by those local communities in Western Canada which are foremost in organization work are being developed by the Canadian National Railways according to an announcement just made by Sir Henry Thornton from the headquarters of the railway company at Montreal.

These plans initiated and developed by Mr. W. J. Black, director of the Department of Agricultural Colonization of the National System, involve the carrying out of a series of competitions among such communities in the three provinces, Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba, to be held annually for a period of two years, for which a total of three prizes will be awarded in each province each year. These prizes will be substantial, the first being $1000, the second $500, and the third $250, and they will be awarded on the understanding that the money be utilized in some community work of some progressive nature. It is planned to have the competitions commence this year.

Competent Judges

The Department of Agriculture and Colonization of the National Railways will nominate the competent judges and the awards will be announced by honorary co-operation and support in the carrying out of the entire scheme has been offered by various departments of the provincial governments which have already to do with matters of agricultural progress and welfare. Leading men and women in each public life recognized that the project has their support and approval. For the judging of the competitions in each province a committee of three outstanding citizens will be selected.

It is proposed to confine the competitions to rural municipalities or municipalities in which the population is made up of people of rural interests. European origin, free of recent penetration. It is recognized that the districts which these people take in co-operating to make effective the practice of such departments as co-operative marketing, co-operative organization and agricultural help may be regarded as an index of the people to the advantages of what the Dominion provides toward influencing they obtain as good citizens. It has therefore been decided that no plans shall be placed upon the Municipal Prize or be participants except as of genuine importance.

All Farmers Considered

Consideration will be given to such matters as percentage of school attendance efficiency of teachers, personal participation of young people in attending secondary school, co-

FIELD DAY AT LACOMBE EXPERIMENTAL STATION WELL ATTENDED EVENT

Reporter of Peace River Record Visits Lacombe Station

By Special Correspondent

Lacombe, Alta., Aug. 14.—Lacombe and district was favored with a most beautiful day for the annual field day at the Experimental Station, which was held on Thursday, August 14th. Many visitors were present from the surrounding districts, and from other points in the province, and from Edmonton, Calgary and Red Deer. The weather was ideal for the occasion, and the visitors were given an opportunity to see the crops at their best. The fields were in splendid condition, and the crops were looking well. The visitors were given an opportunity to see the crops at their best. The fields were in splendid condition, and the crops were looking well.

A large number of the visitors were present in the afternoon at the conclusion of the judging competitions, and the prizes were distributed by Mr. Bracken, president of the Agricultural Association, who also addressed the gathering. Mr. Bracken spoke of the importance of agriculture to the province, and of the importance of the work of the station. He also spoke of the importance of the work of the station to the province, and of the importance of the work of the station to the province, and of the importance of the work of the station to the province, and

MRS. LILLY HIBBS

All Others Failed; New Surgeon Scores

"For the past 5 years I've suffered with indigestion and biliousness, and was nearly always constipated. Headaches and nervousness kept me from getting proper rest, and at times I was so weak and dizzy I could hardly get around. Surgeon made me a change of treatment. I've passed weights and strength, have got having headaches or being so nervous, and for the first time in 5 years I am getting sound, refreshing sleep.

"It was positively wonderful the way I improved. Pills are an entirely new and tremendous surprise to me. Why all others failed I don't know. I'm glad to tell you about it." Mrs. Lilly Hibbs. Sold and Guaranteed by Rexall Druggists Everywhere. 1-30

Stettler Theatre News

The feature attraction this week end is "Don Juan" in "LOVE, LIVE AND LAUGH." Broadway's famous singing star and original star of "The Love Singer", in an even more human drama of Italy and Nice. Only There are three beautiful ballads by the member of Indian half-breed tribe introduced during the action. Colorful and gay street festivals present the background for Jean's theatrical talent and the end of the production provides one of the greatest climaxes of the screen.

Starting Sunday and Wednesday, "SINNERS GO THE ROOF" is the comedy-romance that many critics say is the Lovely Character, one of the most delightful comedies that has been brought to the screen with an all-star cast and produced in the best of taste and atmosphere.

Watch for the New Pox feature, "FOLLIES OF 1930", with Marie Dressler, Marjorie Weir, Wallace Beery, Jr., and an all-star supporting cast. Remember—every new talkie is the top-note of the new Movietone Talkies. It is a beautiful talkie, well told, filled with entertainment, crowded with comedy and romance, and has such a thrilling conquest at the climax.

Also at the begin, plenty of clean comedy, seven of the season's biggest girdles by the hundred, young, beautiful, vivacious. But they are all part of the story, fitting perfectly in their proper places.

A romance of youth, a brand new story with brand new laughs, brand new love songs, brand new dances, new girls.

Waverly W. I. Notes

The September meeting of the above Institute was held at the home of Mrs. Lohr Sr., with Mrs. Harry Brookhart assisting hostess. Owing to harvesting activities the attendance was not as large as usual, the roll call being answered by sixteen members. We were sorry not to have had more visitors, only two being present.

The vacancy left by the resignation of our Sec.-Treas., Mrs. Rita Schaefer, was very ably filled by our new Secretary, Mrs. Minnie Clark.

The paper on "Home Economics" prepared by Mrs. B. Clark was appreciated by the members. Mrs. McDavid will give her paper at the October meeting, the subject being "Conscientiousness."

It was decided to divide the special prize donated by this Society to the Stettler School Fair, giving one dollar each to the girl and boy having the highest standard number of points.

The entertaining period was sponsored by Mrs. Ella Wismer in the form of a contest, the members being divided into two sides, Mrs. Rumford and her new side, Mrs. Hollywood winning on the decision. Mrs. Brookhart will have this pastor for the October meeting, which is to be held at the home of Mrs. Clark. Lunch was served by the Committee in charge.

Mrs. Lohr Sr. and Mrs. Brookhart were appointed to represent the Society at the Provincial Convention to be held in Edmonton in October.

with regard to all the resolutions. Dr. Morley Shadderson of the judges announced that it would not be possible to start all those entered this fall. A selection had to be made of those classes which, according to the number of entries and the space provided by the various provincial exhibitions, could be accommodated. Through provincial entries, six baby classes were eliminated, leaving them with 15 classes in all.

As usual, Dr. Shaddey said, only babies in community exhibitions which had been entered in the provincial competition would be eligible for the provincial competition. Babies entered in the provincial competition must be entered with the secretary of their district exhibition not later than 10 days before the date of the provincial competition.

Following the departure of the judges, inspections by the heads of departments, Messrs. Weaver, Hall, Hutchinson, Lister, Reed, Bowman and Cotton.

Boston Results Influenced By The Canadian Highway

By A. G. Thomas
Past President of the Boston Automobile Association

The association of Canada as such is not directly affected by the Canadian highway system, which is under the control of the Provinces, but the individual members of the association are very much interested in the matter. They are interested in it from the point of view of the increased number of visitors to Canada which will result from the completion of the highway, and from the point of view of the increased number of Canadians who will visit the United States. Those who have had experience in touring in Canada for pleasure purposes have not failed to appreciate the fact that the roads in Canada are not yet developed to the point of convenience which has been attained in the United States. Those who have had experience in touring in the United States have become accustomed to the fact that the roads are well marked, that they are well surfaced, that they are well maintained, and that they are well policed. What would Canada have to do in the days of tourist travel to bring it to the point of convenience which the tourist has become accustomed to in the United States? And what could Canada do in this line of development which would be more important than the completion of the Trans-Canada Highway?

And by that national body, the Canadian Automobile Association (C.A.A.), the provincial motor associations, and the motoring public, there has been a keen interest in all matters affecting the progress of the Dominion in the development of its highway policy. Largely through their assistance, the Provincial governments have been induced to appoint Provincial highway boards, and to co-operate in the construction of the Trans-Canada Highway. The Provincial highway boards have been instrumental in securing the co-operation of the municipalities in the construction of the highway, and the motorists have been instrumental in securing the co-operation of the Provincial governments. The motorists have also been instrumental in securing the co-operation of the municipalities in the construction of the highway, and the motorists have been instrumental in securing the co-operation of the Provincial governments. The motorists have also been instrumental in securing the co-operation of the municipalities in the construction of the highway, and the motorists have been instrumental in securing the co-operation of the Provincial governments.

The motor organizations of Canada are now vigorously pushing the completion of the Trans-Canada Highway. They have the full support of the motoring public behind them. They will have the support of the Provincial governments behind them. They will have the support of the municipalities behind them. They will have the support of the motorists behind them. They will have the support of the motorists behind them. They will have the support of the motorists behind them.

The Trans-Canada Highway will be completed by the autumn of 1931. It will be a great achievement. It will be a great achievement for the motorists of Canada. It will be a great achievement for the motorists of the United States. It will be a great achievement for the motorists of the world. It will be a great achievement for the motorists of the world. It will be a great achievement for the motorists of the world.

Where Are Your Children?

HALKIRK NEWS

(Too late for last week)

A band of Boy Scouts from Edmonton, Vermilion, Stettler, Halkirk, and others, about 5 days with his brother Rev. Jas. Robertson, Halkirk, and family. Mr. Robertson is the minister of Halkirk and Wardlow.

Not having been with us lately, for at least, many people, the visit of Dr. Pedley was especially anticipated and much enjoyed by his old friends. While here Dr. Pedley was given the "freedom of the city", so to speak.

During the meeting and banquet given by the A. L. Women's presidents of the Board of Trade, and also the Rev. Crossley, the Doctor enjoyed rides in the neighboring cars to the banquet and Gordon, as well as the most delicious banquet by the women. He had some of cold, and a different time with Mr. Robertson, and a visit to a number and a visit to Pond Dodd's modern ways among the Wheats.

On Friday last, Sept. 5th, Dr. Pedley gave an illustrated lecture in the Board of Trade Hall under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid on "Fellow Beasts we Met When Away". Presenting the views he had taken by the Eastern Board of Trade, when he was given a reception at the Canadian Club, which representational from Halkirk and Chester were present. The Club representatives included Mr. Carlson and Mrs. Robertson, and the editor of the Chester Advance, Mr. Hall. Messrs. Cockcroft and Parker, with Mayor Gaddes, the Halkirk representatives, made addresses of welcome, and Dr. Pedley responded in appropriate terms. Light refreshments were served by representatives of the Ladies' Aid.

Dr. Pedley delighted everybody with his message of good-will and optimism when he spoke in the Halkirk United Church on Sunday last. Many of the citizens took the opportunity of meeting the Doctor at the manse and lunch was served on the lawn. The editor was also entertained by Mr. and Mrs. Cockcroft.

Dr. Pedley left on Monday morning by train, his destination being Lacombe, and will be away with his very pleasant recollections of his visit to this community.

Halkirk was honored by the presence of such a distinguished visitor, and Dr. Pedley was loud in his praises of the people he met while here. He asks of his brother, Mr. W. J. Pedley, and Mrs. Pedley, who are also well known in Halkirk.

Thursday was a busy day in Halkirk and district, with the annual meeting with Halkirk officials in the morning, and a visit to the Halkirk Experimental Farm in the afternoon. In the evening Dr. Pedley addressed a public meeting in the United Church, with Mayor Gaddes in the chair. Mr. Hall, of Chester Advance, and Mr. Cockcroft, of Halkirk, also spoke briefly. Mr. Cockcroft moved a vote of thanks to Dr. Pedley for his visit to Halkirk, which was seconded by Mr. Hall, and in a few appropriate words Dr. Pedley replied.

Mrs. Stevens, of Portland, Oregon, is the guest of her son, Mr. Stevens, of Portland.

Schools re-opened here on Tuesday, Sept. 2nd. Changes in the teaching staff of the Halkirk school are: Mr. Jos Hodgson, B.A., now high school principal and formerly a teacher at Island school, takes Mr. C. McLaughlin, who succeeds Mr. Hoskin, in charge of the Senior room in public school, also Attleboro is again in charge of the junior room. Fred Tuffen, of Halkirk, is the teacher at Island school.

Miss Pritchard, of Calgary, is in charge of the Spruce Creek school. There is also a change of teachers at Daisy Bank and Big Knife schools.

Harvesting is now in full swing and threshing is in operation on some of the farms south.

Mrs. Williams is away on a short visit to Hanna.

Mr. and Mrs. D. C. McLaughlin are occupying the Wilson cottage, formerly occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Hutchinson.

Mrs. Kopp and Mavis returned recently from their visit with relatives and friends. Jos is glad to have his family home again.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Taylor have returned from their visit to Eastern Canada.

The losing side in connection with the membership campaign of the Women's Institute banquet at the winning side last Thursday at the home of F. L. Smith. The feast was held under the grove near the house.

Church Bulletin

Rev. R. Clegg returned on Friday last from his vacation and preached on Sunday in Lochend, Halkirk and Gadsby, his theme being "Decision".

Next Sunday services will be held at Ingleton, 11 a.m.; Gadsby, 3 p.m., Halkirk, 8 p.m.

Daily Day services will be held on September 16th.

The minister desires the hearty and regular co-operation of all interested in the progress and welfare of the church.

Leave To Reside At Stettler

(Big Valley Journal)

Mr and Mrs. E. T. Sandvik and daughters left on Tuesday of last week for Stettler where they will make their home. Mr. Sandvik is erecting a garage at Stettler just east of the Acorn Lumber Co. yards and it is expected the building will be completed by the first of October.

On Monday evening of last week Mrs. S. J. Hopkins and Mrs. S. W. Chapman were joint hostesses at a farewell party held at the home of the former, in honor of Mrs. Sandvik. Bridge was played by the guests, the prize for the high score being won by Mrs. Sandvik, and at the conclusion she was awarded to Mrs. F. W. Wilson. A delicious lunch was served by the hostesses.

Much regret was expressed at the departure of the Sandvik family from Big Valley and every good wish was extended to them.

In the rex oval of Mr. and Mrs. Sandvik is a widow, Big Valley loses another of its pioneers, one who has spirited and keenly interested in all matters pertaining to the good of the town, they will be greatly missed here not only in the affairs connected with Big Valley, but also in church and lodge circles.

The best wishes of their many friends in Big Valley and thought are with them as they go into them in their new home.

FENN NEWS

Weather this week has been most unsettled, with rain and clouds the middle of the week, and a heavy one, which however did little or no damage to grain. Harvesting operations are being held up considerably, due to inclement weather conditions.

Mr. S. Sadie is busy in the district and is taking all his crop. Mr. Sadie reports that Mr. Sadie and family are all in good health.

Mrs. J. A. Cameron has a variety which is putting up a remarkable crop having performances. This time to date has 117 eggs, which is an unheard of performance.

Mrs. Cameron has also a pet cat the home of his parents from Wetaskiwin, Lake, B.C., where he is working on a farm. Mrs. Cameron is a keen poultry man come cattle.

The annual meeting of the U.F.W.A. will be held at the home of Mrs. George Bell, on Wednesday, September 17th, at 2:30 p.m. The meeting will be made the occasion of a presentation to Mrs. Bell before taking part in the play which will be presented later this fall.

Mrs. Irene Jessop, of Stettler, was visiting at the home of Mrs. Leslie Legg on Sunday.

MAKES NEW RECORD IN MYSTERY PLANE

Flashing nearly twenty hundred miles a week part of the distance between Vancouver and Winnipeg, Mr. Wilmer Stultz, flying with Lou Gordon, of Winnipeg, in the Travelair Mystery plane, has established a new record for the trip between the two cities. The time was 13 hours, 15 minutes, 5 seconds, as the Travelair Mystery plane, with Stultz at the controls, roared into Winnipeg at 7:15 p.m. (C.S.T.) on Wednesday, August 27, after a flight of 11 hours and 30 minutes, from Vancouver. Stultz flew 1,000 miles in 7 hours and 15 minutes at an average speed of 138 miles an hour, and 1,400 miles in 10 hours and 45 minutes, at the rate of 130 miles an hour.

Stultz and Gordon, accompanied by Mrs. Stultz, Mrs. Gordon, Mr. Leslie Hill, Chairman, Mr. Ralph Parsons, Secretary, and Mr. Bert Hoffman, Manager, of the Winnipeg Aero Club, left Vancouver at 4:15 p.m. (P.S.T.) on Wednesday, August 27, and after a refuelling stop at Medicine Hat, Alberta, arrived at Winnipeg at 7:15 p.m. (C.S.T.) on Thursday, August 28, thus establishing a new record for the trip between the two cities. The previous record was held by Capt. Frank Hawks, who flew from Winnipeg to Vancouver in 14 hours and 45 minutes. The time from Vancouver to Winnipeg was 13 hours and 15 minutes, or 1 hour and 30 minutes less than the time from Winnipeg to Vancouver

Stettler Theatre News

Three hundred of Hollywood's most beautiful dancing girls add green action and color to "The Five Movietone Follies of 1930," the Warner-Vitaphone romance, which will appear at the Stettler Theatre this week.

Thousands of girls were given try-outs in the course of selecting the dancing ensemble of this big production. Three famous dance directors, Max Scheck, Maurice L. Kusell and Irving Bush, supervised the selection and spent months of effort blending definitely making their final decisions.

Youth, beauty, sense of faith and movement and dancing ability were the requirements on which the committee's were based and with so many beautiful and talented girls from all parts of the world who have come to Hollywood seeking screen fame competition was keen.

Choruses are used in four spectacular numbers, including "Minstrelsie," "Doing the Derby," "Emily Brown," and the sensational finale. Sabeck staged the "Derby" and Frank numbers, Kusell put on "Movietonia," and Dave directed "Emily Brown." A hot jazz number by Marion White and Frank Richardson are featured.

The other featured roles of "The Movietone Follies of 1930" are ably executed by such screen favorites as El Brendel, William Collier Jr., Boyd Francis and Miriam Seegar Beginning Sunday all should attend the performance.

Next week the big picture of the year "HONEY HOW DO" with Janet Gaynor and Chas. Farrell. Hear all those song hits "Sunny Side Up" "I'm a Dreamer—aren't we all?" "Turn on the Heat," "If I Had a Talking Picture of You," "Let's You Did Nothing Funny Thing" "You Did the Time, I'll Find the Place".

You will just have to see this production!

CHANGE IT UP TO PHYSOL.

"Now Charles," said the teacher, "if your father can do a piece of work in one hour and your mother can do it in one hour, how long would it take both of them to do it?"

"Three hours," answered Charlie, rounding the time off to the nearest quarter in arguing."—Sydney Bulletin.

CALL HIM CHARLES.—Mother, did I keep a diary?"

"Certainly, darling."

"But can I keep this perfectly dear one that I found everything in your desk?"—London Opinion.

Byemoor School Fair Was Great Success

Great praise is due to the management of the Byemoor School Fairs Association for the most successful school fair ever held in Byemoor.

The school parade, which started promptly at 12 o'clock, was in charge of R. W. Walton, manager and Roy Tyson. The school children all lined up and marched around the town, then were marched together and sang O Canada, and the Maple Leaf Forever, finishing with the National Anthem.

Gough Lake and Rosebu schools competed for the prize awarded by the Western Canadian to the school winning the most points for contests, physical drill, marching, etc. Gough Lake schoolmarm were declared the winners.

After the parade and drilling was over the ringing of the school bell announced lunch and the crowds commenced and lunch on the grounds.

Immediately after lunch the children were marched down to the Byemoor park to watch the judging, which was very much. The judge pointed out all the points a perfect animal should have, and explained why one animal was superior to another. The same thing applied to all horses and poultry shown.

Judging by the large attendance of the adults, the same interest was shown, and competition became keener than any previous fair, there being a good many entries in all the classes exhibited. One of the judges from Olds, Mr. Hudson, remarked to the acting President, J. Jameson, that this was the best show he had had assisted this season.

The display of grain and vegetables was really remarkable considering the season, and one had to be conscientious of wonder on all sides as to the grain they had quality.

The exhibits of horses, cattle, hogs, sheep and poultry, including various breeds of chickens, ducks, turkeys, geese and ducks, were excellent and showed the great interest the district has taken in better fair

The display of cakes, candy, bread and biscuits, to say nothing of the pies, was really extraordinary and worthy of accomplishment of wives.

The drama and thrift garments deserve special mention, as did all the needlework, showing great industry and ingenuity on the part of the competitors.

The Byemoor dance came in for a great share of admiration, being really wonderful for this time of the year.

The children enjoyed the sports very much and great credit is due to the Sports Committee who handled the program. Special mention is made of the Jockey Race, which caused great amusement and food sport.

A ball ball game between the Byemoor and Hyssop teams and Hunts caused quite a lot of excitement and much rooting. Byemoor came from behind and won the game.

The sports went up quite a heap of the afternoon and finished the days program.

Unfortunately the school was not quite full judged, due to the flash of the management who sent the week to be judged to the Inspector to decide the first week in July When the week was returned it was found that a large portion of the children judged in Olds and then Olds has kindly made it impossible for many to have it judged with Mr. Carter's visit. Mr. C. McDuffy is glad to take a rest from such a strenuous task.

The problem of proper and adequate equipment for the primary school is harrassing the boards of this district. No doubt they would welcome a solution from any true patriot.

Mr. W. G. Bear is contemplating a visit from his daughter, Miss Bea, of Hollywood, California, and his sister and son, Fred.

Well, the weather isn't at all promising to late grain or harvesting, and the hay and bush prices still pounds or, but "The man wants while is the man that" and watch when everything goes dead wrong.

The plans for dance affairs in the district are getting to be overdone either by the weather or financially. Why not have another picnic such as "The Redskins" and "The Love Bug in Agincourt"? They were somewhere worth while.

Mrs. Doris Morgenson is rushing with her grandmother, Mrs. Lane, and something high school in town this soon.

Mrs. Kirby Jr. and children returned to Calgary last week.

Mrs. H. Walker is slowly recovering and will be confined to nothing her cheery countenance again soon.

The boy element is always manifested in Sunday services in Red Willow. It is because the girls learn to think for themselves and hope by so that the girls are there and the boys are not?

Mr. Clifford Grenh has arrived home from the Peace River country.

ENDIANG NEWS

The heavy showers of Saturday morning and Sunday night have stopped all threshing operations for some time but the strong winds since dried up standing grain and harvests are being again entering full swing.

J. O'Kelly of Byemoor, was in town Monday selling wolves for the Chautauqua to be held there next month.

Very little interest was taken here in the opening of the duck hunting season.

Mrs. Ed. Kenny was taken to a horse has week Luckily he was not seriously injured and is able to be around home.

Mrs Walters, of Calgary accompanied by her brother-in-law John Pearce of Leamington, Ont., visited relatives here last week.

The children are all back at school again and settled down in a hard week with Mrs. Frank Tasker principal and Miss G. L. Roberts in charge of the junior room.

Miss Esther Bentham is staying with Mrs. Ronald Bentham during her teaching high school.

Mrs. Cash Gallinger and her grand-daughter Laura Joy, of Medicine Hat, are visiting relatives and friends here.

Mr and Mrs R. R. Hurst spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs H. Hurst.

Steps hounding the muddy roads of Endiang this morning, there was a large attendance at the United Church when Mr Love preached a very interesting sermon from the text "And Lot dwelt in the city of the plains and pitched his tent towards Sodom." Next Sunday will be Rally Day and Mr Love's last Sunday here.

The ladies of the Anglican church of W. A. are sponsoring a Bazaar and Social of warm and useful clothing [illegible] to be held in town Sept. 24th, 25th, 26th every day there is classes to create a harvest.

Mr Harry Hurst, of Calgary, paid the district a visit Sunday

Mr. Malcolm Taber was taken to the Hanna Hospital on Friday where he was found to be suffering from appendicitis and an operation was advised

Mr and Mrs Harold Hunt and Wilfred motored to Calgary last week from where the latter left for Toronto, B.C., where he will attend university school.

Dr. Mason, of Stettler, was called out to Mr Carl Hoshkis who had wrenched his ankle badly when cranking the engine of his threshing machine last Thursday

Threshing operations have varied the school fair at Byemoor last Friday and report a splendid exhibition, and while first of the local children had exhibits this year, it is hoped that a better showing will be made next year.

That there are various ways in which we may help, and that opportunities for service come to men and girls as well as to grown-ups and soldiers, is brought to mind by the recent trip to Edmonton of Gordon Richardson. Gordon went to the University Hospital two weeks ago in answer to a request from the medical department for material to be used in treatment of infantile paralysis cases. For the coming year treatments is prepared by securing blood from men of some one who has had the disease and has recovered sufficiently to convalesce on his return that there is nothing particularly unpleasant about the ordeal

As there is no financial payment, in connection with the giving of blood for this use it might be viewed as a good-will donation We are glad that Gordon was among those who could answer the request. Those who can help others are urged and cheerfully to render this service towards counteracting the dread disease.

Saskatchewan's Cincinnatus

Canada's New Minister of Agriculture Comes From a Border Province That Had a Moment's Terror in a Moment's Decision

By F. M. Black

The cultural heads out of our various Canadian Universities, a few years ago, were too much occupied with the problem of how to lead them to some degree of practical usefulness to pay much attention to the question of how to lead them to some degree of practical usefulness. Classical education was then in the ascendant, and the student was expected to be a sort of intellectual parasite, a personal feature of long standing. Many of the best men were coming. Many of the best men were leaving, but they clustered in the cities and the professions left the men in the farmers and farmers' sons to make the Prairies.

When the booster fog dog days daylight was discovered there was no men in Saskatchewan whose mind was clearer from political ambition than Bob Weir's. He had never been up to his neighbors' ideas of political success and devoted his whole energies to the development of his farm. He had been offered the nomination in both the Liberal and Conservative ranks, but had refused, and he was content to be only a member of that great Big Steer District Stettler.

When the political waters became filled Conservatives of neighbors of theirs political wrong here drew on Bob's shoulders. Premier Premier Premier urging to accept the nomination. Weir was a strong Conservative and it could only be as a candidate of that party that Steer District River valley

Municipal District Of Rag No. 396

The usual meeting of the Council of the Municipal District of Rag No. 396, was held in the Council Chambers, office in Stettler, Alberta, on the 19th day of September, 1938.

Councillors Ford, Lethbridge, Baird, Hamilton, Whitehorn and Olsen were present.

Meeting called to order by Reeve James A. Baird at 11 a.m.

Minutes of the last regular meeting were read and adopted on motion by Ford.

By Ford, that the correspondence from Substation Affair regarding the contract be tabled until the next meeting. Carried.

By Olsen, that the communication from Wm. Buchanan and Settlement re Road Allowance in Sec. 8 Regt. Saddle be tabled until the next meeting and in the meantime that the Sec.-Treas. be instructed to collect the amount from Saddle Chemical. Carried.

By Ford, that we confirm the action of Coun. E. H. Whitehorn in entering contract with Geo. Pringle to cut the hill on the road allowance on the North side on the N.E. 35-41-17-4 for the sum of $5.00, the same to be done and payment on the 15th day of June, 1938. Carried.

By Baird, that the Disability statement as presented by the Sec.-Treas., showing the sum of $995.30 actually on hand, be accepted and incorporated in the minutes. Carried.

By Lethbridge, that the report of the Inspector from the Department of Municipal Affairs be accepted. Carried.

By Baird, that the fee of $25.20 to the Association of Municipal Districts be paid. Carried.

By Ford, that we adjourn for lunch to meet at 1 p.m. Carried.

Meeting called to order at 1 30 p.m., all councillors present.

By Ford, that Baird and Lethbridge be the delegates to the Municipal Convention to be held in Calgary November 19 20 and 21 Carried.

By Whitehorn, that Olsen and Hamilton be the alternates Carried

Complaint was registered against Wm. Tomkins for having the road allowance fenced between Secs. 16 and 17 now 28 and 21-41-16-4. It was moved by Baird that Mr Tomkins be requested to remove fence on the road allowance Carried.

By Whitehorn, that we offer the Chauvin Pacific Railway Co the sum of $20.00 per acre for the area required for road on the S W 31-40-17-4 3.53 acres Carried.

By Whitehorn, that the correspondence from the Red Cross Society asking for a grant be tabled. Carried.

Letter was read from A. W. Northgrave asking $50.00 damages for the breakage of his land packer while crossing a culvert on the road allowance last spring. It was moved by Lethbridge that this damage claim be refused as it was impossible for this to happen as the culvert referred to was put in deep early last spring. Carried.

Several letters were read from the Hon. O. L. Kennedy, Minister of Public Works, Hon. V. W. Smith, Deputy Minister, and Hon. W. C. Hamman, and A. L. Saunders, M.L.A., regarding the special grant asked for on the North of Dunvegan. It was agreed that the Department was to be informed that we would not accept the bill as a 25-30 basis. It was moved by Baird that the Department be advised that we did not have the funds to do any work on this bill but that the amount would be taken up the first thing next spring Carried

By Ford, that the Sec.-Treas. be Municipal Hospital Board advising the Council that they were ready to consider the Agreement between the Hospital Board and the Council in force and binding providing the Council would pass a resolution to that effect. It was moved by Ford that a resolution with the above be passed by the Council to consider this Agreement in force and binding. Carried

By Lethbridge, that the following accounts be passed and sent to the proper Association of Municipalities for payment for the membership of the Municipal Convention. Carried.

WHEREAS the Municipal Hospitals Act has been so amended in the year 1938 as to make it necessary to pass a by-law which may require a vote of the rate payers before a council can enter into an agreement with the Hospital for the maintenance of its indigents, and

AND WHEREAS in districts where hospital districts are established that part of the Municipal District has been detached not to be used here but been included in the Municipal District and also advertising of such a by-law may, through inadvertence, be wrongfully construed as attempting to bring those districts within the Municipal Hospital District and so cause the by-law to be defeated and the district to be thereby without the benefits of such act.

NOW THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED that the Government of the Province be requested to make provision for advertising such by-law dispensed with in cases of amendment of the Municipal Hospitals Act.

Letter was read from the Old Age Pensions Department stating that Wilbur Oldham Bear had made application of the Old Age Pension and that said application was in order awaiting the Council's approval. As the Council did not know of a valid reason why this application should not be approved, it was moved by Whitehorn that it be granted Carried Letter was read from the Old Age Pensions Department, stating that several representations had been made to them on behalf of Alfred Fox. Consideration of Red Willow and that this pensioner's pension should be raised from $30.00 per month to $35.00 per month and that the Council reconsider this matter and advise of this decision. After this matter had been investigated, it was moved by Ford that the Council's approval be given. Carried.

The Hospital bill of Mrs. W. H. Barnes from the Municipal Hospital for 59.70 was presented. It was moved by Lethbridge that the Sec.-Treas. be instructed to collect this bill and then to remit to the Hospital. Carried

Letter was read from the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. asking for a refund of the Wild Land Tax paid on the S W 35-41-18-4 as this land was leased for pasture purposes and therefore exempt from this tax. It was moved by Olsen that this refund be granted and that the refund be made in like manner way Carried Letter was read from the Soldiers' Settlement Board, stating that they had sold the N.W. 35-40-16-4, to Duncan McTaggart on Agreement for Sale, said Agreement being dated June 15th, 1938. It was moved by Hamilton that Duncan McTaggart's name be placed on the assessment roll and that the 1938 taxes be assessed to him Carried.

Letter was read from the Central Alberta Substation, stating that Mrs. Elizabeth E Dyrness had been appointed to the Substation as Secretary-Stenographer, and that Mrs. Elizabeth E Dyrness be advised that we would not have the funds to do any work on this bill but that the amount would be taken up the first thing next spring Carried

By Ford, that the correspondence from Substation Affair regarding the contract be tabled until the next meeting. Carried.

By Olsen, that the communication from Wm. Buchanan and Settlement re Road Allowance in Sec. 8 Regt. Saddle be tabled until the next meeting and in the meantime that the Sec.-Treas. be instructed to collect the amount from Saddle Chemical. Carried.

By Ford, that we confirm the action of Coun. E. H. Whitehorn in entering contract with Geo. Pringle to cut the hill on the road allowance on the North side on the N.E. 35-41-17-4 for the sum of $5.00, the same to be done and payment on the 15th day of June, 1938. Carried.

By Baird, that the Disability statement as presented by the Sec.-Treas., showing the sum of $995.30 actually on hand, be accepted and incorporated in the minutes. Carried.

By Lethbridge, that the report of the Inspector from the Department of Municipal Affairs be accepted. Carried.

By Baird, that the fee of $25.20 to the Association of Municipal Districts be paid. Carried.

The Darkest Hour Just Before Down

(Simpson James, Sun Lynn, Alta.)
The sun slips down behind the Rocky Mountains.
The shadows creep across Alberta's plains.
There are vanishing lights in forty thousand homesteads.
The house is dark, with red blind for window eyes.
They signal a little yellow "stop at home."
A mirror admonition they seek on, And now the bronzes calls and all must weather
The darkest hour, just before the dawn.
The life father says that they will "soon be."
And breed their autumn pledge, have faith and wish repeated, Because they must.
He little knows the cruel thin they are made of.
The brothers of the boys who sleep beyond.
The call to arms in war-time found them ready—
"A scrap of paper"—many dead and gone.
Their fathers, brothers, cousins, they'll look after,
The darkest hour, just before the dawn.
They keep their faith, these ideas of the wheat fields,
Their jeans are set, their boots laced and high.
As sane to man they keep their obligation.
With them the Pact is safe, don't have no fear of it,
Although her foes are many, armed and wealthy.
And material conditions threaten, choose yours;
Have faith and wish repeated, because they must.
He little knows the cruel thin they are made of.
The darkest hour is just before the dawn.

MOST SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL FAIR IN MANY YEARS

The annual School Fair for Stettler Inspectorial was held in the Rinking Rink this year, and the change in location for the Fair made a great deal of difference in the success of the exhibition as far as the general attendance went.

It was the best School Fair ever held here both in regard to the number of entries and the attendance of visitors There was a very good display of quality in the various classes and the competition was quite keen. The exhibits in the agricultural section of the Fair were the best of their exhibition and that the Fair will have to make a special effort to better it even if they wish to keep in the forefront.

It was a good idea to hold the Fair in the Rinking Rink which is splendidly suited for exhibition purposes on the main road from the country and the town, and the management for the most successful Fair ever held here The judging of Ladies' work was a matter of great source of interest to the children, the display of which was very good, bread, biscuits, dresses, thrift garments, needlework, flowers, and canning. Many ladies were present who have not kept in touch with the movements of the Fair and were made to their annual exhibition. Some of the different classes were heavily contested and the awards are as follows, in order of merit.

Class 1 Carrots —70 entries:—Henry Bourgeois, Stettler, 1; Wm. Watson Pilot Knob, Jean McCarty Wild Rose Lena McCarty, 2; Wild Rose Lena McCarty, 3; Dorothy Carroll, Pilot Knob Norman Boyle, Stettler, 4; Frank Bogdanovich, Pilot Knob, Frank Bogdanovich, Pilot Hill, 5.

ERSKINE NEWS

Mr and Mrs C M Clark returned on Saturday from Edmonton where they visited a couple of days following the air show

Mr A Scotland drove to Red Deer on Sunday to meet Mrs Scotland who has been visiting a month in Calgary with their son Alex and family

Mrs. A. B. Johnson and little daughter, of Queenstown, motored to Edmonton last Wednesday for a visit until the end of the week.

Mr J. D. Preuss, who has been holidaying for a week in Edmonton and Vancouver, has returned to Erskine.

Miss Ora Scott and children and Miss Pat Chesney motored to Edmonton Tuesday morning.

Mrs. F. Bailey, of Alix, spent a few days with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Clark, last week while having some dental work done at Stettler.

Mr. and Mrs. Welch spent Tuesday evening with Mr. and Mrs. A. McAllister.

Mr Johnson came to from the Coaster Saturday evening enjoy a day or so short visit with Mr. and Mrs. J W Hendy.

We notice by one of the "locals" in the Independent last week that the paint of the gravel on part of one street in Stettler made citizens of that place is sufficiently interested with civic pride to criticize conditions of the street in Erskine. We commend the latter for the way—and this, after all these years, Erskine citizens have banged away over the high crossings in their cars and travel down in the mud on the level road. Post City Words we admit that a coat of gravel would improve the highway through Erskine, we feel that as Erskine was not laid out in a meadow, synthetic styles are not a necessity and much time as we can afford them, and can have the work done by the county, then send keep the money at home.

The Togobombi Orchestra will be putting on a dance in the I.O.O.F. Hall, Erskine, on Friday night, September 30th.

Influence Of Salt On Roman History

But that there is an argument hid in the Indian custom of making the payment of the salt tax, and the salary, but the fact that for the people to be contemplated, we seize the opportunity to say something about the white things which are the delight of our suppercure. Here the mastic of the Roman Empire, and the mastic of the present day we ask we do not know, but we are inclined to believe in the fact that almost as far back as we can trace taxes, which probably grew out of the tribute of the early days, salt has been taxed, and few had to pay for a use to leave them, salt has been taxed to raise a government money, and people have been obliged to pay taxes on it. In the modern world, a notable subject for taxation because it was in universal use and it could be had, because often it was difficult to get, and especially in the days when communication on the part of the people who could afford to use it, by a monopoly in the possession of groundwork salt is usually obtained by boreholes in the earth, and as far as is known there are only two people who do not use salt daily in its different forms. These are natives of the Bushmen Islands in the Straits of the Malay Peninsula region in eastern Asiatic. They live on milk and coconut flesh, but they are the exception to the rule.

More important a commodity salt has been in Continental Europe in our daily pleasure. Figures supported by oath have entered into the language. The word "salary" is derived from salt money, and referred originally to the fact that salt as to be charge of Mrs. Smith dismissed his absence.

Mr H R Snyder celebrated his 77th birthday on September 21st Mrs relatives hopped him to make his birthday a very pleasant one.

Thursday September 11th was a red letter day for the Ladies Aid when between 30 and 40 ladies met together in the hall on the occasion of the second anniversary of the society.

Splendid reports were given on the work of the Aid both socially and financially On account of the bad roads, the Zenith ladies were unable to be with us, but we were glad to welcome our guests from Stettler and Mrs Thibaudeau's talk to us was one of great encouragement to our members Mrs Ball, accompanied by Miss Edna sang for us and was much enjoyed It gave us much pleasure to have Mr Goddard with us, and after his address, we felt more than ever how much while the work of our Society is The Hall was beautifully decorated with autumn flowers.

Those in charge of the meal at a long table and the members at small tables, all laden with lovely flowers, until the appetites were fully satisfied with a dainty lunch was served by the hostesses of the day, Mesdames Carvm. Murray, W L. Pirelal and Stokes.

About 30 members and friends of the Ladies Aid Society journeyed to Stettler United Church last Thursday afternoon and spent a very enjoyable and profitable time as the guests of the Stettler Ladies' Aid.

Church services will be held at Bethesa on Sunday next Sunday when Rev Goddard will preach. Special Bally Day services will be held during the afternoon School hour at Botha. A hearty welcome is extended to everyone to attend

CONFEDERATION OF LABOR BELIEVE UNEMPLOYED

Melbourne—Relief funds for the unemployed in the State of Victoria, Australia, are being sought through the levying of a stamp tax on wages and an additional tax on incomes.

The stamp tax on wages is to be one penny for every pound earned during that is to say on a wage of ten pound per week, the tax will be ten pence and so on up the scale. The special unemployment tax on incomes is expected to yield $6.40 on yearly incomes of $1,750 to about $320 on incomes up to $20,000. These special taxes are to be in force a year and it is expected that approximately $3,000,000 will be raised

The World Wheat Situation

World consumption of wheat during the past year has been greater than production, and total stocks have been reduced by one hundred million bushels less than they were a year ago. The wheat yield of the world is now provisionally estimated by the chief of the same as the yield of last year. The drought in the United States was the principal serious damage to the growing wheat and corn crops and to the corn crop in Canada, but the shortage in these countries was largely offset by increases in other countries. The amount of wheat available for export from the United States will be greatly reduced. It is said would compensate in maintained in present levels, a further substantial reduction in world supplies should occur.

Northern Hemisphere

Over seventy-five per cent of the world's wheat is grown in the Northern Hemisphere. Harvests this year including Russia, China and a few minor countries, promise a yield of about 3,615 million bushels. This is 127 million bushels less than the previous year, 162 million bushels below the average of the last five years, and 200 million bushels below the average of the last ten years. Prospects for France and Italy are better than last year, but Germany, Czechoslovakia, Switzerland, Poland and Roumania are certain to produce a substantially smaller crop than in 1929. The Russian crop is estimated at 1,000 million bushels, which is about the same as last year's crop. Canada's crop is estimated at 400 million bushels, which is about 200 million bushels less than last year's crop.

Europe

Although the total crop of Europe may not vary materially from last year, the location of the supplies will show a very significant change in 1930. France, Italy, Germany and other European countries have been unexpectedly good crops in some cases approaching record yields. In addition a substantial increase in the area sown and it is estimated that the yield will be at least 60 million bushels greater than last year. These supplies have been reserved from the season, but several years of abundance from Russia in 1928 and other years fell far below original expectations. If the various governments, the four, of high wheat prices gone, are willing to allow more wheat to come in, more than 100 million bushels should be taken by continental Europe in addition to the quantities required during the year just closed. Full allowance must be made, however, for the determination of continental countries to restrict imports as much as possible, and for the high duties on wheat imposed in several of these countries last season in order to foster the marketing of their home grown supplies. Reduced yields in France have already caused restrictions regarding supplies and reports of plans have been made by industrial concerns for lessened restrictions on imported wheat.

United States

The official estimate for the current crop in the United States is 831 million bushels, which is a slight increase over the quantity harvested in 1929. The carryover is large, exceeding 292 million bushels, bringing total wheat supplies of the United States to more than one billion bushels. The normal domestic requirement is about 650 million bushels. Drought has greatly reduced the yield of feed grain, more particularly corn, and large quantities of the lower grades of wheat will be utilized for animal and poultry feed during the coming winter. This will substantially reduce the surplus wheat in the United States. In fact it has been officially stated that the United States will have little wheat for export as practically the entire crop, together with the carryover, will be required for human consumption and to maintain domestic animals. The marketing of farm products in the United States is at present closely supervised by the government through the Federal Farm Board, which purchased large quantities of the 1929 wheat crop. The commercial and Financial Chronicle of New York recently stated that "the present program of the Farm Board is apparently designed to withhold the world wheat price during the next seven years still average appreciably lower than in the past seven years." While the price of wheat has averaged much higher during the past seven years than it is at present, it is somewhat difficult to understand the basis for the conclusion that the average during the next seven years will be appreciably lower than the average price during the past seven years. Personal production in Europe on the one hand, and the possibilities of growth in demand in countries consuming countries on the other countries with large shortages of supervisory the a long range prediction of this kind seems of uncertain doubtful value.

CANADIAN PUBLIC SUPPORTS AVIATION

Ottawa.—A tribune of public support in the developments of aeronautics is contained in the 1929 report of the civil aviation branch of the Department Department of National Defence, and in a letter announce the report states the economic development of the colony is due to this support. Cities and towns all over the Dominion are contributing generously by the construction of airports and airdromes.

The report reviews the progress of aviation since the war up to 1929, and points out that while there always there report into any future undertaking.

modern motors demand qualities that are contained only in the new TEXACO motor oil

YOU drive faster and farther now than you did twenty years ago. Your motor is more powerful. The heat it generates and the pressure on moving parts is infinitely greater. Yet, until now, you have had to use oils that were good enough for the cars of 1911 but are not fully equal to the demands of modern high speed, high compression motors.

The new Texaco Motor Oil is equal to these demands.

This crowning achievement of years of research and experimentation makes available to you the first modern oil for modern motors.

For the first time there have been successfully combined in a wholly distilled motor oil all the outstanding qualities of the major crudes.

For the first time there has been created a motor oil combining a tough "crack-proof" body with free-flowing qualities at zero—that gives measurably longer mileage—that keeps motors free from hard carbon—that is free from injurious wax—and that gives perfect protection under every driving condition.

These important qualities—qualities never before combined in any single oil—are available to you everywhere in the province in exactly the grade of Texaco Motor Oil specified for your car by S. A. E. and C. C. corresponding to the Society of Automotive Engineers (SAE) Viscosity Numbers—10, 20, 30, 40 and 50. Have your crank-case drained and refilled with the correct grade of the new Texaco today.

Corn Loan Is Nearly Whole Wheat Yeild

Saskatchewan Is Only Important Dry Belt to Show Increase

BIGGEST CROP IN YEARS

Washington, D C.—The drought has cost the country a loss of corn almost doubled for bushel as large as the entire yield of wheat.

On July 1st, the crop reporting board forecast a corn crop of 2,- 885,000,000 bushels. 102 million bushels more than the crop of 1929 and 103 million bushels more than the five-year average. But the August drought of July and August reduced 300 million bushels off the prospective yield. Just 13 million bushels less than all the wheat the United States is expected to raise this year.

Because the country always feeds about as much corn as it usually grows the farm board sees an opportunity for the wheat crop to be replaced by the deficiency in the corn. C. C Teague, member representing the farm board, said today he believed the low price of wheat would encourage a substantial result in feeding enough of it to livestock to end the national wheat surplus problem within three years, which was one of the chief economic difficulties which faced congress in the last session.

Below Food Requirements

The 1930 wheat crop is estimated is below the food requirements of the corn belt proper and leaves nothing for distribution in the 39 states which always buy corn.

Compared with 1929 there is a deficiency of 85 million bushels in Indiana, 86 million bushels in Illinois, 66 million in Ohio, 44 million in Missouri, 30 million in Kansas, 26 million in Iowa, and 11 million in Nebraska.

Of the food crops but one increased to corn as the chief drought sufferer.

The same may crop in 19 million tons shorter than a year ago. Nebraska alone of the more important corn states shows an increase of 3,000,000 bushels over 1929. There is an 18 million bushel increase in wild hay North Dakota is showing the only noteworthy increase in the harvest. Alberta has a two million tons short. Nebraska again alone showing the only increase in the yield.

Oats was the spectacular crop of the year. The estimated production is surpassing the 1929 yield by 117 million bushels and the five-year average by 81 million bushels There were increased yields in all of the big grain states except in South Dakota and Nebraska.

Durum wheat, with less than 20 million bushels short of the 1929 harvest and 18 million bushels short of the yearly average. Saskatchewan alone was 14 million bushels larger than in 1929 and 34 million bushels below the average.

Filling The Cellar With Winter Foods

Ventilation Is an Important Factor In Keeping Fruits and Vegetables

The storing of an adequate supply of fruits and vegetables throughout the winter provides an important source of vitamins, says the Dominion Department of Agriculture. Fruits are also a valuable source of vitamins in this connection.

As a general rule either the old fruit cellar or house cellar is used. Adequate provision should be made for ventilation through the use of wood air ducts and under floor, ventilators could be used. A covering of the compartment of air in connection with under floor, care should be taken to prevent "freezing" air from entering the cellar Care should also be taken to provide all light from the storage cellar.

With apples and pears only the best grades should be stored and the temperature will not fall below 30 degrees F. The cellar should be dry enough so that soil does not stick to the compartment will not fall below 30 degrees F. The cellar should be dry with relatively moist temperature to keep the vegetables from drying out best and should keep the fruit in the splendid shape throughout the winter

For most vegetables the bin with slated slides and bottom, providing both ventilation and drainage, is most desirable Those should be narrow and not too large in size

Many fruits may be when planted with the roots on in sand on the floor of the cellar. Celery may be closely in rows six to eight inches apart.

Cabbage may be treated in the same way as celery but equally good for storing in compartments with slats, with heads placed top down on the slats.

Onions require dry storage at a temperature around 36 degrees to 40 degrees F.

Soil Fertility

The most important problem of the farmer today is the maintenance of the soil on his farm as a productive, fertile medium. In the introductory reports of the Dominion Department of Agriculture final chief are the most efficient methods of the same (the necessary) way to maintain the fertility of the soil is by the use of clover. Clover is the premier of an adequate crop of nitrogen gathering. It receives additional support to the farmer in the majority of cases and only improves the fertility of the soil, but also enables many economies in the use of labor the year round.

Clover is the best of all crops for green manure and assists in weed control.

Farmers throughout Canada are urged to visit the nearest Dominion Experimental Farm or Station where they will see crop rotation at work. They are also urged to consult officials with the object of securing the latest literature dealing with the practical and scientific aspects of crop rotation, which is available to the farmer interested in crop production. Superintendents of the Dominion Experimental Farms and Stations will be glad to assist farmers in this matter.

Fall And Spring Hints On Weed Control

This year, where the Stinkweed and the Mustard aberrations have been bad, there is evidence that in many cases been examined to warn the owners or renters that, should the noxious weeds be allowed to go to seed the following year the crop will be ruined.

The purpose of this is to encourage control. Two ways may be used in the fight. Spring one but October 1st individuals is advisable a summerfallow next year

Following are the control measures, now going on round the country, the Manitoba and other Local (which this) necessarily modified.

The cultivate a the October and fall thus giving the seeds an opportunity to germinate early Disc or cultivate before frozen-up, thus destroying them before they have germinated and germinating others to germinate first thing in the spring Cultivate before seeding and taking another crop of annual weeds. Sometimes more weeds appear but not the grain gets up which may be destroyed by a light harrowing when the grain is from 3 inches to 4 inches high. Care should be used it may make the grain look sick at the time but the increased yield this crop will more than offset. Mowing make it a paying proposition. Sometimes, however, is intelligently carried out, clumps prevent any destruction of the crop large part of the weed infestation.

Fall cultivation is also a paying proposition where the land is to be commercialized the following year. Three is also a tendency to neglect the summerfallow during the hot weather which results in the weeds going to seed and a large infestation in the crop the following year. A little forethought and timely work is considered trouble and makes for more profitable farming.
